PERU AID PROPOSAL WINS NEW SUPPORT

Editor's Column

ROBERT R. PADDOCK

Last week's Arlington Heights anniversary edition turned back the clock for us and many others whose memories go back to the days of gas street lights, or even before that time, when streets were illuminated by common kerosene.

Dick Hoffman and the other members of our editorial staff did a tremendous job in the short time of three weeks.

While our memory does not go back 125 years or even 80 years, we are using this week's column to mention a few people whose public activities made newspaper headlines during the years when Arlington Heights was emerging from a country hamlet.

Arlington Heights started to grow when Waldemar Krause, Fred Gieseke, and Otto Landmeier transformed farmland south and east of the village into subdivisions for individual purchasers. They also dedicated the present parkland east of South school. Platted for residential use by Herman Redeker was an area west of Ridge st. and south of Campbell st. Mr. Krause also made a contribution of half of the present Recreation park property.

Palatine (Deer Grove) can lay claim to some of the early history of Arlington Heights. It was in the latter settlement that history says the Dunton family lived before erection of their log cabin and development of their claim in the Heights.

The township of Elk Grove also has a prior claim. It was on the present Arlington Heights rd., south of the village, that the first families, who moved to Arlington after arrival of the railway, built their homes. We understand the first railroad station was called Elk Grove.

The village of Wheeling was on the trail between Chicago, Waukegan, and Milwaukee. It won the right to a U. S. post office the same year that the Duntons filed their claim on land in the present Arlington Heights. At that time it was called West Wheeling.

No attempt was made in the anniversary edition to cover the various mayors of Arlington Heights, but the story of the big sewer was real news in the late 1920s when Julius Flentie lost an election because he sponsored the "big sewer," the assessment for which caused some residents to lose their homes.

Flentie's judgment was vindicated when he was elected mayor, an office he held for several years.

We were asked at the Sunday pageant show why all the VIPs introduced were Republican.

Was it because there were no Democrats 125 years ago?

Postmasters tell us that Uncle Sam had a big part in the celebration. The size of last week's newspaper caused a lot of overtime for mail carriers. In Palatine it amounted to 50 hours, Arlington Heights 80 hours, and Mount Prospect 38 hours.

We hope the postal inspector will think the special edition was worth it.

May 'Adopt' Poor Village

Interest in the plan which would spiritually tie together the village of Arlington Heights and poverty-stricken Pompa di Coman, Peru, is picking up steadily, it was reported this week.

Wayne Brennan of Arlington Heights, who conceived the plan and is head of the Chamber of Commerce committee furthering it, said not only groups, but many individuals have called to donate their time, services and in many cases money.

So far, Brennan is refusing donations of funds, pending final determination of how best our village can help the people of Pompa di Coman to help themselves.

PRELIMINARY overtures already have been made, and next week a short wave radio link between the two communities will be established. Bruce Micek of Palatine, a ham radio operator, is setting up his set for contact with a ham operator in Lima, Peru, which is near Pompa di Coman.

When the connection is established, Brennan will speak with the director of the Peruvian city's only school and get first-hand information on the primary problems of the people there, and how best we could aid them.

Brennan will talk with the school director through Manuel Lara, of 705 W. Hillcrest rd., Palatine, who has volunteered his services. Lara speaks fluent English and Spanish, and has expressed extreme interest in the project.

IMMEDIATE PLANS for furthering the project include entering a float in the grand parade this Saturday. Girl Scout Troop 450 donated its services to work on the float, under the direction of Mrs. Norma Barnes and Mrs. Helen Bulinski, who also volunteered.

Sue Crawford and Sue Yates, senior scouts from Mariner Ship 334, conceived the theme of the float and also are helping to construct it. The Rev. Fr. John Lane, of St. James Catholic church, has arranged for the committee to borrow school desks needed for the float, and also has located some Spanish children to ride on it.

"Every day we get more calls on the project from people wanting to help out in some way," Brennan said. "And it's individuals, not big organizations which are calling, which shows, I think, that once we get going, people will really support the project."

OTHER VILLAGE residents who are helping on the preliminary work include Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jones (Mrs. Jones is helping with the necessary typing and correspondence); Mrs. Terry Mueller, of 841 N. Belmont, who, at the moment, is helping with the float; and Mrs. Margie Bruce, who helped arrange for a recorded message to be sent from Arlington Heights to the school children of Pompa di Coman.

Brennan has been exploring all avenues in an effort to determine in what way the citizens of Arlington Heights can help the citizens of Pompa di Coman, and expects to formulate more definite plans within a month.

The CBS television network has shown interest in the project, and offered to help out when it can. It was a CBS documentary on Pompa di Coman, narrated by newsman Frank Reynolds, which first interested Brennan in such a project.

The Peruvian city of about 50,000 persons is situated at the foot of the Andes mountains. Reynolds described it as a city of slums, but a city of proud people with "unusual dignity." The lone school has 600 students — and three teachers.

HAPPY-GO-LUCKY Sheri (left) and Vicki Ryckaert took first place in the funniest costume categorie last Sunday afternoon in the kiddie parade at Arlington Park race track. The youngsters were among 450 who entered the parade and competed for three $10 checks, gifts of the village Lions club.

Saturday Highlights

Parade, Grand Ball Climax Anniversary

After a week of excitement and fun, Arlington Heights residents will wind up the celebration of the 125th anniversary of the village's founding Saturday with two big events—a mammoth parade and a grand ball.

The parade is scheduled to begin at 11 a.m. at the Arlington Park race track, where the anniversary ball will be held beginning at 9 p.m.

DEMAND FOR tickets for the grand ball, to be held in the clubhouse, is reaching its peak and most merchants have exhausted their supply of tickets. They still are available, however, at both Arlington Heights banks, and the savings and loan association.

The ballroom will be decorated in a garden theme by members of the village Junior Women's club, co-sponsors of the ball. Bowls of popcorn will be provided on each table, and both food and drinks will be available.

Music will begin at 9 p.m. and continue until 1 a.m. The Skitch Henderson orchestra and the Art Van Damme quintet will alternate at the bandstand. Both musical groups plan special entertainment, with the Henderson aggregation planning to play a selection of tunes popular when it was the orchestra for the Steve Allen show.

Added this week as a special feature of the dance were the talents of Bob Atcher and Donald (Red) Blanchard, for many years stars of the National Barn Dance. Atcher will sing some of the songs he made famous, accompanying himself on the guitar, and Blanchard will run through some of his comedy routines.

EARLIER IN the day, the parade will have the spotlight. Included in the cavalcade will be marching bands, motorized units, mounted patrols, floats and many one-of-a-kind entries.

Beginning about 12:30 p.m., a live account of the parade will be presented over FM radio station WNWC (92.7 on the dial) by the station management and Paddock Publications. Narrators will be Bob Atcher and Ted Small.

Many distinguished guests will have places of honor in the caravan of convertibles. They include Miss Jacqueline Bingert, Miss Illinois of 1961; Miss Arlington Heights, winner of tonight's beauty contest; Gloria Van, Chicago radio and TV vocalist; Al Parker, veteran announcer; and F. V. Koval, assistant to the president of Chicago Northwestern railway.

Not the least of the honored guests in the parade will be Arlington Heights' senior citizens, the old-timers, male and female, who helped make the village what it is today.

AMONG SOME of the more unusual parade entries are an antique electric car, an old-fashioned horse-drawn mail cart, and an oldtime fire wagon.

Medinah Shrine units entered include its motor corps, oriental band and air patrol. The Chicago Mounties drum and bugle corps is another feature attraction, as is the U.S. Fifth Army band.

Scattered along the parade route will be hawkers selling anniversary items, balloons, popcorn, hot dogs and cotton candy.

The parade will leave the race track and continue down Northwest hwy. to Kensington, go east on Kensington to Dryden, north on Dryden to Euclid, and west on Euclid to Arlington high school, where it will pass in review before the athletic field grandstand.

TO BE CERTAIN of a good view of the floats and other entries, parade chairman Ted Small suggests spectators make use of the grandstand seats at the high school. Tickets for 25 cents each will be available at the gate.

Length of the parade will necessitate insertion of many of the marching units after the cortege leaves the Euclid ave. gate of the race track. Parade watchers are urged to choose a viewing spot anywhere along the route east of the corner of Ridge ave. and Northwest highway for full enjoyment.

At the conclusion of the parade, the center of activity will shift to the Arlington Heights National bank parking lot in the downtown area, where the beard growing and beard shaving contests are scheduled.

Throughout the day, the carnival will be in operation across the street from the parking lot in the park.

Oakton Street

The ordinance outlining details of the Oakton st. special assessment project is published on the legal Page in this issue of the Herald.

No Success

Yeggs Attempt To Grab Mink

An attempt to steal the mink stole, valued at $500, which will be one of the prizes awarded to the winner of Miss Arlington Heights contest, was thwarted last week by diminutive Mrs. Betty Cordova, who was alone in the store where the stole was on display when the attempt was made.

The stole and trophies were being exhibited in the display window of the Ruth Miller apparel shop in Arlington Market.

MRS. CORDOVA told police that two well-dressed men carrying topcoats walked into the shop last Thursday and one of them asked to see an article which necessitated going to the rear of the store.

While Mrs. Cordova and one man went to the back, the other man waited in the front where the stole was on display. Mrs. Cordova said she heard a commotion up front and saw the man trying to get the stole unattached from the stand it was on.

She yelled at him to put it down and the man ran from the store. In the confusion, the man who was with her also slipped out the door and both got into a late model car and sped off.

A CLERK in the store next door had been called for assistance by a passerby a gave chase, catching up with the car at the corner of Euclid and Rand, where he telephoned the Mt. Prospect police.

He said they told him they couldn't help out because the crime hadn't been committed within the Mt. Prospect city limits. In the meantime, Mrs. Cordova had called the Arlington Heights police who responded immediately and put out an alarm.

No formal complaint has been signed yet, however, and further action awaits this development. The clerk who gave chase was able to jot down the license number of the getaway car.

Family Workshop

Sex Education Forum Subject

Next week at Family Forum, a family and community living workshop, Dr. Franklin R. Fitch, executive director of Illinois Social Hygiene League, will speak on the topic, "Sex Education that Makes Sense."

The forum, open to the public, will be held Thursday, Oct. 12, beginning at 9:30 a.m. at Our Saviour's Lutheran church, Arlington Heights.

THE WORKSHOP is sponsored by the Illinois Lutheran Welfare association (ILWA). In addition to Dr. Fitch's talk, a play, "What Did I Do?" is scheduled. It concerns an overly-conscientious mother who blames herself when she discovers that her pre-adolescent daughter has been involved in a group escapade.

Members of the cast are Mrs. James Burton, Elk Grove village; Mrs. LaVerne Johnson, Arlington Heights; Mrs. Gloria Landsberg, Palatine; and Mrs. Phillip G. Wray, Arlington Heights, director.

Dr. Monte J. Meldman, Arlington Heights, chairman of Medical Advisory committee for the Northwest Cooperative Mental Health association and also on the staff of Lutheran General Hospital, will outline plans for a mental health clinic in the northwest suburbs.

ALSO SPEAKING at the program will be a couple from this area who have adopted a child from the Illinois Lutheran Welfare association. The Rev. John Petersen, pastor of Our Saviour's, will give the closing address, "Through the Church I Am Response-able."

The Rev. Mr. Petersen, a member of the ILWA board of directors, Miss Eloise Swanson, supervisor, and George Westby, director of public relations for ILWA, will speak on children's services.

Luncheon reservations should be made with the Rev. Mrs. Petersen. Attending the meeting will be congregations and social agencies from Cook and surrounding counties.

Fallout Shelter Standards Cited

Regulations for the construction of family fallout shelters were outlined Monday by Arlington Heights trustees.

Heretofore, the building of a fallout shelter in the village has been illegal. Now it's okay.

DETAILS OF AN ordinance amending the building code to authorize the construction of shelters are as follows:

—building permits are required, but fees are waived;

—applications should be made to the building commissioner;

—applications shall be accompanied by plans and specifications, subject to approval of the building commissioner, fire chief and architectural committee;

—shelters shall be used for the sole purpose of protection from fallout during national emergency and for no other purpose.

AFTER VOTING 5-0 to pass the ordinance, trustees approved a resolution commending the work of Mrs. Albert C. Peters, 403 N. Belmont, former Civil Defense director, who was succeeded by Wallace B. Daughtry, 715 W. Elm.

Fallout shelters will comply with the minimum standards set forth by the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization, a federal body, as they may be amended from time to time, the ordinance states.

Going Fast!

Tickets for the anniversary celebration grand ball Saturday night at Arlington Park are selling quickly, and most merchants have exhausted their allotment.

Tickets still are available, however, at the Arlington Heights National Bank, the Bank of Arlington Heights, and the Arlington Heights Savings and Loan association. Price is $7 per couple.

Trustees Meet

The Arlington Heights board of trustees will meet in adjourned session Monday at 8 p.m. in the village hall council room, 107 W. Davis st.

'Brothers of the Brush'

Beard Contest Climax Of Anniversary Week

Arlington Heights' "Brothers of the Brush" will compete for trophies and electric shavers this Saturday afternoon in one of the final events of the village's 125th anniversary celebration.

For the ten men who "put it on" best during the past weeks, trophies will be awarded; for the seven full-bearded men who can "take it off" the quickest this Saturday, electric shavers will be awarded.

THE BEARDED brothers will compete in three categories for ten trophies: Full beard, Van Dyke beard, and novelty beard. First, second and third place winners will be chosen in each category, and an overall grand champion beard grower will be selected.

Judging is scheduled for 3 p.m., or as soon thereafter as conclusion of the grand parade permits, in the Arlington Heights National Bank parking lot in the downtown area.

Prior to the judging, the Dixieland Combo, a musical group of talented area young people, will entertain the crowd. During this time, contestants in the beard growing contest should sign up with either Mrs. Mil Myers or Mrs. Dorothy Hauff, who will be stationed near the steps which lead from the parking lot to the train station.

SIG SAKOWICZ, well known WGN and WTAQ radio personality, will emcee both the beard growing and beard shaving contests. Impartial judges have been chosen to help select the winners.

In addition, the two runners up in the Miss Arlington Heights contest will aid in judging the shaving contest. To be certain that contestants who got their beards off quickest did a good job, the girls will personally subject them to "cheek-to-cheek" tests.

The winner of the beard shaving contest will be given a deluxe Lektronic shaving aid set by Remington Rand shaver division, which includes a leather case with shaving mirror, a Lektronic shaver and charger, shaving powder stick, shaver saver head cleaner and dip tray, and after shave lotion.

The next three quickest shavers in order of their finish, will be awarded a Lektronic shaver, an auto-home roll-a-matic and a world-wide roll-a-matic. The next three runners up each will receive a Remington roll-a-matic.

NO ADVANCE registration is required for either contest, except that contestants in the beard growing contest should register immediately prior to the judging in order to be judged in the proper category.

In addition to the shavers being awarded the men, Miss Arlington Heights and the first and second runners up in the beauty contest will each receive Lady Remington electric shavers.

Kiddie Parade Judges Faced Tough Decision

Because of the high number of colorful and varied entries in the kiddie parade at Arlington Park race track last Sunday, judges found it difficult selecting the winners, but finally chose three entries from the 450 competing.

Best historical entry was judged to be the pony and cart fixed up as an old covered wagon. This was the entry of Mark and Kathy Weber, children of the Robert Webers, 1508 W. Oakton. Participating with the Weber children were neighbors Jimmy and Jerry Trummer.

WINNER OF the most unusual entry award were Roxanne, Russell and Bobbie Wolf, children of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Wolf, 119 S. Evergreen, with their "Past, Present and Future" entry.

Judged funniest of the entries were the two fanciful clowns, Sherie and Vickie Lee Ryckaert, daughters of the Bud Ryckaerts, 820 N. Kaspar.

Each of the winning entries will receive a $10 check in the mail from the Arlington Heights Lions club.

All the contestants who were in the parade, held in conjunction with the village's 125th anniversary, had their names put on cards attached to helium-filled balloons, which were then released. The card returned from the farthest distance will entitle the contestant whose name is on it to a $50 savings bond.

ALREADY CARDS are being received by Vic Beisler, parade chairman. He said cards have come back from Chicago, Evanston and Skokie, and from Grand Rapids and Hamilton, Mich., so far.

Beisler called the kiddie parade one of the finest of its kind he has ever seen, and praised the ingenuity and enthusiasm of the Arlington Heights youngsters who participated.

IT TOOK A Paddock Publications artist to get a beard on Sig Sakowicz, who will be master of ceremonies at the beard growing and beard shaving contests this Saturday afternoon in the Arlington Heights National Bank parking lot. True "Brothers of the Brush" will compete that day for trophies and Remington Rand electric shavers. Sig, a WGN personality, and his pen-and-ink beard aren't eligible. (AF-125

Store Windows Tell History of Past Years

Celebration Attraction

by JIM DAVIES

Store windows in downtown Arlington Heights and in Arlington Market blossomed out this week in a new "old" look with the addition of mementos of a bygone era.

Vaguely familiar forerunners of modern appliances such as the vacuum cleaner share space with antique jewelry, well-thumbed books and an early wooden barber chair.

At Flaherty's jewelry shop, the window display includes an old wooden yoke for a team of oxen, a 100-year-old clock and such nostalgic items as an old iron weather vane and lightning rod.

Down the street a short distance in the Lorraine-Anne shop, the mannequin in the bright, modern dress stands silently in the window with one in the dark, long outfit which once was standard adornment for the female figure.

ACROSS THE street at Hagenbring's is an old instrument which may have sewn the hems on many such outfits, a Pearl sewing machine which was manufactured by the Diamond Sewing Machine company in Arlington Heights many years ago, and exhibited at the World's Fair in Chicago in 1893.

Another early household tool, a Golden Rod vacuum cleaner, is displayed in the window of Parkway liquor store, along with an old wooden baby carriage and an Edison phonograph with its cylindrical record and large sound horn.

A few stores away is the barbershop of Bill Neuman and the old, carved wooden barber chair on display, and next to it, in the Mueller office supply shop window, are more mementos of another era.

CHIEF AMONG them are old volumes such as "The Raven" and a 1905 edition of "The Chatterbox." Also of interest there is a Swiss candle snuffer, vintage 1830, and an 1833 map of Chicago, that smelly swamp that was just beginning to be known as a port city.

At Kindler's confectionery, other old volumes are on display in the window, including an 1848 Bible, and old newspapers.

At Sieburg's drug store, there is a zinc-coated container for Bulgarian (Kazanlik) otto (attar) of roses.

THE VALUE OF the small container, about six inches in diameter, was $4,000 when filled. This doesn't seem too unusual when you discover that it took nearly 3,000 pounds of rose petals to produce one pound of true otto of rose oil.

Down in Dunton Court, the whole display window of Robbins jewelry store is devoted to antique jewelry and chinaware. Considered priceless is the cut glass crystal punch bowl and cups, vintage 1860.

Of unusual interest is a human hair watch fob made back in 1874 when this was a big fad. Another fad is represented by a gold photo locket.

SOME REALLY beautiful hand-carved jewelry is on display, as well as hand-carved ivory cigarette holder-pipes, and a three-piece set of china with gold applique.

Out at Arlington Market, other historical mementos are on display, including an exhibit of early day telephones.

Many of the items being shown in conjunction with the village's 125th anniversary are the property of the village historical society, and its most valuable property, the original plat of the town of Dunton, is on display at the Arlington Heights Savings and Loan association.

COPIES OF the plat, suitable for framing, also are available at the savings and loan building. (125&(A

French Newspaper Ad Promotes Fete

The 125th anniversary of Arlington Heights has one distinction setting it apart from other village celebrations in the area — an ad boosting the village in a French newspaper.

In the advertisement placed in France-Soir, leading French newspaper, Europeans are urged to attend the village's Oct. 1-7 birthday celebration.

THE AD was placed by William A. Alter, president of Realty Company of America, Inc., developer of Arlington Heights Gardens, a unincorporated area adjoining the village on the south.

"We want the world to realize that Arlington Heights is the ideal community," Alter said. The ad urges European cosmopolites to "enjoy American beards and American hospitality" and offers them a chance to "march in a parade."

Alter said the ad makes Arlington Heights the first American village to give tangible support to President Kennedy's appeal for foreign visitors. The ad points out that Arlington Heights is near O'Hare field.

Anniversary Fund Hits 80 Per Cent

Including recent donations, about 80 per cent of the money needed to finance Arlington Heights' 125th anniversary celebration has been collected, according to Will Schwantz, finance committee chairman.

In addition to those previously noted, village businessmen and shops which have contributed are:

JEWEL TEA Dryden store; Arlingdale Garden apartments; Dairy Lane; Piepenbrink Movers; Bill Cook Buick; Keyes motel; Len and Irene's delicatessen; Hansel's food shop; Wayne Griffith travel agency. The Chandelier; Black's Memorial home; Dr. Melvin Gibbel; Dr. Keith Wurtz; Festival liquors; Beverly Lanes bowling alley; Betty's wines and liquors; American Colonial builders; Ace hardware; Ark pets.

Walter - Darrel kitchens; Arlington paint and wallpaper; Marty's service station; Roto Mercury sales; Clearbrook cement contractors; Dr. Robert Kloempken; Dr. Frank Carter; Schimming Oil company.

MAYFAIR RUG cleaners; Mayfair home furnishings; Tom's barber shop; Arlington Market merchants association; Lorraine-Anne shop; Arlington motel. 125-(A

Open Bids For Village Equipment

Bids for a portable air compressor and a material spreader were opened Monday and referred to Village Manager L. A. Hanson by the Arlington Heights board of trustees.

Hanson was directed to study the bids and report back to the board with a recommendation at the board's meeting of October 16.

BIDDING ON the air compressor, to be used by the water department, were the following companies:

Gilbors Equipment Co., Chicago, $2,846; Schramm Co., Westchester, Pa., $3,272; Miller and Banker Co., Chicago, $3,567; Western Contractors' Supply Co., Chicago, $3,920; Arrow Contractors' Equipment Co., Chicago, $3,936; and Casey and Emmert, Chicago, $3,965.

Bids for the material spreader were received from R. H. Lyons Equipment Co., Chicago, $2,972, and Erlander Manufacturing Co., Chicago, $3,120. (A

Colorful Pageant Opens Gay Anniversary Fete in Suburb

The thunder of hoofs at Arlington Park race track gave way early this week to the whoops and hollers of "drunken" Indians, the melodies of "Oklahoma!" and the rhythmic shuffle of dancing feet as Arlington Heights opened up its 125th anniversary celebration.

When the Sunday afternoon and Monday night shows were ended, accolades were loud and long. Nick Welti, pageant chairman, called the presentations unqualified successes, even considering the trouble encountered with the sound system on Sunday afternoon.

Some 5,000 persons were in attendance at the two performances.

DISTINGUISHED guests Sunday afternoon included Sen. Everett Dirksen, Cong. Marguerite Stitt Church, State Sen. John Graham, State Rep. Bill Carroll, Village Presidents Robert Atcher of Schaumburg, Wilbur D. Harris of Palatine, and James R. Gibson of Elk Grove Village, Mayor John Overbeck of Park Ridge, Mayor John J. Woods of Rolling Meadows, and of course Arlington Heights' Village President, John G. Woods.

In addition to the musical pageant, "The Bountiful Prairie," highlights of the show Monday night were a dazzling exhibition of baton twirling by former national champion Jane Dart and Delores Eller students, a lilting and sparkling interlude of songs from "Oklahoma!" by the Best Off Broadway Players, and a history of the dance featuring professional dancers.

A distinguished guest at the Monday night performance was State Sen. Arthur Simmons of Skokie.

Especially well-received was the pageant skit featuring the reknowned Nannabush Indians, who portrayed the poor Potawatomi tribe which partook of too much fire water and sold their land to the white man.

OTHER PAGEANT highlights included the rousing cabin-raising and square dancing segments, and the real estate salesmen's pitch to a questioning buyer, performed by a barbershop quartet.

The pageant script was written by Dick Dunlop and scored by Mrs. Janet Bone. Win Stracke starred in and narrated the presentations.

Chilly weather failed to cool the enthusiasm of the crowds attending the shows, and Welti expressed deep appreciation to all those who donated their time and energy to make the grandstand shows the success they were. (125-A

FILLED WITH FIREWATER, the Potawatomi, portrayed by the Nannabush Indians, sold their land to the white man, opening up this territory to settlement and leading to the birth of a village — Arlington Heights. It happened back in the early 1800s and was recreated Sunday afternoon and Monday night during presentation of the pageant, "The Bountiful Prairie," as part of Arlington Heights' 125th anniversary celebration. Some 5,000 persons attended the two performances.

Westgate Having Sale

Although Westgate Park and Shop on W. Campbell is only five years old, its merchants say they are glad to help Arlington Heights celebrate its 125th anniversary and will hold a sidewalk sale today, Friday and Saturday.

All the merchants say they will stage "good old-fashioned bargain sales." Children who visit the shopping center can expect a special treat—at the Big Little Dollar store they will be able to help themselves to a handful of candy, free. The store also will have bargains on sale to grownups.

FREITAG hardware store, besides its anniversary sale items, will offer patrons a chance to win a Rambler American car by just signing an entry blank in the store, with no purchase necessary.

Westgate drugs has an interesting display of old state flags and the village historical society has decorated other display windows with old-time versions of some of our modern conveniences, including old-time ironing boards and flat irons.

Extension Of Contract Is Approved

Arlington Heights trustees Monday voted to extend by $2,267 a contract between the village and high school district 214 for installation of water mains to the new Forest View high school.

Village Manager L. A. Hanson explained it would be "Sound engineering" to extend the mains 660 feet further south on Goebbert rd. at this time rather than having to do it later.

He said the added cost to the village will be reimbursable through tap on fees. The $75,000 extension project is being paid for jointly by the village and the school district. (A

Dorcas Aid Plans Dinner

A roast turkey dinner will be served from 12:30 to 3 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 15, in the cafeteria of St. Peter Lutheran school, Arlington Heights.

The dinner is sponsored by the church's Dorcas Aid society and tickets are priced at $2 for adults and $1 for children 5 to 12 years old. Tickets may be purchased from Dorcas Aid members or at the door. (A

LaGrange Man Winner Of Old Auto Contest

Brooks Fuller of LaGrange walked off with the grand champion's trophy Sunday afternoon when his 1929 Packard took the top prize at the antique car contest at Arlington Park race track.

Paul Brna, contest chairman, called the contest—held in conjunction with Arlington Heights' 125th anniversary celebration—an "unqualified success." He said the number of entries, almost 100, and their quality were impressive.

Judging from comments of spectators, viewers agreed.

THE CARS were judged in four classes. Judges were Morton Kantoff of Morton Pontiac, Scotty Robinson of George Poole Ford, Bill Cook of Bill Cook Buick, Dick Roto of Roto Motors, Warren Lattof of Lattof Chevrolet, and Mark B. Heller of Mark Motors.

In the Classics, All Years, competition, Fuller's 1929 Packard took first prize; Sydney Wells, Glencoe, won second prize with his 1922 Benz; Syd Barker of Glenview took third place with his 1936 Dusenberg.

In Fords, Model T's and A's, competition; the winners were: First place, Fred Beyer, Chicago, 1929 A; second, Larry McCann, Chicago, 1927 T; third, Ainslie Goudie, Chicago, 1931 A.

IN PRODUCTION and Vintage competition, winners were: First place, E. L. McElroy, Westchester, 1932 Ford; second, Jerry Ganek, Downers Grove, 1923 Studebaker; third, Grant D. Ross Jr., Chicago, 1922 Paige.

All winners were awarded trophies. 125—(A

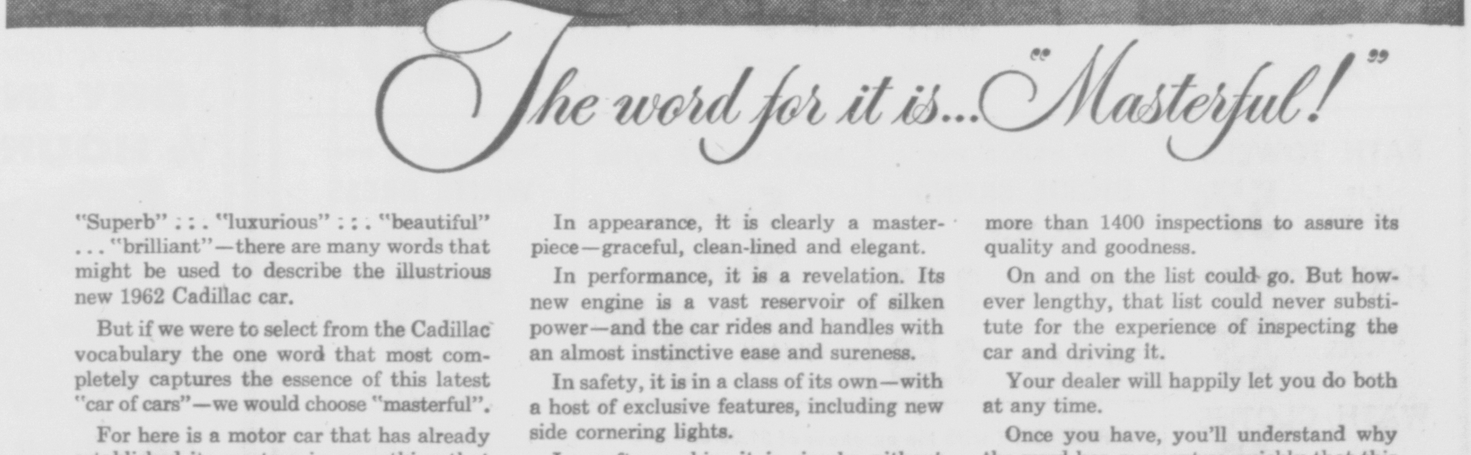
Cadillac



"The word for it is... "Masterful!""

"Superb" . . . "luxurious" . . . "beautiful" . . . "brilliant"—there are many words that might be used to describe the illustrious new 1962 Cadillac car.

But if we were to select from the Cadillac vocabulary the one word that most completely captures the essence of this latest "car of cars"—we would choose "masterful".

For here is a motor car that has already established its mastery in everything that makes an automobile good and desirable.

In appearance, it is clearly a masterpiece—graceful, clean-lined and elegant.

In performance, it is a revelation. Its new engine is a vast reservoir of silken power—and the car rides and handles with an almost instinctive ease and sureness.

In safety, it is in a class of its own—with a host of exclusive features, including new side cornering lights.

In craftsmanship, it is simply without rival. Every 1962 Cadillac will undergo more than 1400 inspections to assure its quality and goodness.

On and on the list could go. But however lengthy, that list could never substitute for the experience of inspecting the car and driving it.

Your dealer will happily let you do both at any time.

Once you have, you'll understand why the word has gone out so quickly that this is the finest Cadillac ever.

Mobile Office Slated For Assessing Work

Assessor P. J. Cullerton last week announced his plan for the use of a mobile field office in connection with the assessing of real estate, particularly in the suburban areas of Cook county.

In his letter to the county board in which he requested permission to lease a tractor and trailer to serve as the mobile unit, Cullerton explained his reasons for the request:

". . . With the advent of the staggered quadrennial system recommended by this office and adopted by the board, certain opportunities to enhance the quality of our work have presented themselves.

"BASED UPON our experience in 1961 in assessing real estate in quadrant one, we have determined that a concentration of our field efforts has been most beneficial. We feel that the efficiency of our field work can further be increased by reducing the time spent by our field men on administrative aspects of the assessment.

"One of the ways this can be accomplished is to establish a mobile field office to serve our field crews.

"In addition to the assistance a mobile field office can render our appraisal crews, I feel that a great deal of service can be rendered taxpayers. According to our present plans, the mobile office will be stationed in one area several days at a time.

"WE FEEL THIS will enable taxpayers to make inquiry and give us sufficient time to examine our records in order to answer questions of assessed value on particular parcels. In this way, taxpayers will be rendered the service they would receive in coming into the county building without the inconvenience of the trip. . . ."

The mobile field office will systematically cover all areas of each township. The schedule will be announced later, with definite dates for the various areas to be covered.

In brief, the use of this mobile field office will help to accomplish the following.

1. Expedite the appraisal of newly constructed improvements;

2. Ease the conduct of a survey of real estate parcels to ascertain if all existing imsessed.

3. Serve as an office of inquiry and information whereby the taxpayers of each area can visit this office and obtain information relative to their real estate assessments.

ASSESSOR Cullerton noted that members of his staff had studied the operation of other assessing offices around the country and had concluded that mobile units had proven effective in furthering the efficiency and quality of assessment work.

The Assessor also emphasized the importance to him of the opportunity to provide a convenient office of inquiry to taxpayers, particularly housewives with small children and wage earners who might lose a day's pay to visit the county building. (B8

Speaking Contest Deadline Is Near

Deadline date for the speaking contest being sponsored by the Mount Prospect Business and Professional Womans club is near. Senior girls from Arlington and Prospect high schools were reminded this week to get their letters in the mail. They must reach Mrs. B. J. Quinnell, 903 E. Evergreen, Mount Prospect, not later than October 15.

The club is sponsoring the contest in conjunction with National Business Week, which is this week, Oct. 1-7. Entrants have been asked to write a letter to Mrs. Quinnell stating their age, school attended, course in which they are majoring and also their willingness to address the club for five minutes on "Why I would like to enter the particular career that I am interested in." The address should also be submitted in written form before the October 15 deadline.

FINALISTS will be notified to appear before the club on November 9, at 6:30 p.m., at which time the talks will be judged and the award presented. First place winner will receive a $100 U. S. Savings bond.

For more information, call Mrs. Quinnell at CLearbrook 3-9448. (B-8

Shapiro to Speak at 'Little City' Fete

Lt. Gov. Samuel H. Shapiro, chairman of the Governor's Commission on Mental Health, will be guest speaker at the third anniversary celebration of Little City on Sunday, October 15 at 2 p.m.

Little City, a non-sectarian residential center and planned community for mentally retarded children, now houses 60 children in four cottages. Its future goal is for 500 residents in 70 cottages.

AT LITTLE CITY, the children live in a "home-like" atmosphere. Children away from home for the first time, are grouped according to sex and age. They are supervised by "house-parents" who live on the grounds.

Opened in 1959 by a Chicago group seeking a better method of treating handicapped children, Little City represents a plan that the founders feel may become a model for others.

Devoted to research, rehabilitation, and residence, Little City is dependent on community financial support for the majority of its operating costs.

SCHOLARSHIPS are available in varying amounts for parents needing financial assistance. The estimated cost to care for each child at Little City is $5,000 annually.

LT. GOV. SHAPIRO

Presently, children learn skills in each area of academic and manual learning, which is helpful to their rehabilitation.

In the future, a large school building will be constructed, which will contain facilities for nursery-primary level of educational and training, departmental facilities for both trainable and educable students, occupational therapy, industrial arts, home economics, and other related training activities.

ALL MAINTENANCE and operational areas are available for training particular students in areas which appear to fit individual needs. "Exit cottages" are planned to house students who are ready to return to normal living.

Students at Little City have an opportunity for religious training with members of each of the three major faiths attending nearby places of worship. In the near future, an interdenominational chapel will be constructed on the grounds.

Recreation at Little City includes appropriate athletic activities, games, hobby clubs, scouting, music, etc. Later a gymnasium-auditorium will offer facilities for more of these activities.

A VARIETY of entertainment is presented for the students' enjoyment in addition to weekly movies.

Future building plans call for a hospital with a full time medical personnel and a close circuit television plan for training and observation.

Admission to Little City is handled on the basis of preliminary evaluation of each individual's status and needs.

MORE COMPLETE evaluations are made during the first period. Complete annual evaluations allow periodic adjustment to fit each resident's needs. (B8

Young Adults Plan Hayride

Members and friends of Northwest Suburban Young Adult Fellowship will hold a hayride Saturday, Oct. 7, at the Sundance Acres ranch. The group will meet at the First Methodist Church of Des Plaines at 7:15 p.m. and after the hayride, all are invited back to the church for refreshments. Election of officers will also be held.

All Protestant young adults in the Paddock area between 18 and 30 are invited to join the group for the hayride and other evenings of activities designed for the Christian young adult. Further information may be obtained by calling Betty Lee Shawver at CLearbrook 3-8673. (B9

HOUSEWIFE TIP

by ED LANDWEHR

A famous doctor says that it's better to do your ironing just fifteen minutes each day than to do it all in one day. Better to sit than stand by the ironing board, and by no means should you rush your job, but sooner have a slow rhythm to your movements. And never stretch in reaching for an item.

He goes on and remarks that frequent TV watching is relaxing, and recommends it to take tension off our daily routine.

LANDWEHR TV, 218 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights, agrees with this good doctor on the TV viewing idea, and adds that sharp, clear pictures will add to the enjoyment. Many housewives use the TV number CLearbrook 5-0700 for TV services that always gives them the finest TV viewing.

But for the 'how and when' advice of ironing, I'd be afraid to forward any suggestions about a household chore that the ladies usually hate. You could get in the position that you'd need a doctor's services pretty quick.

EVERY HOMEOWNER should add the safety factor of a fire extinguisher to his home, is the theory behind the campaign being conducted by Rolling Meadows Jaycees during fire prevention week. The Air-O-Flator, left, and economical pressure can, right, are two of the three models of fire extinguishers being offered throughout the northwest suburbs next week by the civic organization. The Jaycees will provide free home delivery of extinguishers ordered by phone. (B8

Jaycees to Sell Fire Apparatus

Fire prevention week October 8 through 14 is being observed by Rolling Meadows Jaycees with a fire extinguisher sale.

Three type of extinguishers are being offered. There is a non-refillable pressure can, effective against burning wires, grease and gas and safe around children, priced at $1.49.

A fire extinguisher combined with a tire inflator is priced at $4.95. This piece of equipment is used by Illinois Bell Telephone Company. It is refillable with CO2.

THE THIRD model is a dry chemical extinguisher priced at $8.95. It is the kind used by the Rolling Meadows Fire department, and is refillable.

The Jaycees offer free home delivery. Orders may be placed by phoning CL 5-6627 or CL 9-3677. (B8

Organ Society Plans Meeting

The Northwest Suburban Hammond Organ society will hold its second meeting of the fall season at the Lyon & Healy store, 708 E. Northwest hwy., Arlington Heights, Tuesday, Oct. 10.

Guest artist at this meeting will be Barbara Sellers, another of the Northwest suburbs organists and teachers.

MEETINGS are held the second Tuesday of each month, and all organ music enthusiasts are invited to join the club. This group is now one of the largest Hammond Organ clubs in the country.

For information about the club, call CLearbrook 3-9441.

THESE BEARDED GENTLEMEN, who cultivated facial growths in celebration of Arlington Heights' 125th anniversary, were recruited last week to portray a quartet of well-known historical personages in Carson's Chicago store. They took the roles of Sir Walter Scott, Boswell, Samuel Johnson and Robert Burns in connection with the store's display of a full-scale replica of the famous Edinburgh coaching inn, the White Horse Celler. In the 18th century, these famous personalities were frequenters of the noted inn, from which a well-known brand of Scotch Whisky gets its name. Left to right are Ted (Sir Walter) Small, John (Boswell) Hoover, Bob (Johnson) Flood, and Edward (Burns) Cooper. (125-A

Sunday Afternoon

Slate Open House at Maryville Academy

Chicago area residents will have an opportunity to visit a local welfare institution that has been "home" to 25,000 boys and girls in its 80-year history when Maryville Academy, 1150 N. River Rd., Des Plaines, holds a public open house Sunday, Oct. 8.

Guided tours of the sprawling 800-acre "City of Youth" will be conducted for visitors between 1:30 and 5 p.m. The guides, part of the home's staff of 70 people, will explain the services and facilities of Maryville, and answer visitors' questions.

AN AGENCY of the Catholic Charities of the Archdiocese of Chicago, Maryville is the largest of two full-time homes for dependent children operated by the Charities. Currently 700 boys and girls between ages of three and 18 reside at Maryville.

Very few of the children at Maryville are technically orphans. Most have become dependent through the sickness or death of a parent, or through some other form of family tragedy.

Once described by the State Department of Child Welfare as "undoubtedly one of the finest children's institutions in existence," Maryville includes complete grade and high schools, a craft shop, a print shop, and a shoe shop that repairs 7000 pairs of shoes yearly.

ALSO, AN infirmary, two gymnasiums, a swimming pool, a music hall, a bakery that prepares 300 loaves daily, a farm, a farm machinery shop, 20 acres of playground, various athletic playing fields, and a host of other facilities which will be of interest to visitors.

Guests will view the halls or "cottages" where the children live family-style in groups of 30 to 36. Each of the cottages has living room, sleeping rooms, a game room, locker space and bath facilities.

Under the cottage system, children from the same families can live together, and other children can enjoy the companionship of those of their own age level.

AN ADDITIONAL feature of the open house will be the hourly showing of a dramatic half-hour film on the work of all the 89 Catholic Charities agencies in Cook and Lake counties.

"The staff of Maryville," said Msgr. George C. Halpin, Maryville Superintendent, "and all of our children issue a cordial welcome to all those who wish to visit us. I am sure that our guests will be interested in what this one community agency is doing to aid dependent children in their midst."

The open house at Maryville is the second in a series of three Autumn open houses sponsored by the Catholic Charities. On the following Sunday afternoon, Oct. 15, the third and last 1961 open house will be held at St. Andrew Home for the Aged, 7000 N. Newark Ave., Chicago 31.

ALL OF THE open houses are for public information only. No funds will be solicited at any of the open house locations. (B8

Two Associations Now in Council

Two west suburban associations of parents and friends of the retarded have joined the Illinois Council for Mentally Retarded Children, bringing the council's total membership to 49 units in the state.

The two are The Helping Hand Parents association which operates the Helping Hand school, 304 N. Spring ave., La Grange Park, and the Clearbrook School Parents Group which operates the Clearbrook school, Kirchoff and Meadow, Rolling Meadows. The two schools, both non-profit operations, serve 38 children.

CLEARBROOK'S 23 pupils, 4 through 12, have a program of academic studies, self-care, social adjustment and arts and crafts. Now quartered in a church building, the children will move to their own school in Rolling Meadows sometime next year.

As a financial aid to operation, the parents' group has an annual Christmas card and gift sale and hopes to open a permanent gift shop in the new school building.

Both associations will join other units of the council in observing National Retarded Children's Week, November 12-23.

Mayors Set For Realty Board Meet

"Meet Your Mayor" night will be sponsored by Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors at the regular monthly dinner meeting Thursday, Oct. 12 at 7 p.m. in the Des Plaines Elks club, 495 Lee st.

Guest speakers for the evening will include John Woods, village president of Arlington Heights; John Blanke, village president of Barrington; Herbert H. Behrel, mayor of Des Plaines; James Gibson, village president of Elk Grove Village; Clarence O. Schlaver, village president of Mount Prospect; Wilbur D. Harris, village president of Palatine; John H. Overbeck, mayor of Park Ridge; and John J. Woods, mayor of Rolling Meadows.

Doris Kendzie, executive secretary of the realtors board, said the affair was arranged so that realtors and mayors may become better acquainted and to appraise mayors of the special talent available to them in professionally helping with zoning and other real estate matters. (B8

Two Named to Assist In Crusade of Mercy

Two more young executives have been loaned by their companies for the duration of the crusade of Mercy of the Community Fund and the Chicago Red Cross chapter.

They are Robert D. Johnston, 147 S. Brockway st., Palatine, and Marvin A. Sonntag, 523 Evanston ave., Arlington Heights.

These young executives will serve as administrative assistants to section chairmen to assist in carrying the Crusade of Mercy to a successful conclusion. Their job will be to speak before business leaders, to recruit volunteers, and to establish and improve payroll deduction programs in offices and factories.

"Since their work involves contact with business leaders in the community," said Eskil Bjork, chairman of the executive committee of Peoples Gas Light and Coke company, the executive who obtained their services, "these young executives establish relationships with business people which will help them immeasurably in the future."

JOHNSTON, a supervisor for Teletype Company, 5555 W. Touhy, comes from Coal City, Ill. and finished his high school work at Morris. He received his bachelor of arts degree from Carthage college, Carthage.

Johnston and his wife, Ruth, reside at the Brockway address with their three children, Susan Lynn, 6 years old, Steven Douglas, 2, and Philip Scott, age 1.

Coming originally from Outlook, Montana, Sonntag took his high school work at Fond du Lac, Wis. and received a degree of bachelor of business administration in accounting from the University of Wisconsin.

PRESENTLY, Sonntag is manager in the public utilities division of Arthur Andersen and company, certified public accountants. Prior to his two years of work in the Chicago offices of the Andersen company, he spent seven years in their Milwaukee office.

Sonntag and his wife, Philamae, are the parents of five children: Julie, 7, Lynda, 6, and James, 5, all of whom attend Kensington school, and Thomas, 4, and Mary, 3.

Goal of the Chicago Community Fund Red Cross Crusade of Mercy has been set at $15,750,000 for the partial support of the 150 agencies of the Community Fund and the Red Cross.

SINCE THE Chicago Red Cross Chapter operates in Cook and DuPage counties, the Red Cross puts on a spring campaign in most communities in which there is no type of united fund campaign in the fall.

Mexican Film Is Adult Class Topic

Mexico, billed as the country "where time stands still," will be the subject of High School District 214's adult evening education program's Travel and Adventure series Tuesday night, October 10.

Photographer team Alice and Arthur Dewey's film lecture on the Central American country will launch a series of 10 programs for the year.

According to night school director Tom Shirley, season tickets are still available ... be purchased at the door. Tickets for the individual films are also being sold.

THE MEXICAN film features Mexico City, the floating gardens of Xechimilco, bullfights, the University of Mexico, the illuminated Garcia Caves, the flying birdmen of the east coast, and Taxco's cathedral.

Shirley says the production is unsurpassed for photography and is complete with stereophonic sound. (ACM

Prospect Juniors to Be Tested

Illinois statewide tests will be given to all Prospect high school juniors October 11. These cover only such general topics as reading, comprehension of scientific material, understanding of social studies materials, concise and correct writing, and the solution of mathematical problems.

Although grades of the students are not affected, results of the test will be returned after about a month. Each student may then go over his test with a counselor and discuss future plans. Scores will show how Prospect pupils compare with other Illinois juniors. (ACM

'Heights' Judged At Top in Nation

Arlington high's 1960 yearbook, "Heights," has been given an All-American award by the National Scholastic Press association.

The annual was one of seven throughout the nation to receive the organization's highest yearbook honor for high schools with 1200-2100 students (freshmen are not counted).

JUDGES of the "Heights" rated it "excellent" in almost all categories. It was the second "All-American" award for the book, sponsored by Robert Boesel. The "Heights," printed at Paddock Publications, was awarded the top prize in 1957, also.

Editors for last year's book were Linda Burke and Diane Thorsen. (ACM

Lady Voters Taking Part In Course

Meeting at the home of Mrs. R. Grabitz, 509 S. Dryden pl., Arlington Heights, next Wednesday evening at 8 p.m. will be members of the League of Women Voters who are taking a refresher course in the foreign policy problems of balance of trade and how to help underdeveloped countries without undermining our U. S. economy.

A new booklet put out by the National League of Women Voters entitled, "The Politics of Trade," will also be the subject of scrutiny and discussion.

The workshop at Mrs. Grabitz' home, to be followed by one more, is a preliminary to the October all-member unit meetings to be held later in the month to discuss the entire subject of the U. S. and U. N. international economic policies.

The Lutherans

Hear God speak through the Holy Scriptures.

And they believe it because the Holy Scriptures are the divinely inspired record of God's love toward man, particularly as it took place in the person of Jesus Christ.

The Old Testament prepared the way for God's action in Christ and the New Testament proclaims, continually, that action of God.

In our day, the retelling of God's action, through the words of Scripture, which is done by the church, is God actually speaking through the Holy Scriptures.

Your nearby Lutheran church invites you to worship next Sunday.

10 Competing For Honors

Ten of the northwest suburbs' most beautiful, talented, and excited girls will compete tonight for the title, "Miss Arlington Heights," and the prizes that go with it — including a mink stole, a $500 college scholarship, and the chance to compete in the Miss Illinois contest.

The 10 finalists were chosen Tuesday night from 24 who entered the competition, and the judges were in agreement that the two dozen girls who entered comprised one of the finest assemblages of talent and charm they had ever seen.

Judges were Dale Young, ABC perosnality; Louis Roseff, Chicago industrialist; Gloria Van, radio-TV vocalist; Michael Kirby, of Michael Kirby studios; Bill Hamilton, NBC personality; and Miss Ritchie of the Patricia Vance studios.

An unusually large crowd of spectators braved the chilly, fall air as the girls, many of them bare-legged, paraded their beauty and talent before the judges in front of the Ruth Miller apparel shop in Arlington Market.

THE FINALS will be held tonight in the same place, beginning at 7:30 p.m. Tonight the girls will model bathing suits, formals, and again display a 3-minute talent presentation.

Each girl is judged on beauty (25 per cent), talent (50 per cent), and personality (25 per cent).

The winner of tonight's contest will appear on many radio and television shows, including Young's Cock-A-Doodle Day program Friday morning, and Jack Hilton's "Spin Time" show on WGN-TV from 4 to 5:30 p.m. Saturday. She also will reign over the grand ball Saturday night at Arlington Park.

Who is she, Miss Arlington Heights? One of these ten girls—

BRENDA RUDOLPH: Sparkling blue eyes set off by a matching strapless cocktail dress got Brenda off to a good start Tuesday night, and her obvious charms were matched by her expressive voice as she sang a medley of "It's Witchcraft," "My Funny Valentine," "Misty," and "I Could Have Danced All Night."

Brenda's voice showed obvious training, but her ability to capture the essence of a song and put it across to the audience could only have been a matter of natural instinct.

A flawless and swinging delivery helped this charming songstress, who at present is a United Airlines stewardess.

BRENDA IS A 1958 graduate of Arlington High school, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rudolph, 921 S. Evergreen, Arlington Heights.

Statistics: Height, 5-foot, 5-inches; weight, 116 punds; 35-23-36; brown hair; blue eyes.

MARILOU GEISEN: Marilou is in show business and hopes to continue her career in the entertainment world. If her singing is always as good as it was Tuesday night on "I Enjoy Being A Girl," she should have no trouble.

When she musically observed she was "strictly a female, female," there wasn't a person in the audience who needed to be told.

From a pink, full-skirted dress Marilou changed backstage into a bare-midriff, green satin hula skirt and bra and went through a Hawaiian dance, the green of her costume contrasting enticingly with the red of her lips and her dark brown hair.

SHE IS A 1958 graduate of Maine township high school, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Geisen, 1380 Jefferson st., Des Plaines.

Statistics: Height, 5-foot, 7-inches; weight, 132 pounds; 35-23-35; dark brown hair; hazel eyes.

ANNE HEUER: A tall girl, Anne was the picture of charm as she delivered two selections of poetry. She has had training in dramatics, art, modeling and singing, and would like to continue her education in an accredited nurses training school or fashion school.

Anne is a senior at Prospect high school and previously lived in South Africa. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. John D. Heuer of 102 S. Brighton place, Arlington Heights.

Statistics: Height, 5-foot, 10½-inches; weight, 135 pounds; 35½-24½-37; brown hair; grey-green eyes.

GAIL BROOKE: A curvaceous pixie in black dancing tights might best describe Gail as she danced her imaginative interpretation of "My Buddy." Her ebony costume was set off by a short, white overskirt, white gloves and white slippers.

Although the recording machine was acting up, Gail hurdled the obstacle with style and grace and performed her dance to an impromptu organ accompaniment. She's a high school senior, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Brooke, 315 S. Harvard, Arlington Heights.

Statistics: Height, 5-foot, 5 inches; weight, 130 pounds; 36-25-37; brown hair; hazel eyes.

SUE TURNER: Using a make-believe wardrobe trunk, a prop she designed herself, Sue gave a convincing demonstration of her poise and talent as she explained how she would be ready for a big, homecoming weekend with the three outfits she had designed and made.

HERE SHE IS, Miss Arlington Heights, but which one? That will be decided tonight when these ten finalists compete in Arlington Market, having earned the right in the preliminary contest Tuesday night. They are, left to right: Above, Dale Soderstrom, Pamela Bryant; Brenda Rudolph; Gail Brooke, and Cheryl Williams. Below, Nancy Larsen, Patricia Kudla, Marilou Geisen, Anne Heuer, and Sue Turner. (125A

Wearing a red and white plaid skirt and matching coat of her own design, she exhibited three other creations of hers, a blue blazer jacket and matching skirt, a red party dress and a slack outfit.

Sue is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Turner, 117 S. Wilshire, Arlington Heights, and a high school senior.

Statistics: Height, 5-foot, 7-inches; weight, 120 punds; 36-24-36; brown hair; hazel eyes.

DALE SODERSTROM: Cute and pert in her high-necked, blue playsuit, Dale went through a flawless baton-dance routine to the music of the "St. Louis Blues March."

Applause greeted her execution of the difficult splits, and her twirling exhibition as she strutted and danced through her number made her a popular favorite.

Dale is a senior at Prospect high school, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Soderstrom, 12 N. Parkway, Prospect Heights.

Statistics: Height, 5-foot, 6-inches; weight, 127 pounds; 36-24½-37; brown hair; hazel eyes.

NANCY LARSEN: Decked out in a fringed white dress reminiscent of the flapper era, complete with black headache band and feather, a long string of beads and a black garter on her left leg, energetic Nancy Larsen shimmied and shook through an entertaining Roaring Twenties number, "I Want to be Loved by You," (and nobody else but you — boo-boo-pa-doop).

The talented Nancy is a 1961 graduate of Arlington high school, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Larsen, 620 S. Cleveland, Arlington Heights.

Statistics: Height, 5-foot, 6-inches; weight, 120 punds; 36-25-36; blonde hair; blue eyes.

PAMELA BRYANT: Saucy and bright-eyed Pam Bryant came on stage in a breath of energy, only to be thwarted by the sound system. When it was remedied she danced her way through a spirited "Can-Can," and Russian and Scandinavian numbers, to the delight of the crowd.

Pam is blessed with a striking and candid personality, and will be graduated next year from Arlington high school, where her abounding energy is divided between dancing, modeling, swimming, diving, fencing, ice skating, tennis, art and singing. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John N. Bryant, 106 N. Pine, Palatine.

Statistics: Height, 5-foot, 5-inches; weight, 113 pounds; 35-23-35; brown hair; blue eyes.

PATRICIA KUDLA: That's Kudla as in "cuddly," which describes Pat well, though she's tall and contradictorily statuesque. Pat wore a beautiful blue coat and dress ensemble, and wore it to perfection.

Her talent presentation was based on the arts she is learning in modeling school, and it was obvious she is learning them well. Pat demonstrated the feminine way to walk, sit and take off a coat with grace and ease.

The poised and confident Patricia is a high school senior, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Kudla, 509 S. See-Gwun, Mt. Prospect.

Statistics: Height, 5-foot, 9-inches; weight, 151 pounds; 36-26-37; brown hair; brown eyes.

CHERYL WILLIAMS: In her red shorts and printed blouse, straw hat and bare midriff, Cheryl was a bundle of energy and talent as she danced and twirled her way through a barefoot version of "Tequila."

Baton and busy feet combined to keep the audience entertained during her calypso dance routine, demonstrating that her training in these arts was not wasted. Cheryl is a senior at Arlington high school, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Williams, 750 N. Pine, Arlington Heights.

Statistics: Height, 5-foot, 5-inches; weight, 112 pounds; 34-22-34; brown hair; blue eyes.

THERE THEY are, 10 charming, talented, beautiful girls — one of whom will be chosen Miss Arlington Heights tonight, taking the first step in a climb toward the coveted title of Miss America. (A-125

Park Recreation Schedule Listed

The winter and spring recreation program schedule of the Arlington Heights park district was published this week, along with a list of special events to be held.

New classes added this year are weight training and gymnastics for teenage boys, a men's dartball league, and a dog obedience class.

One of the most popular activities for children, the tumbling and trampoline class still has some openings, as does another popular program, playschool, a morning play program for pre-school children between 3 and 5 years of age.

FOR ADULTS, one of the most desired activities is the bridge class. This will be held on Tuesday nights with Chester Rumpf, a life master player, as instructor. Beginners classes will run from Oct. 10 through Dec. 12, and intermediate classes from Jan. 9 through March 13.

Special events scheduled through the fall and winter include a table tennis tournament Nov. 13, a holiday basketball tournament towards the end of December, the Rotary ice karnival in mid-January, Daily News relays qualifying trials in January, basketball shooting contest in mid-February, and a kite karnival toward the end of March.

FURTHER information and a complete listing of courses available can be obtained at the park district administration office in Pioneer park, CL 3-0620.

Westgate Group Is To Elect Officers

Officers will be elected at the second organizational meeting of the Southwest Civic association of Arlington Heights, Thursday, Oct. 12.

The new homeowners' group, which serves the area south of Euclid and west of Fernandez, will meet at 7:30 p.m. in the Pioneer park fieldhouse.

Earlier, the new group adopted a constitution but deferred election of officers. A full slate of candidates has been selected by a nominating committee comprised of John O'Hara, 319 S. Yale; Don Hillenmayer, 220 S. Yale, and Mrs. Frank N. Precillio, 431 S. Dwyer.

NOMINATIONS also will be accepted from the floor at the meeting.

Anyone interested in joining the association or attending the next meeting is asked to contack Chester Gawlik, 311 S. Yale, acting secretary.

Slate Boundary Line Hearing for Oct. 10

A public hearing on the boundary lines to be established for the new Forest View high school has been scheduled by Arlington-Prospect district 214 for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 10.

The meeting was originally planned for discussion of boundary lines, new school sites and construction of the fourth district high school.

Because of the interest expressed by district parents and residents and because of the many unfounded rumors brought to school board members for confirmation, the board decided to limit the meeting to the boundary question alone.

No decision or board discussion on the boundaries has been held. Eight varying plans for boundary lines have been developed by the school administration based on population centers and transportation needs.

At the Tuesday meeting the recommendation of the school-administration heads will be presented to the school board for the first time.

Maps and slide projections of the proposed boundary lines are to be developed for discussion at the meeting and to provide the public with better understanding of the various proposals.

Ken Dougan, president pro tem at the Monday meeting in the absence of President Daryl Oldaker, stressed it would be informative for the public to hear the boundary discussions of the board in order to understand the many problems involved in setting school boundary lines.

Board members agreed to hear all persons wishing to comment on the boundary lines. It was agreed if a large number of people wished to speak a time limit might be set on each presentation.

The board is not expected to take final action on the boundary lines Tuesday night.

Decision on the boundary lines, which will affect all three schools and be dependent upon future enrollment population, will come at a regular school board meeting in the near future, board members indicated.

All regular school board meetings are open to the public.

Report Tells Conclusions

A desire to settle "as amicably and quickly as possible" the Stanley Ptak condemnation case was expressed Monday by both Ptak and Arlington Heights trustees.

Ptak, the 44-year-old father of 11 children who farms his one-acre tract of land at 1338 N. Dunton, began 18 months ago to resist efforts of the village and a subdivider to run a street and utilities through his property.

His position has been that he needs every bit of the land to raise food for his family.

Since May, progress has been made in working up to an out of court settlement of the dispute. Negotiations came to a pre-climax Monday when a special committee of trustees presented a report outlining results of a study of the matter.

IN THE REPORT, committee members Norval Stephens, William Sauer and Richard Glantz made the following recommendations:

—that the village board authorize Village Attorney Jack M. Siegel to draw up an agreement providing for (A) dedication of Highland ave. by the Ptaks and paving and sidewalk installation by the village, and (B) purchase of land for Vail ave. by the village provided the Ptaks improve Vail including street, sidewalk, sewer and water.

—that Attorney Siegel be authorized to work out minor details with the Ptaks' attorney and to present for approval of the board the final agreement, and —that due consideration be given the continuing farming on the land and that the improvements be worked to the convenience of the Ptaks, provided installation of improvements on Vail is not delayed past spring planting in 1962.

TRUSTEES informally agreed this week that the Highland improvement could get underway in "two or three weeks" and that the Vail improvement should be completed next spring.

The special committee noted it was concluded with the Ptaks that a settlement out of court which would accomplish the necessary paving and sidewalk installation was preferable to a court suit.

The committee also concluded the fairest and quickest solution on improving Highland is for the Ptaks to dedicate the necessary land and for the village to pave the street.

THE BEST solution on Vail, according to the committee, is for the village to buy the land for the street with the Ptaks improving the street immediately by private contract.

The committee suggested two appraisers be appointed — one by the village and one by the Ptaks — to estimate the value of the property for Vail.

But Donald Norman, attorney for the Ptaks, said they wanted more time to discuss the appraisal method of determining the worth of the land.

TRUSTEE EUGENE Schlickman pointed out the only alternative was to go to court so that a jury could set a value. He urged Norman to consider the appraiser approach.

"According to my experience, appraisers can't always get together," Norman said. He hinted a jury might make a higher valuation of the property too.

Trustees voted 4-0 to accept the committee's report, permitting Siegel and Norman to get together to work out final details of the settlement.

NOT VOTING on the matter, though present, was Trustee William Moore. A former partner of Norman's, Moore said he had earlier worked on the Ptaks' presentation, but now had no connection with the case.

"Mr. Norman and I are no longer associated as far as the practice of law is concerned, but I still would like to disqualify myself from the voting here," Moore said. (A

Missing Youth Returns Home

A 17-year-old Arlington Heights youth returned home Wednesday morning after an extended — and unauthorized —vacation.

The youth's parents reported him missing September 23 and he had not been heard of since until Wednesday. Police said he had been in Florida and other parts of the south. (AF

Fall Fishing Days To Begin Saturday

Now that humans are through with the pool at Recreation Park in Arlington Heights, the fish get their turn—but they're going to have to dodge anglers' hooks.

What this means is that one of Arlington Heights park district's most popular events, fall fishing days, begins this Saturday, Oct. 7, and will continue through Oct. 29.

This year the park district is offering a 23-day fishing season. Only Recreation park pool will be used, since repairs are being made on the Pioneer park pool.

ANGLERS WIL be able to try their skill on weekends from 1 to 5 p.m. and during the week, Monday through Friday, from 7 to 9 p.m. All fish caught will be weighed and measured with prizes to be awarded for the largest catches at the end of the season.

Admission for children will be 25 cents and for adults 50 cents for a half-hour period, or one catch. Cane poles, line, sinker and fly hook will be supplied, or fishermen may bring their own equipment and bait. No fly casting will be permitted.

About 600 pounds of fish are expected to be stocked in the pool during the "season," primarily brook and rainbow trout, with a sprinkling of bass.

League Aids Voters from Booth Here

Ladies from the League of Women voters will continue to answer questions on voter registration tonight, Thursday, and Friday night at the State street carnival. The league is sharing a booth with the Lions club and the 125th Anniversary association.

Also, if they hurry, carnival merrymakers may be able to purchase one of the few remaining copies of the league's booklet about Arlington Heights government entitled, "Presenting Arlington Heights."

THE LEAGUE OF Women Voters is determined to have everyone in Arlington Heights, including the riders on the merry-go-round, well informed about voting and their government.

Mrs. R. McCarthy, voters service chairman, will also be behind her telephone to answer more questions. Her telephone number is CL 5-2957. (A

Humor Lost as Horse Kicks Girl in Head

by HELENE BRISTOL

The old banter about being "kicked in the head by a horse" no longer will have any humor for Ellen Dyson, 17. The young woman was rushed to the emergency room of Northwest Community hospital last weekend when she really was kicked in the head by a horse.

Miss Dyson, who lives on route, 3 Palatine, was admitted to the hospital for observation.

A bump on the head also brought Lloyd Livingstone, 12, of 2609 Grouse, Rolling Meadows, to the emergency room. The young boy banged heads with another child. The other child apparently had a harder head as no record of treatment was listed. Admitted to the hospital, Livingstone's condition was listed as good by hospital spokesmen.

OTHER HEADS appeared prominently in the emergency room reports. Little William Nickas, 15 months, of 1111 Hawthorne st., Arlington Heights, fell and received a cut on his left eyebrow. A wall apparently "came up and hit" Susan Swenson, 4, of 2704 Dove, Rolling Meadows, when she fell and cut her forehead. A cut on the forehead was the result of a fall by Leon Delano III, 3, of 243 Richards, Palatine.

Still "heading" at the emergency room, attendants treated Jill Johnson, 1½, of 533 Ridge ct., Arlington Heights, for a cut on her right ear. The little girl fell against a table. Ted Seger, 8, of 1402 Joan dr., Palatine, was admitted to the hospital for observation for a possible head injury. A fall at work brought Robert Mionskie, 19, of Lake Zurich, to the hospital with bruises of his arm and hand and a possible concussion. He was admitted for observation.

When David Thiede, 6, of 1224 W. Grove, Arlington Heights, fell he drove a wood splinter into his cheek. The splinter was removed by emergency room attendants.

YOUNG WENDY Weiser, 20 months, and Kirk Andrews, 4, were not content with simple head injuries. Both young children pushed objects into their nose and were taken to the emergency to have them removed. Wendy lives at 139 Edgemont lane, Hoffman Estates, while Kirk lives at 400 W. Willow, Prospect Heights.

Heading the list of unique "snacks" eaten by youngsters last week were moth balls and garden spray. The appealing "treats" were the fare of Krista Atkins, 14 months, of 320 Spruce lane, Elk Grove Village, and David Seibt, 22 months, of 703 S. Elmhurst, Mount Prospect.

Other stomach washing treatments were needed for Pamela Simek, 3, of 2704 Owl lane, Rolling Meadows, who ate stale food, and Katharine Barber, 4, of LaGrange, who ate baby aspirin.

EVEN BED did not prove to be a safe place for Nancy Murphy, 3, of 1427 S. Elmhurst, Mt. Prospect. The little girl fell out of bed and fractured her left forearm.

Tiny William Grabitz, 11 months, of 509 S. Dryden, Arlington Heights, fell from his bathinette and fractured his left arm.

The two young children were only a small percentage of the many fracture cases handled by the emergency room during the past week. David Reynolds, 6½, of 102 Forest Park lane, Hoffman Estates, is sporting a splint for a fractured left hand. Mrs. Margaret O'Day, 1629 Grace, Park Ridge, has a short arm cast for a fracture treated at the emergency room. Dianne Bettinger, 620 Banbury, Arlington Heights, has a long arm cast on her right arm after breaking it in a fall at school.

Playtime was fracture time for both Richard Schlect, 4, and Patrick Murphy, 12. Richard, who lives at 1735 N. Fernandez, Arlington Heights, fell from a slide and broke his left arm. Young Murphy of 311 E. Brookshire lane, Mount Prospect, broke his left arm while playing football at Lions park.

PLAY ALSO brought a broken left arm to Douglas Foxgrover, 7½, of 138 N. Inverway, Palatine. The young boy is wearing a long arm cast as a result of a fall from a bicycle.

Wearing a splint on his face is Paul Croarkin, 9, of 804 S. Ridge, Arlington Heights. The youth received cuts and a fractured nose when he was hit in the face with a baseball bat.

Glass was the villain for three emergency room patients. Thomas Herbeck, 15, of 1720 N. Ridge, Arlington Heights, cut his knee on a glass window. A laceration of his right hand was treated for Daniel Vittum, 423 S. Beverly, Arlington Heights, after he was injured while working with storm windows. Mrs. Dolores Perina, 517 S. Pine, Mt. Prospect, cut a finger while washing dishes.

OTHER INJURIES treated at the emergency room included a turned ankle bandaged for Mrs. Ruth Pepper, 270 Fern dr., Elk Grove Village. First degree burns of the arms, hands and face were treated for Eleazar Guerra, box 353, Palatine. Guerra was burned when an oil furnace exploded. A steel chip was removed from the right eye of Richard Fafinski, 810 Delphia ave., Elk Grove Village.

Three victims of automobile accidents were brought to the hospital by police. Admitted to the hospital for treatment of chin and leg injuries was James L. Weaver, 21, of 47 S. Elm st., Palatine. Palatine police took the youth to the emergency room after an accident on Rt. 14 west of Williams st. opposite the Arlington Park grandstand.

Mrs. Helen Harper, 1214 E. Northwest hwy., Arlington Hts., was released by the emergency room following examination. The woman was taken to the hospital by Arlington Heights police following a traffic accident at Rt. 83 and Euclid. Chester D. Walker, 11 South Side Country club, Decatur, was examined and discharged from the emergency room after an accident at Rts. 12 and 53. State polie brought the man to the hospital following the accident.

Club Starts New Season

Next Wednesday night, Oct. 11, the Arlington Heights Toastmasters will signal the beginning of a new year with a dinner meeting at the Flamingo motel, River rd. and Milwaukee ave.

The Toastmasters and their wives will be treated to a dinner and a program. Included is the presentation of the Roger Kellogg award, which is given annually to the outstanding toastmaster in the Arlington Heights club.

The new officers, led by president-elect Frank Callaghan, will be installed by Kenneth Magnusson of Des Plaines, the assistant district governor. Also part of the program will be a portion of a regular club meeting. (A

VIRGINIA TERRACE

The Terrace greeted new arrivals and west coast visitors as well as autumn last week.

A welcome is extended to Carol and Edward Vogt and their daughter, Terry, 11, who have recently taken up residence at 1340 N. Yale. Ed is a salesman for the All Steel Equipment Co. of Aurora. The Vogts formerly lived in Chicago's Edgebrook area.

Marilyn Schmidt, 1201 N. Race, is enjoying a visit from her sister, Mrs. Nancy Reinhardsen of Los Angeles. They are keeping busy catching up on family news, as this is their first visit together in a year and a half.

Weekend visitors to the Ross household, 1252 N. Chicago, were Bill's sister and her husband, Jane and Bill Gall of Pacific Grove, Cal., enroute to Washington, D.C. They plan a longer visit with the Rosses on their return. As both the Galls are artists, a special date to tour the Chicago Art Institute is planned.

LAST THURSDAY afternoon, Scott, son of Robert and Shirley Vogtritter, 1208 N. Race, celebrated his third birthday. Party guests included Thea Larson, April Krug, John n y Marshall, cousin Paula Vogtritter of Mount Prospect and sister, Jill Ann.

Angela and Emil Piscopo, 1325 N. Race, enjoyed a busy weekend. Saturday they entertained guests from Chicago, the MacAbees, and, following dinner, were joined for an evening of cards by Mr. and Mrs. Myerle Sadler of Rolling Meadows. Mr. and Mrs. Herman Ferdman of Glencoe were their Sunday dinner guests.

Among the Terrace fathers and sons attending last weekend's camp-out at Ft. Atkinson, Wis., were: Ray and Whitney Kellogg; Ted, Larry and Mark Larson; and Ed and David Cech. The campers report that the wild and wooly weather didn't serve to dampen their enthusiasm in any way.

A LUNCHEON party was held last Thursday to celebrate the fifth birthday of Ray, son of Eileen and Raymond Brown, 1504 W. Oakton. Guests included Michael Stein, Paul Frisbee, Cathy Weber, Lisa and David Yates, Christopher Burkhardt and sister, Peggy.

Linda, daughter of Ed and Betty Cech, 1402 N. Chicago, celebrated her eighth birthday last Saturday with a luncheon party followed by a trip to the bowling lanes. Guests included Maribeth Martin, Linda Brown, Nancy Sorensen, Judy Lindholm, Joan Kohler, Karen Garland, Cheryl Clarkson, Donna Plattner of Mount Prospect and Linda Fluhrer, who won the bowling prize. Cathy Zaucha and Linda Donath were ill and could not attend.

The Wiederhold children, 1322 N. Chicago, enjoyed an active weekend. Kevin and Kim visited their grandparents in Park Ridge with Kim going on to attend the Northwestern - Boston college game in Evanston with his grandfather. Back home, Kyle entertained Steve Newberg of Hasbrook as an overnight guest.

Last Friday night several Terrace couples enjoyed trying to recapture their skill as roller skaters by visiting the village's new rink. Attending the skating party were the Bill Gunnisons, Ray Funks, Frank Fietschaes, Bob Gumzes and the Walter Skantzes. Later they adjourned to the home of Julie and Frank Fietsch, 1110 N. Yale, for coffee and sandwiches. (A

Association Plans Baked Goods Sale

A special baked goods sale in conjunction with the 125th anniversary celebration will be conducted by the Arlington Acres Civic association Friday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Arlington Heights National Bank, 14 E. Campbell.

Co-chairmen of the event are Mrs. L. Q. Yowell, 441 S. Forrest, and Mrs. F. D. McGuire, 409 S. Gibbons.

PIES, CAKES, candy, cookies and bread contributed by association members will be on sale. Proceeds will go to the organization's community service programs.

According to Mrs. McGuire, the sale will be held on the sidewalk outside the bank if fair weather prevails. In case of bad weather, it will be held inside the bank. (A

Call for Courage

'Mark Twain' to Speak to Club

"Mark Twain" is coming to the Arlington Heights Presbyterian Church Men's club, on Monday. Oct. 16, in the person of George-William Smith, professor of speech, radio and television at McCormick Theological seminary, Chicago. His is a "one-man show" that runs for two hilarious hours.

When Professor Smith appears in a white suit, along with a white wig and cigar-stained mustache, he is Mark Twain. He gives a lecture just as the humorist did in 1905. The audience even in 1960 laughs with abandon when he tells his famous stories.

"AN ENCOUNTER With an Interviewer" is only topped by "His Grandfather's Old Ram," and before the evening is over we discover again, as the nation did in 1905, that Mark Twain was more than a humorist; he had something to say to his audience in 1905 that sounds very modern in 1961.

It takes Professor Smith an hour and a half to dress and make up; if his photographs are any indication, his is a remarkable likeness.

When we asked him why it takes Hal Holbrook three hours to make up, the Professor said, "Mr. Holbrook is only 36; I don't have so far to go." (A

Notes from Arlington Acres

Marie Marshall CLearbrook 5-2936

Jimmy Leistikow is still in the hospital undergoing tests and treatment. Anyone wishing to send him a card may send it to room 707, Lutheran General hospital, Park Ridge, or to his home, 512 S. Forrest.

The Stan Merchants, 513 S. Forrest, entertained their nephew and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Merchant, for dinner Sunday. The younger Merchants are from Homewood and were accompanied by their son, Keith, and daughter, Sheryl.

Members of the Arlington Acres Civic association are busily preparing for the town's anniversary celebration. The float committee reports that work is progressing very well and hopes are high for the first prize.

FIVE GIRLS helped Janet Gaynor celebrate her 10th birthday September 23 by attending a party at the roller rink where Janet tried out her new skates. After skating, the group returned to the Gaynor home, 433 S. Prindle, for refreshments topped off with a cake in the form of a pink elephant.

Highlight of the day was the slumber party which followed. Guests included Cathy Cooper, Peggy Gorman, Christine Zitzer and Janet's sisters, Diane and Cindy. Janet is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Gaynor.

To celebrate her October 1 birthday, Mr. and Mrs. John Lynch, 433 S. Forrest, spent Saturday in the loop. The afternoon was taken up with shopping, after which they enjoyed dinner at the Blackhawk.

Best wishes for a speedy recovery go to Mrs. George Novy, who is in Northwest Community hospital where she underwent surgery. "Grandma" Novy is the mother of Mrs. Frank Marshall and makes her home with the Marshalls at 432 S. Forrest. (A

Sarah Templin, 1487 N. Wilke rd. attended the funeral of Orlando Tartoni in Detroit last week. Sarah then spent the week visiting with her brother William Mazzetti in Detroit, returning last Saturday.

Sherry and John Scanlan, 1520 Lillian st. celebrate their fourth wedding anniversary today, October 5.

Danny Serbins, son of Charlene and Dan, 1420 Yale ct., celebrated his 10th birthday September 28 with playmates, Joey Camp, Gordon Vidt, Stevie Peterson, Marty Haeger and Teddy Brenyas. After a spaghetti dinner they went to the show.

SEVERAL birthdays were celebrated during the past week. Among them were Teresa Anderson, 3, Richard Alan Ricklefs, 2, Gerry Sitler and Dorothy Jannusch, September 25; Brian Yost, 2, and his mother, Mrs. Dick Yost, September 26; Joy Hammon, 6 September 24; Carl Hamza, 6 September 30; John Henry Vidt and Susie McCoy, both 5 October 2; and Deborah Jean Berry, 2 October 4.

Mark Frase, son of Bob and Gean, 1719 N. Verde, will celebrate his 11th birthday October 7.

Pat Sherman, 1811 N. Verde, attended the Hammond Organ concert at Niles Township West high school last Tuesday.

Lynnwood Home Owners association meeting is tonight, Oct. 5, at the Bank of Rolling Meadows at 8 p.m. Speakers will be Mr. Fletcher, civil engineer, Mr. Barker from St. Paul Federal on financing and Mr. Sosewitz from the Sanitary Sewer district.

Fritz and Naomi Ruprecht, 1631 N. Wilke rd. went on the I.R.E. treasure hunt September 30 ending with a steak dinner at the Villa Venice. More than 450 people participated in the hunt. (A

Hasbrook Happenings

Hazel Peck CLearbrook 9-0688

September held several interesting activities for Hasbrook such as the party Roger and Jo Ann Houser, 1717 Fernandez ave., gave for the northwest alumnae group of Jo Ann's college sorority, Alpha Omicron Pi. The gals meet annually and when they and their respective spouses gathered for dinner at the Housers', the table was set for 37.

There are new neighbors to greet at 1824 Fernandez ave. Bruce and Helen Nelson have moved in with kindergarten-age daughter, Christine.

Mary Tully, 1802 Fernandez ave., is in the news with Toby, her year-old Wire Hair Terrier who became a champion and the father of six puppies all on the same day.

Herb and Lil Herbeck, 1720 Ridge ave., came up with a few gray hairs when their son, Tom, cut his knee so badly that 10 stitches were necessary.

THERE'VE BEEN birthdays. In the adult department, Lois McGuire, 803 Lynwood ave., celebrated last Thursday. A birthday, junior grade, was observed by Claudia Demczyna, who was 11 September 20, but who spread out the partying to include a gathering of girl friends September 16 and a family celebration September 24.

Mary Ann Lobes, 1612 Fernandez ave., reached the 7-year mark September 29 and chose a family party to usher in another year.

September 24 Paul Christian, son of Al and Bertha Barbaros, 1543 N. Kennicott, was christened at the First Presbyterian church. In attendance were Mrs. Yde, Bertha's mother, of Montreal, Canada, and the senior Barbaros from Powers, Wis., all of whom arrived September 23.

It's a boy named Roy for Robert and Melissa Voss, 818 W. Thomas st. He was born September 15 in Resurrection hospital.

GOOD THINKING on the part of four mothers in the Kennicott area. They've organized a nursery school for their 3-year-olds that keeps each mother busy one morning out of four with coloring, pasting, dancing and story-telling. Participants in this successful venture are Sue Richardson and daughter, Marsha, Dolores Swenson with her Cheryl, Betty Johnson and her Pamela and Nancy Tierney and Ellen.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Wiltshire, 1632 Chestnut ave., hied themselves off to the Wagon Wheel in Rockton for a few days of fun the first part of this week.

Jim and June Riemenschneider, 1505 N. Kaspar, had as their house guests, September 22-24, Jim's brother, Bob and family from Creve Coeur, Mo.

Pessimist John Drolshagen, 808 Lynwood ave., is studying Pussian. Real reason, John says, is to keep up with daughter Susie, also a student of the language.

Kathleen Mary, daughter of John and Marian Shea, had her first birthday October 2. (A

Fallout Shelters Cause Area Problems

Building Code Change Cited

by JOHN REDDY

Emphasis on the function of fallout shelters in rejuvenated Civil Defense efforts has heaped an assortment of additional problems on already belabored village officials in the northwest suburban area.

They are being asked to provide the means for allowing construction of fallout shelters and at the same time are plagued to consider aesthetics and peace time safety factors.

More than anything else, they are beginning to play watchdog for citizens being preyed upon by quick-pitch fallout shelter salesmen who set up business for the advantage of a possible quick buck.

Mount Prospect officials adopted a revised building code which took into consideration needs for construction of fallout shelters. Permits to construct shelters are required for purposes of inspection, but no permit fees are assessed.

MOUNT PROSPECT took steps to revise their building code after being confronted with several shelter permit inquiries. The Mount Prospect code, like that which Elk Grove Village is contemplating, was patterned after the one recently approved by Chicago.

Since adopting its code, one builder has applied for a permit in Mount Prospect but was turned down because his plans did not meet the revised requirements.

Palatine officials had expected to take action on a sample code prepared for assuring adequate control in construction of fallout and blast shelters.

HOWEVER, at the request of Dr. Justin Fleischmann, director of Palatine's Civil Defense medical corps, action was deferred until an alternate ordinance can be drafted.

Dr. Fleischmann told Palatine trustees recently that because of the village's proximity to the Nike headquarters in Arlington Heights, O'Hare field, and other military installations, the village should think of a "tailormade" code.

The code, according to Dr. [illegible], should take into consideration possible effects of blast as well as fallout.

ELK GROVE officials faced a stumbling block in passage of a fallout shelter ordinance because of relatively shallow water table and resulting concern for seepage and possible flooding.

A nuclear blast generates condensation and Palatine authorities are considering shelter requirements in terms of possible deluge minutes after the blast.

But whatever final code is developed, Palatine will require that prospective shelter owners obtain permits and have their structures inspected to assure they are getting what they pay for and that they have what is required for their own safety. Permits will be free.

WHEELING officials, on the other hand, are concerned about safety factors of shelters while not in use - that they will be attractive nuisances. They don't want a hodge-podge of structures popping up in the pretense of being called shelters.

It is the aesthetics and the over-all impact the addition of shelters will have that also is of concern, as is the need to make certain shelters will be constructed so they can do what they are supposed to do.

Arlington Heights was expected to act on a pending fallout shelter code this week. "The Building Department is primarily concerned with the safety of any type of construction and would, naturally, be as much concerned with safety in shelter construction," wrote Building Commissioner Harold Best in a recent memorandum.

"IT WOULD BE very difficult to obtain a code that would cover all types of shelter construction." Arlington Heights officials are considering public shelters as separate matter and on the basis of individual design.

Public shelter is also a concern of Mount Prospect, which is being assisted by a citizen's committee that is making a survey of public buildings suitable for use as shelter in case of nuclear attack.

Dr. Fleischmann said he soon will be urging consideration of a Civil Defense plan that will consider action for school children and for other areas of public gathering.

Knowing specifically what type of structure will meet existing building codes will help villages protect residents who might be the target of fast-talking, fly-by-night fallout shelter builders.

PERMITS, generally being asked, are to insure plans meet these requirements and to let inspectors know when a structure is contemplated so on-the-job supervision can be assured.

Fees are being waived in most cases to remove obstacles that may discourage construction of private fallout shelters. Some Wheeling officials feel permit fees should be charged, if only at a minimum, to cover the cost the village plays in ascertaining the adequacy of a shelter.

Local codes generally are incorporating all-inclusive Civil Defense requirements with a community's particular needs for construction. (B8

Brownie troop 766, second and third graders, had their first troop meeting of the year September 27. Mrs. Douglas Stalker served as mother-helper of the month. Mrs. W. E. Kunze is leader and Mrs. Louis Richards is co-leader. The troop committee is Mrs. A. F. Dow, Mrs. E. H. Cushing and Mrs. T. K. Gasser.

SOUTH MT. PROSPECT

Troop 499 Junior High Girls, spent the weekend of September 22, 23 and 24 at Happy Hollow Camp near Lake Geneva. Sixteen girls and three mothers spent the weekend in the rain. Mrs. E. Schimek, leader, Mrs. O. Williams, co-leader and Mrs. C. Hughson, troop committee chairman, led the girls in pitching tents and outdoor cooking.

Work on their Pioneer badge was completed at this time. Troop 477 spent the same weekend at Happy Hollow, and joined with troop 499 in a campfire program with singing and skits. Mrs. F. Caldini, is leader of troop 477 and was accompanied by co-leader Mrs. Richard Reynes and Mrs. Robert Grenning, a troop mother.

PALATINE

Mariner ship 334 spent an adventuresome weekend in a cottage at Petite Lake park with their leader Mrs. Sargol and her husband. Fourteen scouts participated in the events with water skiing being the most important event on the agenda.

September 16 the girls took a trip to the naval armory where they toured the ship which is their namesake, the Daniel A. Joy. It is due for active duty in Germany. The scouts entertained the captain and crew on deck with their singing. They also sang for the sailors on the submarine Silversides.

NOT FORGETTING a service project, ship 334 will be devoting one Saturday a month to teaching blind children to swim and canoe.

New members were introduced and new officers elected. Officers are: Diane Sargol, president; Maureen Haley, vice president; Marcy Lafley, secretary; Jane Wittenberg, treasurer; Lynda Sargol, reporter. The group is planning a busy and enjoyable year. (B9

Church Plans First Service

Arlington Heights' newest church will be known as the Southminster United Presbyterian church.

The name was unanimously selected at a meeting Sunday of interested residents and prospective members.

Dr. William T. Jones, organizing minister, announced that a building site, secured two years ago by the Presbytery of Chicago, has been officially approved by the Presbytery and the department of church planning of the Church Federation of Greater Chicago.

THE CHURCH site is four-and a-half acres fronting on Central rd. and bounded by Dryden pl. and Dryden school. Purchase of the land was made possible through the gifts of three families interested in the establishment of the new congregation.

Several committees are completing arrangements for the first public worship service Sunday, Oct. 15 at 11 a.m. Facilities of Dryden school, Dryden and Rockwell, have been secured for temporary use by the church, and Sunday services will be held in the school's assembly room. (B8

Forest Preserve Employe

A Busse Retires from Busse Woods Position

The thought of a forest preserve once angered August Busse.

It meant that he had to concede 12½ acres of woodland from his farm to its establishment. But his brother, William, a Cook county commissioner, was adamant in his insistence that the acreage be acquired by the Forest Preserve district. That was in 1916.

Last week August Busse retired at the age of 81 after 20 years service with the county's forest preserve district.

THREE CRUSTY old veterans, as weathered and hardy as Busse, and whose ages combine for a total of 308 years, helped him celebrate the fact.

The four forest preserve foremen's total years service to the district amounts to 124 years.

Present were Henry Tagge, 84, who has been with the district 40 years; Victor Reed, 75, who has 24 years service, and Charles Koeppen, 68, with 40 years service.

Tagge is custodian of the elk herd which roams an enclosure located just west of Elk Grove Village off Illinois 72 in Busse Woods (named after Commissioner Busse). He started with the forest preserve district in 1922, a year before the elk were acquired.

AUGUST Busse's 132-acre farm was located near the woods now named after his brother, who died five years ago close to the age of 90.

"The farmers got mad at him for helping to start the forest preserve district," August recalls. "I was mad at him, too." It was later at the urging of his brother that August took a job with the district, being assigned to the woods to which he had somewhat unwillingly contributed property.

At a surprise party held last Friday at the Des Plaines division headquarters at Foundry and River rds., Busse was presented with a watch for his years of service.

"Usually, you only get a watch after 25 years service," he commented appreciatively. "They told me to be here before 12 o'clock. I thought I was going to get fired at the last minute," he added.

THE PARTY was arranged by Lt. John Keippel, a forest preserve ranger, with the approval of Jim Mattson, superintendent of the Des Plaines division.

Busse, who represents the third of eight generations of the Busse family residing in the northwest suburban area, remembers when Mount Prospect consisted of three houses.

He lives with his wife, Ella E., 70, at 101 S. Owen, Mount Prospect. "I lived for 65 years at the corner of Algonquin and State rd., but it got too noisy, with the traffic and all. That's why I quit there."

BUSSE, A MEMBER of St. John's Lutheran church, 1100 Linnemann rd., Mount Prospect, was president of School District 56 (Forest View) for 25 years. (The district was merged with Elk Grove School District 59 this year.)

Two brothers, George, 86, and Louis F., 84, and a sister, Christina Behrens, 75, are still living. August Busse has eight grandchildren and 17 great — grandchildren.

At Busse's retirement party, Henry Tagge was asked when he planned to retire. He assumed a hurt air while the three other ancients roared and slapped their thighs. (B-8

Church Film Is Slated Sunday

A movie depicting a "typical church in a typical town" will be shown at the Hope Tabernacle Assembly of God Sunday at 7 p.m. The assembly is situated on Rand rd. near Wilke rd.

The film shows what happens when a minister proclaims that "men can be right with God."

Economy of Error

The man who makes no mistakes does not usually make anything.

—Edward John Phelps.

the Loaf that became a Legend . . .

WAY BACK IN 1856, St. John's Abbey and University were founded. From the start, the monks baked a wonderful grain-rich bread from an age-old monastic recipe. The thick, brown, hearty loaves became a tradition . . . a special trade-mark to the thousands of St. John's men who enjoyed it. Graduates write for it, come back for it.

NOW, this old-abbey bread, with its rare, natural flavor and quality, is being baked for you. You'll find it fresh at most good food stores, in the original ROUGH-GRAIN DARK loaf, and in WHITE. Ask for it, try it, you'll agree:

It's what bread was meant to be!

Lutheran Gathering

Teachers Converge on Arlington for Confab

More than 700 teachers from northern Illinois Lutheran schools will participate in a 2-day conference at the new St. Peter's Lutheran church and school, Arlington Heights, October 12 and 13.

The teachers are faculty members of Northern Illinois district, Lutheran church-Missouri synod, schools. The district has 118 schools with an enrollment of 18,500 students.

Purpose of the conference is study and discussion of current educational problems.

ONE OF THE major discussions will be led by Dr. Florence Kelley, director of the division of primary curriculum and instruction of the Milwaukee public school system. The discussion will center on ungraded primary systems, a development pioneered in the Milwaukee area by Dr. Kelley.

Other educators included on the program will be Dr. Alfred Schmieding, professor emeritus, and Dr. Victor Krause, chairman of the division of education and psychology, both of Concordia Teachers college, River Forest.

Mrs. Lois Lohman, kindergarten teacher, will lead a discussion of other kindergarten teachers on "creativity."

OTHER SPEAKERS scheduled are Dr. Arthur Oestreich, Indiana University, and Rev. Dr. Adalbert Kretzman, pastor of Evangelical Lutheran church of St. Luke, Chicago.

The meeting is under the chairmanship of Robert Greising, principal of St. Andrew Lutheran school, Park Ridge.

The superintendent of the Northern Illinois district, A. H. Kramer, will address the conference on "Lutheran Elementary School in the Context of American Education." A report of the Office of Christian Education of the district will be presented by E. K. Eckert, assistant superintendent. (A-14

New Model Homes Open to Public

Three model homes are now open for public inspection in Arlington Ridge Estates, located north of Foundry rd., in Arlington Heights at Rammer rd.

The "Squire," a three bedroom bi-level, includes two and one half baths. The "Squire" number two is an alternate plan to the Squire. This model has one and one half baths.

THE THIRD model, the "Regent" is a four bedroom split level home. It also includes a family room.

The homes have face brick, oak flooring, ceramic tile in baths, gas heat, sump pump and over head sewers, built-in oven and range, wood windows, attached two car garages and roomy closets.

Arlington Ridge Estates is located 30 minutes from the Chicago Loop, two blocks from the grade and junior high school and three blocks to Prospect High school.

Prices range from $28,300 to $30,900. (A-14

A Senator Renews Old Acquaintance

The senator had just been seated in the front row grandstand to observe the unfolding of Sunday's presentation of the pageant, "The Bountiful Prairie," kickoff of the 125th anniversary celebration in Arlington Heights.

An attractive, young woman made her way toward him. He looked up, recognized her, and rose with a broad smile covering his face.

They greeted with a kiss and the senator turned to the woman's husband and said, "We're old friends, you know."

THE WOMAN was Mrs. Herb Carl, of 632 S. Walnut, Arlington Heights. But to Senator Everett M. Dirksen (R, Ill.) she was Julie Donahue from Pekin, Ill., the senator's home town.

Mrs. Carl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Donahue of Pekin, ha been life long friends of the Dirksen family.

The late Mr. Donahue and Senator Dirksen were classmates at Pekin high school. Later, their daughters were classmates too.

So an old friendship was renewed as Arlington Heights launched its week-long celebration marking 125 years of good neighbors and progress.

KRESGE EMPLOYEES assembled in front of the store to show off their old fashioned costumes . . . and to set a record for the largest number of employees — from bookkeeper to stockboy — to dress up for Arlington's anniversary. You can see them all at Kresge's Arlington Market shopping center store during the last three days of Kresge's old fashioned bargain days.

Elk Grove Township

Two Suburbs Oppose Apartment Project

A proposed 16-acre commercial and apartment development at Algonquin and Busse rds. is one-step closer to final decision with the hearing before the Cook county zoning board completed last week.

Objections to the requested rezoning to permit a four-acre commercial development of 16 stores, two acres of two-story "efficiency apartments," and 10.6 acres of three-story apartments with about 190 units, are being filed by Mount Prospect and Arlington Heights.

Action by the Elk Grove Village board is expected next week.

THE ELK GROVE township property, now owned by Orville Dixon, is presently zoned for R-4 single-family residential development. If the zoning for the commercial and apartment development, is secured Dixon plans to sell the property to Sol Diamond, 6211 N. Talman ave., a Chicago builder and contractor.

Diamond recently developed Cumberland Village and a town house section of Des Plaines.

The Dixon property, located at the southwest corner of Algonquin and Busse rds., is across the road from a similar development turned down by the Cook county board last week.

DEVELOPER Sal DiMucci had sought the same type of rezoning for property at the [illegible]er of Algonquin and Busse rds. Last week the county board upheld the recommendation of the county zoning board that the application for rezoning of the DiMucci property be denied.

Diamond indicated that in place of the proposed three-story walk-up apartment units, a development of four-story elevator buildings might be used as an alternate plan.

The proposed development would be known as "Country Lane," according to Diamond.

DIXON STATED he purchased the farm tract 11 years ago for $21,000. He sold two small sections to an electric utility and a horticulturalist for an undisclosed price.

The price set for the Diamond purchase on the remaining 16 acres is $225,000.

Arthur P. Salk, architect for the proposed commercial-apartment project, stated the commercial development would cost approximately $750,000; the efficiency apartment units, $500,000; and the three or four-story apartment structures $1,750,000. (ACM

GOP Leaders Charge Dems Trick Voters

Cite Re-Registration Activity in Township

A charge by Wheeling township Republicans that a Democratic house-to-house canvass just before the September 15 reregistration confused some citizens into believing that they had registered, was somewhat substantiated in Wheeling village.

One Dunhurst resident, asked if she was going to register, stated that she "already had."

Asked how, she replied, "I filled out a card the precinct captain brought around."

In Wheeling Township and reportedly in other areas, Democratic workers took cards to householders and had them fill in name, address, sex, age and citizenship status.

Mrs. Dorothy Pakyz, deputy town clerk of Arlington Heights, said she had 26 inquiries from citizens as to whether filling out the card didn't register them.

However, Wheeling clerk, Mrs. Evelyn Diens, said that no such inquiries had come into her office.

A TOTAL of 2,290 Wheeling area residents registered September 15, which is almost the same number that voted in the April village election. However, precinct 48 includes a large portion of Wheeling Township as well as a small portion of the village.

"People thought they were being registered (by the canvass)," township GOP committeeman Henry Busse was quoted as saying. "That's why the Democrats pulled this stunt."

Mrs. Frank Kenney, chairman of the Cook County Conference of Republican Women's Clubs, was reported to have accused the Democrats of seeking to hold down the vote in the country towns in 1962. These towns are generally Republican strongholds.

"IT WASN'T done with any intention of confusing anyone," a daily newspaper quoted Wheeling Township Democratic committeeman James Stavros as saying.

"We did it to help us find out who is registered. We'll try to do it some more before the Oct. 13 registration to remind people to register and to provide us with records."

"A lot of people may say 'Stavros is a big wheel' and are envious of me. I'm young and aggressive. We were the only group really working hard on registration."

In the Village of Wheeling, a bi-partisan Communiy Council committee distributed leaflets explaining the reregistration procedure to every home. Neither party organization was involved in printing or distributing the leaflets.

All county registrations were cancelled July 15 by state law, in an effort to bring all registration lists up to date.

Area residents will have another chance to register locally October 13. (ACM

Board Pulled Between Need For Building Change, Budget

Caught between the need to make prompt decisions on building changes in order to complete the new Forest View high school on schedule and the desire to stay "within the budget" in spite of spiraling building-change costs, Arlington-Prospect school board members this week seemed to be fighting an uphill battle.

Insistent pressure by contractors and architects on the need to provide central "quick-decision" authority on urgent changes to avoid unnecessary delays has been an issue before the board for several months. The present building program calls for the completion of the new 2,500-student school on Goebbert rd. south of Arlington Heights in time for opening next September. Delay in construction, and consequent delay in the school opening, will further crowd the present bursting-at-the-seams Arlington and Prospect high schools.

AGAINST THIS pressure for pormpt decisions on building changes — changes which have been increasing the building cost at a rapid rate—is the stated policy of the school board to complete the building within the original construction budget. All contract negotiations on the building with both contractors and archtiects stressed the need to finish the school on the $4,400,000 budget established for the structure, site, landscaping and furnishings.

Changes to date amount to more than $60,000 charged against the $100,000 building contingency fund.

As a partial solution to the pressure by E. W. Sproul Construction company, general contractors, and Samuelson and Sandquist, architects, the school board Monday authorized any urgent building changes approved by the architects provided the cost did not exceed $50. All changes over this amount must be taken up with the school board or the board's building committee.

Typical of the changes gradually bringing the cost of the new school "over the top" were three items approved by the board Monday. Lateral supports for masonry walls in one of the buildings were not included in the original plans but the builder termed them a necessity before construction can proceed. The cost of these supports is $929. Changes in the roof openings in one of the five campus-type buildings also were listed as vital to the continuance of construction. The roof opening changes amounted to $350.

A LONG LIST of "little" electrical changes brought a new bill of $470 before the board from the building electric contractor, Henry Newgard co.

Another "urgent" project at the Forest View high school is the finishing of cement work in the large central court before the area is closed in on all four sides. Sproul construction has indicated they are now ready to construct the "link" between the academic and business administration buildings, sealing off the court from heavy equipment.

Bids on the court development were due at the board meeting Monday. When only a single bid was received board members were forced to delay the bid opening another week to give other potential bidders an opportunity to develop their price quotations.

Architect Ted Samuelson told the board members the delay would not delay Sproul Construction in continuing its regular work. Samuelson stressed the final connecting link could be delayed until December 1, if necessarw, as it was needed primarily to seal the opening between the two buildings for heating. (ACM

Rep. Simmons On Panel at Meet Tonight

Young Republicans Have Anniversary

"The Campaign" is the title of a unique panel discussion being presented tonight, Thursday, as a part of the first anniversary meeting of the Wheeling Township Young Republican club.

The meeting is being held at 8 p.m. in the Amvets hall, 141 S. Milwaukee ave., Wheeling.

Thomas J. Houser, club president this week said that participants on the panel are men who have been personally involved in state, township and local election campaigns.

Featured participant on the panel will be State Representative Arthur E. Simmons (R., Skokie) of the 6th legislative district for the Illinois House.

Moderator will be George Coker of Arlington Heights, who was a candidate for his village's board of trustees in April. Coker, a commentator on WNWC-FM radio, recently conducted a six-program series on public affairs and politics.

OTHER MEMBERS of the panel will be Max Kolin of Rolling Meadows, president of the Palatine Township Republicans, who acted as campaign manager for State Sen. John Graham (R., Barrington) of the 3rd senatorial district, and Thomas Hanlon of Arlington Heights, candidate for justice of the peace in April's township election.

"From the wealth of experience these panel members have, everyone attending the meeting should be able to learn quite a lot about the conduct of a political campaign," Houser observed.

He said a short business meeting will precede the panel discussion and the serving of anniversary cake and coffee will follow it.

THE WHEELING Township Young Republican club was organized in September, 1960. It now boasts a membership of 75 people, both men and women. The club meets on the first Wednesday night of each month.

Houser pointed out that all residents of Wheeling township are invited to the meeting, especially residents of the Village of Wheeling. Invitations have been directed to some two dozen prominent Wheeling citizens, he said. (ACM

Mrs. Brown To Attend Conference

Mrs. Walter F. Brown of Arlington Heights will attend a regional conference sponsored by the National Federation of Republican Women at the Drake hotel in Chicago on Monday, Oct. 11. She holds the office of president, Wheeling Township Women's Republican club.

Mrs. J. F. Schlafly of Alton, president of the Illinois Federation of Republican Women, will preside at the conference. She will be assisted by Mrs. Roger Faherty of Chicago, first vice president.

The program will include addresses by Mrs. J. B. Parks of Pueblo, Colo., president of the National Federation of Republican Women and Mrs. John A. Whitehead of Indianapolis, regional director, third district of Michigan.

WORKSHOPS on membership, program, public relations and finance will be conducted by NFRW committee chairmen. Based on the NFRW program called SCORE (Service Committee on Republican Education), workshop conferees will discuss ideas and plans for 1962.

The NFRW is comprised of 4,000 clubs representing approximately one-half million women throughout the nation. An official Republican Party auxiliary, the group is headquartered at 1625 Eye st., N.W., Washington, D. C.

Also attending the conference from Wheeling township will be Mrs. Edna Andrew of Prospect Heights, member of the board of the Women's club, and Mrs. Alan Macdonald of Arlington Heights, club member. (ACM

Lady Not for Burning

Play with Bounce of Ping-Pong Ball Set

After an absence of two years, modern comedy returns to the Arlington high school drama bill with "The Lady's Not for Burning." The recent New York production is scheduled for November 2, 3 and 4 in the school Little Theatre.

The three-act play is the first of three shows slated this year by the Arlington high school drama group.

WRITTEN BY England's Christopher Fry for presentation in London in 1949, "The Lady's Not for Burning" was first viewed on Broadway in November, 1950. Hailed by critics, the New York engagement starred Sir John Gielgud and Pamela Brown in the leading roles and marked the first American appearance of Richard Burton, who played a supporting role.

Fry wrote his sophisticated comedy in lyric poetry, setting it in the medieval period. "The author's comments on life are mischievous and playful — the product of a man who plays ping-pong with words," commented Director Douglas K. Murphy, Arlington high school drama instructor.

The story is set in motion when Thomas Mendip, a discharged soldier, enters the mayor's house in Cool Clary, demanding to be hanged because he is disillusioned with life. His persistent request is frustrated by officials who ask if he has "filled in the official application." His struggle to the gallows is further complicated when a beautiful young woman is accused falsely of witchcraft and destined for burning.

FRY'S GAMESOME title suggests the light spoon which stirs his plot and assures the audience of the lack of any real danger in the lady's predicament.

Christopher Fry is recognized in theatrical circles as one of the leading contemporary playwrights. On the production of "The Lady's Not for Burning," W. A. Darlington reported to New York Times readers that the play "has nearly all the qualities anybody could ask for . . . It has clear character drawing and a delightful comic sense." (ACM

Discuss School Bus Garage, Parking Area

Garage and parking facilities for Arlington - Prospect high school buses are "in view" after a three-year struggle by the school district to provide adequate bus transportation and maintenance facilities.

The current high school bus operator, Cook County School Bus, Inc., expects a decision by the middle of October on their appeal for new zoning on proposed parking - maintenance property.

THE APPEAL on a zoning denial by the Cook county board is being heard by Master in Chancery Arthur A. Sullivan. Testimony by the bus operator, Lee A. Stahl, and Arlington-Prospect school officials has been presented. Rebuttal testimony for the county board will be presented by the state's attorney. Upon completion of all testimony, Master Sullivan will report and present his recommendations to the circuit court where a decision will be rendered.

The four-acre tract in question is located on the west side of Busse rd. 1,250 south of the intersection of Busse and Algonquin rd. The original rezoning request for an M-1 light manufacturing classification to permit school bus parking was turned down in June by the county board upholding the zoning board which recommended that the present R-4 single- family residential classification be kept.

Last week the county board approved rezoning of an acre tract 587 feet south of the proposed bus-parking property to an M-3 heavy manufacturing classification to permit construction of a gasoline storage tank.

THE APPEAL before the circuit court is based on public need and the safety of the school children riding the buses according to Attorney Robert E. Haskins who is representing Stahl in the zoning appeal.

Stahl stressed this week that maintenance facilities were a necessity in the operation of school buses to provide regular checks and repairs. "This is a vital safety factor for the children riding the buses," he emphasized.

THE BUSES are now stored while not in use at Prospect high school parking lot. The 30 buses used for transporting high school students are being bought by Stahl from the high school district under a three-year contract.

The school district purchased the buses last year after repeated problems arose in providing suitable bus transportation and parking facilities by previous bus operators. Because of the rise in school enrollment Stahl now uses some buses of his own in addition to the 30 school-owned buses for the high school transportation schedule. (ACM

Anniversary Celebration Is Biggest of Social News

Although there isn't enough social news to bulge the Sidelights column this week no one can say it's because Arlington Heights has lost her sociability. For a little old lady 125 years old she's cutting some pretty fancy capers, but her shenanigans are strictly front page news and she's leaving little time or energy for anything else.

Arlington Heights was still primping for her anniversary celebration a week ago Saturday night when Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kale, 1204 N. Dunton, celebrated the 40th anniversary of their September 17 wedding. The anniversary couple received the congratulations of 35 Chicagoland and out-of-town friends and relatives at a party that also served to show their home to guests they hadn't seen since moving to Arlington Heights.

A schedule of dancing, lots of conversation and games was parted in the middle by a midnight supper. Throughout the evening fun thrived despite a couple of flash cameras that wouldn't flash and a record player that quit playing.

Among the guests were the Kales' three children and "children-in-law," the junior Paul Kales of Virginia Terrace, the Anthony Rodinos of Morton Grove and the James Quinlans of Sandwich. From Beloit come cousins, the Joseph Sheas who, with the Quinlans, stayed the weekend and extended the celebration.

A FEW days later and four doors north another local couple, the Clarence Loechls, 1213 N. Dunton, celebrated their 20th wedding anniversary. They marked the September 27 occasion with dinner out and attending the "My Fair Lady" performance of that evening.

The seventh annual potluck picnic of Windsor Heights residents was wind-blown and rain-swept but a success for all that. The neighborhood's social chairmen, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Martin, 504 N. Windsor, naturally planned the all-family party to be a Saturday affair. They cleverly outwaited the rainiest month in local history and picked last Saturday.

In the forest preserves Saturday afternoon a brief business meeting and the children's games were about to begin when October gustily took up where September left off, adding hail and anything else previously overlooked. Twenty-seven families crowded into a handy shelter and the coziest of business meetings was conducted.

When the brief storm was over most of the scheduled games and races were played, run and won and the weather-proof picnic supper served. The enthusiasm and good humor of everyone more than made up for October's wild debut. Assisting the Martins in producing the durable get-together were Mr. and Mrs. Emory Hagy and Mr. and Mrs. John Softy.

MRS. BRUCE Ostermick, 126 N. Forrest, was hostess Friday to neighborhood friends at a farewell coffee for the mother of one of her guests. The guest of honor was Mrs. Reynolds who had been visiting with her daughter and family, the James Glynns, 2123 E. Grove, and has since returned to her home in California.

Among the "getting to know you" coffees given by Miner junior high school room mothers was one hostessed by Mrs. Donald Thompson, 609 N. Dunton. Guests Monday morning in the Thompson home were mothers of children in the 8-5 section, who put the stamp of approval on this new getting-acquainted method, initiated this year by the Miner school PTA.

Mr. and Mrs. N. P. Crockett Sr. of Ft. Madison, Iowa, weekending in Chicago, were Sunday visitors in the home of their son, Newell Jr., and his family, 802 S. Chestnut.

The Owen Sellers, 520 S. Chestnut, returned Sunday evening from a week's visit with Mrs. Seller's aunt, Mrs. C. A. Miller of Grand Rapids.

MRS. JOHN Sheehan, newly settled at 601 S. Mitchell, was the guest of honor at a recent "welcome" coffee given by Mrs. E. E. Ormsbee, 605 S. Mitchell. The Sheehan family moved here from Mt. Prospect and over "coffee and" Mrs. Sheehan met nine women who are her immediate neighbors.

A newly-formed group of south side housewives met Monday in the home of Mrs. Erik Dedering, 1120 W. Northwest highway, for an afternoon of coffee-ing with a purpose. They all like to sew. From now on they'll combine their sociable tendencies and needlework talents at weekly "sewcials."

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Johnson of Lansing, Mich. left here Monday after a 5-day visit with Mrs. Johnson's daughter and family, the John O'Berrys, 733 S. Mitchell.

MR. AND MRS. Earl Riley, 738 S. Mitchell, and the Earl Hadlands, 702 E. Park, were among the rooters who rooted in vain Saturday at the Wisconsin-Michigan football game in Madison. Despite Mchigan's 20-0 victory over Wisconsin the local quartet had a fine day.

This afternoon Mrs. Riley is hostess at a neighborhood bridge luncheon for 12.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Clark, 608 S. Walnut, enjoyed a weekend of sports and relaxation at Lake Lawn with Glen Ellyn and Western Springs friends. The four couples, longtime friends, vacation together in Michigan each summer and this year planned an autumn get-together too. Its success almost guarantees a repeat next fall. During the Clark's absence from home Mrs. Clark's parents, the C. E. Bobenmyers of Peoria, stayed here with the children.

A COMBINATION of excited grandparents and a deadline-worried correspondent resulted in a major error in this column last week. Correction: Mark Robert, born September 15, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnson of Des Plaines. The junior Walter Johnsons of Palatine, reported here to be the infant's parents, are his uncle and aunt who have been flooded with calls from astounded friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Dawson, 114 N. Forrest, hosted 28 neighbors Saturday evening with a "New Comers" party at which they met some of their guests for the first time. Many new families have moved into the area in the past year and everyone's overcrowded schedules have prevented a get-together. Everybody knew somebody in the rapidly growing neighborhood before the Dawson party and now everybody knows everybody.

A CORRECTION — Last week's story regarding the Klehm family was partly in error. There were eight children born to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Klehm, seven of whom are living. They are Mrs. Edward Timmerman (Emma), Mrs. Ray Feddeler (Faye), Carl G. (now owner and operator of Charles Klehm and Son Nurseries, all of Arlington; Mrs. Arnold Schauble (Elma) Barrington; Mrs. Harry H. Knaack (Helen), Long Grove; Mrs. Charles Walters (Margaret) Palatine; Mrs. Arnold E. Wolgast (Louise O,) Petoskey, Mich.

Their mother, Mrs. Charles Klehm, resides in the homestead, Arlington Heights.

The Dawsons welcome the arrival today of Mrs. Dawson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Williamson of Tecumseh, Mich. who will spend the weekend taking in all the centennial excitement.

IT'S THE HIGH school homecoming weekend rather than the centennial that brings Jan Gow home to 641 S. Kaspar tomorrow from St. Charles, Mo. where she attends Lindenwood college as a freshman.

Bride-elect Miss Patricia Thompson, daughter of Mrs. Alice Thompson, 209 N. Vail, was recently feted at two prenuptial showers. August 24 she was the guest of honor at a personal shower given by Mrs. Betty Black, 207 N. Vail. Guests were 12 close friends of the Thompson family.

Two of Miss Thompson's bridesmaids-to-be were hostesses September 16 at a surprise miscellaneous shower attended by 12 personal friends of the honor guest. Mrs. William Jacobson and Miss Janice Goede were the co-conspirators whose greatest task was luring the bride-elect to the Jacobson home in Elk Grove Village where the guests waited.

Miss Thompson will be married Saturday in the First Presbyterian Church of Arlington Heights to John W. Brown, son of the Walter Browns of Columbus, Ohio. Mr. Brown is employed in Chicago and the couple will make their home in the Chicagoland area.

MR. AND MRS. Lorne Black, 436 S. Belmont, were hosts at a dinner party last weekend before attending the Family Service ball at Arlington Park. Among their guests were the Robert Usticks, Robert Maybys, Edward Prellwitzes and Edward Swanezys.

Mrs. Harold Gross, 930 S. Beverly, returns home Thursday, Oct. 5, from Slidell, La., where she had been visiting her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Crouchet, for the past month.

David Brunner is recuperating at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Brunner, 357 Burton, after a 7-month stay in St. Joseph hospital, in Elgin, and Hines hospital.

Weekend houseguests of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Ballard, 407 E. Rockwell, were Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Serren of Indianapolis and Miss Grace B. Hegedus, who accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Serren for a visit with the Ballards' daughter, Barbara.

MR. AND MRS. Clark Gutru, 531 S. Pine, spent last weekend in New York City. While in the east, they went to Ridgewood, N. J. to visit friends and former Arlington Heights residents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Leimert.

Mrs. Harry Brison, 530 S. Belmont, entertained at a coffee Wednesday in honor of her new neighbors, Mrs. Phillip Gasser and Mrs. Clark Gutru. Guests included Mrs. H. J. Gregg, Mrs. Stephen Donchess, Mrs. Donald C. Frisk, Mrs. Lowell Christy and Mrs. Arthur Anderson.

Friday, Mr. and Mrs. Brison welcomed their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Krizman of South Bend for a weekend visit. The Krizmans, who are celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary and her birthday, marked the occasion at a family dinner party Friday evening at Simonini's restaurant in Algonquin, and Mrs. Brison gave a dinner party in their honor Saturday at home, where they were joined by another daughter and her family, the Arthur Andersons of Arlington Heights.

Mrs. R. T. Daeschner of Daytona Beach, Fla., spent the past three weeks in Arlington Heights visiting her son and family, the Wilbur Daeschners, 310 Mayfair.

MR. AND MRS. Richard Nix moved Friday from Scarsdale to their new home in Toledo. Other Scarsdale residents moving away are the James Wickens, who leave for Los Angeles this week and Mr. and Mrs. Winslow Patterson will move November 1 to Oklahoma City.

Mrs. Harry L. Wickstrom, 527 S. Dryden, entertained at a potluck supper party September 28 for members of the Alpha Delta Pi Countryside alumnae. The party, an annual fall event was attended by 19 members. Co-hostess with Mrs. Wickstrom was Mrs. Ted Linham of Palatine.

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Peery, 504 S. Beverly, returned Sunday from a 10-day business and vacation trip to the west coast. They flew to Salt Lake City first, and after a business meeting and dinner party, visited friends who took them on a tour of the city. Especially interesting were their visit to the capitol building, the tour through a copper mine and hearing the famed Mormon Tabernacle choir.

Leaving Salt Lake City, the Peerys flew to San Francisco, where they were the guests of the American Institute convention. As this was Mrs. Peery's first visit to San Francisco, there was much to see and do. Among the outstanding sights and events were visits to Fisherman's Wharf with luncheon at Jo Di Maggio's restaurant, the ride in cable cars and dinner at the top of the Mark Hopkins hotel, from where they could see all the city below.

Leaving San Francisco, the Peerys vacationed for four days in Las Vegas, before coming home.

Mrs. Stuart Paddock Sr. received birthday congratulations Friday at a surprise party given by Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Jurco, 217 S. Windsor. Guests included 25 Arlington Heights friends of Mr. and Mrs. Paddock.

Mrs. Charles Tully, 311 S. Carlyle, returned Sunday from a 2-week visit with her mother, Mrs. J. M. Devereux in Manhattan Beach, Cal.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Root, 301 S. Windsor, had as their guests for the weekend, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. S. McCabe of Minneapolis.

Gale Oberlin, 201 S. Dryden, joined friends in Hamilton, Ind., for a weekend of fishing.

Mrs. E. J. Harris, 1408 Kensington, spent the weekend in Indianapolis visiting her son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Harris.

Eastwood Events

Virginia and Dick Vlach of N. Beverley ave. are back home after 16 days of fun and sightseeing in the west. After jetting to San Francisco the Vlaches were met by friends from Burlingame and were royally entertained there for several days. After a trip to Sausalito and a dinner party, the two couples really took in the country. They visited Reno, Virginia City, Carson City, and both the north and south ends of Lake Tahoe, and spent a day and a night at Mammoth Mountain inn, a ski lodge 9,000 feet up in the Sierra mountains.

In Las Vegas the vacationers stayed at both the Stardust and the Tropicana and saw all the famed shows, including the Follie Bergere, Louie Prima and Keeley Smith and the Lido of Paris. From Vegas the Vlaches returned to Los Angeles and stayed there four days before heading home. The traveling and the sightseeing were all fun, but according to Virginia "home never looked so good."

A NEW BABY has been welcomed in the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Cormier, 707 N. Hickory. Named after both of her grandmothers, Julia Elizabeth arrived September 23 in St. Joseph hospital, Elgin, weighing 9 pounds, 8 ounces She has two sisters - Kathleen Anne, 5, and Mary Grace, 4; and two brothers, Mark Edward, 3 and Peter John, 2. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Gratsh of Cincinnati and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Cormier of 725 N. Belmont ave., Arlington.

Weekend visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Narquis, 703 E. Euclid, will be Mrs. Narquis' sister and her family, the Milton Youngs and daughters Carolyn and Elizabeth. The Youngs have closed their hunting lodge in Nestor Falls, Canada and are enroute to their home in Cleveland.

The Youngs' visit will coincide with Cliff's sixth birthday on October 6, and his cousins will be here to share in the anniversary festivities. Watching Arlington's 125th year parade pass right by their front door will be a highlight of the birthday celebration, after which the youngsters, and Cliff's sister Kathie, will be treated to the movies.

A family party jointly celebrated the birthdays of the John Gavin Jr. children. Chrissie marked her second year on September 26, and Betsy will be five October 10.

THE EASTWOOD bridge tournament was off to a good start last weekend with the Vlaches entertaining Sunday night. Their guests were the Dick Evans, Bob Scotts and Homer Nielsens.

Saturday night Eileen and Jack Anderson were hosts to the John Gavins, Nina and Norm Hoym, and newcomers to the tournament and to the neighborhood, Lucille and Bob Tatge. (A

Q. When serving tea to dinner guests in my home, is it considered proper to serve them each a cup with its individual tea bag?

A. This is not in best taste. It is much better to put the tea bags in a teapot, pour boiling water in, let the bags steep properly, and then pour your tea into the individual cups.

Arlington Greens

Mrs. Harry Kushner, 1103 N. Haddow ct., arrived home Sunday of last week after a week's visit with her father, Philip Dymion in Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Thorsen, 661 E. Clarendon, celebrated their 18th wedding anniversary last Friday evening. Joining them for dinner out were Mr. and Mrs. James Payne of Elk Grove. Later in the evening the foursome attended a party given for the Thorsens in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ron Feiereisel in Rolling Meadows.

Leaving the Greens last week were the Bruce Stewart family who resided at 1154 N. Hickory for more than three years. Des Plaines is the location of their new home.

Ending a week's vacation on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. William Smits, 1137 N. Douglas, and their daughter, Susan. Their motor tour included sightseeing at Mackinac Island, boat and surrey rides, a stop at Sault Ste. Marie and on into Canada along Lake Superior.

MORE VACATION returnees last weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Olen Culpepper, 1112 N. Beverly lane. Several days at Colorado Springs and the mountain country surrounding began their 2-week motor trip. Son Ronald flew from his home in Hollywood to join the Culpeppers for a few days at Las Vegas, Nev. On the return trip they stopped for a brief visit with Mr. and Mrs. Earl Foster in Springfield, Mo.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom McShane, 706 E. Clarendon, hosted a dinner party last Saturday evening for 36 guests from Chicago and the suburbs.

Eight-year-old Robert and his 7-year-old brother, Henry Ponter, of 612 E. Oakton celebrated their birthdays with a hobo picnic at the Ned Brown Forest preserves last Saturday. Enjoying their bandanna-wrapped lunches and portable birthday cupcakes were 18 of their neighborhood friends and classmates. The sudden afternoon storm ended the outdoor party, sending the fellows scurrying for shelter and halting the final event, a baseball game.

Mrs. Jean Waffle, 1154 N. Dryden, hosted a birthday luncheon for Mrs. Jane Brown Monday afternoon. Attending were neighbors Mrs. Bea Bettenuzzo and Mrs. Emily Coward.

New residents in Hickory Meadows are Charles and Norene Toth. Newlyweds, they were married in Chicago September 9 and, after a week's honeymoon trip to Wisconsin, moved to their new home at 1436 N. Hickory. Mr. Toth is employed by Minneapolis-Honeywell in Morton Grove. (A

I think the most important reason why more people buy Flameless Electric Dryers is: (check one)

- ☐ Electric Dryers are flameless
- ☐ Flameless Electric Dryers are fume-free
- ☐ Flameless Electric Dryers have no pilot to light or go out
- ☐ Flameless Electric Dryers cost $30 to $50 less to buy
- ☐ Nothing dries clothes faster than a Flameless Electric Dryer

NOTICE

You are hereby notified that on September 25, 1961, the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Arlington Heights, Illinois have considered and referred to the Legal Committee the Recommendation of the Board of Local Improvements together with the Estimate of the total cost in the sum of $269,573.25.

AN ORDINANCE

PROVIDING FOR GRADING, CURBING, PAVING, INSTALLATION OF SIDEWALKS, WIDENING OF EXISTING CONCRETE PAVEMENTS, RESURFACING OF EXISTING CONCRETE PAVEMENTS, INSTALLATION OF STORM SEWERS, STORM WATER INLETS AND CATCH BASINS WITH CONNECTIONS TO EXISTING AND PROPOSED SEWERS AND ALL OTHER NECESSARY ADJUSTMENTS AND APPURTENANCES FOR THE ROADWAY OF OAKTON STREET FROM THE WEST EDGE OF EXISTING PAVEMENT IN STATE ROAD TO EAST EDGE OF EXISTING PAVEMENT AT YALE AVENUE AND FOR THE PAYMENT THEREOF BY SPECIAL ASSESSMENT ON ALL PROPERTY SPECIALLY BENEFITTED BY THE CONSTRUCTION OF SAID IMPROVEMENT.

WHEREAS, the Board of Local Improvements of the Village of Arlington Heights adopted a Resolution on the 23rd day of February, 1961 A.D., providing for the roadway of Oakton Street by grading and constructing combination curb and gutter, sidewalks, pavement base course, and surface courses, and all necessary catch basins, manholes, storm water inlets and connecting pipes to existing sewers, together with all necessary adjustments and appurtenances from Yale Avenue to State Road, and, after notice and public hearing, adopted a Final Resolution with respect to said improvement, transmitting to the Board of Trustees of the Village of Arlington Heights its recommendation that a Draft Ordinance, also transmitted by it at the same time, together with an estimate of costs of said improvement over the signature of the President of the Board of Local Improvements and plans and specifications therefor, be adopted by the Board of Trustees of the Village of Arlington Heights and that said improvement be constructed;

NOW THEREFORE BE IT ORDAINED BY THE PRESIDENT AND BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE VILLAGE OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, COUNTY OF COOK, STATE OF ILLINOIS THAT:

SECTION ONE: That the roadway of Oakton Street from the West edge of the existing pavement in State Road to the East edge of the existing pavement at Yale Avenue be improved by grading, curbing, paving, installation of sidewalks, widening of existing concrete pavements, resurfacing of existing concrete pavements, installation of storm sewers, storm water inlets and catch basins with connections to existing and proposed sewers, and all other necessary adjustments and appurtenances. The proposed pavement in Oakton Street from the West edge of the existing pavement in State Road to the West line of Kennicott Avenue shall consist of a waterbound macadam base course having a compacted thickness of nine (9) inches constructed on a cushion of stone screenings having a compacted thickness of one (1) inch. The proposed pavement and existing concrete pavements at intersections shall be surfaced with bituminous concrete binder and surface courses having a minimum compacted thickness of two and one-half (2½) inches. Portland cement concrete curb and gutter shall be constructed along each edge of the pavement. The width of the finished roadway shall be thirty (30) feet measured from back of curb to back of curb where modified at intersections and points of transition as provided for on the detailed plans. Portland cement concrete sidewalks five (5) feet in width and five (5) inches in thickness shall be constructed on each side of the roadway except where sidewalks are now existing and shall be located one (1) foot from the right-of-way lines, except where otherwise indicated on the plans. The roadway in Oakton Street between the West line of Kennicott Avenue and the existing pavement at Yale Avenue shall be improved by the construction of a widening strip nine (9) feet eight and one-half (8½) inches in width North of and abutting the existing concrete pavement. Said widening strip shall consist of a waterbound macadam base course having a compacted thickness of nine (9) inches constructed on a cushion of stone screenings having a compacted thickness of one (1) inch. A Portland Cement Concrete curb and gutter shall be constructed North of and abutting the proposed pavement widening. The proposed pavement widening and the existing concrete pavement shall be surfaced with bituminous concrete binder and surface courses having a minimum compacted thickness of two and one-half (2½) inches. The width of the finished roadway shall be thirty (30) feet measured from back of existing South curb to back of proposed North curb, except where modified at intersections as shown on the plans. Portland cement concrete sidewalks five (5) feet in width and five (5) inches in thickness shall be constructed on the North side of the roadway and shall be located one (1) foot from the right-of-way line, except where otherwise indicated on the plans.

A fifteen (15) inch diameter storm sewer for purposes of draining the improvement shall be installed and laid in Oakton Street beginning at the existing sewer in Dunton Avenue and extending to a point 145 feet West of the West line of Chestnut Avenue. Also, a storm sewer shall be installed and laid in Oakton Street beginning at the existing sewer in Patton Avenue and extending to the center-line of Walnut Avenue. Said storm sewer shall be eighteen (18) inches in diameter between its point of beginning at Patton Avenue and Salem Avenue; shall be fifteen (15) inches in diameter between Salem Avenue and Ridge Avenue and shall be twelve (12) inches in diameter between Ridge Avenue and Walnut Avenue. All sewers shall be of reinforced concrete pipe, of sizes and strengths shown on the plans, and shall be placed in the locations and at elevations as also shown on the plans. Storm sewers shall be equipped with necessary manholes and shall be connected to existing and proposed inlets and catch-basins. Locations, elevations, dimensions, and details of all parts of the work are shown on the plans for the improvements, consisting of four (4) sheets and titled: "Village of Arlington Heights, Illinois, Oakton Street—Yale Avenue to State Road—Paving Improvements."

Specifications governing the various portions of the improvements are the Standard Specifications for Road and Bridge Construction adopted by the Illinois Division of Highways, January 2, 1958, which specifications are on public file in the office of the Secretary of the Board of Local Improvements and by reference made a part hereof. Whenever the expressions, "Type A"—"Type 1," etc., appear herein, they refer to items specifically set forth in detail in said Standard Specifications of the Illinois Division of Highways.

SECTION TWO: That in connection with the said improvements certain lands are required to be taken for public use, to-wit:

SECTION THREE: The details of the limits of the improvement, dimensions, positions, and elevations of the various units of construction hereinbefore provided for by Section One of this Ordinance and the manner of construction thereof be as shown by and in conformity with the specifications and estimate of costs (omitting land to be acquired) signed by the President of the Board of Local Improvements of the Village of Arlington Heights and the plans therefor, consisting of four (4) sheets, prepared by Consoer, Townsend and Associates, Consulting Engineers, Chicago, Illinois, and dated ....., 1961, copies of which said estimate of costs, plans and specifications are attached hereto and by reference incorporated herein verbatim as completely as if set forth at this point.

The elevations shown on said plans, hereinbefore mentioned, are hereby fixed and established with reference to Section 8-503 of the Municipal Code of Arlington Heights of 1954, as amended, establishing a plane of reference for the Village of Arlington Heights to be known as The Village Datum, the provisions of which said Section are incorporated herein by reference as completely as if set forth verbatim at this point.

SECTION FOUR: The estimate of costs of said improvement (omitting the land to be acquired) heretofore referred to in Section Three (3) of this Ordinance; and the recommendation of the Board of Local Improvements that said improvement be constructed be, and the same hereby are, adopted and approved.

SECTION FIVE: Said improvement shall be constructed strictly as set forth in the estimate of costs, plans and specifications set forth by reference in Section Three (3) of this Ordinance; said improvement is hereby declared to be a single, continuous and necessary local improvement and the cost thereof, including the costs and expenses of levying and collection of special assessments and the costs of engineering services in connection therewith shall be paid for by special assessment of property benefitted thereby in accordance with Article 84 of an Act of the General Assembly of the State of Illinois entitled, "Act Concerning Cities, Villages and Incorporated Towns and to Repeal Certain Acts Herein Named" approved August 15, 1941 and the amendments thereto, providing, however, that the extent of public benefits from said improvement shall be paid by the village of Arlington Heights, Illinois from the Public Benefit Fund.

SECTION SIX: The aggregate amount assessed in each individual assessment shall be divided into ten installments in the manner provided for by statute in such case made and provided and each of said installments shall bear interest at the rate of six per cent (6%) per annum. Each of said installments shall be equal in amount and each multiple of One Hundred Dollars ($100.00), except that any fractional amounts of the aggregate assessment after division as aforesaid shall be apportioned to the first installment and so much of the aggregate amount assessed as represents the compensation for property to be taken or damaged, together with the cost of the making, levying and collecting of the special assessment shall be apportioned to the first installment of the assessment.

SECTION SEVEN: For the purpose of anticipating the collection of the second and succeeding installments of said assessment for said improvement, bonds shall be issued payable out of such installments, and not otherwise, bearing interest at the rate of six per cent (6%) per annum, payable annually, and shall be executed under the Seal of the Village of Arlington Heights, Illinois, signed by the President of the Board of Trustees and the Clerk of the Village, to be paid out of the second and succeeding installment of said assessments, which bond shall have interest coupons thereto attached to represent the interest to accrue thereon and said bonds and coupons shall in all other respects conform to the statutes in such cases made and provided. Said bonds may be delivered to the contractor in payment for said improvement as provided by statute.

SECTION EIGHT: The sum of Fifteen Thousand Two Hundred Fifty-eight and 86/100 Dollars ($15,258.86) of the amount of said assessment shall be applied toward the payment of the costs and expenses of making and levying said assessments, letting and executing contracts, and rendering assessment rolls and other necessary items in connection therewith and in collecting the assessment herein provided for, and the sum of Twenty-three Thousand One Hundred Nineteen and 49/100 Dollars ($23,119.49) shall be applied toward the costs of engineering, supervision and inspection.

SECTION NINE: The Village Manager of the Village of Arlington Heights, Illinois is hereby required and directed to cause a petition to be filed in a court of appropriate jurisdiction in the name of the Village of Arlington Heights, Illinois, praying that steps may be taken to levy a special assessment for said improvement in accordance with the provisions of this ordinance and the statutes in such cases made and provided, and also praying that steps may be taken to ascertain the just compensation to be made for private property to be taken or damages for the improvement or purpose specified in this Ordinance and to ascertain what property will be benefitted by the improvement and the amount of those benefits.

SECTION TEN: This Ordinance shall be effective upon its passage and approval as required by law.

That the roadway of Oakton Street from the west edge of the existing pavement in State Road to the east edge of the existing pavement at Yale Avenue be improved by grading, curbing, paving, installation of sidewalks, widening of existing concrete pavements, resurfacing of existing concrete pavements, installation of storm sewers, storm water inlets and catch basins with connections to existing and proposed sewers, and all other necessary adjustments and appurtenances.

The proposed pavement in Oakton Street from the west edge of the existing pavement in State Road to the west line of Kennicott Avenue shall consist of a waterbound macadam base course having a compacted thickness of nine (9) inches constructed on a cushion of stone screenings having a compacted thickness of one (1) inch. The proposed pavement and existing concrete pavements at intersections shall be surfaced with bituminous concrete binder and surface courses having a minimum compacted thickness of two and one-half (2½) inches. Portland cement concrete curb and gutter shall be constructed along each edge of the pavement.

The width of the finished roadway shall be thirty (30) feet measured from back of curb to back of curb where modified at intersections and points of transition as provided for on the detailed plans. Portland cement concrete sidewalks five (5) feet in width and five (5) inches in thickness shall be constructed on each side of the roadway except where sidewalks are now existing and shall be located one (1) foot from the right-of-way lines except where otherwise indicated on the plans.

The roadway in Oakton Street between the west line of Kennicott Avenue and the existing pavement at Yale Avenue shall be improved by the construction of a widening strip nine (9) feet eight and one-half (8½) inches in width north of and abutting the existing concrete pavement. Said widening strip shall consist of a waterbound macadam base course having a compacted thickness of nine (9) inches constructed on a cushion of, stone screenings having a compacted thickness of one (1) inch. A Portland Cement Concrete curb and gutter shall be constructed north of and abutting the proposed pavement widening. The proposed pavement widening and the existing concrete pavement shall be surfaced with bituminous concrete binder and surface courses having a minimum compacted thickness of two and one-half (2½) inches. The width of the finished roadway shall be thirty (30) feet measured from back of existing south curb to back of proposed north curb except where modified at intersections as shown on the plans. Portland Cement Concrete sidewalks five (5) feet in width and five (5) inches in thickness shall be constructed on the north side of the roadway and shall be located one (1) foot from the right-of-way line, except where otherwise indicated on the plans.

A fifteen (15) inch diameter storm sewer for purposes of draining the improvement shall be installed and laid in Oakton Street beginning at the existing sewer in Dunton Avenue and extending to a point 145 feet west of the west line of Chestnut Avenue. Also, a storm sewer shall be installed and laid in Oakton Street begining at the existing sewer in Patton Avenue and extending to the centerline of Walnut Avenue. Said storm sewer shall be eighteen (18) inches in diameter between its point of beginning at Patton Avenue and Salem Avenue; shall be fifteen (15) inches in diameter between Salem Avenue and Ridge Avenue and shall be twelve (12) inches in diameter between Ridge Avenue and Walnut Avenue. All sewers shall be of reinforced concrete pipe, of sizes and strengths shown on the plans, and shall be placed in the locations and at elevations as also shown on the plans. Storm sewers shall be equipped with necessary manholes and shall be connected to existing and proposed inlets and catchbasins.

The existing ten (10) inch diameter cast iron pipe water main in Oakton Street from a point 192 feet west of the west line of Ridge Aevnue to a point 19 feet west of the west line of Mitchell Avenue shall be replaced by the installation of a new main. Existing water mains in Ridge Avenue at Oakton Street and in Walnut Avenue at Oakton Street shall be relaid, replaced, or extended as required to adjust to new water main.

Locations, elevations, dimensions, and details of all parts of the work are shown on the plans for the improvements consisting of four (4) sheets and titled:

"Village of Arlington Heights, Illinois
Oakton Street — Yale Avenue to State Road
Paving Improvements"

Specifications governing the various portions of the improvements are the Standard Specifications for Road and Bridge Construction adopted by the Illinois Division of Highways, January 2, 1958, which specifications are on public file in the office of the Secretary of the Board of Local Improvements and by reference made a part hereof.

Whenever the expressions, "Type A," "Type 1," etc., appear herein, they refer to items specifically set forth in detail in said Standard Specifications of the Illinois Division of Highways.

ESTIMATE OF COST

The cost, as estimated, for the earth excavation includes the cost of shaping and compacting the earth surface on which the subbase is placed, the hauling and disposal of all surplus excavated material, the removal and disposal of brush and obstructions, the final grading of parkways, including all costs for labor and equipment.

The cost, as estimated, for topsoil shall include all labor and material necessary for furnishing and spreading of topsoil material and final dressing of parkways, complete.

The cost, as estimated, for preparation of base shall include all labor and material to scarify existing pavement and prepare existing pavement for additional crushed stone as directed by the Engineer.

The cost, as estimated, for the trench backfill includes the cost of all labor and material for backfilling all trenches made in the subgrade of the proposed improvement, and all trenches outside of the subgrade where the inner edge of the trench is closer than two (2) feet to the edge of the proposed curb or pavement.

The cost, as estimated, for driveway pavement removal includes the cost of all labor, equipment and the disposal of all material removed.

The cost, as estimated, for the bituminous materials (prime coat) shall include the cost of all labor, equipment and material to apply said material immediately after the completion of the base course.

The cost, as estimated, for aggregate (prime coat) includes all materials and labor to spread said material complete in place.

The cost, as estimated, for leveling binder (machine method) includes the cost of all labor, equipment and material to apply said material on the existing pavement.

The cost, as estimated, for bituminous concrete binder course shall include all materials, equipment and labor to spread, compact and roll said material.

The cost, as estimated, for the bituminous concrete surface course, fine dense-graded aggregate type, Sub-Class I-11, shall include spreading, rolling and compacting said material, including labor, material and equipment.

The cost, as estimated, for the cushion of stone screenings and screenings in the waterbound macadam base shall include the cost of all labor, equipment and material to furnish and place said screenings by spreading, rolling and compacting.

The cost, as estimated, for waterbound macadam base course shall include the cost of all labor, equipment and material to spread, roll, and compact aggregate.

The cost, as estimated, for Portland cement driveway pavement includes the cost of all material, labor and equipment to construct driveways, complete in place.

The cost, as estimated, for manholes, Type A, Type 1 frame and closed lid includes cost of excavation, concrete base, sidewalls, steps, cast iron frame and lid and all other materials and all labor, complete in place.

The cost, as estimated, for catchbasins, Type A, Type 1 frame and open lid, includes cost of excavation, concrete base, sidewalls, cast iron frame and lid and all other materials and all labor, complete in place.

The cost, as estimated, for storm sewers, Type 1 (RCP Class V) 8 inch; Type 1 (RCP Class V) 10 inch; Type 2 (RCP Class II) 12 inch; Type 2 (RCP Class II) 15 inch, and Type 2 (RCP Class II) 18 inch, includes cost of pipe, excavation, placing, jointing, ordinary backfilling, and all other labor and materials necessary to install storm sewers, complete in place.

The cost, as estimated, for manholes and catchbasin to be reconstructed includes the cost of labor and materials necessary to reconstruct existing structures to final grade.

The cost, as estimated for manholes, valve vaults, catchbasins, etc., to be adjusted, includes the cost of all labor and materials necessary for the adjustment to final grade of said structures.

The cost, as estimated, for cast iron frames, Type 1, with closed lid, includes all labor and material to remove old frames and lids from existing manholes and to replace with new frames and lids.

The cost, as estimated, for pavement replacement entire shall include all labor and material to remove existing pavement and build up new pavement at places as directed by the Engineer.

The cost, as estimated, for pavement removal includes the cost of all labor, equipment, and the disposal of all material removed.

The cost, as estimated, for five (5) inch thick Portland cement concrete sidewalk includes the cost of all labor, materials and equipment required.

The cost, as estimated, for sidewalk removal includes all labor and equipment necessary for removing existing concrete sidewalk interfering with construction of this improvement and disposing of same off the site.

The cost, as estimated, for constructing the combination concrete curb and gutter, Type 3, modified, includes the cost of all labor, equipment and materials required.

The cost, as estimated, for tree removal, special (6" to 15" diameter) and (over 15" diameter) includes all labor and equipment necessary to remove and dispose (off the site) of trees interfering with construction of this improvement.

The cost, as estimated, for combination concrete curb and gutter removal includes all labor and equipment necessary for removing existing curb and gutter interfering with construction of improvements and disposing of same off the site.

The cost, as estimated, for filling existing catchbasins shall include all labor, equipment and material to remove existing frame and lid, filling the inlet with granular material, and plugging outlet pipe.

The cost, as estimated, for fire hydrant to be moved shall include all labor, equipment and material to move the existing fire hydrant to a new location.

The cost, as estimated, for fire hydrants to be adjusted includes cost of all parts and labor necessary to adjust existing fire hydrant to new finished grade.

The cost, as estimated for new ten (10) inch and twelve (12) inch cast iron pipe water main includes cost of pipe and fittings, cost of removing existing connection, cost of testing and sterilization, and all labor and materials, complete in place.

The cost, as estimated, for existing twelve (12) inch and six (6) inch cast iron pipe water main to be lowered includes all labor and materials necessary to excavate, disjoint, rejoint, lower, test, and sterilize existing mains where directed by the Engineer.

The cost, as estimated, for ten (10) inch and twelve (12) inch gate valves includes all material and labor, complete in place.

The cost as estimated for sixty (60) and forty-eight (48) inch valve basins includes all labor and material, complete in place.

All materials shall be of the best quality suitable for the purposes for which they are used.

That the estimate of the total cost of said improvements as made by the President of this Board is $269,573.25, which estimate is as follows:

10,700 Cubic Yards Earth Excavation at $2.00 per cubic yard	$21,400.00

1,621 Tons Bituminous Concrete Binder Course at $12.50 per ton	20,262.50
1,099 Tons Bituminous Concrete Surface Course Subclass 1-11 at $13.00 per ton	14,287.00
2,948 Tons Stone Screenings at $5.25 per ton	15,477.00
6,691 Tons Waterbound Macadam Base Course at $5.25 per ton	35,127.75
60 Square Yards P.C.C. Driveway Pavement (6") at $6.00 per square yard	360.00
16 Each Manholes, Type A, Type 1 Frame and Closed Lid at $300.00 each	4,800.00
28 Each Catch Basins, Type A, 4' Dia., Type 1 Frame, Open Lid at $250.00 each	7,000.00
660 Lineal Feet Storm Sewers, Type 1 (R.C.P. Class V) 8 Inch at $4.50 per lineal foot	2,970.00
182 Lineal Feet Storm Sewers, Type 1 (R.C.P. Class V) 10 Inch at $5.00 per lineal foot	910.00
365 Lineal Feet Storm Stewers, Type 2 (R.C.P. Class II) 12 Inch at $4.75 per lineal foot	1,733.75
1,825 Lineal Feet Storm Sewers, Type 2 (R.C.P Class II) 15 Inch at $5.25 per lineal foot	9,581.25
1,042 Lineal Feet Storm Sewers, Type 2 (R.C.P. Class II) 18 Inch at $5.75 per lineal foot	5,991.50
11 Each Manholes or Catch Basin to be Reconstructed at $90.00 each	990.00
44 Each Manholes, Valve Vaults, Catch Basins to be Adjusted at $40.00 each	1,760.00
5 Each Cast Iron Frames, Type 1, with Closed Lid at $65.00 each	325.00
100 Square Yards Pavement Replacement, Entire at $5.00 per square yard	500.00
56 Square Yards Pavement Removal at $0.90 per square yard	50.40
44,400 Square Feet Portland Cement Concrete Sidewalk (5 Inches) at $0.70 per square foot	31,080.00
1,035 Square Feet Sidewalk Removal at $0.25 per square foot	258.75
9,275 Lineal Feet Combination Concrete Curb & Gutter Type 3 (Modified) at $3.00 per lineal foot	27,825.00
595 Inch Dia. Tree Removal, Special (6" to 15" Diameter) at $4.00 per diam. inch	2,380.00
150 Inch Dia. Tree Removal, Special (Over 15" Diameter) at $6.00 per diam. inch	900.00
167 Lineal Feet Combination Curb & Gutter Removal at $1.00 per lineal foot	167.00
2 Each Filling Existing Catch Basins at $20.00 each	40.00
3 Each Fire Hydrant to be Moved at $300.00 each	900.00
1 Each Fire Hydrant to be Adjusted at $60.00 Each	60.00
15 Lineal Feet New 12" Cast Iron Pipe Water Main at $8.50 per lineal foot	127.50

Board Okays Plan For Landscaping

The "second phase" of a complete landscaping program for Prospect high school was set in motion Monday when the Arlington-Prospect high school board approved expenditure of $1,500 for the project.

The planting is expected to be completed this fall.

Included in the new planting program will be trees and shrubs to the east of the school entrance drive along Foundry rd. as well as the driveway island and flag triangle.

ENTRANCEWAY plantings at doorways to the academic and quadrant buildings will be installed. A row of trees to the west of the long quadrant building will be another major planting project.

Planting around three sides of the school tennis courts is also included in the program.

The landscaping planting will be done by Charles Klehm and Son nursery, Algonquin rd., south of Arlington Heights. The Klehm nursery did the original landscaping planting at the high school. (ACM

Brown Elected Freshman Prexy

Bob Brown has been elected president of Prospect high school's freshman class.

Other officers named in the recent election were vice-president Linda Kidd; secretary Jacque De Wilde; and treasurer Angela Brinkley.

The officers will be joined by a class board to help direct freshman activities this year. (ACM

Slate College Night Program for Oct. 12

The traditional "college night" for parents and students at the junior or senior class level will be held in Prospect high school Thursday, Oct. 12. The program is for students at both Arlington and Prospect high schools.

The three-session college meetings will start promptly at 7:30 p.m.

Representatives of more than 100 colleges, universities, technical schools, business schools, junior colleges and schools of nursing will be present. These representatives will discuss their school programs and answer questions of parents and students.

THREE HALF-HOUR sessions have been planned to enable all parents and students to develop pertinent information on three potential schools. This information is intended to supplement the normal catalogs supplied by most schools.

Parents are being urged to arrive at the high school no later than 7:15 p.m. because of potential delay in traffic and parking.

Programs will be distributed to those attending, listing each school, representative and room. The booklets will be given at the two parking lot entrances to the main academic building.

Following the three sessions held for the public Arlington and Prospect school counselors will hold a coffee hour for the college representatives. This meeting is planned to familiarize the school counselors with the latest information on school admissions and enrollment problems.

AS A preliminary to the college night progam, two special programs for students and parents have been held.

During the past two weeks all junior and senior students have attended a special guidance class. At these classes students were told what they should be doing about college plans, early registration requirements, realistic appraisals of the schools which might accept their applications and admission requirements.

Last week 450 parents attended a college information night held in the Prospect Little Theatre. Parents of senior students and some junior students at both district high schools were present.

James Kunnen of Prospect high school acted as moderator of the program. A panel composed of senior counselors David Whiteside, Miss Leotta Hampton, and Miss Mary Christie answered questions from parents.

THE "COLLEGE viewpoint" was presented by Charles D. Ewart, 349 S. Bristol lane, Arlington Heights. Ewart is the northwest suburban representative of the Yale Committee on Enrollment and Scholarship, a former college teacher and professional football coach, and now a businessman.

AT THE meeting parents were told what their financial responsibility in sending a child to college would be, scholarship availability, who could or could not get into college and the types of schools which might accept students in various grade standings.

Counselors at the two schools indicated the information night is expected to aid both parents and students in seeking information about schools which will accept their enrollment applications.

"This should make college night more realistic and helpful for students, parents and college representatives" stressed Clarence Feiereisel, Prospect high guidance chairman.

Methodist PR Director Is Sunday's Festival Speaker

Sunday, Oct. 8, the First Methodist church of Arlington Heights will hold the first session of its annual family missions festival. Beginning at 5:30 with a potluck supper, the evening's program will feature a South American theme. Study classes will be held for each age group, with a nursery provided for tiny tots.

Guest speaker to the first session will be Dr. Howard B. Oborn of Bloomington, director of public relations of the Central Illinois Conference of the Methodist church. Dr. and Mrs. Oborn toured Methodist missions in South American countries while he served as chaplain on a luxury liner.

DR. HOWARD OBORN

DR. OBORN WAS graduated from DePauw university and took his seminary training at Boston university school of theology. For many years he held pastorates in central Illinois before serving as district superintendent of the Peoria district. For several years he has held the position of conference missionary secretary.

Dr. Milton Bayly of Arlington Heights, chairman of the church's commission on missions, is in charge of the festival. Committee heads are: program, Mrs. Charles Jenks; music, Charles Jenks; exhibits, Mrs. Reuben Conrad; food, Mrs. Retha Roberts, all of Arlington Heights. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Schleiffer of Wheeling are in charge of arrangements and equipment.

Subsequent sessions of the current missions festival will be held the second Sunday evenings of November, December, and January.

Former Resident Is Back to Celebrate

(As Mr. Meyer paused in the editor's office Monday, saying "keep anything you write about me to a minimum," we recall when he failed to turn up at the testimonial dinner accorded him upon his retirement from village service. Our Arlington Heights anniversary celebration would not have been complete without Bill.—Editor).

By STUART R. PADDOCK

William F. Meyer Jr., former village official and long-time resident, has presented the Arlington Heights Historical Society with the steel chain used by the Dunton family in surveying the original Arlington Heights.

The chain is now on display at Krause and Kehe real estate office.

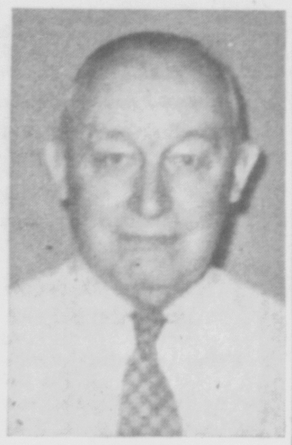
WHEN ASKED to comment on the historical data which appeared in last week's special edition, Meyer recalled:

—The Klehms probably gave away for civic beauty more nursery stock than they sold. The original harness shop was operated by James McElhose Sr. in the Sieburg hardware store.

—Klehms did the original landscaping of the Railroad park.

—Before there were Boy Scouts, Henry G. Lorenzen organized the Messenger Boys. He had great influence on local boys at the turn of the century, and he organized the drum and bugle corps. As a reward, the boys were given lake excursion trips. On such a trip to Michigan City, George Dunton was drowned, which brought an end to the corps and the trips.

—William Heineman, still living, was the lone police officer for many years.



BILL MEYER

—Memorial Day parades were led by Diedrich Heineman, the Civil War veteran who rode the horse.

—Two police judges were William Thiemann, an important member of the Republican party, and Peter Beyer, a Democrat, who thought it was his duty to say "guilty."

—After the Civil War, patriotic fever was uppermost. Meyer previously presented an American flag of that period to the historical society.

Meyer, who now resides with his daughter in Albuquerque, N. M., will also donate to the society a brass key that unlocked the doors of the Olmstead store. He salvaged it at the time tin cans, metal, and even World War I guns were collected to help Uncle Sam fight Hitler. (A

We were most happy to shake hands with William F. who drove nearly 1500-miles to help Arlington Heights celebrate its anniversary. Bill had a big part in community affairs from the 1920s until his retirement in the 1950s.

As postmaster, he moved the post office from quarters in a store to its own facilities in the Berbecker building. He fostered the organization of the old Business Men's association and had a part in the selection of the slogan "City of Good Neighbors." There are scores of other achievements to his credit.

His most recent community service was as village treasurer, during which time he revised the special assessment records. This enabled many people to again secure title to their property.

CD Director To Address Civic Group

Wallace Daughtry, Civil Defense director for Arlington Heights, will be guest speaker at the October meeting of the Arlington Acres, Civic association, Tuesday, Oct. 10 at 8 p.m. in Lauterburg and Oehler funeral home.

Assisting Daughtry in the program will be Lester Ploetz, deputy director, and Louis Nye, radiological defense officer. Daughtry said he hopes to have a new film available in time for showing at the meeting.

The Arlington Acres Civic association is open to residents of the area bounded by Northwest hwy., Grove, Gibbons and Waterman sts. All members and interested visitors are urged to attend this important meeting.

Grade School Charges Aired

The Arlington Heights board of education last week took under advisement the case of a 47-year-old teacher who was dismissed for allegedly failing to "cooperate" with the administration.

At the conclusion of a three-episode hearing last Thursday, the board reviewed data relating to the dismissal of Joseph A. Tomlinson, 27 S. Vail, and determined to study the transcript of testimony before rendering a decision.

Tomlinson, an eighth grade teacher and one-time assistant principal, requested the public hearing after receiving notice in July he was being dismissed effective November 2.

Among a host of witnesses taking the stand last week were Ralph E. Clabaugh, superintendent of district 25; Todd Fouty, principal at South junior high school; Roald Campbell, professor of educational administration at the University of Chicago, and Tomlinson.

THE WITNESSES were called in order to aid the board in determining whether or not evidence supporting a list of 13 charges against Tomlinson was sufficient to uphold the dismissal.

Clabaugh, superintendent since 1943, testified Tomlinson was consistently tardy to school, failed to attend required faculty meetings, and was lacking in his "general attitude."

At one point in the testimony, Clabaugh said that during a conference with Tomlinson he discovered the teacher was making a tape recording of the conversation.

"MR. TOMLINSON told me he bought the tape recorder because he thought I had been recording his comments," Clabaugh testified.

Fouty, principal at South since 1957, said Tomlinson's participation in faculty programs was "nil" and that he (Tomlinson) held conversations with other teachers that interrupted meetings.

Fouty also testified Tomlinson did not prepare class material in advance and that there was a definite "deterioration of relationships" between Tomlinson and his colleagues.

W. R. ENGELHART, school board attorney, asked Fouty if he had suggested other teachers spy on Tomlinson and make reports. Fouty answered, "I have not."

Campbell's testimony consisted of his rendering the opinion that if the charges against Tomlinson were true, an "intolerable situation" existed in the school system.

Eugene P. Meegan, attorney for Tomlinson, elicited the statement from Campbell that if the charges were not true, then the situation would not be intolerable.

THURSDAY witnesses for Tomlinson consisted of three former students and four parents. All testified Tomlinson was a "good teacher" and that they were not aware of his difficulties with the administration.

Tomlinson, taking the stand Thursday, denied all charges. He also said he could do a creditable job of teaching if rehired.

Charges against the teacher include the following:

—REFUSAL TO meet with the administration to discuss performance of duties;

—falsely accusing school administrators of plotting against him;

—stating that the school administration is dishonest;

—exhibiting an unalterable hostility to the administration and program of the school;

—insubordination; and

—failure to follow rules and regulations.

THE CRUX OF Tomlinson's defense seemed to be that he was "misunderstood." Charges made by the teacher against the administration were not brought out in direct testimony.

An investigating committee of the Illinois Education association, requested by Tomlinson to study background of the case, reported July 24 that "the weight of evidence justifies the action taken by the board."

The committee further stated: "Mr. Tomlinson's failure to seriously consider, or to indicate any intention of attempting to correct, the deficiencies listed by the board made the dismissal action inevitable."

THE COMMITTEE recommended that the IEA not support Tomlinson's position.

The school board is expected to announce sometime this month as to whether the dismissal will be sustained or withdrawn. (A AUDIO-VISUAL EQUIPMENT and an electrically controlled screen have been installed in the chapel of Lutheran General hospital, Park Ridge, converting the room to a 150-seat auditorium for the use of staff conferences, teaching of externs and student nurses, expectant parents courses, nurse refresher courses, medical association meetings and nurse associations from nearby communities. Here Dr. Vichazelhu Iralu, hospital associate microbiologist, instructs a group of department personnel. When the room is used as an auditorium the chapel altar is closed. (B8

LUTHERAN GENERAL HOSPITAL staff doctors have paid for $3,000 in audio-visual equipment and an electrically controlled screen to convert the hospital chapel tc a 150-seat auditorium. Ridge Park–Sherwood

FROM RIDGE PARK

As plans for the 125th anniversary celebration got underway so did many beards and mustaches in Ridge Park. Among the more elaborate was the mustache and mutton chop sideburns worn by Bill Griffith at the Grand Charity ball at the race track.

Ruth and Bill hosted the Robert Browns and the Herb Trowes of Arlington Heights, as well as the Warren Powers of Wilmette, who thoroughly enjoyed watching the caricature artist catch Bill's likeness on paper.

Bill went full speed ahead this summer and it paid off when he won a dinner at O'Hare Inn through the Traveler's Insurance company summer campaign. He and Ruth, along with 25 other couples, enjoyed their "dinner on the house" last Wednesday. Ruth and Bill live at 625 N. Kaspar with their three children.

ELIZABETH Oberhauser, 816 N. Patton, made a sudden trip to Sidney, Neb. September 10 to attend the funeral of her sister's husband, Byron Reeve. While she was heading west, her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Armbrust, were leaving from O'Hare field for a 2-day stopover in Brooklyn, before flying on to Kaiserslautern, Germany for a visit with his 87-year-old mother whom he hadn't seen in 36 years.

After receiving letters telling them of the family reunion, the Oberhausers are anxious to meet the Armbrusts' plane at O'Hare field October 14 to get a first hand report of their trip.

LINDA HOSTLER counted herself lucky to have her Grandmother Small and her Grandparents Hostler with her to celebrate her eighth birthday September 27. Over the weekend her Grandfather Small drove up from Texas with her Aunt Ella and Uncle Don to put their stamp of approval on baby Matthew and bring Mrs. Small back home with them. The Ralph Hostlers live at 927 N. Kennicott.

When Mrs. Marvin Buehler, 939 N. Fernandez, went to Harlcon, Wis. last Thursday to meet her parents, the A. T. Weinstocks, of Beverly, Ohio, Mrs. Herbert Post of N. Kennicott ave. went along with her. Besides enjoying their visit with the Buehlers, the Weinstocks are renewing friendships they made when they formerly lived in Winnetka.

For two weekends now, the Clyde Hardens, 909 N. Salem, have been guests of former Ridge Parkers, the James Turners at Chikaming Farm, Lakeside, Mich. They enjoyed a dip in the lake their first weekend up there, but the second time round, the temperature took a nosedive and they kept a fire in the fireplace most of the time. Even without swimming, there is plenty for the children to do. The barn boasts a wide assortment of animals, including rabbits raised for medical research.

THERE WAS a little added activity at the Hank Inselberger home over the weekend when his aunt and uncle, the Hugo Kellers, came from Milwaukee for a visit. In the garage was the St. John church float for the centennial on which Hank, Jerry and several of the church members have been working. With the basement full of float "fixings" Ann has decided to wait until after the parade before cleaning up.

Not only did Sheri and Vicki Lee Ryckaert have fun at the kiddy parade at the race track Sunday, they came off with first prize for the funniest costumes. Dressed as twin clowns, the girls had decorated their bike in red and white with a red and white umbrella clamped on the handlebars. The girls' parents are the Charles V. Ryckaerts, 820 N. Kaspar.

SEVERAL OF Pam Rosheger's friends helped her celebrate her sixth birthday September 27: Nancy Urbanowicz, Michele Intravartolo, Kim Koehler, John Stevens, Bruce Topp, Janet Mills, Karen Daughtry, and Pam's two sisters, Patti and Penny. Bonnie and Gail Kamin missed the fun because of illness.

Ice cream and cake were served after birthday games were played and before the children went home, each received a prize. Pam continued partying that evening when several of her relatives from Chicago came for more cake and ice cream. The Roshegers live at 807 N. Kennicott.

Although Kathleen and Joe Dunne, 1016 N. Illinois, were sitting on the Oklahoma side when they went to the Notre Dame-Oklahoma game in South Bend Saturday, they were secretly rooting for Notre Dame. Former Ridge Parkers, the Charles O'Dors, were rooting for his alma mater, Oklahoma, and had to watch while Notre Dame whipped them 19 to 6. On the way home the two couples had dinner at the William Tell.

MANY RIDGE Parkers sipped coffee and munched on cookies Sunday afternoon when the St. James Women's guild gave a pantry shower for the nuns in the school hall. Not only did the parishioners stock the nuns' pantry for the year, they even presented them with snow tires for their car.

FROM SHERWOOD

The Herman Petersons of Council Bluff, Iowa were house guests of the W. L. Johnsons, 1308 Watling, last week.

From the many going away parties given for the R. N. De Wildes, who formerly lived at 1102 Burgoyne, it was very evident their friends and neighbors hated to see them move to Kentifield, Cal. Sunday. A

MINER JUNIOR HIGH

Miner Junior high school PTA "Little Theater" is presenting three films this season. The first will be "Spirit of West Point" which will be shown October 14 at 1 and 3:30 p.m.

Future shows will be "King Solomon's Mines" November 4 and "Spirit of St. Louis" December 2. Tickets are being sold to the students through their home rooms at Miner Junior high. Anyone else wishing tickets may call Mrs. Wayne Wankel at CL 5-4418.

RIDGE

Ridge school PTA on Arlington's north side has announced project TOPA during October 16 to 31. To the uninitiated, TOPA stands for Time, Organization, Participants and Activities.

The program, a fund-raising endeavor, is designed to enable parents and teachers associated with Ridge school to engage in social activities, and at the same time help finance the school's active PTA program.

THE TOPA plan is simple THE TOPA plan is simple and provides that respective hostesses for social functions of the participant's own choice will collect donations for the PTA. At this writing, at least two prizes have been announced for hostesses who remit the highest amount of social function proceeds.

Under the TOPA plan, social functions may be initiated voluntarily. Those willing to invite others, or those wishing to join in some events, may also participate by contacting the TOPA committee members: Mrs. Iver Blackberg, 906 N. Kennicott, CL 3-7666; Mrs. G. F. HINTS TO HOMEOWNERS

Fertilize newly planted trees carefully to avoid burning the roots. Fertilizer will burn tree roots unless it is mixed with soil in the bottom of the hole. In addition to fertilizer, place in the bottom of the hole a layer of topsoil, a mixture of peat moss or manure and subsoil.

Here are some more suggestions for planting trees:

SELECTION: In selecting trees, remember that those with balled burlapped roots have a greater chance of surviving than those with bare roots.

DEPTH OF HOLE: Dig the hole several inches deeper than the length of the balled and burlapped roots. If the soil is a hard clay, make the hole extra deep to provide adequate drainage. If the tree roots are wrapped, make a hole one foot wider than the wrapping.

SETTING THE TREE: Place the base of the tree one inch lower than the surrounding ground level. Place it with its good side facing out. Put in a little soil at a time, tamping it carefully to eliminate air pockets. When the hole is two-thirds full of soil fill it with water. After the water soaks in, fill it again with water. Then put in the rest of the soil. Water the tree during the fall to insure good root growth.

PRUNING: To compensate for loss of roots during transplanting, cut the side branches so that the tree is one-third of its original width. Never cut the top!

STAKING: Staking prevents movement of the tree that loosens the soil around the roots and creates air pockets. Staking also keeps the tree erect.

WRAPPING: Wrap the tree trunk to prevent sunscald. Use a commercially prepared material available at most nurseries.

MULCHING: To help conserve moisture, place a mulch of ground corncobs two or three inches deep around the base of the tree.

Science Workshop Draws 45

Forty-five teachers from Schaumburg, Arlington Heights and Elk Grove school districts participated in the first of a nine-session elementary science workshop held in Dempster school, Dempster st. east of rt. 83, Monday night.

The workshop, cooperatively sponsored by the Office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction and the County Superintendent of schools, is open to all teachers of grades one through five in area school districts.

INSTRUCTION AND review in laboratory work and science teaching techniques will continue for a nine-week period. Classes will meet from 7 to 9:30 p.m. Monday and Tuesday evenings.

The study program is under the direction of James Wiegand, a representative of the state office of public instruction, and Mrs. Dorothea Winkler, science consultant for Elk Grove school district 59. Area teachers who are interested in registering for future classes may contact Mrs. Winkler at HE 7-2440. (B8

The plants you use around your home tie your house to the ground and provide an attractive setting. Flowering shrubs come in a variety of sizes from very short such as Butterfly bush, to very tall in the case of Japanese tree lilacs which may reach a height of over 30 feet. Other plants are available in all sizes in between.

Many people are familiar with some of the flowering shrubs such as lilacs, forsythia, and honeysuckle. There are many varieties of these three plants which in themselves can make an impressive display of color in spring.

Add to these the Viburnums, flowering plums, crabapples, dogwoods and hydrangeas and you have a display which would be envied by any homeowner. Consider the flowering shrubs when planting your home surroundings. Many of them have another attractive feature such as brightly colored fruit or fall color. Most of them go nicely with evergreens. Child Struck Riding Bike

A Palatine child was struck down by a car while riding a bicycle on Sept. 27.

The accident occurred on Baldwin road, a half mile west of Route 14 at about an eighth of a mile from Roselle.

At 4:40 p.m. Chip Jayne, 6, of 1918 W. Banbury, Palatine, was coming out of a private driveway when a car driven by Mary B. Mulvey, of 639 N. Braeburn, Inverness, struck the bike.

THE MOTORIST was headed east when the mishap occurred. The boy was treated by Dr. Carl Starck, a private doctor.

Damage to the car was listed by state police as $20. No charges were made.

Both motorists were injured in a two-car accident at 6:45 a.m. on Sept. 25. The accident took place on U. S. 45 at 1/8 mile south of Illinois 72.

State police report Willie Harper, 23, of 1455 E. 68th st., Chicago, while attempting to stop his car, lost control of it when the car started to slide.

THE CAR traveled across the road, striking a second car driven by Thomas R. Riley, 28, of 400 W. Touhy, Des Plaine, then landed in the ditch. Both injured men were taken to Holy Family hospital.

Damage to the first car was listed at $150; to the second as $200. Harper was charged with not carrying a driver's license and improper lane usage.

In another accident, Chester D. Walker, 58, of Decatur, was driving down Illinois 53 at U.S. 12 at 3:50 a.m. on Sept. 29.

Tired from driving all night, state police report, and not being familiar with the area, his eyes searched the area seeking a motel. It was while his gaze was off the road that the vehicle collided with a signal light.

Walker was injured and taken to the Northwest Community hospital. Damage to his car was listed as $400.

A THREE-CAR collision occurred at 7:50 a.m. Sept. 25 on U.S. 45 at Lawrence avenue.

Stopping for the traffic signal respectively were: Ernest A. De Graw, 34, of 4375 York, Bensenville, and Mois J. Sintov, 42, of 2355 Warrington, Des Plaines.

A third car, driven by Benjamin Luscalzo Jr., 19, of 2804 Gary, Melrose Park, still moving, struck Sintov's car, and Sintov's car in turn struck De Graw's car.

Luscalzo was injured and taken to Resurrection hospital.

Damage to the first car was $110; to the second, $300, and to the third, $300.

Luscalzo was charged with driving too fast for conditions.

Kresge Sets Opening Of Des Plaines Store

The S. S. Kresge company, retail variety - department store, will open its newest store, October 26 in the new Market Place Shopping center at the intersection of Golf and Elmhurst rds., Mount Prospect. Robert E. Maxey has been named the manager of this new store and comes from a position as manager of a store in Chicago.

MAXEY WAS born in Austin township, Ill. and joined the Kresge organization in 1955 in the Decatur store. He later was transferred to LaSalle, serving there as junior assistant manager, then to Skokie and later Deerfield, serving in those stores as senior assistant manager. He was appointed manager of his first store in Chicago in 1960.

At present, there are more than 782 Kresge stores in the United States, Puerto Rico and Canada. The firm's expansion and modernization program calls for the completion of over 50 new stores in 1961 and more in succeeding years, as well as modernization and enlargement of many existing stores. Kresge's opened a new store in Arlington Market in 1958 and more recently, this past June, in Palatine Plaza Shopping center.

VARIETY IS the keynote of the new Des Plaines store and in addition to the usual five-cent to $1 items, shoppers will find fashion apparel for the entire family, hi-fi and stereo sets, nationally advertised electrical appliances, power tools, furniture, and dozens of other items generally associated with a department store.

Employees of the new store will be residents of the Des Plaines - Mt. Prospect area and will enjoy the many benefits the company provides its co-workers.

An attractive quick-service luncheonette will be provided for customer convenience. All foods are prepared from recipes tested and approved for flavor and nourishment in the company's Detroit test kitchen.

Suburbanite Sets Record In Cancer Fund-Raising

Under the leadership of a Chicago suburban man more money has been raised nationally for cancer control than ever in the history of the American Cancer society.

He is Wallace W. Tudor, vice president, personnel and employee relations, director of Sears, Roebuck and Co. and 1961 National Chairman for the American Cancer Society's Crusade, who announced today that the financial support of the society's programs reached an all time high of $36,033,805 in 1961. This figure includes $30,691,805 raised in the 1961 Crusade — 8.2 per cent over the $28,356,630 raised in 1960 — and $5,342,000 from bequests and legacies against $5,372,115 in 1960.

DOUGLAS MacCLURE, 527 Willow, Elk Grove Village, Crusade chairman of the Northwest Suburban chapter, 121 S. Emerson, Mount Prospect, said the volunteers in the Northwest Suburban chapter crusade can share in the pride of this victory in behalf of cancer control. Northwest Suburban chapter with a goal of $26,270 raised $32,488.

Tudor stated that 55 of the society's 60 divisions in the nation raised more funds than in 1960. Illinois, which hit the unprecedented total of $2,030,052 against a $1,760,000 goal is the second state in the country to top the $2,000,000 mark. (California was the first). Tudor, who lives at 238 Forest Ave., Oak Park, is president of the Illinois Division of the Society.

CHAIRMAN Tudor noted that the increased contributions will enable the society to step up its educational program —"a program that if followed by all would mean the saving of an additional 87,000 lives each year." He attributed the unprecedented support of the society's programs to growing public awareness of the magnitude of the cancer problem and of the growing hope among cancer researchers that the problem can be solved.

Tudor said that 1961 contributions — despite general economic uncertainties — was "an affirmation by the public of a determination to move ahead just as fast as possible in the fight against cancer, a disease that is estimated will take 275,000 lives in the next year if present rates continue."

He added that this result could not have been achieved without the support of more than 2,000,000 volunteers and the communications media-newspapers, magazines, radio and television.

TUDOR, quoting President Kennedy's April Conference on Heart Disease and Cancer, warned that "this is no time to sit still on research." He said "the public should not be satisfied until the society is able to meet every worthwhile request for research funds and even $36,000,000 will not do this."

"Public support of cancer control programs," Tudor said, "has built up from proven progress against cancer. Twenty-five years ago there were only 160,000 people alive cured of cancer. Today there are 1,100,000."

Mrs. John F. Kennedy, wife of the President, was Honorary National Crusade Chairman of the Society's 1961 educational and fund-raising campaign.

Q. Is it possible to correct someone's grammar without being impolite?

A. No one likes to be corrected in group conversation, and efforts at improvement of grammar and diction had better be reserved for members of one's family or friends who might consider them as favors and not insults.

Q. Should candy be served to guests in its box, or in a special dish?

A. It is all right to offer candy in a box to guests in the living room—but at the dinner table, it should be served in a dish.

Square Dance Club News

Dorothy Meyer — CLearbrook 3-2298

SWINGIN' SQUARES

The successful pre-season free dance of September 12 has all the Swingin' Squares anxious to officially open the 1961-62 session tomorrow night. They'll follow the same route that's brought the club to the goodtime scene for lo, these many years: Don Finfrock calls the turns from 8:30 to 11:30 after an 8 to 8:30 session of round dance instruction in the Recreation Park field house, 500 E. Miner, Arlington Heights. A social hour with refreshments follows all dance sessions and everybody's welcome, no reservations necessary.

Don has been the club's caller since its formation and he's fondly known as Ole Man River cuz he just keeps rollin' along, dong bigger and better calls every year. He'll have his favorite partner, wife Kay, for the 8 to 8:30 period of round dance instruction and the team plans to devote four sessions to each new dance for complete mastery of it by everyone. They'll begin tomorrow night with the "Hoop-de-do Polka," a lively dance slated to go to the top in popularity this season. There's also a promise of an extra for tomorrow night, a 5-minute act of top talent.

OFFICERS FOR THE new season are Bob and Nadine Luebbe, presidents; Ray and Betty Howes, secretaries, and Art and Joanne Wuest, treasurers. The president announces that it's still not too late to sign up for either the beginner's class or refresher course. To join the enthusiasts already enrolled those interested may call either Don Finfrock, Fl 8-0799 or Mr. Luebbe, Cl 5-9338.

From the treasurers comes the announcement that they're ready, willing and able to collect dues for the first half of the season which begins tomorrow night and goes through January. Members may pay at the dance tomorrow or send dues to the Wuests at 3600 S. Bluebird, Rolling Meadows.

The hospitality committee has been expanded and this season has Joe and Grace Crittenden as chairmen. Other members, who'll be at the door to welcome everyone tomorrow night, are Dick and Alice Brown, John and Velma Sage and Carl and Alice Scheske.

PALATINE SQUARES

The dancers cried, "Fraud!" and said the ballot box was stuffed when Mike Bishoff, dressed as a voluptuous female, was declared queen of the homecoming dance given by the Palatine Squares September 23. Paddock school in Palatine never saw such goings on as "Miss Mike" flirted outrageously with every man in the place and planted a big, lipsticky kiss on all of 'em.

Finally the ladies put the hussy in her place with the firm announcement that the recount, fair and square, proved the charming Mrs. William Ullrich of Chicago the true winner. "Miss Mike" reluctantly relinquished the crown to the real queen who is president of the Try Squares club of Chicago and was among the many visiting dancers at the party dance.

THERE WERE 17 squares in all, enjoying a full evening of dancing, the Miss Mike levity and jillions of homemade cookies at the refreshment table. Don Finfrock called the squares and Jerry and Dot Daniels led the round dancing.

Art Mathews with his usual smooth patter will sing out the calls loud and clear at the October 14 dance. He'll square 'em up at 8:30 in the Paddock school and as usual, everybody's welcome.

Club officers announce that there are only a few tickets still available for the special "Max Forsythe" dance Friday, Nov. 10. A quick call to Katy Dahlquist, Cl 3-7906 or Frieda Laurenz, Fl 8-5679 will assure tickets to the affair.

Q. When serving wine at a dinner party should the glasses be filled in the kitchen and then brought in to the table?

A. No. The wine should be poured into the glasses, at the right of each person, and without moving the glasses.

Q. Is it necessary to mail engraved wedding invitations to close friends who have already been invited verbally?

A. It is ALWAYS correct to mail engraved wedding invitations—even to members of the immediate families.

Planners Debate Future Of Suburbs

Area Session Cites Problem

"The 'planned suburb' is often a contradiction in terms. It is usually planned for maximum return on the contractor's investment.

"A suburban area is one in which we substitute traffic jam for forest preserve. It is farmland held by speculators long enough to double their money."

So Ferd Kramer, head of the real estate firm of Draper & Kramer, told about 400 area citizens and officials at the fourth annual Metropolitan Area Planning Conference sponsored by the Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission at Chicago's Pick-Congress Hotel September 18. He was quoting Grady Clay, real estate editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal.

Kramer further quoted Grady: "The 'planned suburb' . . . is where the straight furrow has been replaced by the wrinkled brow; field larks by Thunderbrids; where man and Nature can live in harmony only so long as the power mower keeps running; where city folks seek to pay off mortgages in genteel company; where five acres are made to do the work of one."

NORTHWEST suburban residents might well take heed of these and many other remarks, opinions and plans that were voiced at the conference. For they are or may directly concern the future growth of this area as well as the whole Chicago metropolitan area.

Kramer is also president of ACTION, Inc., a national organization dedicated to helping local communities help themselves in solving their urban renewal problems. He spoke on "Pressures, Plans and the Metropolitan Citizen."

He cited the population increase in metropolitan areas. "It has been said that 97 per cent of the future increase in population will take place in our existing metropolitan areas," he said.

And Kramer inserted, "From the air we can limit the extent of metropolitan Chicago by the cloud of waste that hangs in the sky."

Despite some of the troubles besetting it, "We can no more stop this urban revolution than we can control a hurricane," Kramer continued.

"But we can prevent the 'wildcatting' that has already brought real trouble to many doorsteps in the form of floods, water shortages, traffic jams, destruction of land values, and elimination of precious and irreplaceable open space.

". . . Neither the thousands of tasteless houses of a jerry-built subdivision, nor the institutional high density housing projects, or the hit or miss new commercial and civic structures placed without regard to a plan, are getting us on the best course to solve our urban metropolitan problems.

"Quite the opposite. Land misused is withdrawn from sound development for many decades. These products of unplanned growth transfer slums lock, stock and barrel to new areas."

IN DISCUSSING the way and means of planning and controlling development, Kramer pointed out, "One of the most heartening things that has happened to booster the aesthetics of the city is the landmark case in the United States Supreme Court, known as Berman vs. Parker, which ruled that in a redevelopment program even sound structures may be demolished to permit the creation of a new community that is beautiful as well as functional.

"The court said that the right of a community to plan itself is established, and that in addition, a community may include the worthwhile goal of being as attractive as its citizens wish it to be.

"This is a challenge and a mandate to build or rebuild that stresses quality in all aspects of community planning and design."

Communities not only have to "work better," but they also have to "look better . . . in order to serve their essential function," Kramer stated.

"There is no longer any excuse for neglecting the problems of open space, transportation, housing and slums on a metropolitan basis. Great and complex as our problems are, our knowledge and the tools available, which were undreamed of (30 years ago), can become our efficient servants in responding to the challenge of our time.

"Having these tools, our first need is coordinated planning by the city and the suburbs on a long range basis. This is the only kind of planning that makes sense.

"PLANNING needs people—professional technicians. Good planners, economists and sociologists cost money. Our citizens and our political leaders must support adequate financing to produce plans of the magnitude and quality we so urgently need.

"We, the citizens inthe counties and the towns of the metropolitan area must support these (Federal, state and area-wide programs) policies.

"Citizens must (take part) in dealing with physical and social problems in dynamic, rather than static terms . . ."

"The metropolitan Chicago area is exceptionally fortunate in having the first official planning commission in the whole United States . . ."

Kramer was referring to the Northeastern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission, which embraces the six county area, and noted that one of its most important current tasks is its flood hazard mapping project for the entire region. The commission is the result of a new Federal program to encourage planning.

Kramer warned that "the pressures corroding the central city (Chicago) will eventually, if unchecked, engulf the suburbs as well.

"Population migration and growth, industrial dispersal, deterioration of the physical plant, the formation of ghettos, impossible situations and a lack of open areas and recreational facilities are crises that affect the economy and welfare of all the region.

"There is no longer any physical or economic separation of the 'original city' and its suburban offspring," he declared. "It is clearer all the time that neither can get along without the other."

PAUL Opperman expanded upon planned development in a speech entitled "The Shaping of Northeastern Illinois."

"Who plans for northeastern Illinois?" he asked. "Who shapes the future of this area so as to match his heart's desire?

"The answer is no one. . .The shape emerges as a result of countless thousands of individual decisions made by home buyers and by the public officials, and home builders that serve this market.

"How does this work?" Opperman continued. "The lack of direction would seem to invite confusion and the juxtaposition of incompatible uses of land.

"This is just what did happen in the early development of our cities before 1920. A mess was created which we are still trying to clean up. . .

"Let me mention some specific problems which bedevil our area. . .

"AGENCIES have an inherent tendency to satisfy their own requirements first. School boards and the state and county highway departments exhibit the same myopic tendency. School locations are sometimes established in the wrong places, and children can walk on a highway if sidewalks are not available."

Highway departments may "lack concern for the effects their highway improvements have upon their institutions."

"Park district, sanitary districts, municipalities—any agency you can name—the tendency to satisfy its requirements first and to consider effects upon other institutions, persons and agencies secondary, is as ubiquitous as sin."

But Opperman criticized the public for this situation. The citizen who criticizes an agency such as the highway department for its lack of comprehensive planning, he said, is often actually saying, in effect: "Only because I have no engineering degree and therefore no responsibility, I have not erred."

OPPERMAN dwelt on housing:

"Lower down payment terms and longer mortgages has obviously brought families into the home owner category who would have remained renters without this stimulus. This is all to the good.

"But by creating a market for the very cheapest new housing, this has also contributed to our problems by providing a market which has resulted in the construction of flimsy structures rather far removed from sources of employment (in order to take advantage of low land costs).

"This is bad for the residents because they face transportation costs and taxes—or poor schools—which they had not anticipated.

"And it is bad for the community because it increases the demand for highway transportation facilities.

"It also involves spotty development which is hard to serve with police and fire protection and other services, and it sometimes leads to rapid deterioration of structures due to vacancies, cheap building and poor maintenance.

"The local areas, by keeping hands off the location problem (of houses), permitted the developments which appear likely candidates for the slums of the future.

"Few of us are happy with the prospect of rural slums . . ."

Solutions, Opperman stated are:

"First, to create an awareness of the problems which need attention.

"The second step is to develop increased avenues of communication so that operating agencies (within and between communities) will be better informed about the likely future actions of each other.

"A THIRD step is to provide a better analysis of the interdependencies within the metropolitan complex, so that secondary effects can be more easily anticipated.

"Fourth, public and private action must be taken to provide more rewards for the individual consumer who builds up and improves his neighborhood, and more punishments for the consumer who fouls his own nest.

"Fifth, a greater and more steadfast vision of the better community is needed." (A-14

Mental Health Academy Sets Meet Oct. 9

DR. SAMUEL LIEBMAN

REV. E. ALAN RICHARDSON

The Academy of Religion and Mental Health will hold a meeting to organize a chapter for the north and northwest suburbs on Monday, Oct. 9, at 7:30 p.m., at Lutheran General hospital, 1775 Dempster Street, Park Ridge.

The Academy is a national non-profit corporation created by members of all faiths to bring together the knowledge and experience of religion and science.

AMONG the Academy's purposes, according to a spokesman, is to facilitate inquiry into the relationship of the moral and the spiritual to the social and physical man and, in particular, the bearing of religion on mental and emotional health.

Featured speakers at this first meeting, which will be held in the hospital's auditorium, will be Dr. Samuel Liebman, a psychiatrist on Lutheran General's staff, and the Rev. E. Alan Richardson, a pastoral counselor, who will speak on the subject: "Psychotherapy and Pastoral Counseling."

Dr. Liebman is a clinical assistant professor of psychiatry at the University of Illinois College of Medicine, has taught courses at Lutheran General sponsored by the Illinois Academy og General Practitioners on emotional problems in general practice (a new course will begin Nov. 1), and is now vice president of the National Association of Private Psychiatric Hospitals.

DR. LIEBMAN has edited five books, titled: "Emotional Problems of Childhood," "Emotional Forces In the Family," "Management of Emotional Problems in Medical Practice," "Stress Situations," and "Understanding Your Patient."

The Rev. Richardson is presently associated with Dr. David Busby, a psychiatrist on the hospital staff, for whom he does pastoral counseling.

Before joining Dr. Busby, Rev. Richardson was appointed by the University of Chicago to two years as a research assistant in the department of religion and health and to two years as a research Fellow with the National Institute of Mental Health.

His work with the latter involved the study of the history of religion and medicine, particularly in the first medical text book. (B8

Carpentier Revokes 178, Suspends 562 Licenses

Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier this week announced the revocation of 178 and the suspension of 562 drivers licenses, chauffeurs licenses and driving privileges based on local court convictions and police reports.

IN ADDITION, 212 persons whose licenses were suspended earlier and who did not have more than a total point accumulation of 62 points have been granted probationary permits to drive.

Reasons for revocations were: driving while intoxicated, 148; leaving scene of an accident, 3; displayed license not issued to him, 2; three offenses within one year, 5; caused or contributed to an accident resulting in death or injury, 1; permitted fraudulent use of license, 9; gave incorrect information on application for license, 1; mental and physical disabilities, 9.

REASONS FOR suspensions were: violated restriction on license or permit, 11; three offenses within one year, 524; caused or contributed to an accident resulting in death or injury, 13; permitted fraudulent use of license, 1; driving while intoxicated, 9; gave incorrect information on application for license, 4.

Mandatory provisions of the law applied in 110 of the cases and discretionary in 630. Cook county residents accounted for 495 of the actions and downstate residents accounted for 220 and residents of other states for 16.

Area residents who had their licenses revoked for driving while intoxicated included L. Esta Reginato L., Rt. 2, box 3, Bensenville and Tony Salas.

SUSPENSIONS for three violations included Jane N. Ber, 1339 N. Illinois, Arlington Heights; Thomas J. Casey, 203 N. Reuter ave., Arlington Heights; Paul C. Notari, 313 N. Russel st., Mount Prospect; James C. Petersen, 1531 S. State rd., Arlington Heights; Robert G. Swanson, 931 E. Golf rd., Mount Prospect; George R. Krueger, 218 Pine Lane ave., Bensenville; Donald R. Lakella, 441 S. Addison st., Bensenville and Eugene F. Schaul, Irving Park, Roselle.

Probationary permits were issued to Fred E. Koehler, 69 Glendale terr., Rosella ar James R. Bambrick, 102 Meadowbrook, Wheeling. (A14

Arlington Leader In Retail Taxes

Arlington Heights paced the Cook county communities of the northwest suburban area in municipal retailers' tax with $17,418.63 collected in July and disbursed to municipalities by the state in September.

Bensenville led DuPage communities of the northwest suburban area with $5,993.35.

DuPage county topped Cook county in the amount of county retailers' tax collected in June and disbursed to the counties in September, having collected $53,319.04 compared to $41,146.98 for Cook county.

IN COOK county, the amount of retailers' taxes collected by communities came in this order: Arlington Heights, $17,418.63; Mount Prospect, $10,956.13; Rolling Meadows, $7,234.07; Palatine, $5,926.61; Elk Grove Village, $4,324.71; Wheeling, $3,849.96; Hoffman Estates, $1,632.14; Schaumberg, $469.49; and Buffalo Grove, $80.13.

DuPage county, there was: Bensenville, $5,993.35; Addison, $3,300.24; Roselle, $2,222.50; Wood Dale, $848.04; Itasca, $815.18; Bartlett, $583.59; and Bloomingdale, 382.96.

Municipal retailers' taxes collected in Chicago amounted to $1,837,948.62, in Des Plaines to $20,830.91, in Barrington to $6,858.02, and in Long Grove to $226.91. (A14

Second of a Series

Suburbs' Future May Hinge on Zoning

The Problem: Apartments

(This is the second of a series of three articles dealing with the construction of multiple dwellings in the northwest suburbs).

by TOM EDWARDS

The crux of what of a dwelling area the northwest suburbs will be in the future may well hinge on their zoning and building ordinances.

They are part of a community's foundation, perhaps almost the entire footing on which its immediate environmental structure will be erected.

Ordinances governing single family residential development in this area have gone through considerable evolution.

But those governing multiple family residences, apartments and row houses, are only just beginning to be tested. They are uniformly in two categories.

Zoning ordinances specify the minimum land area requirements per dwelling unit, and in which sections of its domain a village will allow multiple type dwellings to be erected. (A new state municipal planning act (HB 1324) gives villages comprehensive regulatory powers in zoning over not only its own area, but over a 1½-mile radius outside village limits).

BUILDING CODES are usually a myriad of detailed minimum specifications. Two types of building rules used by almost all area villages may be found either in the zoning ordinances or the building codes or both. They are floor area requirements and the heights of buildings.

Details of the make-up of zoning and building ordinances vary widely between villages, depending upon the main characteristics of the community and how thoroughly the village has studied its needs and prepared its ordinances accordingly.

One point that will almost assuredly be assuming great importance in the future is the sale of individual units of connected row houses, duplexes or even apartment units.

About half of the municipalities have included ordinance provisions which, in effect, forbid the sale of individual dwelling units of multiple dwelling structures.

One was reported as simply forbidding it. Others do not allow plots on which connected dwelling units are erected to be subdivided into separate lots of record.

Individual units could be sold under what is called a trust agreement with the owner or owners of the building. But the village continues to deal only with that owner, who must continue with the legal responsibility for all the units collectively.

MANY VILLAGES forbid construction of multiple dwellings per se in business zoning classifications, and some include special provisions for such construction, such as stores with apartments above them or maybe a light mixture of apartments in the fringe area of a business district.

3,000 per individual dwelling unit in a duplex arrangement, and row houses are considered the same as apartments.

Elk Grove, 1,000 square feet of land area per apartment unit, and 3,000 per unit for duplexes, and there is no specific provision for row houses; Northbrook, a flat 2,500 square feet per apartment or row house, and 3,250 per duplex unit; Mt. Prospect, 2,400 per unit for row houses and duplexes, and it recently reduced its all-inclusive apartment requirement from 2,400 to 1,400 square feet per unit.

Evidently, the reason for the reduction was mainly to allow one specific development of efficiency units.

A very few villages have taken great care in designating certain areas for multiple dwelling construction, taking into account transition areas between commercial and single family residential developments, transportation, drainage, schools, consumer demands — and probably most important, the overall long range effect on the community.

But in Des Plaines, Arlington and Wheeling, the only area villages which now have multiple dwelling developments, they have been more haphazard and inadequately planned than otherwise. In Wheeling, the whims of the builders or land owners have been the main criteria.

One of the first factors a potential builder will take into account is a village's land area requirements per apartment unit or row house.

Arlington requires from 2,100 to 1,800 square feet per individual apartment or row house unit, and 3,000 square feet per individual unit of a two-family dwelling (duplex). There is no differential in land area provided between say a one-bedroom unit or a four-bedroom unit.

Wheeling formerly required a minimum land area of 1,650 square feet for any apartment, 3,000 per group or row house, and 3,200 per duplex unit. Six months ago it lowered these requirements to 1,200 square feet for a three-room multiple dwelling unit, 1,500 for four rooms, 1,700 for five rooms and 2,200 for six rooms.

THE VILLAGE was then deluged with proposals for multiple dwellings. Now Wheeling is preparing an ordinance increasing the land area requirements between 900 and 1,000 square feet across the board, and this is still considered somewhat too low by some officials.

Des Plaines has had a minimum land requirement of 2,800 square feet for all multiple dwelling units since June, 1960. It was a reactionary ordinance, but appears to have been put into effect too late.

The community already had had more than enough of the type and amount of multiple dwellings it had allowed. A similar situation is reported to be occurring in Skokie.

Land area requirements per multiple dwelling units in other villages are:

Glenbrook, a flat 2,400 sq. feet; Park Ridge, from 2,000 to 3,000 according to the number of bedrooms; Hoffman Estates, 2,500 per unit except for duplexes, which is 5,000 per unit; Palatine, 2,100 per one-bedroom apartment to 3,000 for four-bedrooms, requirements than Elk Grove has land area requirements for apartments).

Many other villages break down floor area requirements to specifically apply to bedrooms, living rooms, and dining and kitchen areas.

Current thinking on parking provisions apparently is that each apartment building should have at least 1½ parking spaces per unit, no matter how many rooms there are per unit.

However, in Arlington this could be as low as three-fourths of a space per unit, or three parking spaces for each four apartment units, according to its present ordinance.

A comparison of land area requirements for single family residences to those of multiple dwellings listed above is significant.

ARLINGTON has three single family zoning classifications, going from a minimum of 8,750 to a minimum of 15,000 square feet per lot; in Rolling Meadows it is 7,800 to 10,000; Des Plaines, 6,750 to 10,000; and in Glenbrook the lowest lot size is 9,350 square feet.

Hoffman Estates' minimums range from 10,000 to 20,000 square-foot lots for single family dwellings; Palatine, 9,000 to 20,000 with 5,000 square-foot lots allowed for single family residences in areas zoned for multiple family dwellings; and Elk Grove, 6,000 to 20,000, with most lots being 6,000.

Buffalo Grove, although its present average lot size for individual houses is 7,200 square feet, has provided for areas with 20,000 square-foot lots in its master development plan. Altogether, the village has six single family residential zoning classifications, ranging from minimum lot sizes of 6,600 square feet to 20,000 square feet.

Northbrook has seven single family zoning classifications, ranging from 7,500 to 50,000 square-foot lots. Any previously existing lots less than 7,500 square feet in area may be used only for single family dwellings and not multiple dwellings.

Also, Northbrook will not annex an area to its village with lot areas of less than 12,000 square feet.

Many villages require any and all annexations to come into the village under its highest zoning classification for its own hearing is then required to rezone property, the public therefore has a say in how it will be used.

ZONING ORDINANCES may permit "higher" zoning uses in "lower" zoning classification. But they do not necessarily, in that case, allow the regulations for the lower uses to be applied to the higher uses. (B8

ROLLING MEADOWS requires only a flat minimum of 2,000 square feet of land per apartment unit, but an apartment building can only be built on a 10,000 square-foot lot or larger, and not more than 40 per cent of the lot can be covered by the building. However, the building may be three stories or 40 feet in height, rather than the usual 2½ stories allowed in this area.

Also in Rolling Meadows, each row house must have a land area of 5,000 square feet, and each unit of a duplex must have 5,200. Needless to say, there has been no rush to build multiple dwellings there, especially since most surrounding villages have lower requirements.

Buffalo Grove does not have a land area requirement per apartment unit, but rather allows only 35 per cent of any apartment site to be covered by the building. It also sets a ratio of the floor area to the lot area, and requires an additional two-foot side yard setback for each foot of building height over 40 feet.

On the other hand, Buffalo Grove has more detailed requirements for row houses and duplexes than most villages, and includes them in two special zoning classifications.

Many villages only have one zoning classification for all multiple dwellings.

Land area requirements for each house of row type construction range from 4,000 to 1,800 square feet, depending on the number of bedrooms and its zoning classification. Duplex requirements are from 600 to 1,000 square feet higher.

Also, the number of units in each group of row houses may be a minimum of four to a maximum of 16, depending upon whether it is in the higher or lower of the two multiple dwelling zoning classifications.

BUFFALO GROVE'S zoning ordinance raises a question: If the number of bedrooms should be taken into consideration for row houses, why not apartments? Also, its comprehensive ordinance may have the effect of entangling the village government and providing more loopholes than it eliminates.

For instance, why isn't there a minimum lot size for apartment buildings, since most other villages have found it desirable to include some provision of this type?

Some such minimum lot size requirements are: Arlington, at least 6,000 square feet per apartment building; Hoffman Estates, 5,000; Northbrook, 7,500; and Rolling Meadows (as mentioned), 10,000.

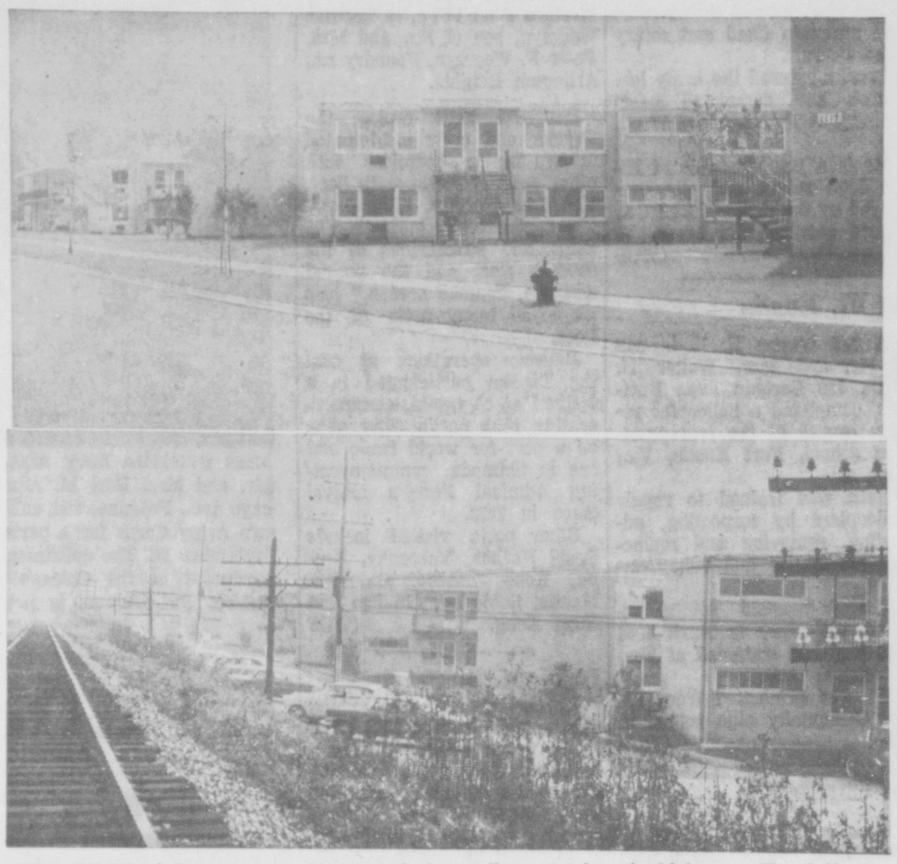
Also, the ordinance may allow only a certain percentage of the lot to be actually occupied by an apartment building, or set a maximum ratio of the total floor area of the building to the lot area, or both.

In Arlington, with its 6,000 square foot minimum lot size, an apartment building can cover only about one-half of the lot, whether it is one-story or three-story. This would tend to result in almost all three-story buildings, it seems.

Rolling Meadows also limits duplexes as apartment buildings in the amount of their site they may take up, that is, 40 per cent. A row house may not exceed 25 per cent of the area of the plot on which it is erected.

MINIMUM FLOOR areas per living unit are often set by villages. In Arlington there is a flat minimum of 600 square feet per individual multiple dwelling unit. Northbrook has a graduated scale of from 600 square feet of floor area for an efficiency apartment to 1,100 square feet for a three-bedroom unit, and units with more than three bedrooms must follow single family residential requirements.

Glenbrook evidently has a minimum of 1,100 square feet of floor area for any living unit. (Both Northbrook and Glenbrook have higher floor area



TWO VIEWS of the same apartment project in Arlington Heights. Multiple dwelling developments are often used to serve as a buffer or transitional usage between single family residential areas and commercial areas or railways and main highways. The Arlington village board this week named a sub-committee of its planning commission to evaluate the village's multiple dwelling policies. (B8

Unanimous

Board Votes For Federal

Without a single dissenting vote, the Arlington-Prospect high school board this week agreed to participate in the National Defense Education act program for the coming year.

Monday night's vote was limited to funds for science, mathematics and foreign language.

Previous votes of the high school board on use of NDEA funds have been sharply split, with recent votes drawing more approval.

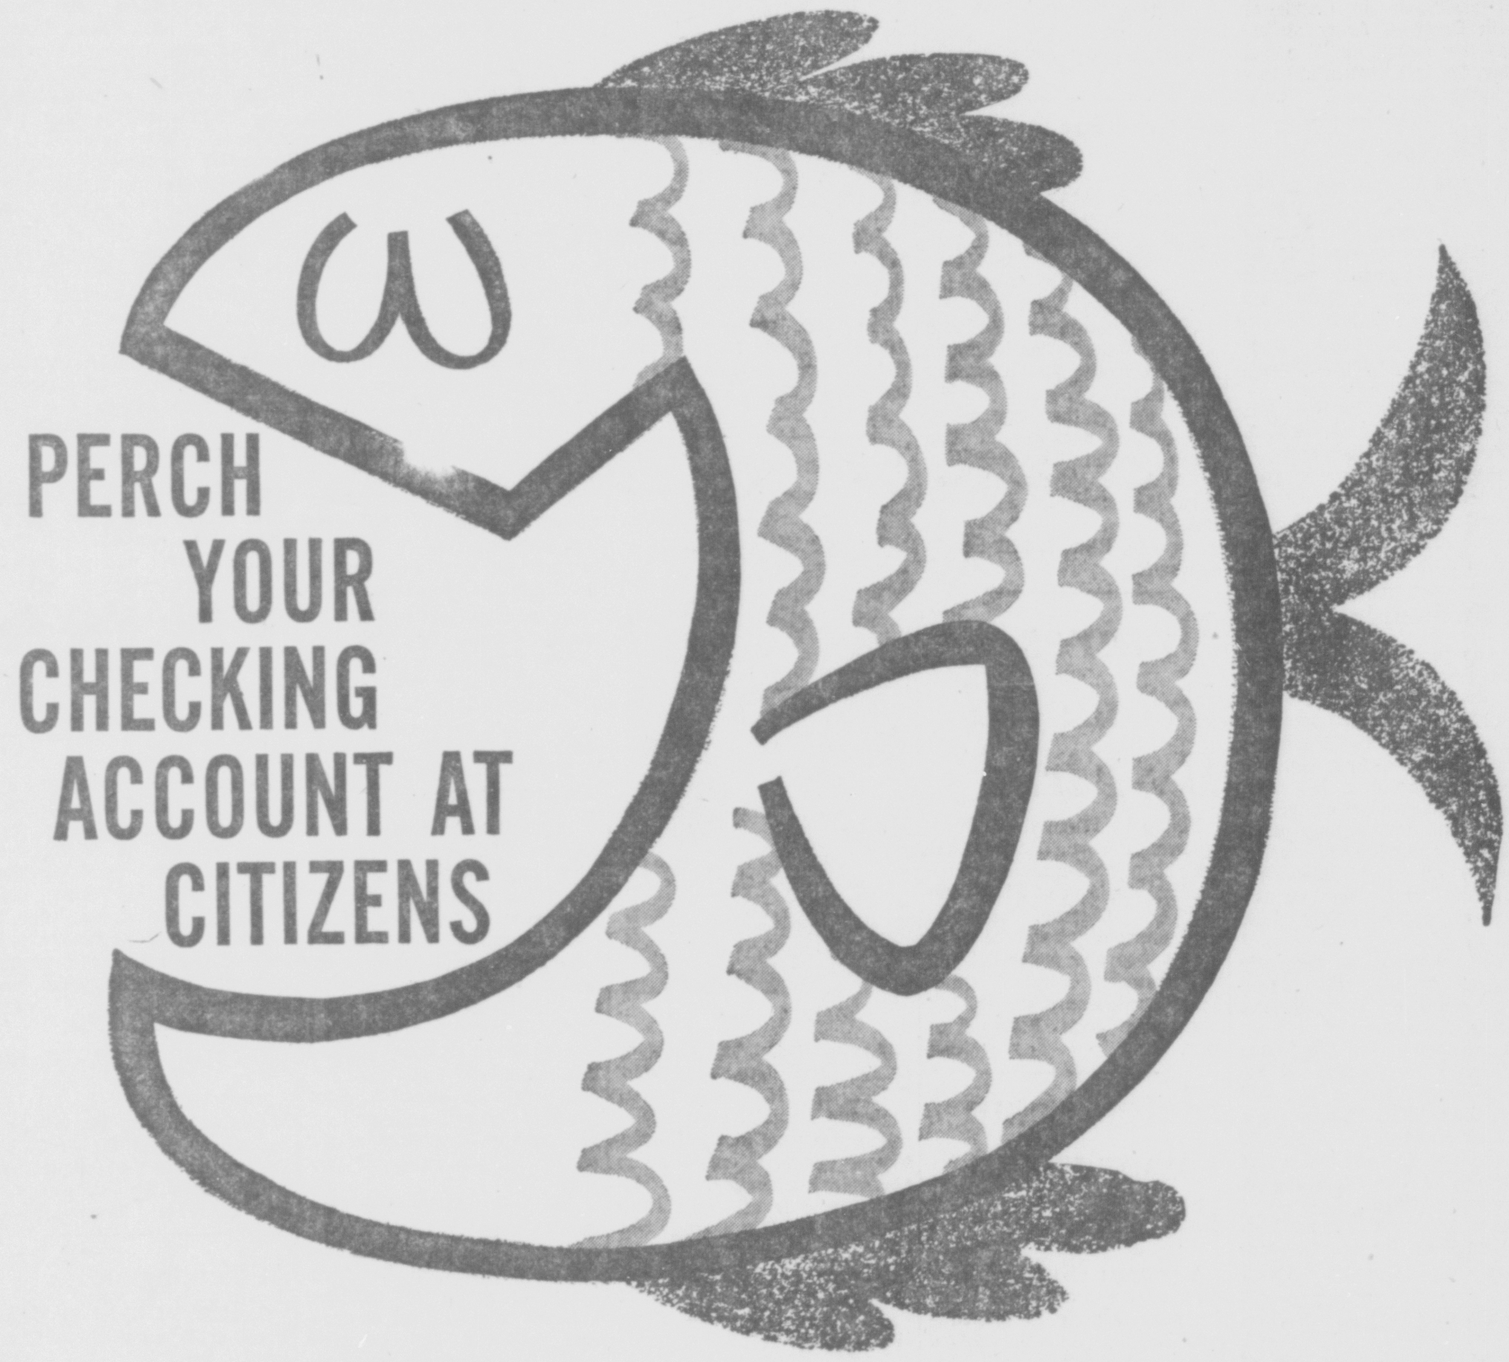
THE VOTE Monday authorized Arlington-Prospect district 214 participation in the UDEA program for the coming year without stipulating any actual projects for the use of such funds. Under new state regulations a "letter of intent" must be filed with the state office in Springfield if the district is to participate in the NDEA science, math and foreign language program during 1961-62 school year.

Under the NDEA program, each state is allocated federal funds for use in promoting educational programs listed in the defense act.

Superintendent Harold Slichenmyer noted that when the equipment budget for the year was prepared, board members were told the amounts needed from local ta xincome were sufficient provided NDEA funds could be used to supplement the budget. Slichenmyer pointed out last year the district spent about $38,000 for science equipment, with $15,000 of this amount coming from NDEA funds.

THE UNANIMOUS vote was taken in the absence of School Board President Daryl Oldaker and William Spomer. Oldaker has opposed NDEA participation by the district on several occasions in the past, although he voted favorably on the most recent NDEA question.

Spomer has been an outspoken opponent of any use of federal funds in the local school system and consistently has voted against district 214 NDEA participation. (ACM



Your checking account is one of your most personal possessions. It's like having a whole bank at your pen point. Because of its importance, you should consider carefully the type of checking system that best suits your individual or family needs. Then pick your bank with care.

We'd like to offer you these important considerations why you will prefer the banking facilities of Citizens.

A. Location. Right on the way to almost any place you may be heading for or returning from in the northwest area. Truly a cornerstone of convenience.

B. Size. Because so many people place their trust and confidence in the ability of our people to handle their money, our resources total over 50 million dollars, making us the largest bank in the Northwest suburban area. This means better services and more people available to serve you promptly, efficiently.

C. Facilities. You'll enjoy the modern, efficient services throughout Citizens' facilities. You'll be especially pleased with the drive-up or walk-up windows in our handy parking lot. Perhaps you'll even be surprised at our four "pop-up" teller cages raised to serve you as needed.

D. Treatment. It's the personal touch that means so much, and Citizens men and women really do make you feel at home. When we are serving you, you are the most important customer we have.

Slate Organ Program in Barrington

A program of unusual interest to all organ owners is slated for next Monday at the Keynote Studio in Barrington. Pamela Brederhorn of Elmhurst is the guest star and will be making her second appearance for the local Lowrey Organ club.

Last year she played the "Pop" half of a double concert sponsored by the Club at Roslyn School. She made quite a hit then and many who heard her have requested a return engagement.

MISS BREDERHORN is a well known teacher and entertainer in the Chicago area and was a pupil of Al Melgard, Stadium organist. Besides playing a program of popular favorites, she will show the audience step by step how to arrange and registrate the number "Together" to suit the various abilities of amateur musicians.

Members will be asked to vote on certain by-law revisions which were proposed at the last meeting by Mrs. Samuel La Bue of Long Grove, president. Membership cards will be issued to paid up members by Mrs. Kenneth Johanson of Forest Lake, secretary-treasurer.

It is not certain whether the meeting will be held at 102 W. Main or around the corner at 108 N. Hough, an additional store which Keynote Studio occupied Oct. 1.

Anyone desiring information on the club should call DU 1-3250. It is not necessary to own an organ in order to join nor is any member required to play. (BB

Kalamazoo College Begins Four-Quarter Program

Kalamazoo college, Kalamazoo, Mich. which restricts its enrollment to 750, is breaking the traditional pattern of education in the United States by launching a four-quarter program which will operate around the calendar, 12 months a year. This idea, although not a new one, has been attempted by a small liberal arts college. The Ford Foundation has contributed $100,000 to help Kalamazoo get its new program under way.

Most significant single feature of the Kalamazoo Plan for the 12-month college is the character of its curriculum. "Our campus 'doors' not only will be open the year-around, but we also plan to use the whole world as our campus," stated Dr. Weimer K. Hicks, president of the college. He pointed out that the academic enrichment under the new plan is greatly enhanced by the fact that all future graduates will be required to spend at least two quarters in off-campus programs.

One of these quarters will be spent overseas, Dr. Hicks explained. This foreign study will be provided at no extra cost to the student. It is financed by a $2 million private trust fund established in 1957 exclusively to aid Kalamazoo students in foreign study programs.

ANOTHER phase of the curriculum-enriching off-campus study program for students includes the chance for practical experience in fields which interest them. A pre-med major, for example, will have an opportunity to work with hospital staff members during his vocational quarter of study. Another undergraduate whose interest lies in the field of political science would be placed in some phase of national, state or local government in a part of the country of his choice if possible.

Also built into the new four-quarter plan is a two-track system in which one track represents an accelerated curriculum. One group of qualified students would attend consecutive quarters and complete their undergraduate work in three years instead of four. This is particularily advantageous for those who are pursuing advanced degrees. A second group would take the conventional number of quarters each year and graduate in the usual four.

QUARTERS under the new plan are 11 weeks long and generally follow the four seasons. Students will carry only three courses at a time, but they will attend classes five days each week. This varies from most college schedules in which the student usually carries four or five courses, but classes are held only three or four days each week, depending on the subject.

"In addition to the curriculum enrichment aspects, the economics of our year-around operation are very sound," Dr. Hicks stated. "School administrators who insist on operating multi-million dollar educational plants only nine months of the year are allowing tradition to cloud their sense of economic balance. All of us have an obligation to try every means to make more and better education available to more students. This is what we feel we are accomplishing by operating 12 months each year at Kalamazoo," he said.

Faculty members and students alike will take vacation quarters in staggered sequence around the calendar. (CC

'Not Sure' How New Courtyard to Look

The "football field size" courtyard of the new Forest View high school will be developed before the opening of the school next September, but at the present time the high school board is not sure just how it will look.

After more than two hours of discussion at a special meeting of the Arlington-Prospect school board September 26, members were no closer to agreement on what final plans should be than when the discussion opened.

Press of decision on the plan comes from architect Ted Samuelson because the courtyard will soon be enclosed on four sides, prohibiting the easy access of cement and dirt hauling equipment.

INDECISION OF the board on the estimated $25,000 courtyard expenditure comes because of the "unknown quantity" — just how much it will cost the board to provide sanitary and storm sewer drainage for the school.

To date all efforts by the board have been toward keeping within the Forest View building budget.

To facilitate final decision on the courtyard, the architect was authorized to seek bids on the court development with various alternates and unit costs itemized. General approval of the courtyard plan was given by the board members present.

Various new proposals on providing sanitary and storm sewers for the school were discussed by building committee members George Laubenheimer and Charles Fyfe.

Because of the absence of Board President Daryl Oldaker and member William Spomer and because the special meeting was limited to the courtyard discussion no decision on any of the sewer proposals was made in any way.

FORMAL discussion of the various sewer proposals was expected at the regular high school board meeting Monday, Oct. 2, at 7:30 p.m. in Arlington high school.

In conjunction with discussion of money to be spent on the courtyard, which may be used as outdoor classrooms during warm temperatures, School Business Manager John Schaaf revealed there is about $22,000 in extra funds available for Forest View construction due to interest accumulated on unspent bond money. Trees Get Attention

Village's 'Beauty' Concern of Trustees

The "continued beauty" of Arlington Heights was given prime attention Monday by village trustees.

A portion of the village board meeting was devoted to discussion and eventual acceptance of a revaluation of Village Manager L. A. Hanson's forestry report.

In addition to accepting Hanson's revised report, trustees commenced digestion of a two-page memorandum presented by Trustee Norval Stephens.

THE MEMO dealt with Stephens' "thoughts on the problem" of trees and Dutch elm disease.

According to Stephens, objectives of the village should be as follows:

—replacement of all trees taken down;

—planting of trees in parkways wherever they are lacking; and

—regular and continuous maintenance program.

Stephens urged the village's adoption of a "tree map."

"With a tree map, a planner can lay out the village uniformly, specifying what trees will go in on what streets as the diseased elms come down," Stephens said.

HE OBSERVED the hiring of a full-time forester is not feasible because his $7,500 "salary is only a start."

"Expenses, secretarial help, space, a car, pension — all these we are not committed to over the long term if we contract for the services of a part-time forester," Stephens pointed out.

Hanson's report recommended the following:

—hiring of a full-time forester;

—continuation of spraying trees on public lands;

—development of better control methods of trees on private properties;

—continuation of a program of sanitation;

—placement of more emphasis on reforestation, and

—placement of vacant lands owned by the village into planting of small trees for future transplanting.

HANSON SAID he felt a tree map was not needed, as those bidding to sell trees to the village will be required to produce maps indicating what kind of a tree will be planted where.

After the discussion died out, trustees voted 5-0 to refer the report back to Hanson who will devise a detailed plan for tree replanting. They also unanimously accepted Stephens' objectives.

Trustee Eugene Schlickman noted that, in his opinion, "early detection of Dutch elm disease and public education are what's needed most."

WHEN ASKED about current progress on removing diseased trees, Hanson said work is at a standstill because "the contractor is having union troubles."

He indicated there is now a need for 150 trees to be replaced on village property. This year's budget outlay of $1,500 is good for about 100 tree replacements. (A

Forest View News

Saturday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Don Larson, Algonquin rd., attended a cocktail party at the Pick Georgian hotel in Evanston, to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the Northwestern Heating company. Later they had dinner with friends at the Des Plaines Elks club.

After taking a trip around Lake Michigan, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Markwell of Cedar Rapids visited their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Beryl Markwell, 1713 Kim ave. Mr. and Mrs. James Herdliska of Williamsburg accompanied them, it was their first visit to see their grand nephew, Mark Steven.

Mark Steven, one year old September 22, had two friends, Chris Andronaco, 400 Lincoln, and Robert Mayer, 1708 Estates, help him blow out his candles.

Mrs. E. H. Ladwig of Waukesha, Wis., recently spent a week in the Markwell home. Mrs. Ladwig is also Mark's grandmother.

A VERY BUSY week was enjoyed by the Otto Gorgius family of S. Busse rd. Monday, dinner guests were Mrs. Percy Granger, Loraine's mother, Mrs. Mathilda Lindquist, Mrs. Katherine Guth, Mrs. Elise Himmelberg and Mrs. Agnes Miller, all of Chicago. Mrs. Lindquist and Mrs. Guth were school friends of Mrs. Granger.

Wednesday morning Mrs. Gorgius, Lynne and Laurie and Mrs. Granger attended mass at Prince of Peace church, Lake Villa, together with members of the family and friends of Mr. and Mrs. D. Wilhelm who were re-married on their 50th anniversary.

Luncheon was served in their home later. Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Norris Purdon of Westchester, Cal. and Mrs. Adam Bittner and Mrs. Granger of Pasadena, Cal. Mrs. Purdon was flower girl and Mrs. Bittner was a bridesmaid at the first ceremony.

Thursday, another bridesmaid, Mrs. Fred Summers, and Mrs. Stewart Avildsen of Chicago gave a luncheon for Mrs. Bittner and Mrs. Granger at Tally Ho in Park Ridge. Guests were Mrs. Katherine Urwanger, Mrs. Fred Summers Jr., Mrs. Gorgius and Mrs. D. Wilhelm.

Saturday evening the Gorgiuses attended the reception at the community hall in Venetian Village for 150 friends and relatives of the Wilhelms.

THOMAS COUSINS, Golf rd., son of Mrs. Harry Cousins and nephew of Mrs. Edna Berg, entered Northwestern university to start his junior year majoring in electrical engineering. Last year he made the honor roll.

Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hanke, S. Douglas, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Von Helm at the christening of their infant son, Roy, in Bensenville.

The Elmer Dreilings, Council trail, attended the 15th anniversary dinner for Elmer's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Len Weidner. Other guests were the families of Chuck Dreiling, Len Dreiling, Stan Nordstrom, Marvin Horcher and George Raupp.

June Turner, Council trail, is recuperating at home from minor surgery performed last week at Northwest Community hospital.

Mrs. Lorett Angel of Evansville, Ind. flew in Friday evening and spent the weekend with her sister and family, the junior William Grismers. Saturday the Grismers gave a birthday dinner for her. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. William Grismer Sr. of El Cajon, Cal., former residents of this area, who are staying at the home of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Swearingens of Patton ave.

SATURDAY the Henry Rossbergs of Golf rd., attended a wedding in Blue Island and the reception which followed.

Saturday evening the Rossbergs attended the birthday party of their godchild and nephew, Ernest Dome, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Dome of Chicago.

Overnight guest last Friday of Janet Olson, Elk Grove rd., was Janice Schaaf of Cicero. Saturday the girls enjoyed a day of pony riding.

SUNDAY JEFFERY Jon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morton Sweet, Patton ave., was christened in St. Colette Catholic church in Rolling Meadows. Godparents were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Heiss of Des Plaines. Twenty-five relatives and friends gathered at the Sweet home for dinner following the service.

Andre DePriest, 1711 Estates, and his brother-in-law Charles McVee of Chicago, returned Sunday from a fishing trip to Ontario, Canada. They reported a successful week catching wall-eyed pike and lake trout.

A surprise birthday party was given by Joe Carcerano, 1712 Kim ave., for his wife Connie. Those who attended were the Louis DeMaiolos, senior J. Carceranos, Bruno Fansonos, Sol Carceranos, Joe Faillas, Vincent Marinellis, Roger Di Dominecos, Ed Wuchterls, Roy Wortses and Bob Howertons. (AME

Italian Opens a Tailor Shop Here

You'll find no assembly lines in the shop of Frank Sorrentino. This 24-year-old native Italian, one of a diminishing race of hand craftsmen, recently opened a tailor shop at 38 S. Evergreen in Arlington Heights.

Sorrentino, who learned his craft in the old country, is one of the few tailors in the northwest suburbs who does more than alterations. From the raw cloth, Sorrentino's nimble fingers fashion fine suits at about the same price as the more expensive ready-to-wear suits.

THE YOUTHFUL but veteran tailor came to this country seven years ago and has worked for the last four years for a Chicago tailor. When he began looking around for a shop of his own his brother, a barber in a shop in Dunton Court, suggested Arlington Heights.

So Sorrentino located here and is becoming increasingly pleased with his choice.

Aiding him is his recent bride, Josephine, who is no stranger to the tailoring business. Her parents have a tailor shop in Italy.

THE COUPLE plans to move to Arlington Heights in the future, after the business is established. (A

Eli Skinner Chapter Will Hear Mrs. Mills

Eli Skinner chapter DAR meets today, Oct. 5, at 1 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Frederick Pfeffer, 403 MacArthur, Mt. Prospect.

Mrs. Charles H. Mills, a member of Eli Skinner, will address the group on "Hoosier Roots Grow Deep." Mrs. Mills is well known for her collection of dolls representing historical figures and has contributed the use of her dolls for a display in Hagenbrings' store window during Arlington Heights' 125th anniversary.

Assisting Mrs. Pfeffer as cohostesses are Mrs. E. H. Jansser, Mrs. C. D. Eskridge and Mrs. Michel Trienen.

MRS. JOHN Gustitus, regent of the chapter, announced that the history awards competition for 1962 is open in sixth through eighth grades among area grade schools. The chapter makes these awards annually to students achieving the highest grades in history in their school. The competition closes and awards are made in June at the end of the school year.

Winners of the history awards in 1961 are:

Our Lady of Wayside, Arlington Heights, John Masure and Michelle Lynn; St. James, Arlington Heights, Andrew Dale, Susan Radcliff; St. Peter Lutheran, Arlington Heights, Jane Shea, Terry Tatar; St. Raymond, Mt. Prospect, Glenn Mitchell, Paul Larson; and St. Paul Lutheran, Mt. Prospect, Gary York, Arlene Fritz.

STUDENTS, interested in competing for DAR history awards may contact Mrs. Gustitus, 400 S. Dryden, Arlington Heights, or their own school principal.

Eli Skinner members are proud of their display of flags which have flown over the United States since the landing of Columbus to the flag flown in colonial days. The display may be seen in the window of Walgreens' drug store in Westgate. The flags are displayed as a part of the Arlington Heights 125th anniversary celebration. (A

700 Teachers to Meet Oct. 12, 13

Seven - hundred Lutheran teachers of the Northern Illinois district of the Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod, will meet in a two-day conference at the new St. Peter Lutheran church and school in Arlington Heights on October 12 and 13 under the chairmanship of Robert Greising, principal of St. Andrew Lutheran school, Park Ridge.

The host faculty, under the direction of Principal Edgar R. Spletzer of St. Peter Lutheran school, has been organized into special committees to provide the services needed for the gathering.

LUTHERAN schools in the Northern Illinois district total 118 with an enrollment of 18,500 pupils. St. Peter Luther an school is the largest school with an enrollment of 523 pupils and a staff of 16 faculty members.

In the two-day meeting, the educators will discuss and study problems currently facing the educational scene. Dr. Florence Kelly, director of the division of primary curriculum and instruction of the Milwaukee public school system, will lead the group in the area of the ungraded primary school. Dr. Kelly has pioneered this development in the Milwaukee area.

Other outstanding leaders in education included on the program are Dr. Alfred Schmieding, Prof. Em. of Concordia Teachers college, River Forest, and Dr. Victor Krause, chairman of the division of education and psychology at Concordia.

DR. ARTHUR Oestreich of Indiana university and the Rev. Dr. Adalbert R. Kretzmann, pastor of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of St. Luke, Chicago, will also appear before the group.

Mrs. Lois Lohman, experienced kindergarten teacher, will lead the kindergarten teachers of the system in a discussion on "Creativity."

In addition to these leaders, A. H. Kramer, superintendent of the Northern Illinois district, will speak on "The Lutheran Elementary School in the Context of American Education."

The report of the Office of Christian Education will be presented by E. K. Eckert, assistant superintendent. (A

Shift Bid Openings

Trustees Act To Curb Clock

Village board meetings in Arlington Heights will be carried out with greater dispatch as a result of trustees' approval Monday of a resolution calling for the opening of bids during the day.

Trustee Eugene Schlickman, eying the clock, broached the subject by pointing out bid openings had just consumed 25 minutes of the board's valuable meeting time.

HE SUGGESTED bids be opened during the day so "precious time won't be wasted." Openings could be held at daytime public meetings attended by Village Manager L. A. Hanson, Schlickman noted.

Village Attorney Jack M. Siegel and Manager Hanson said they could see nothing wrong with the idea. Hanson observed three witnesses would be needed at the openings.

TRUSTEES VOTED 4-0 to have future bid advertisements stipulate bids will be opened during the day.

Hanson will advise the board of bid solicitations and provide each trustee with bid requirements and specifications. (A

Village to Share In Cost of Lights

Upon the motion of Trustee Samuel Wit, Arlington Heights trustees Monday voted to pay one-half of the cost of operating traffic lights at Campbell st. and Wilke rd.

Arlington Heights will pay for operating the lights on the northeast and southeast corners of the intersection and Rolling Meadows will pay for those on the northwest and southwest corners.

Village Manager L. A. Hanson pointed out the village paid $33,000 for installation of lights at Euclid and Northwest hwy., but that the State of Illinois paid the entire cost of lights at Wilke and Northwest hwy.

A TRUSTEE asked for an explanation of the variation in financing the light installation. He was reminded of the old adage, "He who greases the squeaking wheel gets better performance."

The Wilke-Campbell intersection is a special traffic problem during the summer season at Arlington Park race track, trustees observed. This possibly explains why the state is paying for the light installations, they said. (A

Owner Asks: Has Anyone Seen Chico?

A reward for information leading to the return of an 8-year old chihuahua dog was offered this week by an Arlington Heights housewife.

According to Mrs. Roger Hertel, 928 S. Dunton, her dog, "Chico," scooted out of the garage on September 6 and was last seen heading north on Dunton.

"I thought he'd come back," Mrs. Hertel explained. "But when he hadn't returned in the morning, I notified the police."

THE TERRIER - size, male dog is tan and white and was not wearing a collar, Mrs. Hertel said.

"A dog just can't vanish," she observed. "He must be somewhere. I'd like to have him back, dead or alive."

Mrs. Hertel may be contacted at her home, CL 3-9301.

St. James Guild Plans Busy Month

October is an active month for St. James Catholic Women's guild.

A float commemorating the establishment of the parish in 1902 is entered in the Arlington Heights 125th birthday celebration parade. Several members plan to attend the luncheon for Albert Cardinal Meyer Saturday at the Conrad Hilton hotel and representatives to the archdiocesan council of Catholic Women will attend a conference October 19 and 20 at McCormick Place.

A number of women parishioners will attend the retreat at the Holy Spirit convent in Techny from October 20 through October 22.

Mrs. Robert O'Brien, who is in charge of editing the guild's yearbook, announces that all members paid as of October 20, will be included in the book. (A

Parent-Teacher Council to Meet

Just what, how and who "Johnny" or "Jane" face each day in following their high school studies will be demonstrated to parents of Prospect high school students Tuesday, Oct. 24.

Sponsored by the Parent-Teacher council, parents will participate in a "Back to School" program that night. Each parent will follow the program of their son or daughter in a series of shortened class period, passing from room to room and meeting each class instructor.

THE PROGRAM will begin at 7:15 p.m. in the school field house. Actual class period will begin at 7:35 p.m.

At the close of regular "seventh period" classes, parents will meet in the cafeteria for a coffee hour. Teachers and counselors will be present to answer questions and counsel parents on their child's class progress. (ACM

Prospect Teacher To Serve on Panel

The assistant principal of Prospect high school will be a featured participant in the programs set for the fall conference of teachers of English at University of Illinois, Urbana, in October.

Donald Thomas will serve as a panelist during a special session on "Reading" October 27.

The fall conference for teachers of English is conducted by the University of Illinois Division of University Extension, College of Engineering and department of English with the Illinois Association of Teachers of English. Attending will be school administrators and English teachers at the elementary, junior high, senior high and college levels. (ACM

Trustees Refer Pump House Bids

Five bids for construction of a pump house and installation of pumps on the new well site at State rd. and Magnolia st. were referred to Village Manager L. A. Hanson for analysis Monday.

In referring the bids to Hanson, Arlington Heights trustees asked that he make a recommendation for awarding the contract at the October 16 village board meeting.

COMPANIES submitting bids are as follows:

Keno Construction Co., Highland Park, $84,745; W. T. Mahoney and Sons, Chicago, $86,000; John Erskine Co., Skokie, $86,630; George D. Hardin Co., Chicago, $88,848; Wigert Construction Co., Franklin Park, $89,268.

The State-Magnolia well is the village's sixth. (A

Cards Host Lions in Homecoming Test

KICKIN' IT AROUND

by BOB FRISK

FRANK MARIANI IS A likeable man who doesn't attempt to conceal his enthusiasm over the future of athletics at the new St. Viator high school in Arlington Heights.

The athletic director at St. Viator by way of St. Rita and Notre Dame high schools bases his optimism on the caliber of boys he's currently working with on the frosh-soph football team. "If this freshman class is any indication, the future certainly looks promising," Mariani commented after some concentrated practice sessions with the young gridiron candidates. "They're hard workers and are very enthusiastic."

FRANK MARIANI

It's still too early to tell but there's no reason to doubt that the newest addition to Paddock Publications' growing sports family will be a big success in high school athletics.

Approximately 400 students now are in attendance at St. Viator on Oakton st. in Arlington Heights. Seven-eighths of those youngsters are freshmen. Next year, Mariani indicated, they expect 800 students.

The Lions are playing strictly a frosh-soph schedule in football this fall and will follow a similar setup in basketball, playing Saturday morning and Monday afternoon contests. Frank hopes for about 18-20 basketball games for the team coached by former DePaul great Ron Feiereisel.

In addition to basketball, St. Viator also will be represented by a swimming team this winter with a ten-meet, frosh-soph schedule. Mariani will coach that squad.

Both the gymnasium and pool are near completion with the winter squads expected to be able to use those facilities by at least Dec. 1. The gym will seat 2800 spectators.

In the spring the Lions will field units in baseball, golf, and tennis with the baseball team, headed again by Mariani, playing a varsity schedule. Father Durkin will coach the golfers and Brother LaMarre will guide the tennis team in frosh-soph competition.

Next year St. Viator will compete on a varsity level in all sports with the possible addition of track and wrestling. It's still questionable about any conference affiliation but Mariani has some definite ideas on that subject and will make the announcement when St. Viator hooks up in a league.

Why will the Lions be playing a varsity baseball schedule during the current school year while all other squads follow strictly a frosh-soph slate? Frank doesn't make any reservations in admitting that "baseball is his sport" so to se[illegible] And he has the record to back him up.

Mariani has guided varsity baseball teams to 84 victories in 98 outings since he started coaching in the high school ranks. His Notre Dame teams won three conference championships. He has coached six boys who will be playing minor league baseball next spring. In the summer he coaches the Sellergrens Sports team in the Greater Midwest league. His Notre Dame Dons of 1961 hit over .400 as a team.

The St. Viator athletic director is a product of Crane Tech high school in Chicago where he cap[illegible]d the baseball, football, and track teams. Following a service stint, he attended Lewis College in Lockport, Ill. and played four years of baseball and football.

He played one year of minor league baseball in the Nebraska State league before entering the coaching ranks in 1956 at St. Rita high school in Chicago. Following one year at St. Rita, he moved on to Notre Dame and that's where he stayed until taking over his new assignment at St. Viator.

We welcome St. Viator to a sports family that also includes Arlington, Prospect, Palatine, Lake Park, Fenton, Willowbrook, and Notre Dame high school. Next fall we'll add still another when Forest View initiates play in the Interim League.

DOWNERS GROVE'S DOUG ELLIOTT (42) returned the opening kickoff 51 yards last Friday evening to the Arlington 37 yard line and set up the Trojans' first touchdown. The visitors had little trouble posting a 32-0 victory over the Cardinals. Arlington players in the pic. are Roy Woodruff (33), Vince Furlong (55), Joe Wertheimer (22) and Hal Selleck (63).

Conference Battle Friday

by BOB FRISK

This one is for the grads.

Arlington and LaGrange will square off Friday evening amid a Homecoming atmosphere as the Cardinals attempt to treat their alums to some football fireworks and that first West Suburban conference victory since 1959.

Victories over LaGrange have been scarce since Arlington entered the WSC in 1951 with only the '59 powerhouse able to turn the trick. Last fall the Lions buried the Cardinals, 37-6.

GAME TIME will be 8 p.m. with a frosh-soph preliminary at 6 o'clock. The Homecoming Queen and her court and the prize-winning floats will be presented between games.

Both LaGrange and Arlington will carry 1-2 season records into the fray although Coach Tony Juska's Lions own that one decision in league warfare, routing Glenbard West last Saturday.

"Bus" Ormsbee's Arlington aggregation, routed last week by Downers Grove, is looking for that first West Suburban decision since a 20-12 pasting of Downers back in November of 1959.

ARLINGTON couldn't get rolling against the Trojans last Friday in the home opener. When it did get any semblance of a sustained drive working, a fumble or key penalty would step in and check the proceedings.

Ormsbee was high on the play of both Rog Lindstrom and Bob Laughlin in the defeat. Rog carried eight times for 38 yards, the best mark in a limited ground attack. Laughlin picked off two passes, intercepted one Downers Grove aerial, and played a terrific defensive game.

The Trojans checked both the ground and aerial attacks of the locals although quarterback Ross Retterer did manage to get off four completions for 35 yards. Meanwhile, Downers rolled up 277 yards on the ground and 67 through the air.

ORMSBEE WILL go with practically the same alignment against LaGrange that opened last Friday with only the left guard slot questionable at the outset of the week. Either junior Bill Hoban or senior Dale Coventry will get the call there.

Although LaGrange hasn't been enjoying exceptional success in varsity ranks this fall, Juska has a creditable and dangerous club. In junior Fred Barofsky, a 190-pounder, the Lions boast one of the top all-around field generals in the league.

Teamed with Barofsky in a talented backfield are halfbacks Bob Sullivan and Billy Moore and fullback and co-captain Jon Brown.

SULLIVAN SCORED three touchdowns in the 25-0 win over Glenbard West on runs of two, 29, and 34 yards. He also had a 45-yard scamper. Halfback Tom Tourek, who should see extensive action Friday, scored the other LaGrange touchdown on a five-yarder.

In addition to a capable backfield, LaGrange also possesses an effective passing attack with Barofsky doing the pitching to such talented ends as Mike Van Skike and Grant Johnstone, both track stars in the spring.

Van Skike was the conference 440-yard dash champion as a junior and will be a boy to watch Friday.

Biggest man in the Lions' forward wall is 220-pound Frank Sibr, the left tackle and one of 12 returning lettermen at LaGrange this fall.

Juska is in his second year with the Lions. He came to LaGrange from Peoria Richwoods and in his first year at the helm guided the varsity to a 4-3 West Suburban record and third place finish.

Interim League Battle

East Leyden's Eagles Host Prospect on Friday Evening

Prospect has learned never to underestimate an East Leyden football team.

If any team has had much success with the Foundry rd. Knights in the past two years, its been the Eagles of Franklin Park.

East Leyden has never beaten Prospect but its given the Knights some first-class scares. Both contests in the brief rivalry have been decided by seven points. Last fall Prospect had to rally from a 13-point deficit to trim the Eagles, 20-13.

BRUCE ANDRISE

WITH THIS in mind Coach Bill Beckman's Prospect aggregation, carrying a 15-game winning streak, is preparing for an important Interim league clash Friday evening on the East Leyden field.

The host Eagles, boasting just one win in three outings this fall, will have the added incentive of a big Homecoming celebration when they tackle the visitors from Mt. Prospect. Game time is 8 p.m. with a junior-varsity preliminary at 6 o'clock.

Prospect had to battle the elements for the second straight week last Saturday but came out on the long end of a 20-0 count against Willowbrook. Playing for the most part in a heavy rain, the Knights still managed to pick up 247 yards on the ground and 41 through the air lanes.

HEADING THE attack, as expected, was All-State candidate Bruce Andrise. The 185-pound fullback ripped through the Brooks' defenses for 131 yards in only 13 carries and a pair of touchdowns. He only carried three times in the second half but still racked up 63 yards.

Prospect also got some offensive assistance from another fullback, 165-pound John Davis. Davis came on to spell Andrise for a majority of the second half and collected 39 yards in just four cracks for a 9.8 per carry average.

A wave of minor injuries has been plaguing the Knights but a mishap that could prove extremely serious shelved fleet halfback Dan Johnson at practice Monday. Johnson was put out of action with a back injury and it's questionable when he'll be ready to go again. Dan has been giving Beckman some steady work at halfback and he has tallied two touchdowns in Interim league play.

DAN PREKEL, a 5-4, 155-pounder, will spell Johnson at right half with the senior carrying 11 times for 50 yards this season.

Lineman Jim Peters and Bill Wright, who have been on the sidelines for the past two weeks, worked out Monday for the first time but may not be ready for extensive duty against the Eagles. Both had suffered torn ligaments.

In two possible lineup changes Frank Prekel and Dennis Mitchell may find themselves in the opening alignment Friday at left guard and right end respectively.

BECKMAN WAS naturally pleased with the weather-hampered win against a creditable Willowbrook team but still felt the Knights played better football in the 20-6 triumph over Glenbrook.

In East Leyden, Prospect will be meeting a club that dropped its opener to Arlington, edged Deerfield, then fell to Niles West last Saturday.

Coach Ron Roberts doesn't have any lettermen back this fall and has been using several underclassmen in his alignments. Overall, seven sophomores are up with the varsity.

The Eagles' leading scorer is 135-pound halfback Jim Asta, a junior. Backing Asta in scoring is a 170-pound sophomore, Dennis McNamara.

Prospect owns 13-6 and 20-13 victories over East Leyden with that former triumph achieved in the mud on a 1959 visit to Franklin Park.

Attention All Midget Footballers

Attention midget footballers and coaches in Arlington Heights.

All midget football players must be accompanied by an adult in order to use their complimentary pass at Friday's Homecoming game at the high school.

We have had this practice for several years. We want you to be our guests Friday but do not want you running around unchaperoned at the games.

Wally Grace
Athletic Director
Arlington High School

Arlington Frosh Handle Downers

Arlington captured a big one Monday afternoon.

Coach Julius Fliehler's frosh "A" football Cardinals edged a highly-regarded Downers Grove eleven 7-0 for their second victory in three outings this fall.

John Edie set up the only score with a nifty 37-yard scamper around right end and he then tallied on a 14-yard burst through left guard. Mike Frase ran for the extra point.

JERRY FINK played standout defensive ball for the young Cardinals, intercepting a Downers pass and returning 40 yards to check one threat.

Bill Wright and Dale Chapman turned in effective performances both on offense and defense for Fliehler's aggregation and Gerald Culbertson was credited with calling a good game. Edie, Frase, and Charley Hood all ran hard on offense.

Arlington's frosh "A" Cards will travel to LaGrange next Monday afternoon, Oct. 9, for a contest with the Lions at 4 o'clock.

Jim Hendricks Sparks Cards To Third Win

Senior Jim Hendricks paved the way once again and Arlington high school's varsity cross country team rolled to its third straight dual meet triumph, second in West Suburban action, last Friday afternoon at Pioneer Park.

With Hendricks setting a course record at 10:53 the Cardinals of Russ Attis toppled the visiting Downers Grove Trojans 23-37.

Downers gained some revenge on a frosh-soph level, bumping Frank Bohac's Cards 19-37 and handing them their first loss of the season.

HENDRICKS CLAIMED individual honors on a varsity level for the third straight meet and the other Arlington athletes who figured in the scoring included Gary Brodnan with a fourth, Ralph Law with a fifth, Robin Auld with a sixth, and Dan Bedford with a seventh.

Rog Fredrickson, a senior who lettered with the harriers as a sophomore, rejoined the squad last week after a year's layoff and gained an eighth place finish against Downers. When he rounds into shape, Fredrickson could be a big help to the varsity unit.

Also finishing in the top ten for Arlington was John Smith with a tenth.

GARY FOUTY paced Bohac's frosh-sophs with a fourth. Also scoring for Arlington were Greg Buczynski with a fifth, George Sladek with an eighth, Ray Schmeiser with a ninth, and Dale LeFevre with an eleventh.

Arlington's varsity and frosh-soph cross country teams, slated to meet Palatine on Tuesday of this week, will get back into WSC action this Friday afternoon when they host LaGrange at Pioneer Park.

LaGrange finished second in varsity competition last fall and won the frosh-soph championship.

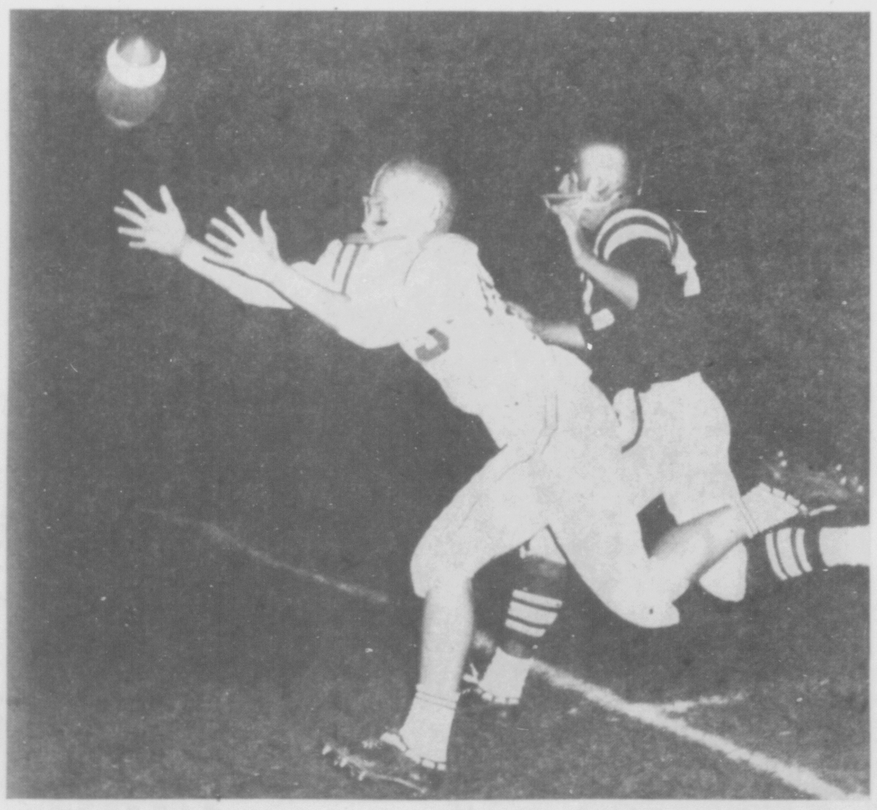
Downers JVs Edge Arlington

A run of 70 yards with an intercepted pass gave Downers Grove its only touchdown Monday afternoon in a 6-0 junior-varsity football victory over Arlington.

The Trojans counted in the first quarter and held on for the decision.

Coach Dick Ohl's Cardinals, suffering their third straight defeat, threatened to score three times but had fumbles check each threat.

Arlington's JVs will host LaGrange next Monday, Oct. 9, at 4 p.m.



ARLINGTON'S DON Kolstad reaches out for a Ross Retterer pass but couldn't pull in the aerial in first half action of the Cardinals' home opener last Friday evening. On defense for Downers Grove is Doug Elliott. Downers routed Arlington 32-0.

Lutherans Schedule Tournament

The 34th Annual Lutheran Bowling Tournament will be held in Arlington Heights, beginning early in February. Approximately 4,000 bowlers will compete at the Beverly Lanes Alleys every Saturday and Sunday for the duration of the tournament. More than 10,000 visitors are expected to accompany the teams.

The events is sponsored by the St. Peter Lutheran Laymens League of Arlington Heights. Ralph Sass and Ray Sanders are in charge.

Prospect High Harriers Top Proviso West

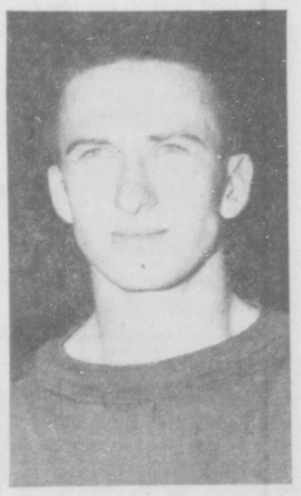
Proviso West has its Barney Peterson but the talented runner wasn't enough last Saturday in cross country competition with Prospect high's Knights.

Peterson, state half-mile champion in track and the Interim league titlist in cross country last fall, walked off with individual honors but Prospect took the important team event, 22-39.

In addition, the Knights' frosh-sophs also whipped the Panthers 23-32 and this marked the first time the perennially powerful Proviso West squads had dropped both meets on the same day.

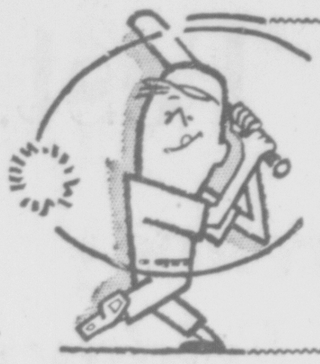
Rog Luedke was the top man for Ken Arneson's Prospect varsity, finishing six seconds behind Peterson. Cliff Stock ran third for the Knights with Don Coey fourth, Gary Beck sixth, and Dan Murray seventh. Jim Forbes was eighth.

Dave Thomas once again paced the local frosh-sophs in their victory with a first. Backing Thomas were Bob Gewecke with a fourth, Jim Froemling with a fifth, Carlson with a sixth, and Tom McClellan with a seventh.



BARNEY PETERSON

Prospect high's varsity and frosh-soph cross country teams will host Niles West this Saturday morning, Oct. 7, at 9:30.



Mac Says

by
G. A. McELROY

ANOTHER WET, MUDDY weekend made it rough for the fans and may not have given a true indication of the strength of the teams. In the North Suburban McHenry and Zion moved up in stature on the grid scene as the latter mowed down Crystal Lake's favored Tigers 33-7. McHenry had beaten Zion the previous week 6-0 and though tied by Libertyville looks like a contender all the way. Barrington got its second victory with a 7-6 win over Palatine and was fortunate that one Pirate touchdown on a 25 yard sprint by Merutka was called back by a penalty. Dundee was impressive in a 28-0 victory over Woodstock. Every North Suburban team except Woodstock is still in the running. Barrington won't go through unbeaten and the league race is still a tossup and will be for several weeks as eliminations continue.

This week Friday night Palatine and Dundee with .500 marks clash at Palatine and we favor the Pirates by a narrow margin. This should be a real tough ball game as both schools have fine teams this year. Barrington and McHenry should stage the game of the week but Libertyville and Crystal Lake should put on another which is a toss up. We will pick Barrington and Libertyville to win these two. Zion should find Woodstock a real breather.

AROUND THE SUBURBS another week has already given indications of narrowing the field. Evanston crushed a strong Morton team 26-7 and Proviso East routed East Niles 43-7 to prove their rating as Suburban League standouts. Highland Park has two wins but does not measure up to the caliber of the other two. Joliet beat Thornton 14-12 for their second South Suburban win and third in a row. It looks like Niles West may be Prospect's top Interim Association opposition as they recorded their third in a row with a 27-7 victory over East Leyden. Prospect made it 15 in a row Saturday beating Willowbrook 20-0. In the Southwest Suburban Rich is the standout as they whipped defending champ, Sandburg, 12-0, Lake Forest, Grant, and Round Lake are unbeaten in the Northwest and have been impressive in the order named. It looks like Lake Forest to repeat. Hinsdale, rated second in the state, whipped York 20-0 to clear a major hurdle in their quest of the second title in a row. It is 15 years since York last defeated Hinsdale in football. Sycamore and Naperville have been impressive in two straight in the Little Seven. In an even Big Eight race Freeport, LaSalle-Peru, and Elgin have looked the best to date. The Tri-County is not yet under way but North Chicago is favored on the basis of a strong preseason showing. They beat Marmion this past week. Barrington is the only team with a perfect record after but two weeks of North Suburban play.

THE PRESIDENT HAS signed the television bill which permits professional football, baseball, football, and hockey leagues to pool their television rights in a single contract. A clause in the law forbids telecasting of pro football on Friday nights or Saturdays within a 75 mile radius of a college game.

Longest high school touchdown of the season was last week when Al Smith of Jacksonville intercepted a pass in his own end zone and ran 103 yards to score as his team beat River Gardens, Missouri 20-7. . . . Pat Rooney who used to coach fine teams at Grayslake took over as head coach of Niles East this year. The former Niles East coach was shifted to Niles West and some of the best players were also shifted when the boundaries between the schools were set. Result: Rooney is having a very rough time with limited material this year coaching in the big Suburban League. . . . Hunter Hicks of Inverness Countryside near Palatine was one of a two man golf team representing Dartmouth alumni which took second last week in the Ivy League Alumni golf tournament. . . . This writer had the honor last Friday of presenting to Andy Merutka of Palatine High the certificate sent from the state high school association as evidence of his breaking the state shot put record last spring. We feel certain that Andy will break his own record next spring but right now he is concentrating on being the best fullback in the suburban area. . . . Palatine's soph football team is undefeated and one of the reasons is the transfer of two fine players from Texas this year. They are Duane Brooks, a 154 pound halfback, and Mike Lang a 210 pound tackle. . . . Palatine coaches were down hearted at losing by one point at Barrington in a driving rain but there was more to spoil the day. Head Coach Charley Feutz found that his daughter had a bicycle accident which required 3 stitches and assistant John Ellis had an auto collision as he drove out of the parking lot.

Palatine's hopes for a trip to the state cross country meet were given a temporary jolt when New Trier beat them last week and they barely nosed out Highland Park in a triangular run. The bad part is that Highland Park's best boy, Jim Weinert, who won the state mile run in record time last spring, was held out of the meet due to an injury. All three of these teams compete in the same district and only two teams can go to the state. The Pirates have their work cut out for them and it was fortunate that these two teams were on the schedule to give the Pirates a real incentive. We think they have what it takes to go to the staate meet.

20 YEARS AGO

Arlington and Crystal Lake tied 6-6. Tipps of Crystal Lake ran 80 yards with an intercepted pass for the Lakers score. Morici scored on a 13 yard end run to finish a 65 yard Arlington drive. . . . Palatine beat Downers Grove 32-23 in cross country but lost 36-22 to Lane Tech of Chicago. . . . Bensenville has been playing six man football but played Antioch an 11 man game Friday losing 7-6. George Gutnik scored for the Bisons.

10 YEARS AGO

Palatine beat Warren 6-0 on a last minute pass from Dick Abrahamson to Walter Grever. The same combination scored to tie Wauconda 6-6 in the conference opener a week later Bensenville whipped Antioch 6-0 on a pass from Ken Wilkie to Jim Karigan. . . . Barrington won their 22nd league grid game in a row from Ela-Vernon 19-7. . . . Arlington and Palatine tied in cross country though Palatine took the first three places won by Gerry Herrmann, Bill Senne, and Jim Vogt. Marvin Prellberg won the club championship at Inverness Golf Club by beating Fred Hertel in the title match.

SENIOR JIM HENDRICKS is all alone as he crosses the finish line ahead of the pack in Arlington high's varsity cross country victory over Downers Grove last Friday afternoon. The triumph was the third straight for both Hendricks and Russ Attis' varsity in dual meet competition. Arlington will host LaGrange this Friday, Oct. 6, at 4 p.m. at Pioneer Park.

Willowbrook Falls

Prospect Registers Another League Win

by BOB FRISK

Even the weather can't slow down those Knights from Prospect high school.

The Foundry rd eleven has had to battle driving rain on two successive Saturdays but on each occasion has been equal to the task.

Coach Bill Beckman's Interim league powerhouse, inexperienced at the outset of the season but gradually taking on the class of a respectable title contender, bowled over a host Willowbrook eleven Saturday, 20-0, for its 15th straight varsity football victory.

ACHIEVED IN the mud before some loyal fans of both high schools, the latest victory for the defending Interim champs gave them a 2-0 league standard and tagged Vic Lesch's Willowbrook unit with its first loop setback.

Individual Rushing	Att.	Yds.	Avg.
Andrise	13	131	10.1
Davis	4	39	9.8
Johnson	10	39	3.9
Thomas	6	37	6.2
Prekel	2	15	7.5

Individual Passing	Att.	Com.	Yds.
Gerrard	9	2	29
Groh	3	1	12

Scoring
Johnson (14-yard end run); Andrise (39-yard and two-yard runs). Mitchell, extra point pass from Gerrard. Krupa, place kick.

Overall, the Villa Park entry now stands 1-2 for the season while Prospect carries a 3-0 record and an unbeaten skein that extends back to October of 1959.

Fullback Bruce Andrise, a bona fide All-State candidate, keyed the Prospect explosion with two touchdowns and 133 yards in only 13 carries. Weakened somewhat by the effects of a week-long battle with a cold, the 185-pound pile-driver still ripped the Willowbrook defense for 68 yards in the first half and came back for 63 in just three cracks in brief second half action.

ONE OF ANDRISE'S jaunts was a nifty 39-yard scoring effort on the seventh play of the second half. Bruce also cracked over from the two late in the fourth stanza for his second touchdown of the game and third in league play.

Willowbrook opened up Saturday with two straight first downs and appeared headed for a long drive when a 15-yard penalty intervened and eventually forced a punt. Fullback Gene Whitehorn and halfback Karl Gessner did most of the ball carrying in that initial burst.

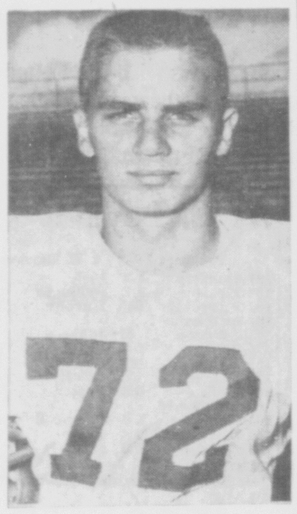
Neither club could break into the scoring column in those first 12 minutes, but Prospect was knocking on the door when the teams changed sides for the second stanza.

A KEN GROH to Jim Anderson aerial had placed the ball on the Willowbrook 30 and Danny Johnson followed with a 20-yard scamper to the ten. Johnson added one but Andrise was nailed for a two-yard loss as the first period concluded.

In the opening seconds of the second quarter Johnson took off around left end and carried into the end zone for the first touchdown of the game. Bob Gerrard hit Dennis Mitchell for the extra point.

The rain started in the second quarter and the attacks of both clubs bogged down. Willowbrook gained a big opportunity midway in the stanza when Karl Burgener recovered a Johnson fumble on the Prospect 20 yard line, but a major penalty stepped in again and the Warriors couldn't hit paydirt.

PROSPECT WAS closing in on another score as the first half drew to a close but four aerials failed to find their mark and the Knights held a slim 6-0 lead at the intermission.



DAN JOHNSON

It didn't take the visitors long to counter in the third stanza. Recovering a Willowbrook fumble on the Warriors' 39-yard line, the Knights needed just two plays for the score. Gerrard was caught for no gain but Andrise burst through the middle and outdistanced the secondary on a 39-yarder with 8:27 remaining.

PROSPECT MARCHED 50 yards for its final score in the fourth period. Johnson picked up the first yard, then reserve fullback Jon Davis exploded for 31 and a first down on the Willowbrook 18.

Davis hit for four more to the 14 and a Gerrard to Tommy Thomas pitch put the Knights on the one yard line. Johnson was grabbed for a yard loss but Andrise smashed over with four minutes remaining.

John Krupa added the extra point and Prospect held its 20-0 lead.

Willowbrook advanced to the Knights' 38-yard line late in the third period when a Harlan Krafft pass was picked off by the visitor's Jim Hogarty. That was the extent of the Warriors' scoring threats in that rain-marred second half.

All-Star Tourney

Qualifying Rounds To Begin Saturday

Qualifying begins this weekend in the Northwest Suburban BPA's All-Star competition at Holiday Bowl in Round Lake Park.

Four days of qualifying will determine the semi-finalists in competition that will conclude with the finals on Oct. 28 and 29.

The men will roll in squads of 12 at two hour intervals starting at 3 p.m. this Saturday. Four shifts will comprise the first day.

The women will vie at 1 p.m. and 5 p.m. each day.

SIX GAMES will be bowled across six lanes with the scores carried to the semi-finals. Total pinfall will determine the qualifiers.

Qualifying rounds will be held this weekend and on Oct. 14 and 15 at the Holiday Bowl. Semi-final rounds are scheduled for Oct. 21 and 22 with the finals Oct. 28 and 29.

The 24 qualifiers will bowl six games on Saturday Oct. 21 with the top 12 from this competition vieing again on Sunday, Oct. 22. Total pinfall from this round and the qualifying round will determine the six entries in the coveted finals.

IN THE FINALS the six bowlers will meet in head-to-head competition of three games each with the Petersen point system in effect.

Both the men and women will follow similar setups in reaching the finals although in the championship roll-offs the gals will engage in two-game matches rather than three.

One man and one woman will represent the Northwest Suburban Bowling Proprietors in the All-Star tournament in Miami, Fla.

GLEN JOBEY of Holiday Bowl, who is directing the tournament, announced this week that there were still several spots open for the four days of qualifying.

In the men's competition there are 11 spots open at 3 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 7; 10 at 7 p.m., 10 at 9 p.m., and 8 at 11 p.m.

On Sunday, Oct. 8, there are seven slots open at 3 p.m., seven at 7 p.m., and 10 at 9 p.m.

THE FOLLOWING weekend there are 12 slots open at 3 p.m., two at 7 p.m., and six at 11 p.m. The 9 p.m. bracket is full.

On Sunday, Oct. 15 there are three slots at 3 p.m., 10 at 7 p.m., eight at 9 p.m., and four at 11 p.m.

There are also several spots open in the women's qualifying rounds with only the 5 p.m. shift on Saturday, Oct. 7 currently completed.

Earl Nichols was the champion last year with Bill Radunz in the runnerup slot of the men's action. Radunz rolled a 300 game in reaching the finals. Delores Harris topped the women.

Willowbrook's JVs Register 12-7 Victory

Willowbrook's junior-varsity football team scored in the first and second periods, then held on and fashioned a 12-7 victory over Prospect high's Knights last Saturday afternoon.

The victory gave the Warriors a 1-1 slate in Interim league play while Prospect was tagged with its second straight loss in JV ranks.

Coach Bob Hoese's Knights counted their first touchdown this season with 17 seconds remaining in the game when Bill Mutert hit Tom Cross from 18 yards out. Mutert's passing played a vital role in the only scoring drive with a 35-yarder to Chuck Halverson bringing the ball to the Willowbrook 30.

Mutert also added the extra point.

WILLOWBROOK opened the scoring with just six seconds remaining in the first period when Dick Busch, a work-horse all afternoon, carried in from the four-yard line.

Busch's carry climaxed a short drive that was initiated on the Prospect 19, thanks to a short punt. Nick Karales carried to the 15 and Busch scampered to the six for a first down. Busch smashed to the four and then picked up the touchdown.

In the second stanza Willowbrook opened its scoring drive on the Prospect 40 thanks to another short punt. In twelve plays Busch carried in from the one.

KEY PLAYS in that Brook drive were a pass-lateral maneuver on a fourth and six situation that netted a first down and Busch's 14-yeard scamper to the Prospect four.

Darrel Wilk broke through to block the attempted extra point with 3:21 remaining in the second period.

Neither club could get moving in the second half until Prospect drove for its only score of the afternoon, Mutert doing his share with some clutch passing.

Prospect's JVs will shoot for their first Interim league victory this Friday evening at East Leyden. Willowbrook will host West Leyden Saturday afternoon.

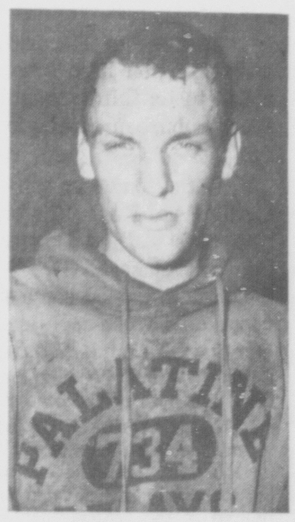
Palatine's Harriers Top Cards, 19-44

Gene Meyer established a new Palatine high course record Tuesday afternoon while sparking the varsity Pirates to a surprisingly easy 19-44 cross country victory over arch-rival Arlington.

Meyer, who watched New Trier's Tim Wren shatter his old record last week, toured the 1.84 miles layout in a snappy 8:44.7, a full five seconds faster then Wren's clocking.

Arlington's Jim Hendricks, suffering his first dual meet loss this year, ran a distant second at 8:51 but Coach Gene Laulunen's crew captured the next seven places.



GENE MEYER

JUNIOR JERRY Kusek took third in 8:58 followed by Larry Travis, Bill Hartman, Ken Lieuiska, Bob Frost, Stew Rogers and Marty Eilering in that order.

The performances of Hartman and Rogers were particularly encouraging for Palatine. Hartman's 9:08 effort was the best of his career while Rogers has only joined the team a few days ago.

Arlington's Gary Brodnan placed 10th while teammates Ralph Law, Robin Auld, Dan Bedford and Rog Fredrickson finished 11th, 13th, 14th and 19th respectively.

THE VICTORY was the 23rd straight dual meet success for the varsity Pirates over the past three campaigns and the second in a row against the Cardinals.

Coach Russ Attis' boys suffered their first setback after three opening triumphs.

Palatine also breezed to victory in the frosh-soph contest, besting the Redbirds, 19-36. Pirates Steve Gibson and Fred Hodgdon tied for first in 9:40.6.

TOM ELDRIDGE and Mike Rompala gave Laulunen's underclassmen a sweep of the top four spots. In fifth place was Arlington's Ray Schmeiser followed by Cardinals Gary Fouty, George Sladek and Greg Buczynski in that order.

Brian Patarich placed ninth for the Pirates.

PICKING OFF THIS Arlington pass intended for Ken Layden (right) is Downers Grove's Glen Wirtanen with teammate Bill Duffy looking on. The interception set up one of the Trojans' five touchdowns in a 32-0 rout over Arlington last Friday evening.

St. Viator's Lions Handle IC Unit, 7-0

St. Viator's Lions, dumped in their first outing of the 1961 campaign, bounced back Monday afternoon in the home opener with a 7-0 victory over Immaculate Conception.

Coach Frank Mariani's frosh-sophs scored in the first quarter and held on before an impressive crowd at Arlington's Recreation Park.

Rick Hawley slammed in from the six yard line to terminate a 70-yard march and give the St. Viator eleven its only touchdown.

THE LIONS originated 38 plays in the first half but couldn't hit paydirt again against a small but determined IC aggregation.

The visitors threatened in the fourth quarter and penetrated to the St. Viator six yard line. But the Lions were equal to the task and checked the Knights' only serious threat.

On a second down play corner man Tom Nitch nailed the IC ball carrier for a six-yard loss. Then the Lions picked off a pass and moved out of their own territory thanks to some clutch running by Jim Murray.

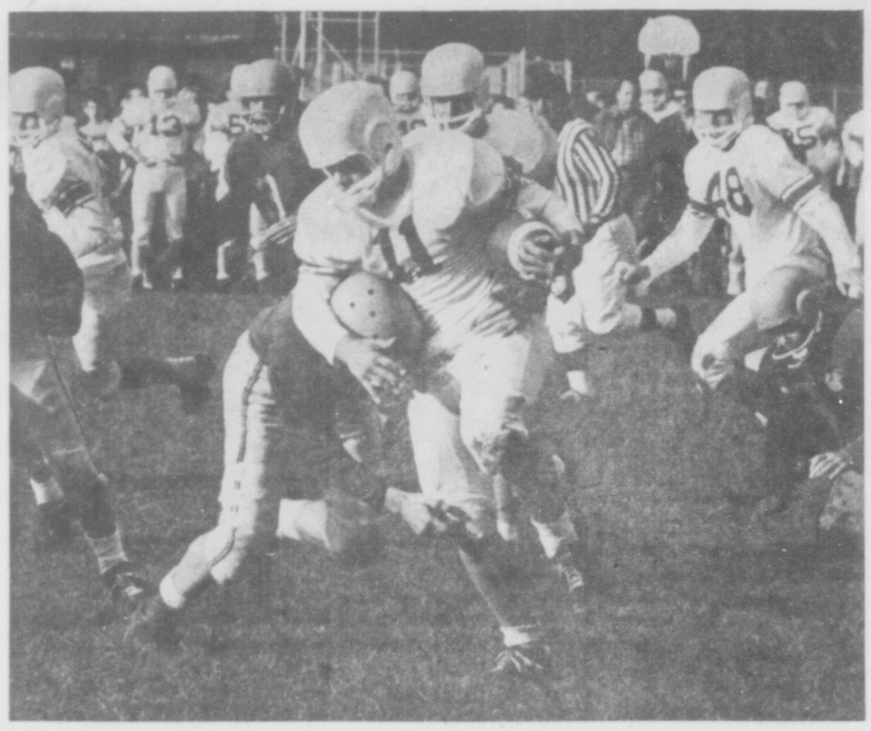
Jeff Haiduke handled the quarterbacking again for St. Viator with relief from Bill Roche.

THE LIONS, coached by Mariani and Ron Feiereisel, will travel to West Leyden this Friday afternoon, Oct. 6, for their third game of the season. Game time will be 4:15 p.m.

St. Viator had dropped their initial contest of the '61 campaign to Maryville Academy, 14-2.

Score by quarters:

St. Viator	7	0	0	0—7
I-C	0	0	0	0—0



ST. VIATOR'S Jay Chaiser (11) is stopped after a sizeable gain in first half action of the Lions' 7-0 victory over Immaculate Conception last Monday afternoon. St. Viator will travel to West Leyden this Friday for its third game of the 1961 season.

Downers Grove Stops Arlington Cardinals

by BOB FRISK

It wasn't as bad as last year but that's small consolation to Arlington high's varsity Cardinals.

Downers Grove's Trojans, a 54-0 conqueror of the football Cards last fall, unleashed another powerful attack last Friday evening and leveled the hosts, 32-0.

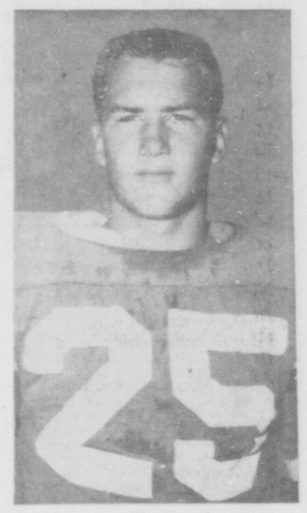
Spoiling Arlington's home opener with a solid ground attack and passing game that clicked in key situations, Coach Dick Carstens' outfit rolled to a 20-0 halftime advantage, then coasted in for its second straight West Suburban desision and second straight shutout.

THE VISITORS scored through the air and on the ground and didn't rely on any particular ball carrier for the sizeable gains. Five backs gained more than 35 yards and the Trojans' leading ground gainer was a 160-pound speedster who didn't carry the ball until the fourth quarter.

Overall, it was a game Arlington would like to forget. The Cardinals couldn't get either their running or passing games in gear for any stretch of time and had their deepest penetration checked by a fumble.

The punting of senior Roy Woodruff pulled the locals out of many problems with Roy averaging a nifty 41 yards on five kicks. The 167-pound senior had one boot that covered 56 yards.

BOB LAUGHLIN had a busy game on offense and defense for Arlington, grabbing two passes for 20 yards and also picking off a Downers aerial to check a third period drive. Bob also registered some jarring tackles in the contest.



BOB LAUGHLIN

Downers counted the first time it handled the ball after Doug Elliott returned the opening kickoff to the Cards' 37 yard line. Elliott was the workhorse but it was Bob Beightol who did the honors, crashing in from the two.

Vince Furlong blocked the extra point attempt and the Trojans held a 6-0 lead.

ARLINGTON took over on its own 40 yard line and then proceeded to stage its longest drive of the evening, a ten-play, 35-yard maneuver that was checked on the Downers Grove 25 on downs.

Key contributor in that movement was junior Rog Lindstrom who bolted for 16 of the yards.

Downers hit again midway in the second period when Mike McAllister pitched to Elliott from the Arlington 40 after the Trojans got new life on a roughing the kicker penalty.

THE TROJANS moved to a 20-0 halftime advantage when the McAllister and Elliott combo worked again, this time from the Cards' 21 after the attack had been set up with an interception.

McAllister made it 26-0 with 5:26 remaining in the game on a four-yard sweep around right end, and Rich Sullivan carried in from the three about three minutes later.

Jim Ferguson connected on two of five extra point attempts for the visitors.

Lindstrom emerged as Arlington's top ground gainer with 38 yards in eight cracks while Ross Retterer's passing contributed 35 yards on four completions. Bob Bozynski topped the Trojans with 77 yards in only five carries, all in the fourth quarter.

Bozynski's 40 yard scamper set up Downers Grove's fourth touchdons.

St. Emily's Loop Opens 1st Season

Eight five-man teams were on hand to inaugurate the first season of competition for St. Emily's Holy Name Society Bowling league last week at Sim's Bowling Alley, Des Plaines.

Standing out as the number one team after the first night was Rays' Carpet Service with three wins over Cumberland Pharmacy. Other Mount Prospect and Des Plaines merchant-sponsored teams are Bluett Home Builders, 2-1; Burchard's Cleaners 2-1; and Foremost Liquors 2-1, all tied for second place. Tied for third spot are Walt Boyle 1-2, Oehlers Funeral Homes 1-2, and Golf & Wolf Shell.

"Over 600" honors were captured by Al Paneral with a series of 624 to lead the league first nighters, followed by B. Trotter with 554 in second high place, and R. Kautz in third place. High game of the night had two pinmen tied for honors —H. Hafendick and Al Paneral both with 226. In third high game slot was B. Cowan Sr.

Eagles Register 2nd Straight League Win

The Eagles continued to show their power in the Junior league of Arlington Heights' Midget Football program with a 14-0 victory over the Packers last week.

The victory gave the Eagles a 2-0 mark in league competition with a previous 14-6 conquest of the Giants.

Dave Sauter counted both touchdowns for the leaders, one a fancy 50-yard punt return. Roger Schuler and Billy Van Sky set up the second TD with a pass completion.

TURNING IN solid performances for the winners were Ray Peal, Ralph Soper, and Steve Leet. Steve Stratton and Steve Coy were offensive standouts for the losers while Scott Larson, Chris Buttenob, and Roy Sklencar played fine games in the line.

In other Junior league competition the Colts racked up a 6-0 win over the Cardinals with Schmelzer scoring on a 27-yard off tackle slant.

Sparked by Koeneman and Gumz on defense and Adkins on offense, the Cardinals kept the Colts in their own territory throughout most of the game. Coach Dick Roeing's Colts recovered a Cardinal fumble on their own three yard line to check the loser's major scoring threat.

Score by quarters:

Colts	0	6	0	0—6
Cardinals	0	0	0	0—6

THE BEARS scored in the first and third periods and wrapped up an impressive 13-0 victory over the Giants. Coach Bob Mitchell's outfit was sparked by Bruce Boult who tallied both six-pointers. Jeff Rice scored the extra point.

Score by quarters:

In the Senior league the Rams and Browns have moved into a first place tie. The Rams edged the Lions 12-7 while the Browns blanked the 49ers 20-0 in action last week.

BROPHY SPARKED the Rams in their 12-7 decision. He scored in the first period on a 55-yard keeper play and in the second stanza smashed over for the winning score.

Other standouts for Howard Jarvis' Rams were Dix, Dumpke, Gorman, and Jarvis.

For the third consecutive week Steve Ewart of the Lions reeled off a long scoring run, this time for 80 yards. Bencic plunged over for the extra point.

Other strong performers for the Lions were Smeed and Erickson.

THE BROWNS scored in each of the first three periods in their 20-0 victory. Connelly counted the first TD on a six-yard run and Mark Frase ran for the extra point.

In the second period Frase plunged for the six points and this time Connelly ran for the PAT. Connelly turned a short run into the third touchdown. Ronnie Thomson and Don Lindmark recorded outstanding line play for the victorious Browns of Bill Gunnison.

Notre Dame Dons Crush St. Bede; St. Proco Next

by TOM TREBAT —

The Notre Dame Dons won a convincing 34-0 decision over the St. Bede Bears last Friday night at Notre Dame.

The Dons hope to make it four victories in a row tomorrow night when the Redwings of St. Procopius will form the opposition. Last year, Notre Dame thrashed St. Procopius 34-0, but they expect a rougher go of it in this year's encounter.

Notre Dame supplied the margin of victory in last week's game in the very first quarter. A 12 yard pass from quarterback Dick Gorzynski to halfback Jim Prasch, who is usually a defensive player, netted the first touchdown. Gorzynski's boot for the extra point was blocked, and the score stood at 6-0.

HALFBACK Greg Schilling collected the Dons' second touchdown on a four yard plunge. Schilling picked up 68 yards on the evening averaging an impressive 11.3 yards each time he took off. The Dons' third touchdown came by way of another four yard plunge. This time, though, the pigskin was carried by fullback Al Loboy. Loboy, in his usual steady performance, amassed a total of 34 yards during the night for a solid 5.6 yard average per carry. Gorzynski added the extra point after each one of these score making the halftime count Notre Dame 20—St. Bede 0.

Following another excellent halftime performance by the Notre Dame marching band, the two squads took the field for the start of the third quarter. Immediately the Dons started a drive which climaxed with Loboy crashing into the end zone from 15 yards out. Again the extra point came by way of Gorzynski's toe.

THE FINAL score provided the biggest thrill of the night. Taking the ball on his own 31 yard line, halfback Phil Gasil sped all the way for a 69 yard touchdown. Basil contributed a 13.4 rushing average to the Dons' offensive punch, collecting a total of 94 yards in 7 tries.

Equally successful against St. Bede was the Notre Dame sophomore squad. They also won number three of the season by blanking the fledgling Bears 30-0.

Pro Cage Coach Guest of Honor At 'Y' Saturday

Jim Pollard, coach of the newly-organized Chicago Packers basketball team of the National Basketball Association, will be the guest of honor of the Northwest Suburban YMCA at a Dad and Lad night this Saturday, Oct. 7.

Plans now call for a talk by the 6-6 Pollard with a demonstration of basketball shots and skills and the finale will be a swim for all. The program will start at 7 p.m.

Pollard, his wife, Airlee, and three children are residents of Mt. Prospect, Ill. Before coming to the Packers, he played his entire pro career with the Minneapolis Lakers.

SPECIAL HONORS accorded to Pollard include being selected to Stanford University's Athletic Hall of Fame although he only competed as a sophomore; named All-Time National AAU forward; named to Helms Foundation Hall of Fame; selected as Players' basketball player by other members of the National Basketball Association (Poll conducted by Sporting News); and named All-Time Pacific Coast Conference forward.

Only 200 can be accommodated for this special Dad-Lad Night so interested persons are urged to get reservations. Father or son must be a "Y" member. Call the "Y" at CYpress 6-3376 to register.

Arlington's Sophs Fall To Downers

Arlington is still looking for that first point in frosh-soph ranks of the West Suburban conference.

The Cardinals suffered another shutout last Friday evening as they went down to their second straight league setback.

Downers Grove rolled up a 15-0 decision and spoiled the Cardinals' home debut. It was Downers' second straight shutout and victory in league firing this fall.

AS WAS the case in a 0-0 battle with Maine East the previous week, the young Cardinals had their chances to score but couldn't rack up the six points.

Arlington drove to the Downers 34 yard line midway in the opening period but was checked on downs. The Cards penetrated to the DG 24 at the outset of the second stanza and fumbled. They hit the visitor's 38, 20, 15, and 37 in the remainder of the contest and still couldn't score.

Deepest penetration was that drive to the Downers 15 midway in the third quarter but a key penalty and incomplete pass checked this threat.

THE VISITORS opened the scoring with 8:46 remaining in the first period when Cardinal quarterback Jim Ewart was nailed in the end zone for a safety. Fleet Bill Howerton, frosh-soph sprint champ in the West Scburban conference, sailed around right end for six yards and the first Downers touchdown less than two minutes later.

Neither team could hit paydirt through the second or third periods and Downers concluded the scoring in the waning moments of the game when Ted Lounibos smashed over from one yard out. The young Trojans had recovered an Arlington fumble on the two yard line to set up Lounibos' effort.

ARLINGTON'S long-gainer of the evening was a first period pass from Ewart to Joe Mueller that covered 32 yards and put the Cards on Downers' 34 yard line.

The young Cardinals, coached by Bill Daletski and Brendan Flynn, will shoot for their first West Suburban victory a point this Friday evening, Oct. 6, in the Homecoming clash with LaGrange. Game time is 6 p.m.

Prospect Frosh in Easy Win

Prospect exploded in the second and third periods and rolled to an effortless 37-0 frosh "A" football victory over Willowbrook last Saturday morning.

Repeated long runs by Jim Renner and Wayne Kuklinski set up the decision with the young Knights checking the losers with only three first downs.

Defensive tackle George Heiden picked up a blocked punt and went 30 yards for a touchdown in the third period and defensive end Gregg Melzer blocked a punt to set up another score.

Also scoring touchdowns for the Prospect club were Renner, Kuklinski, Anderson, and Dick Lytle.

Prospect's frosh "As", now 2-1 for the 1961 campaign, will host East Leyden this Saturday morning, Oct. 7, at 9:30.

Score by quarters:

Prospect	0	19	18	0—37
Willowbrook	0	0	0	0— 0

Prospect Bumps Morton Harriers

Prospect high's varsity and frosh-soph cross country teams were both missing key performers Tuesday afternoon but it didn't make much difference in the outcome.

Coach Ken Arneson's varsity rolled past Morton West 18-45 and the frosh-sophs of Dick Kinneman won 16-47.

Arneson was working without Cliff Stock and Jim Freyer in the varsity competition. Stock was on the sidelines with back trouble and Freyer has an abscessed tooth.

ROG LUEDKE paced the varsity Knights with a first and was followed by Don Coey with a second, George Renner with a fourth, Gary Beck with a fifth, and Ken Nelson with a sixth.

Kinneman was without Bob Gewecke who was sick but dependable Dave Thomas brought home individual honors. Tom McClellan was second with Carr third, Jim Froemling fourth, and Royce Fichte sixth.

Prospect's varsity and frosh-soph harriers will host Niles West this Saturday, Oct. 7,

RICK HAWLEY SCORED St. Viator's only touchdown Monday afternoon in a 7-0 victory over Immaculate Conception. Here the Lions' halfback drives for short yardage.

JUST DOGS

by DAVE TERRILL

Problem Dog—

In writing about dogs year in and year out, there are times when you have to repeat yourself on some subjects because often people have just purchased a new puppy or perhaps they missed the article in which you discussed a problem that seems to be rather important to them—sometimes old timers could use a little refresher.

For example your editor was asked by the owner of a new puppy the other day—"how do you stop this constant jumping up on people?" Let's answer this by first considering that it is a pup about which we are talking and that a pup will get just plain excited. However, the time to start breaking this habit is when the pup is still a puppy and not when he is fully grown and able to, perhaps, push a child over with playfulness.

DON'T DO THE old stunt of after he has jumped up to step on his hind toes. That is just a waste of effort on your part. When a dog starts to jump up on you just bring your knee or foreleg up under his chest with a good sharp motion and say "No." A number of times of this kind of treatment will discourage him from doing the jumping act. Above all, do not let him get away with jumping up on friends who walk into the house. Let them know of the procedure and follow through. You will have your friends much longer.

Another little problem—"he just got through chewing the leg off a chair." Here is something that is common with a growing dog. Again go back to basic thinking of the problem at hand.

All pups like to chew—its part of development and growing up. Provide him with things that he can chew on—items which he knows are his and when he starts to chew on something that he should not, get in the word "no" and give him his own item. One important point to remember in this procedure and one which many people forget. Do not give him his own item to chew on right next to that chair or table leg. Take him to one of his items and let him start the chewing act. If you let him remain next to the table he may forget and start back on the table—a pup's memory sometimes gets a little short.

Obedience weekend—

A number of people in the area were at the First Training Club for German Shepherd Dogs of Chicago annual obedience trial held last Sunday at Rand Park, Des Plaines. Some of those entered went home with some rather nice prizes, due to a good job by some very well trained dogs.

It was a long day, with judging starting at 10 a.m. and lasting until 8:30 in the evening before all the classes were completed.

Barks & Bays—

This week is the "125th" celebration in Arlington Heights which follows last week's National Dog Week nation wide event. We are sort of glad that the two weeks did not come at the same time. It just would not have been right to say that the fine village of Arlington Heights was going "to the dogs."

Chicago Packers Open 2nd Shift Of Exhibitions

The Chicago Packers of the National Basketball Association begin the second shift of their pre-season exhibition schedule this coming weekend. Friday night, October 6, they'll play a benefit inter-squad game and present a clinic at the University of Chicago Field House for the Olde Tymers Athletic Association. Saturday night, Oct. 14 they'll stage another charity affair, at the DePaul University's Alumni Fieldhouse on Beldon Avenue meeting the Los Angeles Lakers.

Sunday night they'll open a tour of four Indiana cities meeting the Philadelphia Warriors at Elkhart. On Monday October 9 they'll play the first of three games with the world's champion Boston Celtics. This is a Lions club sponsored affair at Evansville. Tuesday night, October 10, they face the Celts again at Logansport and then wind up the series at Marion on Wednesday, October 11.

They'll return to Chicago after that game and on Saturday night, Oct. 14 face the Los Angeles Lakers at the new DePaul University Alumni Hall on Beldon Street in a game for the benefit of the Alumni Scholarship Fund.

After the DePaul game they will leave for games with the Lakers in Louisville Ky.; Greensboro, N. C. and Jacksonville, Fla. before opening the regular season against the Knicks in New York on Thursday, Oct. 19. The home opener is against St. Louis Hawks at the International Ampitheatre on Friday night, Oct. 27.

Coach Jim Pollard of the Packers, who lives in Mount Prospect, will conduct a two-day coaches clinic in Philadelphia on Oct. 13 and 14. York Larese and Walter Bellamy, two All Americans who are Packer rookies will be members of the Milk Fund All Star team playing the Knicks in New York on Friday, Oct. 13.

Elgin to Chicago

Bicycle Road Race Slated for Sunday

The Chicago area will be well represented by riders who will compete in the 35th Annual 50-Mile Handicap Bicycle Road Race to be held Sunday, Oct. 8 on the Elgin to Chicago course, John J. Duffy, president of the Board of Commissioners of Cook County, announced this week.

As sponsor of the event, Duffy said:

"Bicycle racing always has been a clean, wholesome sport, and I am happy to sponsor this year's event. We are expecting over 100 entrants from over the United States and Canada. About half of them are from the Chicago area. They come for the sheer love of racing, their winnings consisting solely of trophies.

"I AM SURE that spectators, for whom there is no charge, will enjoy watching the race along its entire route and at the finish."

The race will start at the Elgin National Watch Factory Tower in Elgin at 1 p.m. and finish on Devon ave., just east of Milwaukee ave., in Chicago at about 3:30 p.m.

The course will take the riders northward on Route 31 thru West Dundee, 1:20 p.m.; Carpentersville, 1:25 p.m.; Algonquin, 1:30 p.m.; then southeast on Route 14 thru Cary, 1:45 p.m.; Fox River Grove, 1:50 p.m.; Barrington, 2:00 p.m.; Palatine, 2:10 p.m.; Arlington Heights, 2:20 p.m.; Mount Prospect, 2:40 p.m.; DesPlaines 2:50 p.m., and Park Ridge, 3:05 p.m.

"POLICE from the villages thru which the riders pass will patrol the route, but for added protection to the cyclists, I appeal to the motorists using the route that day to be especially careful," President Duffy said.

Harry Berz, director of the race, which is sanctioned by the Amateur Bicycle League of America, said that among the prominent riders will be Edidio Bolzon, 24, captain of a five-man team from Ontario.

Bolzin already this year has won a 62-mile race in Detroit, the 600-mile Tour of St Laurent, a 135-mile Detroit to Battle Creek race, the Tour of River race in Canada, the 60-miler, and the Gulf of Ontario 74-mile race.

ALSO ENTERED is Charles Freeman, 53, of Detroit's Wolverine Sport Club, first across the finish line last year.

Two father-and-son teams likewise will participate. They are William Lange, Sr., 49, of Kirkwood, Mo., and William, Jr. of St. Louis; and Lowell Stanford, 48, and Dennis, 16 of St. Louis.

PROSPECT HEIGHTS—Tom Thomson, 18 Wildwood Drive.

Northlake—Robert Jansa, 115 S. Harold, and Ken Jones, 101 S. Harold.

Oak Park—Charles S. MacNiven, 844 Highland.

Palos Park—Thomas Pierson, 13031 S. 86th.

Wilmette—James W. Edmonds, 2408 Elmwood.

BERZ said the riders will be sent away from the starting line in groups separated by seven-minute time-interval handicaps. Novices and slow riders will make up the first group, and the others will be graded on past performances.

The winner will receive the John J. Duffy trophy, together with a wrist watch. The rider with the fastest time also will receive similar awards.

Winner of the first Elgin to Chicago race, held in 1926, was Pascal Meerschaert, a Chicagoan who now lives at 6500 N. Glenwood ave.

Oldest contestant, Berz said, probably will be Walter Werner, 63, of 1821 Brookside, Waukegan. Werner, who has been a participant for many years, is a member of the South Chicago Wheelmen Club.

Youngest may be John Herrewever, 13, of 4836 N. Melvina, Chicago, a member of the Windy City Wheelmen Club.

EARLY entries from Chicago and environs, Berz said are:

Windy City Wheelmen Club—(besides Herrewever) John Sequeira, 31, of 5344 N. Winthrop; Alfons DeSaegher, 35, of 7724 N. Haskins; Chuck Wanders, 17, of 3252 N. Kildare; James Wager, 19, of 5754 N. Moody; and Robert E. Mijan, 25, of 6918 W. Addison, all from Chicago.

South Chicago Wheelmen—(in addition to Werner) Richard Clarke, 16, of 447 W. 118th; Karl Toth, 23, of 2238 Geneva Terrace; Helmut Weis, 24, of 248 W. 119th; Bob Jones, 38, of 10949 S. Lowe, all from Chicago.

Lake Shore Wheelmen—Steven Jensen, 14, of 5559 N. Austin; and Steve Dvoracek, 22, of 2157 N. Halsted, both in Chicago.

Unattached—Rudy Magnani, 16, of 2258 N. Lowell, Chicago, and Peter Blackhan, 16, of 1462 Deerfield Place, Highland Park.

NOT YET registered, but expected to enter, according to Berz, are:

Northbrook—Gordon and Eddie Rudolph, brothers, of 1517 Parkway, and Thomas E. Perdu, 1136 Meadow Road.

Park Ridge—Robert and Joe Sebo, brothers, of 630 N. Wesley Drive.

Glenview—Don Nicoll, 1751 Dewes st.

Downers Decisions Card B's

Downers Grove scored on a reverse with five minutes to play Tuesday afternoon and recorded a 6-0 victory over Arlington's frosh "B" football team.

The setback was the Cardinals' second in three outings this season. The plebes had been dumped the previous week 8-6 by Maine township East with a safety early in the game proving to be the difference.

Arlington's "B" aggregation, Fish, will host LaGrange next coached by Bob Baker and John Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 10, at 4 o'clock.

At Mount Prospect

Lions, Central Play To Deadlock In Loop

Last Sunday in the Senior division of the Mt. Prospect Midget Football association Central tied Lions 7-7 in one of the league's highlights.

Jerry Packard tallied the touchdown and extra point for Central with Bill Leonard and Rick Green also turning in impressive performances. Rick Bertoglio and Mike Mueller stood out in the line.

A 65-yard run by Tom Kalwitz scored the Lions' only touchdown. Bob Grady, Steve Bordy, and Paul Accurso turned in stellar efforts for the Lions.

JOEL MARTIN scored two touchdowns and Larry Snyder added the other as Fairview whipped Sunset 19-12. A pass from John Phillips to Jim Hatfield picked up the extra point. Outstanding linemen were Kent Robinson and Rich Irmen.

Sunset's Phil Eaton played strong offensive and defensive games while Joe Rosanova and George Kienzle were standouts in the line.

Quarterback John Jay scored two touchdowns and the extra point in Emerson's 13-6 win over Prospect. Doug Murray, Ken Cherwin, and Pete Jay were outstanding in the backfield and Allan Shers sparkled in the line.

IT WAS A CLOSELY fought game with Cowan scoring for Prospect. White and Anderson were Prospect's standouts.

Lincoln trounced Owens 26-0 with Rick Henderson, Bill Garlock, Bob Arnold, Pete Smith, Gary Guein, and Tom Ley all turning in solid backfield performances. Robby Payne, Fred Wesley, Darryl Van Kampin, Ron Viger, Butch Leonard, Jim Stevens, and John Jantac topped the linemen.

Sparking Owens were Jim Kolberg in the line and Steve Nubrehr and Tom Neuchranz in the backfield.

The Central Juniors are really making themselves known and last week pounded the Central Lions 34-0.

BILL TEICHERT and Dennis Palubicki scored TDs and Danny Kingberg tallied a trio for individual honors.

Owens downed Lincoln 28-6 with Mark Adams returning a punt 40 yards.

Jim White was outstanding in the backfield and John Holmblad, Tom Mead, Terry Strey, Frank Wcislo, Kim Fagrelius, and Ed Pecora received plaudits for their line play.

T. Anderson scored Lincoln's only touchdown although D. Erickson, Trapani, Basquez, Moore, Ryan, and Theurdanz stood out in the line.

PROSPECT WON a close game with Emerson, 19-13, as Glover and Carroll contributed the touchdowns. Glover, Carroll, and St. Dennis were outstanding in the backfield while Newman, Strauch, and Peeler started in the line for the victors.

Sunset rolled past Fairview 25-8 with a second half explosion that netted three touchdowns, one by Ed Crosson and the others by Bob Demmert and Mark Walinski.

Fairview's safety was scored when linebacker Hal Durgin crashed through the line and broke up the play. Ray Clow added a 40-yard dash for a touchdown.

Topping the backfield play were Clow, Costello, and Niles Daly. Greg Kocher, Bob Snyder, and Tom Irman were standouts in the line.

Arlington Rider To Defend Title In Weekend Show

Miss Karen Ruth Burke, of 356 S. Burton Place, Arlington Heights, will defend her Town and Country Equestrian Association championship title, on Oct. 14, at the annual Town and Country horseshow at Oak Brook Polo Club showgrounds.

The organization, for 52 years promoting and preserving the equestrian sport and the showing of fine horses, has held qualifying classes at the horse shows in the Chicagoland area this summer, with riders competing for the honor of riding for the Town and Country trophy.

Young riders who will be competing in the hunter division include: Miss Linda Marie Jayne of Palatine; and Miss Heather Rodericks of Mount Prospect.

In addition to the championship classes, the show will feature juvenile 3-gaited; hireling horsemanship - English tack; 3-gaited amateur; English pleasure; 3-gaited bridle path; amateur fine harness; 5-gaited amateur; and 3-gaited open. Jumpers and hunters will compete in junior working hunters; open jumpers; hunter hack; and open hunters.

Junior exhibitors will be entertained at a barbecue in their honor during the lunchtime intermission.

Communication

A man's power to connect his thought with its proper symbol, and so to utter it, depends on the simplicity of his character—that is, upon his love of truth and his desire to communicate it without loss.

Paddock Classic League

Martinetti's Moves Into Second Place!

League leading Wheeling Furniture ran into tough opposition in Martinetti's Restaurant of Crystal Lake, but still managed to hold onto first place in the Paddock Classic Traveling League.

When the Martinetti team, bowling out of Ten Pin Lanes in Barrington, finished rolling the night's high team series, 2951, Saturday at Jeffery Lanes in Wheeling, Wheeling Furniture's three point lead had been cut in half.

Martinetti also replaced River-Rand in second place which was a blow for the Des Plaines team which picked up its 1961-62 sponsor, S. M. Kahn Electrical Contractors of Chicago this past week.

The Kahn five won just one game to drop into a three-way tie for third with Pro Sport Center of Mt. Prospect and Jeffery Lanes, which the week before had been tied with one another and then this week battled to a standoff.

Big reason for Martinetti's success against Wheeling Furniture, which calls Hi-Way Recreation in Palatine home, was that three of the six men who rolled 600 series were on the Crystal Lake team. Don Bacon of Crystal Lake posted 630, Bill Moss of Addison 625 and Al McMillan of Crystal Lake 601.

A 233 BY McMillan and 203 by Moss spearheaded Martinetti as it won the opener 993-965, despite a 224 by Herb Engstrom of Elgin for Wheeling Furniture. Then Bacon picked up with a 245 to give Martinetti an easy triumph. However, Wheeling Furniture retaliated by rolling the Paddock Classic's best game of the season, 1032, as Don Oberg of Itasca bowled 232, Ron Fogarett of Palatine 212, Engstrom 208 and Ted Zimmerman of Des Plaines 200.

Both host Jeffery Lanes and Pro Sport Center, which calls Gunnell's in Mt. Prospect home, were struggling for good scores, no one being able to get a 600 series. When the firing subsided, the teams split four points, Jeffery's 996 first game, thanks to a 225 by George Stone of Deerfield, 205 by Dick Nethaway of Prospect Heights and 201 by Chuck Gibson of Bensenville, was enough to give the Wheeling team high series.

Thereafter, Pro Sport Center won the final two games, Ernie Koche of Hoffman Estates leading the second game attack with 223, followed by Al Walter of Arlington Heights with 213, and John Ribando of Mt. Prospect heading Pro Sport Center's final win with a 211 total.

RESULTS SATURDAY

Nelson Realty (1016-984-945—2945) and Beverly Lanes (880-992-998—2870) tied, 2-2.

Jeffery Lanes (996-852-860—2708) and Pro Sport Center (831-940-908—2679) tied, 2-2.

Martinetti's Restaurant (993-951-1007—2951) beat Wheeling Furniture (965-871-1032—2868), 3-1.

Moyle Construction (942-967-867—2776) beat S. M. Kahn Electrical Contractors (889-949-931—2769), 3-1.

MATCHES SATURDAY
at Country Lanes, Lake Zurich

Pro Sport Center vs. Martinetti's Restaurant
Wheeling Furniture vs. Jeffery Lanes
S. M. Kahn Electrical Contractors vs. Beverly Lanes
Moyle Construction vs. Nelson Realty

THE RIVER-RAND team found the sledding tough for its new sponsors, Kahn Electrical Contractors, but a last game triumph preserved a third place tie for the Chicago team. Bob Rogers of Des Plaines was chiefly responsible for that win with a 204 effort.

Until that time, its opponent, Moyle Construction of Carpentersville, had the situation well in hand. John Taylor of Waukegan posted a 211 opener for Moyle, based at Country Lanes in Lake Zurich. Then George Radke of Mundelein hit 212, George Sargent of Great Lakes 203 and Herb Lohman of Lake Zurich 202 for a 967 game and enough to give Moyle Construction the point for high series.

Two second division teams, Nelson Realty of Mt. Prospect and Beverly Lanes of Arlington Heights, had one of the best high scoring battles of the night.

A 1016 GAME by Nelson Realty, bowling out of Bowlway Lanes in Elgin, when coupled by a poor opener by Beverly, was enough to give Nelson Realty two points. That win was due mainly to a 215 by Warren Olson of Arlington Heights, 214 by LeRoy Papineau of Algonquin and 211 by Tom Kouros of Barrington Woods.

Olson continued on his hot spree with a 223 game and Casper DeWitz of Barrington had 204 as Nelson posted a 984 total, but Beverly finished eight pins higher on a 217 by Bill Radunz of Arlington Heights, and 202 by Jim Perna of Rolling Meadows. Perna hit 215 in his last game and Radunz 213 as Beverly racked up its high team game this year, 998.

When the scores were totaled, Radunz had the night's high individual series, 637, and Olson had just six pins less. John Seidel of Palatine had a 601 series for Beverly although no game was above 202. He had remarkably even scores of 202, 199 and 200.

SATURDAY was a bad night for the Paddock Classic's individual leaders, and at this point it seems as if the league will not have a 200 man for the first time in a good many seasons. All in the top 10 lost ground on their averages and no regular has more than a 196 average, George Sargent of Great Lakes being tops.

Next Saturday league action will move to Country Lanes in Lake Zurich where league-leading Wheeling Furniture will take on Jeffery Lanes. In another top battle, Martinetti's Restaurant and Pro Sport Center will do battle.

Women's Classic

Six Straight Wins For Steve's Entry

Steve's Restaurant of Wheeling extended its consecutive victory skein to six games and its Paddock Women's Classic Traveling League lead to two games Saturday night as it won all three from Ridge Motors of Des Plaines at Northfield Bowl in Northfield.

Second place Morton Pontiac of Arlington Heights was unable to keep pace, winning two from River-Rand Bowl of Des Plaines. Moyle Construction of Carpentersville took a pair from host Northfield Bowl and moved into third place.

Ridge Motors, bowling out of Sims Bowl in Des Plaines which will be the scene of action next week, came close to Steve's Restaurant, representing Jeffery Lanes in Wheeling, on two occasions. Steve's won the opener by seven pins, 809-802, and the second by eight pins, 895-887, despite a 234 by Rosemary Babich of North Chicago. Steve's Restaurant made it a clean sweep, winning the last game by more than 80 pins behind a 207 game by Captain Delores Harris Wheeling. Rosemary had a 579 series to pace Ridge Motors, while Ann Neumann of Highland Park and Delores Harris led Steve's Restaurant with 560 and 556 triplicates, respectively.

RIVER-RAND Bowl, on a new team high of 934, was able to win only the second game from Morton Pontiac, which calls Beverly Lanes in Arlington Heights home. The main reason was a 214 game by Alice Ulrich of Chicago. Morton won the opener easily as Pat Proebstle of Arlington Heights rolled a 204 game. Both teams sagged badly in the deciding game but Morton came out on top, 766-751, Pat Proebstle again taking care of matters with a 206 effort. Pat had a 572 series for Morton Pontiac but Alice Ulrich took match honors with a 578 for River-Rand.

Moyle Construction, hitting the form it showed last year, racked up the Paddock Classic's high team game, 1017, and high team series, 2735, for the season. Chief reason was Vi Douglas of Palatine. She rolled the league's high individual game, 253, and finished with a 211 game for a 601 series, second hgh for Paddock Woment ond high for Paddock Women this year.

When Moyle rolled its 1017 game, Vi had her 253 game but Alice Nichols of Arlington Heights chipped in with 210 and Bonnie Kuhn of Mundelein posted 199. Vi's 211 game gave Moyle Construction, which bowls out of Country Lanes in Lake Zurich, enough push to win the deciding game. The middle game went to Northfield Bowl when it rolled its season's high, 916, headed by a 195 by Sally Prouty of Wilmette. Northfield Bowl, despite two losses, had a good night with a 2598 series to boost its team average above 800.

Two Million Members Of 4-H Clubs in U.S.

Some say the four-leaf clover is a symbol of luck — perhaps it is. But it also is the symbol of the nation's 4-H club organization.

And there are more than two million club members in the United States who believe the four-leaf clover lives up to its fame.

The club program develops the individual's character, knowledge and skills. With this training, the 4-H member can lead a richer, fuller life and more ably meet the responsibilities of citizenship.

Thus, the club member is not the only one who profits from 4-H membership. The community and the nation reap enormous benefits.

4-H is the official youth program of the U. S. Department of Agriculture Extension Service, and it is jointly financed by federal, state and county funds. In Illinois, 4-H is closely linked to the University of Illinois as part of its off-campus educational effort.

FARM ADVISERS — who represent the University of Illinois Extension Service in 102 of Illinois' counties—work with local leaders to guide the club program. Club work would be impossible without the voluntary, unpaid service of men and women who serve as adult leaders.

Any boy or girl between the ages of 10 and 21 can be a member of the 4-H club. Nine-year-olds are accepted as associate members if they reach that age by January 1 of the current project year.

In the early days of 4-H, the program had a distinctly rural flavor. Today this is not necessarily true. Club work has leaped the boundaries of the farm and ranch, and is now gaining strength in the urban areas. But, it has lost none of its meaning among its rural membership

UPON ENTERING club work, members dedicate themselves to serve "my club, my community and my country." They are organized in clubs and learn to work together. And there is opportunity for leadership which you'll hear much about in club work.

The project is the heart of club work. Each member must sign up for at least one project in which he applies scientific principles and basic skills in a useful, learning situation.

In addition, of course, there are many club activities. Each member takes part in local meetings. He learns to keep records and takes part in demonstrations and judging activities. Community service also rates high among worthwhile club projects.

THERE IS NO cost for membership. All it takes is a sincere interest and willingness to participate in the 4-H club program.

The 4-H projects can be tailored to fit the needs and financial situation of any club member. While some projects require a small investment in animals, crop seed or materials, there are many others which call for no financial outlay.

Essential to the club member's success are the interest and cooperation of the parents. 4-H is blended to family life. You can easily identify the "4-H family" for there you will find a zest for living.

Enroll in an existing 4-H club or start a new one with five or more members. For more information contact the Cooperative Extension Office at 201 N. Dunton ave., Arlington Heights.

Feed Program Needs More Vitamin A

Cattle-feeding programs used by many farmers today may not supply enough vitamin A, research at the University of Illinois shows.

Animal scientists A. L. Neumann and G. S. Smith report that steers on a wintering program of corn silage and soybean meal had little or no reserve vitamin A left in their livers.

Yet the silage that was fed had three to 10 times as much carotene as was recommended to supply an adequate amount of vitamin A.

SOME steers carried through the winter and into spring on heavy silage rations developed a deficiency even though the researchers fed them around 5,000 vitamin A units a day.

The animal scientists now recommend that cattle on high silage rations receive a supplement of at least 10,000 international units of vitamin A per head each day as a preformed or true vitamin A, since carotenes may not be used efficiently in such rations.

The Illinois tests have shown that corn silage grown on soils heavily fertilized with nitrogen contained up to one per cent of nitrate. Steers fed silage containing one per cent of nitrate became depleted of the vitamin A stored in the liver much earlier than steers on a corn silage with a more normal nitrate content.

SINCE nitrate content in corn stalks and leaves may run one per cent and higher, cattle or sheep feeding on corn-stalk fields would also benefit from supplemental vitamin A in the rations fed later in the feeding program.

Neumann and Smith point out that the need for supplemental vitamin A may be even greater when cattle are moved to high corn rations after silage feeding.

Steers moved to a full feed or corn and hay in April and May after wintering on corn silage failed to build up stores of vitamin A in their livers even when researchers supplemented the rations with 8,000 units daily from April through June and 32,000 units daily in July and August.

THESE amounts of vitamin A supplement were apparently adequate to meet daily needs but did not provide for any build-up in the body. These steers, though doing well, might easily have been endangered by any condition that would impose a greater demand for vitamin A, the animal scientists point out.

The researchers also caution cattle feeders who feed stored corn more than a year old. Such grain is often low in carotene, Usually yellow corn contains enough carotene to supply twice the amount of vitamin A needed for growing-fattening cattle.

But corn stored more than a few months has lost a considerable amount of its carotene. High-moisture corn would probably lose carotene more rapidly than stored dry corn.

SO THE animal scientists recommend that high grain rations of stored or high-moisture corn be supplemented with 20,000 to 30,000 international units of vitamin A, either as a preformed vitamin A or as carotenes in hay or alfalfa meal.

Fall Rains Ideal for Quackgrass

Fall rains make ideal growing conditions for quackgrass. And when it's growing well is the best time to really hit it hard with chemical controls, says Robert Hood, Cook county assistant farm adviser.

County farmers who are bothered with quackgrass still have time this fall to apply either dalapon or atrazine before the ground freezes, says Hood. And right now atrazine looks like the best bet.

According to University of Illinois agronomist Ellery Knake, farmers may plant corn in the spring following fall treatment of atrazine. The residues are injurious to other crops.

AFTER A year of corn, it's safe to plant other crops in atrazine-treated land. When using dalapon, farmers can plow in the fall or the following spring and plant to corn or soybeans.

For best results with dalapon, Knake suggests using a rate of 10 pounds in 30 gallons of water. Apply now or early in October, and plow now or in the spring. (FM

Down On The Farm

with Your Farm Adviser

CARL F. MEES

Next week is Fire Prevention Week, and let's hope it ignites a spark under your concern for preventing fires in your home. Fires take a large toll each year in both property and lives. And practically all fires can be prevented. Inspect your properties now and remove all fire hazards. This will make your property fire-safe. Remember do it now!

Harvest season is at hand. In this day of modern machinery, we will be using the combine and corn picker. Along with the ears of corn, how many fingers, arms, hands and legs will be in this season's corn harvest? Even though modern pickers are the safest yet, the annual toll of corn picker accidents still rises. Unclogging a running picker is the biggest villain. The National Safety Council and the U.S. Department of Agriculture urges all of you to be sure that your picker is in safe condition. — keep shields in place — adjust the machine to the condition of the corn — wear snug clothes — and always stop the power take-off before leaving the seat. Take time to avoid costly and deadly accidents. If one can base facts on past statistics, we will have at least one accident in Cook county during the coming harvest season. Let's beat the statistic record this year!

We have heard much in recent months about fall-out and family shelters in case bombs are dropped within our area. A committee of the National Academy of Science in a recent study of national preparedness concluded, "adequate shielding is the only effective means of preventing radiation casualty."

Fall-out is tiny pieces of dust and debris, which are made radioactive by nuclear explosions. When a hydrogen bomb is exploded close to the ground, thousands of tons of these tiny particles of dust and debris are sucked upward high into the air. They help form the mushroom cloud which is always seen with one of these explosions.

Some of the radioactive matter spills out of the cloud near the explosion. Most of it is carried by the wind for many miles. Eventually it settles to earth. It is called fall-out and continues to give off radioactivity until it decays.

Normal amounts of this radioactivity are not dangerous, only when it is present in large amounts does it become dangerous.

What can you do to protect yourself? I have a leaflet entitled, "Facts about Fallout Protection" which I would be happy to send each one of you. I also have a publication entitled "The Family Fall-out Shelter." If you would like a copy of this publication I would be happy to send it to you. It gives in detail how a family fall-out shelter should be built, so that you would be adequately protected. If you would like these publications, contact my office.

A last reminder — with fall coming on and the leaves dropping from the trees, many of them will fall on your roof or in your gutters. A good idea would be to remove these leaves from the gutters and downspouts before winter. A plugged downspout could cause ice-dams and a consequent roof leak. Do it before the leaves become frozen in the gutters and downspouts.

Discovery May be Cow Fever Cure

The discovery of para-influenza 3 may be another step in solving the mystery of what causes shipping fever, Dr. George Woods, University of Illinois veterinarian, told conferees attending the second annual Conference on Zoonoses. The two-day meeting began today at Allerton Park in Monticello.

Para-influenza 3 is a virus that has been isolated from cattle with shipping fever. This virus is similar to a virus isolated from children with respiratory disease, Dr. Woods said.

HOWEVER, scientists are not sure whether para-influenza 3 is zoonotic, that is, whether infected cattle can infect people or vice versa.

Testing of feeder cattle in Illinois indicates that infection with para-influenza 3 is just as common here as it is in other parts of the country. "Antibodies have been found in about 70 to 90 per cent of mature cattle from widespread areas in the United States," Dr. Woods said. Antibodies provide a built-in resistance to disease.

Cows that have been infected with shipping fever pass antibodies on to their calves via the colostrum, the cow's first milk. These antibodies persist for several months in some calves, Dr. Woods said.

ANTIBODIES are also produced through vaccines. Dr. Woods said, "Calves vaccinated a few days before weaning have shown antibodies that persist during the critical period of exposure and stress following weaning and shipment."

Para-influenza 3 has not been present in all cases of shipping fever, Dr. Woods said. If the virus is not accompanied by certain bacteria or stress, it may not cause significant symptoms of shipping fever.

Announce Plan To Fete Congressmen

Seven state and federal government agencies have just announced an overall plan of cooperation in conserving Illinois' soil and water resources.

In announcing their plans, these agencies aim to strengthen and increase cooperation in carrying out their assigned duties. They have agreed to these general policies:

1. All agencies will seek to improve their educational programs for soil and water users if they have any responsibilities in this area.

2. ALL agencies will work with local agencies and local people so that maximum progress may be achieved.

3. Staff members of these agencies will meet at regular intervals to discuss policies and any problems that may arise in carrying out their programs at both state and local levels.

4. All agencies will strive to understand each other's responsibilities and use the facilities of each agency in a total conservation program.

5. The real goal of all agencies is to get soil and water resources used most effectively, from the standpoint of both the individual owner and the public at large.

6. THE public and particularly those employed by each agency should know what each agency is prepared to do.

Agencies cooperating in this program include the Illinois Department of Agriculture, Illinois Department of Conservation, Superintendent of Public Instruction, Illinois Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, U. S. Farmers Home Administration, U. S. Soil Conservation Service, and University of Illinois College of Agriculture, Agricultural Experiment Station and Extension Service in Agriculture and Home Economics. (FM

Report Says Market On Hogs 'Moderate'

By L. H. SIMERL

The USDA makes a survey and report on hog production four times each year. These reports are released in March, June, September and December.

The September report indicates that market supplies of hogs will be moderate this fall. No big increase in production is yet in sight.

OCTOBER - December Markets. The official report showed that farmers had 10 per cent more pigs three to six months old on hand September 1 than they had a year before. Most of these pigs will be marketed in the October - December quarter.

While 10 per cent is a sizable increase, remember that market supplies were comparatively small in this period last year. Prices of barrows and gilts at eight midwest terminal markets held very close to $17.30 a hundred pounds. Prices may average about $2.00 lower this fall.

JANUARY - March Markets. Farmers had only 2 per cent more pigs under three months old on September 1 than they had a year earlier. These pigs will make the pork supply in the January-March quarter. Prices seem likely to be about the same as a year before, when they averaged $17.66 at midwest terminals.

APRIL-JUNE Markets. The crystal ball begins to get cloudy at this distance. The reports turned in by farmers showed that they would have 5 per cent more sows farrow in this present quarter than they had a year ago. The number of pigs saved per litter may be up 1 or 2 per cent too.

Thus the total number of pigs saved may be up 6 or 7 per cent over a year ago. These pigs will be on the market in the April-June quarter next year. Prices may average $1 to $2 lower than the $16.67 average posted in the corresponding quarters of this year.

LAST HALF of '62. The crystal ball becomes more cloudy at this long range. But some things can be seen.

The government pig crop report showed that farmers planned to have 4 per cent more sows farrow in the December-February quarter than they had a year before. Ordinarily about 37 per cent of the spring pig crop is farrowed in these winter months.

Total spring farrowings seem likely to be up only slightly from 1961. It appears that the hog-corn price ratio during the breeding months this fall may be around 14 (on the basis of local market prices). This would be about equal to the 10-year average for the fall months.

Some farmers will, of course, increase production. But many are already using their facilities at full capacity. Finally, some of the smaller producers, especially outside the main corn belt, will cut hog production because they put most or all of their corn land into the idle acres program.

SUMARY. Farmers are increasing hog production only moderately. Prices seem likely to be good enough to make average profits for producers during the next 12 to 15 months. (FM

Illinois Farmers Pay Record Taxes in 1960

Illinois farm land owners paid a new record amount in real estate taxes in 1960, a University of Illinois professor of agricultural law reported this week.

According to N. G. P. Krausz, the total farm real estate tax bill was $123.1 million, 3.7 per cent above 1959 and nearly double the 1950 figure. Illinois farm land owners pay the second highest land tax bill in the United States. Only California land owners pay more.

ON THE basis of preliminary estimates, Krausz figures that land taxes took 17 per cent of the net farm income.

The average 1960 Illinois land tax levy of $4.07 per acre was the highest of the corn-belt states. The average levy for all other corn-belt states was $2.18. The U. S. average was $1.20. Only four northeastern states had a higher per acre levy than Illinois.

High value of Illinois farmland does not account for our higher taxes, Krausz points out. When taxes are computed on the basis of $100 full value, the Illinois tax remains the highest in the cornbelt and far above the U. S. average.

BESIDES the real estate tax, Illinois farmers paid an estimated $22 million in personal property taxes in 1960. Adding personal and realty taxes together makes the per acre tax $4.80.

This average is very high considering that on some poor land in the state taxes are below $1.00 per acre.

Public schools receive the largest portion of real estate and property tax revenues, Krausz reports. Rising school enrollment continues to create demands for new schools, additional staff and larger operating costs. Spending for roads and welfare, however, is also increasing.

MORE increases in real property taxes can be expected as long as the Illinois tax structure remains basically the same, Krausz believes. There has been a leveling-off trend, however, in the past two years.

In 1959 and 1960, the percentage increase was not so large in Illinois as in neighboring states. (FM

Sees Flight To Freedom

by MELDA LYNN

A Mount Prospect teacher has recently returned to the United States from Germany, where she was an eyewitness of the Berlin situation at the time that East Germans were fleeing that Communist dominated territory.

Miss Dolores Hudson, 419 N. Pine st., a German teacher at Prospect high school, was one of nine American teachers who spent most of the summer in Germany.

They participated in a seminar and educational tour sponsored by the travel division of the National Education Assn. The group flew by jet from New York July 1 and returned August 18.

The seminar was located at the Academy for Political Education at Tutzing, Upper Bavaria, and was attended by German as well as American teachers.

FOLLOWING THE seminar the U. S. group spent three weeks traveling through parts of Germany. One of the highlights was a visit to the Marienfelde refugee camp in Berlin when the East Germans were fleeing the area.

Miss Hudson said the refugees did not look especially unhappy, afraid or underfed. While she did not see anything "too much out of the ordinary" she did think perhaps the fact that she spent a year in Germany six years ago as an exchange teacher may have made her feel "too much at home" to notice the unusual.

"The average German does not sit around thinking about the United States or the American people as much as Americans seem to think they do," she said.

"AMERICA to them is just another country and not nearly as important as we like to feel it is."

She said she did not notice any great sentiment either for or against America, nor did she think people were terribly upset about conditions there.

"I did not talk politics with friends I visited.

"I DID NOTICE one thing, though. The prosperity there now, compared to conditions six years ago seems like a miracle. People dress better, look better, healthier, and the stores have more merchandise. There are many new buildings and prosperity is evident everywhere."

While most Americans wonder how West Germany can take care of the record number of refugees, Miss Hudson says there is no problem as far as work is concerned.

"There is a great labor shortage in West Germany. The section has had to import workers from Spain, Greece and Italy. There is only a housing shortage."

MISS HUDSON found Germans were very specific and anxious to "set the record straight" as far as the so-called East and West Germany names are applied by the rest of the world.

"The consider East Germany the section occupied by the Polish and occupied by the Russians. The portion American news calls East Germany is Central Germany, and they are emphatic in their displeasure over Central Germany being called East Germany."

To the Germans there is East, Central and West Germany.

MISS HUDSON, while she was happy to visit in Germany, a country for which she has a great liking, did not feel the seminar and tour was what she had expected.

The seminar consisted of lectures twice a day, followed by discussion groups. It was an experimental program set up by the NEA.

Already, the NEA plans to change many of the features of the program because of evident discontent over the first summer's program.

OTHER TOURS into Scandinavian countries sponsored by the NEA have proved successful, and as a result the German tour was planned.

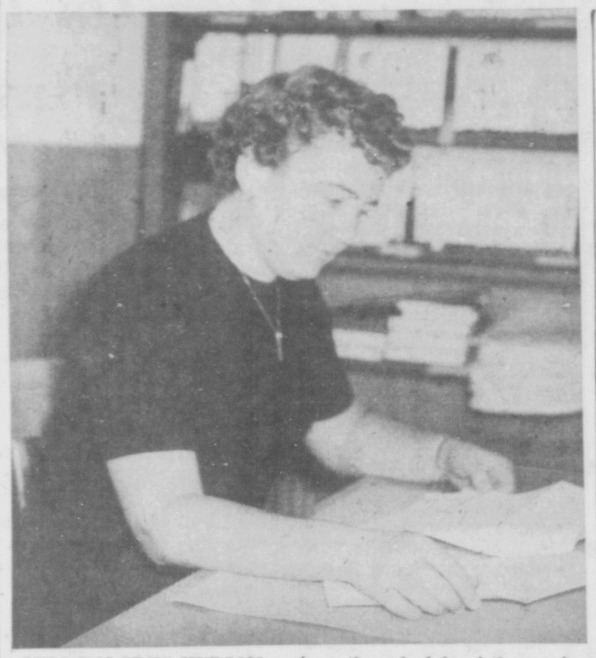
The classes were taught by good educators, most of them refugees from many parts of the world.

The first week, from July 2 through 8, was devoted to lectures pertaining to politics and elementary education. The second week to economics, cultural life and secondary education and the third to social problems and higher education.

Miss Hudson especially enjoyed a talk by a German newspaperman from the Frankfort Allgemeine. He explained the main differences between the German and other world press reporting techniques.

"THE GERMAN newspapers are much different than American. They do not have society sections or an editorial page as American papers do," Miss Hudson recalled. "The papers are not concerned with local news, but all stress national and international news."

Miss Hudson, who has an evident love for Germany, hopes to make other trips there, but plans to go "on her own" and not as a part of a tour. I'm sorry to say, the tour itself was a "miserable experience."



MISS DOLORES HUDSON reviews the schedule of the seminar she attended in Germany last summer. She is a German teacher at Prospect high school. (B8

Agnosticism Is Topic For Fellowship Sunday

Continuing the Sunday morning series on religions of the world, John A. Fitzwater will present the viewpoint of agnosticism, the doctrine that neither the existence nor the ultimate origin of the universe is known or knowable.

Fitzwater, a resident of Streamwood, is chairman of Countryside Unitarian Universalist Fellowship. He believes, "Most people at some point in their lives are agnostics, but few embrace it as a positive force in their spiritual lives. While often thought of as negative, it can actually be positive in nature, and must, above all, create humility.

"TO ADMIT to such a position requires honesty and it is not always easy to maintain in the teeth of such labels as 'heretic' and the misapplied term 'atheist.' But it is rewarding to feel no hypocrisy and to realize that man is ever searching for new truth and insights."

Hasbrook Shows New Models At Plum Grove Countryside

Key Plumbing
1620 W NORTHWEST HIGHWAY
ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, ILL
CLEARBROOK 9-320

Newlyweds, retired couples, and large families were in the back of builder Albert E. Riley's mind when he designed two models for Hasbrook Corp's. Plum Grove Countryside community in Rolling Meadows.

This week-end the results will be shown in the form of the 1,600 square foot Meadow ranch and the 2,496 square foot Countryside "raised ranch."

The new houses bring to four the number of models Riley is offering in the 340-home subdivision. Earlier this month the company opened the community with the unveiling of a 2-story colonial home and a ranch model.

THE MEADOW has three bedrooms, a bath, living room, dining area, full-size kitchen with eating space and an attached garage with storage room.

A luminous ceiling — made of fluorescent tubes behind a corrugated plastic diffusing screen - creates shadowless lighting in the bathroom, which has a double-bowl vanity.

Other features of the Meadow, priced at $20,950, including a 70-foot landscaped lot, are ceramic tiled floor in the foyer, twin closets in the master bedroom and a built-in Westinghouse oven range and disposer in the kitchen.

SHOWN IN ITS contemporary face, Hasbrook's Meadow ranch is also available in traditional elevation. The house has three bedrooms, one bath, living room, dining area, kitchen with dinette and attached garage with storage area. Price is $20,950 with 70-foot lot. (BB

SUBURBANITES IN THE NEWS

HASBROOK'S Countryside "raised ranch" is a new concept in home design styled in a two-story structure, with a 2-car garage, powder room, utility room and family room on first floor.

The second floor has the living and dining rooms, kitchen, three bedrooms, and two baths. Price is $26,250, including finished family room with wood-burning fireplace and lot as above.

The new models as well as the two announced earlier are available with either traditional or contemporary styling. Homes have oak hardwood floors, wood double-hung windows, gas heat, Micarta counters, hood and fan in the kitchen, stainless steel twin-bowl kitchen sink, and 40-gallon gas water heater.

PLUM GROVE Countryside is located within the city of Rolling Meadows. The entrance is on Rt. 53, two miles north of the exit on the Northwest Tollway. Models are open daily until dusk and until dark on Saturdays and Sundays. (BB

Credit Executive Speaks to Group

Regis A. Balkey, 1422 N. Thomas, Arlington Heights, spoke at the September meeting of the Chicago Metropolitan Landscapers Association in Addison.

In a talk entitled "How You Can Get What's Coming To You," Balkey sketched for the landscape group the history of credit and its application in the streamlined American economy of the '60s.

"To be in business at all in the modern sense is to be a creditor," Balkery, who is a vice the president of the Collection Division of the Credit Bureau of Cook County, Inc., noted.

"If you're not paid at the time of sale, you are a creditor —be your profession landscaping or medicine."

BALKEY, speaking at the request of the CMLA programs and education committee, noted the special credit problems of the seasonal professions, such as landscaping, for which poor credit risks are especially hazardous.

Balkey told how in 1945 the amount of outstanding consumer credit in the U. S. was $14: how by 1958 it had reached $48 billion, and how finally in 1961 it jumped to $53 billion.

A group of about fifty landscapers from Chicago suburban sections heard Balkey speak. (BB

White Spots Can Be Corrected with Care

by BOB WILKIN

Here are a few tips you may find helpful in your furniture refinishing ventures.

Did you know — that those pesky white spots which appear on furniture surfaces can be polished away? A steel-wool pad of the finest grade dampened with linseed oil, a furniture polish, or a good paste wax will do the job on dull finishes.

FOR MEDIUM surfaces which are neither dull nor glossy try rubbing with your household scouring powder dampened to a pastelike texture with water.

If the whitened surface is a high gloss, dampen your steel wool pad with the pre-wax cleaner you use on your automobile.

Did you know — that white shellac is hard to work with and therefore, for most jobs it should be mixed with orange shellac? When you've once opened a can of any shellac, pour the unused portion into a glass jar for storage. Shellac will darken when kept in a once-opened can.

DID YOU KNOW — that by brushing over two or three coatings of shellac with a coat of clear varnish you can have a finish that has all the wearing quality and beauty of shellac plus the protection of varnish against alcohol stains, humidity and the like.

Did you know — that warped table leaves can be straightened? First, with a good semi-paste remover, strip the finish off the leaves. Dampen a small portion of your lawn. Lay the leaves on the ground, concave side up near the dampened area and pour hot water on them.

Then flip them over so that the wet, concave sides are face down on the dampened earth and the sun can get at the dry, convex (humped) sides. A good hefty rock placed atop the hump should speed things up a bit. Depending upon the degree of the warp, the straightening process will take from a few hours to a few days.

DID YOU KNOW — that tired old finish can be snapped up by a good scrubbing with soap and water followed with several applications of a mixture of equal parts of turpentine and linseed oil. After the final application has been allowed to soak for an hour or so, wipe the surface dry. Then go to work with a good canuba wax.

Behrens Is Named Representative

The Aims Corporation (American Institute of Marketing Systems, Inc.) a nationwide association of real estate brokers, announced this week the selection and the appointment of Carl M. Behrens and Associates as its representative in the northwest suburban area.

Carl M. Behrens and Associates now offers services to residents leaving the area, and to families who will relocate in Arlington Heights, Palatine, and Mt. Prospect from other areas of the country.

AS A MEMBER of AIMS, Carl M. Behrens said, "We can now offer an entirely new and more efficient system for handling residential real estate transactions in the Northwest area."

Of special interest to families moving to other cities from this area is the Aims National Award Home system which offers prospective sellers listing services on a nation wide basis. This program also offers prospective buyers of home, both locally and nationally, the opportuniy to shop for residential property in the comfort and convenience of their own residences — without cost or obligation.

The entire family can carefully examine in detail a variety of homes within price ranges of interest. It is claimed that his new marketing program, affording the "showing of homes" on a local as well as national basis, will result in much better methods for the public than now generally used in the real estate business.

THE AIMS brochure will picture all the outstanding features of a home and will give a complete description of the pertinent details a home buyer would be most terested in. It will also include a check-list of points to look for in determining home values, so that important components are not overlooked.

These services are available at no cost to either buyer or seller of residential properties, according to Behrens. "It will be another extra public service to our firm," he explained.

The Aims Corporation puts its brochures in contact with home buyers all over the nation who are moving to the northwest area. A good percentage of homes sold in this area are sold to families who have moved here from another city. (BB

Centex Names Sladek Sales Office Manager

William J. Sladek has just been appointed office manager of Centex Construction company's Elk Grove Village sales office, according to an announcement made this week by John Horky Jr., sales manager. A native of the area, Sladek was born in Lombard, and is a graduate of York Community high school, Elmhurst.

A VETERAN of the Korean conflict, as a member of the United States Marines, he returned to DuPage county following discharge. He attended Elmhurst college and the Central YMCA real estate institute.

After one year with Great Western Savings and Loan in Los Angeles, he became investment officer at Oak Park Federal Savings and Loan Assn. as a mortgage and loan analyst. Following a 4-year association with Winston-Muss as their title closing officer, Sladek came to Centex and Elk Grove Village in April of this year. (BB

The occasion for the awards was the 15th annual "Old Timers" party, a dinner-dance held Sept. 23 in the grand ballroom of the Sheraton-Chicago hotel. Two hundred seventy employees plus wives, husbands, or sweethearts attended. Membership in the Old Timers' club is open only to Bruning employees with five years or more with the company, regardless of position or title. More than 50 per cent of the total employee force at the Mount Prospect Bruning plant and Chicago branch were in attendance. (BB

Edward B. Coyle Honored By Pacific Mutual Ins. Co.

Edward B. Coyle, agency manager for Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Co., Chicago was awarded the coveted chartered life underwriter designation at national conferment exercises of the American College of Life Underwriters in Denver, Colo., on September 27.

THE AMERICAN College of Life Underwriters grants the C.L.U. designation to persons in life and health insurance who pass a series of professional examinations and meet the stringent experience and ethical requirements of the college. This year 1,076 men and women will be awarded the designation, bringing to 9,802 the number of people who have received it since the College was founded in 1927.

Coyle, received his B.S. degree in business administration in 1953 from Loyola university and entered the life insurance business in 1954 as an agent. He was promoted to assistant manager in 1956 and in 1957 was appointed agency manager in Chicago for Pacific Mutual. He resides at 207 S. Wilke rd., Arlington Heights, with his wife, Ruth, and their seven children.

THE C.L.U. PROGRAM was established to meet the professional education needs of the men and women who provide life and health insurance service for the public. The courses cover such areas as: fundamentals of life and health insurance; group insurance, health insurance and pensions; law, trusts and taxation; economics and finance; and business insurance and estate planning.

Candidates for the C.L.U. designation enroll in special study classes at a college or university and spend three to four years in the program. Locally, classes are taught at De Paul university. Persons who attain the chartered life underwriter designation are privileged to use the term or its abbreviation (C.L.U.) after their name and to wear the C.L.U. key. They are also eligible to become members of the American Society of Chartered Life Underwriters, a professional body whose principle objective is to maintain service to the public. (BB

Pharmacists Salutes 'Round Clock' Workers

This is the 37th annual National Pharmacy week commemorating the founding of the American Pharmaceutical association on October 7, 1852, established as a salute to the 117,000 pharmacists who practice in community pharmacies, hospitals, colleges and industry.

It is significant to note that about 90 per cent of these men and women are available to the general public on an "around the clock" basis in the 54,000 pharmacies throughout the country.

A DEGREE in pharmacy requires five years of academic study. Several pharmacy colleges require six years. Following graduation, a pharmacist must pass a rigid examination by the State Board of Pharmacy in the state of his choice before being licensed.

Many states also require a year of internship under the supervision of a registered pharmacist as a prerequisite to licensure.

Approximately 4,000 graduates are required each year to maintain and improve the effectiveness of our community pharmacies and pharmaceutical research. Ninety per cent of the total figure, or 103,000, serve in local capacities.

THERE WERE around 711 million prescriptions dispensed in the United States last year. According to one survey, the average prescription during that time cost $3.20.

The average yearly dollar gross sales total per pharmacy in '60 ran $40,000 for the independent and $41,300 yearly average for the chain owned pharmacy. (BB

Add Second Store In Barrington

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Mathews, of Tower Lakes, owners of The Keynote Studio, 102 W. Main, Barrington, have acquired an additional store at 108 N. Hough st. around the corner from their present location.

Mathews points out that this is not for the purpose of moving but to obtain much needed floor space for storage and display of both new and used pianos and organs, piano service and refinishing, teaching and possible addition of other musical lines.

According to Mr. and Mrs. Mathews, a growing number of piano and organ sales involve trade-ins which require both service and display space. A rapid growth in the number of models produced by the leading organ manufacturer has also contributed to the inventory problem.

FOR EXAMPLE when The Keynote Studio opened in November, 1958, the Lowrey Organ Co. was producing three different models. The same company now makes 11 models most of which are available in three styles and five different woods.

Small portable chord organs, music and accessories are also growing in quantity and the original single piano line carried by Keynote is now five covering the entire piano market from the lowest priced, but good quality instruments to the finest available in the world, which are imported from West Germany.

The Keynote Studio was opened in late November 1958 at 240 E. Main with less than 500 square feet of space. The following summer the balance of the street floor at that address was added and on Feb. 1, 1960, Keynote moved to its present location. (BB

Course for Non-Lawyers At University of Chicago

Impact of the Illinois Fair Employment Practices act will be discussed by Charles W. Gray, Prospect Heights, chairman of the state's Fair Employment Practices commission, at a one-day seminar at the LaSalle Hotel, Friday, Oct. 6.

The seminar is one of the 1961-62 series of law courses for non-lawyers presented by the downtown center of the University of Chicago.

FEATURED speakers on the same subject will include Edward Marciniak, executive director, Chicago Commission on Human Relations; Joseph Minsky, secretary of the Illinois Committee for FEPC; and State Senator Marshall Korshak (5th District).

Gray, director of industrial relations for Bell and Howell Co., was appointed FEPC chairman September 19. He was director of economic projects at the University of Chicago's industrial relations center before joining Bell and Howell in 1957.

The seminar will cover a wide range of recent legal changes affecting employment practices in Illinois, said Marvin W. Mindes, attorney who is coordinator of the law courses for non-lawyers program.

OTHER TOPICS include a description of new credit legislation for handling wage attachment and garnishment; changes in workmen's and unemployment compensation; amendments to the Fair Labor Practices Act; and changes in handling of representative cases by the National Labor Relations board. Seminar co-chairmen are Harold A. Katz, special counsel for the Illinois State AFL-CIO, and Theophil C. Kammholz, former general counsel for the NLRB. (BB

SAVE MONEY...

BY BIDDING

on these fine Crystal Lake HOMES!

HERE'S WHY—

These Crystal Lake homes MUST be sold on the basis of individual bids to be opened publicly in the office of James D. Connell at 11 a.m. on the 14th day of October, 1961.

Personal inspection of these homes may be made by appointment thru any of the Multiple offices. Minimum prices for these homes have been fixed at far below regular sales values.

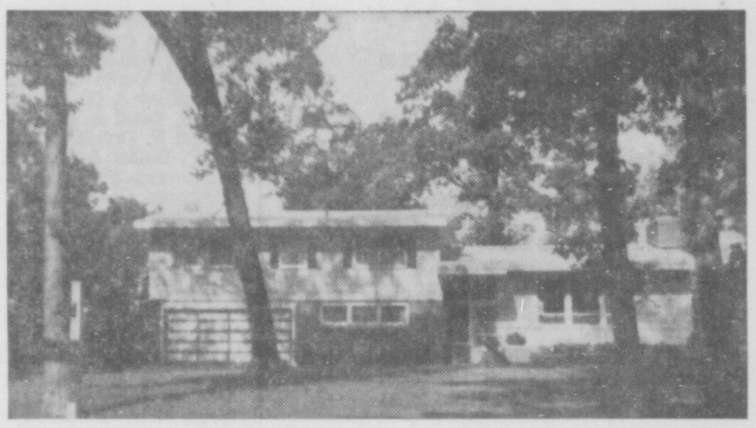
This is done in the public interest as a new concept in merchandising Crystal Lake homes that MUST be sold. It creates a quick market for the seller and offers prompt bidders the opportunity of saving substantially on their purchase.

HERE'S HOW—

Each prospective purchaser must submit a separate and unqualified bid on the home of their choice in a sealed envelope in forms supplied by Multiple Listing Service. The street address of the home shall be printed on the upper left-hand corner of the envelope.

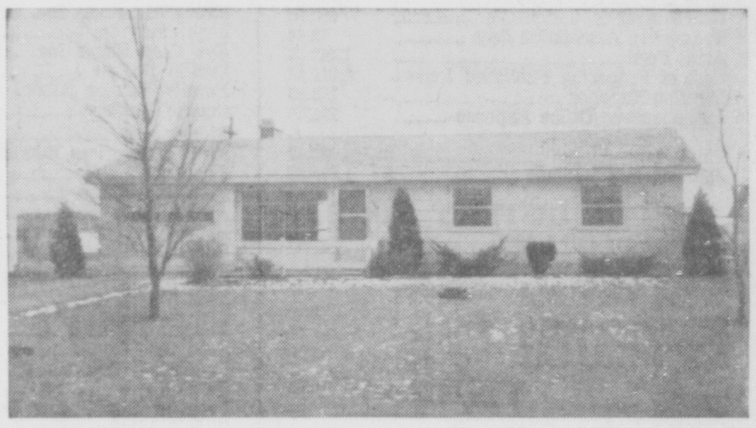
Each bid must be in an amount equal to, or in excess of, the minimum price for each home fixed thru the Multiple Listing Service of Crystal Lake by sellers, and must be accompanied by a deposit in a sum equal to 10 per cent of the bid in the form of a certified check or cashier's check made payable to the Multiple Listing Escrow account. All monies deposited will be returned to unsuccessful bidders.

Each bid will be posted as to time and date received, so in the event of duplicate bids, the first bids received will take priority. All bids will be publicly opened and read aloud at 11 a.m. on the 14th day of October, 1961, in the office of James D. Connell. The Multiple Listing Service of Crystal Lake reserves the right to reject any and/or all bids.

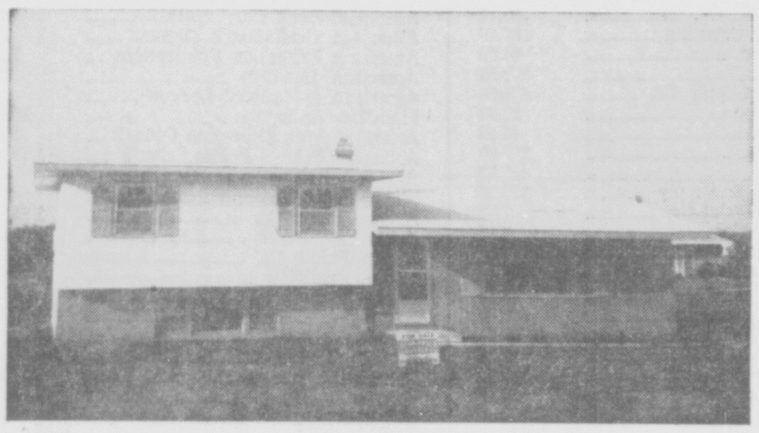


New home in one of Crystal Lake's estate sections, 8 rooms, 4 bedrooms, 2½ baths, many built-in features.

Almost new ranch in good location, full basement, 3 bedrooms and ceramic tile bath, low taxes.



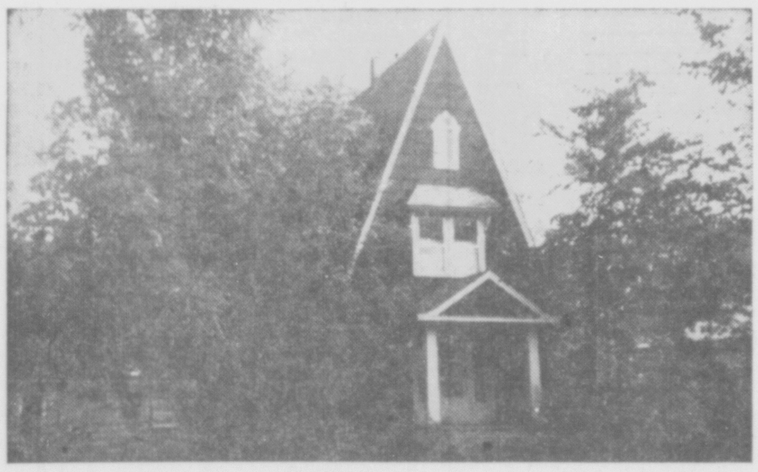
This 4 bedroom home with 1½ baths, fireplace and gas heat will go at a low price.



New 8 room split level, 4 bedrooms, 2 baths, beautiful kitchen with built-ins. This home may go in the low, low 20's.

Ideal Lakewood location with private beach rights on large wooded lot, full basement with family room, large living room, dining room, kitchen and ½ bath, with 3 bedrooms and bath up.

Well kept 3 bedroom home in key location. Close to all schools, shopping and transportation.



Excellent location for professional man, 6½ rooms, 3 bedrooms, full basement, low taxes.

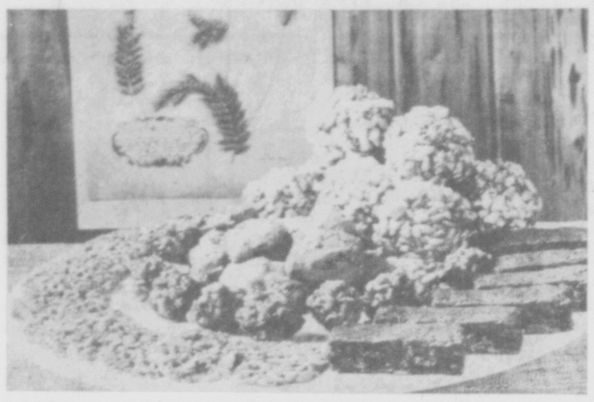
Molasses Taffy Cookies Vary With Crisp Cereal



Molasses cookies have been favorites with children ever since earliest colonial days. Modern ships now, as sailing vessels did then, bring a delicately flavored molasses called "unsulphured" from the West Indies to America.

This molasses is a popular sweetener and flavorer in cookies and a wide range of cookie styles and flavor variations can be developed by using a favorite cereal as an ingredient.

OATMEAL cookies with the nutlike addition of the cereal and the taffy flavor of molasses can be fashioned into lacy, crisp cookies. A truly delightful macaroon can be achieved with molasses and bite-size shredded rice biscuits.

These little cereal pillows give a chewy macaroon texture to the cookies. Molasses and rice crispies or puffed rice become cookie balls, sort of a variation on the popcorn ball.

MOLASSES - CEREAL cookies are more than dessert treats. They actually help out on the daily nutritive needs. There is the energy value and rich supply of iron from unsulphured molasses. The cereal supplies protein and B vitamins.

MOLASSES PUFFED BALLS

½ cup unsulphured molasses
½ cup sugar
1½ teaspoons butter
2 quarts puffed rice cereal

Combine unsulphured molasses, sugar and butter in a 2-quart saucepan. Place over low heat, stirring constantly, until sugar is dissolved.

Cook over medium heat until syrup, when dropped in very cold water, separates into threads which are hard but not brittle, or until candy thermometer reaches 270 degrees.

Pour syrup over puffed rice, stirring quickly to coat each kernel. When cool enough to handle, shape into large balls with lightly buttered hands.

Yield: one dozen. To make miniature balls, cut recipe in half and substitute crispy rice cereal for puffed rice. Shape into one-inch balls; makes 3 dozen.

MOLASSES OATMEAL LACE THINS

½ cup butter
¼ cup milk
¼ cup unsulphured molasses
1 teaspoon vanilla
¾ cup sifted all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup sugar
1 cup rolled oats
1 cup finely chopped nuts

Melt butter in large saucepan. Remove from heat; stir in milk, unsulphured molasses and vanilla. Sift in flour, baking powder, salt and sugar; mix well.

Stir in oats and chopped nuts. Drop by level teaspoonfuls 2 inches apart on greased baking sheets. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees) 6 to 8 minutes.

Cool about one minute; remove from pan. Cool. Yield: Approximately 4 dozen.

MOLASSES MERINGUES

¼ cup unsulphured molasses
½ teaspoon cornstarch
½ teaspoon baking powder
2 egg whites
¾ cup sugar
½ teaspoon almond flavoring
½ teaspoon lemon flavoring
½ cup coconut
1 cup bite size shredded rice biscuit crumbs (2 cups shredded rice biscuits)

Combine molasses, cornstarch and baking powder; reserve. Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry; gradually add sugar and beat until very stiff.

Carefully fold in molasses mixture; fold in flavorings, coconut and crumbs. Drop by teaspoonfuls about 2 inches apart on baking sheets covered with brown paper.

Bake in a slow oven (300 degrees) 30 minutes. Remove from paper when cool. Yield: Approximately 2½ dozen.

MOLASSES DATE BARS

1 egg, beaten
½ cup sugar
½ cup unsulphured molasses
¼ cup melted butter
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon baking soda
½ cup whole bran cereal
1 cup chopped dates

Combine egg, sugar, unsulphured molasses, butter and vanilla. Sift together flour, salt and soda; stir into egg mixture. Stir in bran and dates.

Turn into a lightly greased and floured 8-inch square pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) 45 minutes. Cool and cut into 1 x 2-inch bars. Yield: 32 bars. (SH

New Burger Taste

Popular the year round, beef-burgers broiled in the kitchen range take on new dimensions with the artful seasoning of bottled all-purpose barbecue sauce.

Season the meat before broiling with this new zesty sauce, and you'll be surprised how much of the "open pit" flavor it lends to burgers.

The difference in flavor is in the perfectly seasoned sauce.

CHEESE WHAMBURGERS

2 tablespoons all-purpose barbecue sauce
¼ teaspoon salt
1½ pounds ground beef
6 slices of cheese

Stir barbecue sauce and salt into beef. Shape into round patties. Broil on both sides; then top each patty with a slice of cheese and spoon on additional barbecue sauce.

Continue broiling until cheese is melted—about one minute. Makes about 6 servings. (SH

Cooler weather stimulus to consumer demand is easily met by abundant supplies of red meats and poultry to hold prices steady at retail and to establish values as a smorgasbord on a dealer's choice basis.

Eggs apparently have reached seasonal price peaks on a slight increase this week.

Supply area adjustments and continuing weather impairment build price pressures under produce lines and restrict consumer value selections, although those bargains that do appear in stores are clear-cut.

THE ARRAY OF consensus values appearing in the University of Illinois consumer service column for the period ending October 7 include:

Poultry — turkeys and stewing hens; meats — beef chuck and rump roasts, round steak, pork butts and spare ribs, and lamb roasts and chops; produce — apples, pears, grapes, potatoes, carrots, brussels sprouts, cucumbers and onions.

The only significant retail price changes this week occur in eggs, receding supplies of small size Grade A now commanding 33-35 cents, increasing supplies of medium size holding 47-49 cents and less available large sizes climbing 2 cents to 57-61 cents until volume builds.

POULTRY meats are significantly under the gun of price discounting in the face of heavy supply backlogs, with more production coming. Turkeys, for instance, now are some 41,000,000 pounds ahead of storage stocks last year despite heavy government purchases in recent weeks and other poultry meats top year-ago storage by an aggregate of some 4,000,000 pounds.

More action occurred at the live and wholesale channels and could be indicative of retail tones in the future.

Live cattle receipts in Chicago were up sharply but lag year-ago levels. Supplies were the largest since January. But good movement held costs mostly steady to only slightly lower.

WHOLESALE beef fell ½ cent on slow carcass trade and as much as 2 cents on such primal cuts as ribs and loins. Chucks and rounds moved well at steady quotes.

Ship-out demand for live hogs took 50 per cent of Chicago marketings, but again increased supplies compensated so that quotes were off ½ cent on good activity.

Wholesale pork loins fell ½ cent from the week-ago average, spare ribs were lower on the increased volume. Pork butts registered a one cent increase on volume demand.

LIVE LAMB receipts were equal to week-ago and year-ago, but the cooler weather demand sent quotes up ½ cent to mark the first increase in eight weeks. Wholesale lamb demand was rated as only moderate and quotes held steady.

Poultry offerings were liberal, to use another word for a prevailing abundant supply condition. Cost tones were rated steady to weak. By kinds, turkeys bid lower again, stewing hens were unsettled and fryers unchanged.

Produce markets reflected weather conditions and seasonally changing production patterns. For instance, western lettuce is making an appearance here at reduced prices but in spotty quality. Rain-delayed carrots are improving in volume at declining prices.

CELERY COSTS are weakening. Cauliflower continues scarce. Higher priced are sweetcorn, radishes, salad greens, green beans, cabbage and broccoli. Peaches are practically out of the market. Apples are abundant. (SH

Mother Of 5 Warms Kitchen, Hearts With Oven Tempters

CRISPY, CRUNCHY oatmeal cookies make an appealing and nourishing after school snack for children. Here Kenneth, Carol, David, Danny and Tommy Peterson are happily munching on these tempting treats. Their mother, Mrs. Willard E. Peterson of Mt. Prospect, likes this oatmeal cookie recipe better than any she has ever tried. (SH

Here is a recipe that should catch on quick in suburban circles. It is a unique and appealing method for preparing pork tenderloins and turning them into elegant company fare.

The recipe has been shared with us by Mrs. Willard E. Peterson of Mt. Prospect, and it is one of her favorites for family or company meals.

Easy to prepare, the dish simply consists of individual pork tenderloin patties topped by slices of onion, cheese, tomato and bacon.

BAKED FOR 1½ hours, the pork is juicy, tender and tasty, and the combination of flavors from the toppings is delicious, indeed.

"I like to serve baked potatoes and green beans as accompaniments for this meat dish," said Joan Peterson. "And any type of salad is suitable, either a tossed or molded gelatin."

Almost any dessert, too, goes well with this tempting dinner and homemakers will appreciate the minimum of fuss involved in its preparation as well as the maximum of flavor enjoyment.

ANOTHER of this good cook's favorite recipes is for Crispy Oatmeal Cookies, which make a big hit with the Petersons five children.

"With school now in session most mothers like to have homemade cookies on hand for their youngsters," commented Mrs. Peterson. "And this recipe satisfies the requirements of our family, for the cookies are high in both quality and quantity."

The recipe was given to Mrs. Peterson from a Swedish lady, and she likes it better than any other oatmeal cookie she has tried.

SUCCESSFUL HOMEMAKING

by LOIS SEILER

THERE ARE three cups of oatmeal in the ingredients, which makes them quite nourishing, as well as chopped nuts.

The baked cookies are flat and crispy and their crunchiness and good flavor makes them appealing to adults as well as children.

The five Peterson children who enjoy these cookies are: David, 9; Kenneth, 7; Carol, 5; Danny, 3, and Tommy, 1½.

The Peterson family lives at 215 N. Fairview in Mt. Prospect. Mrs. Peterson is a member of the Womens Fellowship of the Northwest Covenant church and the PTA.

BAKED PORK TENDERLOIN PATTIES

6 pork tenderloin patties
6 small slices onion
6 slices American cheese
6 slices tomato
6 slices bacon

Place pork tenderloin patties in baking dish. Place a slice of cheese and then a slice of tomato. Cut bacon strips of half and place cross-wise over the tomato.

Cover and bake in a 350 degree oven for one hour and 15 minutes. Remove cover and bake an additional 15 minutes until the bacon is brown.

Serves 6.

CRISPY OATMEAL COOKIES

1 cup shortening
1 cup granulated sugar
1 cup brown sugar
2 beaten eggs
1½ cups flour
1 teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
3 cups oatmeal
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup chopped nuts

Cream shortening. Add sugars and cream together thoroughly; add beaten eggs.

Sift flour, soda and salt together; beat into batter. Lastly blend in oatmeal, vanilla and chopped nuts.

Drop by teaspoonsful onto a lightly-greased cookie sheet and flatten with fork.

Bake in a 350 degree oven for 8 minutes or until lightly browned. Store in a covered tin to maintain freshness.

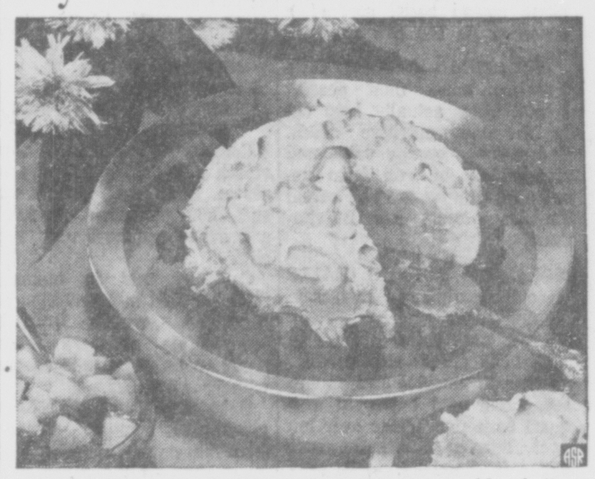
Twin Fruit Flavors Dot Layers Of Baked Alaska



This golden tipped baked alaska is a beautiful dessert to serve with a sauce of pineapple tidbits and sliced strawberries accented with cointreau.

Start with a layer of plain cake and top with strawberry ice cream and drained canned pineapple tidbits. Next comes the swirls of fluffy meringue and a quick browning in a very hot oven.

FOLLOW THESE easy directions and you'll have no trouble in making this masterpiece. Make sure not to skip any of the chilling steps because these are most important.

ALASKA

1 (9-inch) round cake layer
1 quart strawberry ice cream
1½ cups canned pineapple tidbits
1½ cups strawberries, sliced
¼ cup cointreau or curacao
4 egg whites
½ cup sugar
2 tablespoons powdered sugar

Bake and cool cake layer ahead of time. Chill. Spread ice cream in round 8-inch cake pan with removable bottom. Freeze several hours, until brick hard. Set aside ½ cup pineapple.

Combine rest with strawberries and liqueur. Chill. Cover a small board with brown paper or foil.

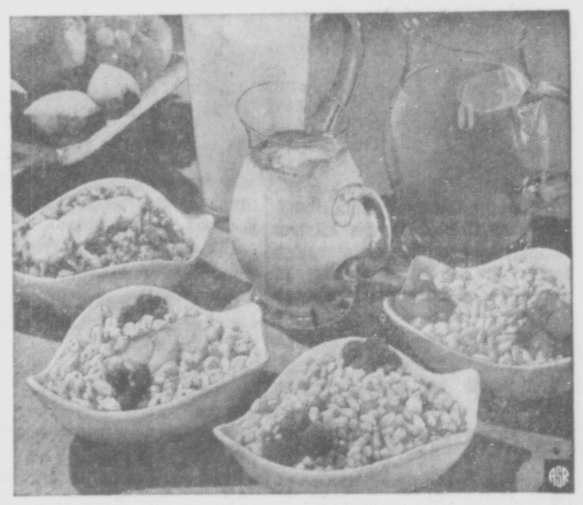
PLACE CAKE on foil; unmold ice cream onto cake. Sprinkle reserved pineapple tidbits over ice cream. Return to freezer to freeze firm again while making meringue.

Heat oven to very hot (450 degrees). Beat egg whites in large bowl until they stand in peaks. Slowly beat in ½ cup sugar until meringue stands in stiff peaks.

SPREAD QUICKLY over ice cream and cake covering completely in a thick layer. Swirl into stiff points. Sprinkle with powdered sugar. Bake 3 to 4 minutes, until delicate gold and tinged with brown.

Slip onto serving plate. Cut into wedges and serve a spoonful of fruit sauce with each. Makes 8 servings. (SH

Breakfast Combos



If "tired of the same old foods" is the excuse of breakfast skippers at your house, why not surprise them with new and different cereal-fruit-milk combos?

Quick and easy to prepare, these combos can add variety and interest to the morning meal.

Have you tried serving puffed wheat topped with sliced bananas and chocolate milk? Or blueberries and sliced peaches atop puffed wheat and served with cinnamon or nutmeg milk?

How about raspberries atop puffed rice? Or seedless grapes atop puffed rice and served with an egg nog?

RESEARCH AT the State University of Iowa has demonstrated that adequate breakfasts are essential to maintain physical and mental efficiency during the late morning hours.

Endless variety is possible when breakfast follows a basic breakfast pattern of fruit, cereal, milk, bread and butter, recommended by doctors and dietitians as an adequate morning meal for most persons.

Latin American Cuisine Sets New Cooking Vogue

The opening in New York city last year of the fascinating Latin American restaurant, La Fonda del Sol, has made thousands of "Yankees" aware that Latin American cookery is a "many-splendoured thing."

Now to further the interest in the foods of our Latin American neighbors, Myra Waldo has compiled "The Art of South American Cookery," (Doubleday, $4.95), with recipes for many of the same dishes served at La Fonda.

IT IS NO surprise to learn that the Spanish influence permeates the cuisines of all Latin American countries except Brazil (colonized by the Portuguese).

The surprise is in learning how varied the cuisines are from country to country: Mexico uses fiery-hot spices but Peru is noted for more delicately-flavored cookery and infinite uses for white potatoes (for this was where potatoes originated).

Argentine is noted for its meat dishes and Brazil for its fish.

EVER SINCE the Spanish colonizers of the 16th century brought Spanish olive oil to the New World to trade for such products as chocolate and vanilla, olive oil has been a favorite cooking fat.

It is used particularly in fish cookery and to baste meats. At La Fonda, meats are grilled vertically before a "wall of flame," twisting slowly on hooks.

This is copied after a broiling wall observed by Frederick Rufe, the restaurant's manager, in an inn of Peru. Besides the joints and steaks revolving before the boiling well, there are always half a dozen stuffed flank steaks tied to look like immense sausages.

LONG BEFORE the New York restaurant opened, Mr. Rufe and John Santi, La Fonda's chef, toured each Latin American country in turn, collecting authentic native recipes.

The following recipe for Aldilla Rellena (stuffed flank steak) is one perfected by Chef Santi, adapted from a native Argentinian recipe.

It can be broiled on the rotating spit of a rotisserie for a brief time, until the outside is crisply brown; or it can be seared in hot oil in a skillet, then baked slowly for several hours.

Flank steak is tender when rare but toughens with longer cooking, then must be made tender again by cooking in moist heat.

WHEN THE Spanish conquistadores arrived in the new world, they were surprised by the many ways in which corn, or maize as they called it, was used.

Not only do the people of Latin America use cornmeal like flour, often thickening stews with it, but kernel corn is used in many casseroles and stews.

Guisado de Pescado, a recipe from Myra Waldo's book, is a Chilean fish stew made with corn, potatoes, onions, tomatoes and other vegetables as well as fish.

YET THE GUISADO de Pescado of Spain is usually made of several kinds of seafood, the only vegetables being onion, tomato and garlic. In both Spain and Latin America, the fish is first browned in olive oil, which gives the dish unique flavor.

ALDILLA RELLENA

1 large flank steak (2½ to 3 lbs.)
3 or 4 tablespoons Spanish olive oil
1 clove garlic, crushed
½ lb. chorizo or other garlic-flavored sausage
4 scallions, chopped
¼ cup minced parsley
½ cup chopped celery
1 slice bread, crumbled
½ teaspoon salt
1 chicken bouillon cube, dissolved in 2 tablespoons boiling water
1 egg

Lay steak out flat, punch holes in meat with skewer, brush with a little olive oil which has been blended with crushed garlic. Skin the sausage, crumble meat, combine with parsley, scallions, celery, bread crumbs, dissolved bouillon cube, and salt.

Add egg, beat to blend well. Trim edges of meat, spread filling to within one inch of edge. Roll up meat, tying tightly with cord from end to end four times around; impale on spit of rotisserie and broil at 400 degrees on rotating spit until outside is crisply brown, brushing occasionally with olive oil.

Or, fold over meat like a pocketbook, fasten edge with small skewers or toothpicks, sear in hot olive oil in heavy skillet until browned on both sides, then remove to heavy duty foil; fold over and crimp eges to seal.

Bake at 325 degrees for 2½ to 3 hours. Cut in 12 slices, to serve 6. Serve with its own sauce or a hot chili sauce, seasoned with cayenne.

GUISADO DE PESCADOS
(from Spain)

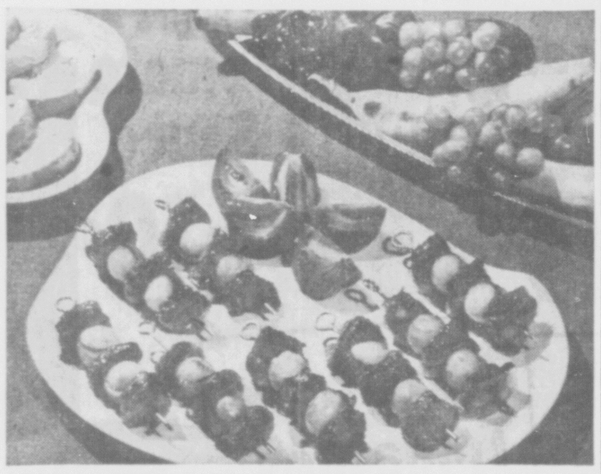
½ cup Spanish olive oil
1 medium onion, chopped
1 or 2 garlic cloves, minced
1 can tomatoe sauce (8 oz.)
6 cups water
½ lb. shrimp in shell
Pinch of saffron
1 tablespoon salt, or to taste
1 lb. halibut, cut in serving pieces
2 small fish, smelts or butterfish, left whole
½ lb. scallops
1/3 cup dry white wine

Slowly cook onion and garlic in ¼ cup olive oil until very soft; add tomato sauce, simmer until well blended. Bring water to a boil, adding salt and saffron. When boiling, drop in shrimp, cook 3 minutes.

Remove shrimp; shell. Strain shrimp stock through fine sieve or cheesecloth, add to onion mixture. In another skillet, saute fish and scallops until golden on each side in ¼ cup olive oil.

Add, with white wine, to other ingredients. Cook stew no longer than 10 minutes more, adding shrimp in last 5 minutes. Makes 6 servings. SH

Liver-Bacon Kabobs Taste, Vitamin Rich



Nutritious liver becomes fun to eat when it's served as kabobs with bacon and onions.

Kabobs are popular for outdoor grilling in warm weather, but you can still enjoy fixing these morsels-on-a-stick all year long. Simply cook them in your range broiler.

BE SURE TO include liver in your menus frequently. It far surpasses any other food as a source of Vitamin A, iron, riboflavin and niacin.

It is also a source of thiamine, Vitamin C and protein.

LIVER AND BACON KABOBS

1 pound beef liver, sliced ¼ inch thick
8 slices bacon
16 small cooked onions
1/3 cup French dressing
8 six-inch skewers

Cut liver in 1½-inch squares. On each of eight 6-inch skewers, thread 3 or 4 pieces of liver, 2 onions and one slice of bacon, weaving bacon in between.

Set regulator for broiling. Place kabobs on broiler rack. Insert broiler pan and rack so the top surface of the kabobs is 3 to 4 inches from the heat.

Brush kabobs, with French dressing, using about half the dressing. Broil 5 minutes or until browned.

Turn and brush kabobs with remaining dressing. Continue broiling 3 to 4 minutes, or until browned. Four servings. (SH

Try Shrimp Chinese Way, Sweet 'n Sour

When looking for intriguingly different ways to serve shrimp, there's no better place to turn than China. For hundreds of years the Chinese have been eating exotic shrimp dishes, and their shrimp recipes are now world famous.

JUST TASTE the popular oriental ingredients—crisp green pepper, spicy ginger, zippy soy sauce—blended with the highly regarded flavor of shrimp, and you'll know why.

The pungent Chinese Shrimp, known in the Orient for centuries has been adapted by the Shrimp Association of the Americas for preparing in home kitchens.

CHINESE SHRIMP

1 pound shrimp, fresh or frozen, or 1 (8 oz. or 10 oz.) pkg. peeled and deveined shrimp
¾ cup brown sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
½ teaspoon salt
¾ cup vinegar
1 tablespoon soy sauce
½ teaspoon ground ginger
1 No. 2 can pineapple chunks drained (reserve syrup)
1 green pepper, cut in strips
1 medium onion, cut in rings

Clean shrimp and cook them by boiling in salted water 3 to 5 minutes. Mix together in saucepan brown sugar, cornstarch and salt. Add vinegar, soy sauce, ginger and syrup drained from canned pineapple. Cook this mixture until slightly thick, stirring constantly. Add green pepper strips, onion rings and pineapple chunks and cook 2 or 3 minutes. Just before serving, add shrimp and bring to boil, stirring constantly. Serve with hot rice. Makes four servings. An Ordinance

AMENDING THE ZONING ORDINANCE OF THE VILLAGE OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

WHEREAS, an application has been made by the owners of the following described property to re-classify the subject property from R-3 to B-1 under the terms of the Arlington Heights Zoning Ordinance; and

WHEREAS, it was represented to the Plan Commission and the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Arlington Heights that said request for zoning was made solely to facilitate the continued use of the subject property as an office for the practice of dentistry; and

WHEREAS, the Petitioners have offered to record a covenant running with the land whereby the use of the hereinafter described property is restricted solely to the use of doctors' offices or dentists' offices; and

WHEREAS, said covenant has been presented to the President and Board of Trustees and is satisfactory in all respects; and

WHEREAS, it is the intent of the President and Board of Trustees that the re-zoning of the subject property is granted only for the purposes of allowing the continued use of the premises for a doctors' office or dentists' office;

NOW THEREFORE BE IT ORDAINED BY THE PRESIDENT AND BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE VILLAGE OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, ILLINOIS:

Section One: The Zoning Ordinance of the Village of Arlington Heights as amended is hereby further amended by reclassifying from "R-3" to "B-1" Business District the following described property:

Lot 26 in Block 6 in Reuter's Westgate No. 1, a subdivision of part of the SW¼ of Sec. 30, T. 42 N, R. 11 East of the 3rd Principal Meridian in Cook County, Illinois.

and the corresponding changes in the designation on the Zoning District map are hereby made.

Section Two: This ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage, approval and publication as provided by law.

AN ORDINANCE PROVIDING FOR THE LICENSING OF SCAVENGERS

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED by the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Elk Grove Village, Cook County, Illinois:

Section 1. That the Municipal Code of the Village of Elk Grove Village be amended by adding to Chapter 22 of said Code the following:

"Article XV—Scavengers.

"Section 22.1501. License Required. It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to engage in the business of a scavenger, or the collection or disposal of animal, human or vegetable refuse or offal without first having obtained a license therefor. The annual fee for such license shall be Five hundred ($500) Dollars. All applications for scavenger licenses shall include a complete fee schedule which the scavenger proposes to charge its customers during the fiscal year.

"Section 22.1502. Limiting the Number of Licenses to be Issued. The number of scavenger licenses to be issued shall be limited to five (5) in number. One of said number shall be for scavenger service for the entire Village; the remaining four licenses shall be limited to scavenger service in the industrially and commercially zoned areas of the Village. The Village Clerk shall designate the character of the license on the licensing document itself. Said licenses shall create no vested interest in the licensee and may be renewed or revoked at the discretion of the President and Board of Trustees at the end of any licensing period with or without cause. The licensing period for a scavenger license shall commence on April 1st and end on March 31st of each year, except that the licensing period for the year 1961-62 shall commence on November 1, 1961 and end on March 31, 1962.

"Section 22.1503. Applications for scavenger license shall be made to the Village Clerk and shall be referred to the President and Board of Trustees and no such license shall be issued except upon the order of the President and Board of Trustees. All applications shall be accompanied by a Surety Bond guaranteeing adherence by the applicant to all Village ordinances and regulations, said bond to be approved by the Village attorney.

"Section 22.1504. Vehicles. Any vehicle used by such scavenger in its business shall be water tight and equipped with airtight covers for such portions as are used for the transportation of refuse. It shall be unlawful for any such vehicle to be driven over or through any street in the Village during or on a Sunday.

"Section 22.1505. Disposal. It shall be unlawful for any scavenger to dispose or to store any refuse in any place within the Village limits or within one mile thereof, excepting with the permission of the President and Board of Trustees.

"Section 22.1506. Penalty. Any person, firm or corporation violating any provision of this Article shall be fined not less than One ($1) Dollar nor more than Two hundred ($200) Dollars for each offense; and a separate offense shall be deemed committed on each day during or on which a violation occurs or continues."

Section 2. This ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage, approval and publication according to law.

PASSED this 2nd day of October, 1961.

Ordinance No. 194

AN ORDINANCE DESIGNATING CERTAIN STREETS AS THROUGH STREETS BY VIRTUE OF THE AUTHORITY PROVIDED IN SECTION 14.201 OF THE MUNICIPAL CODE OF ELK GROVE VILLAGE AND AMENDING THE MUNICIPAL CODE OF ELK GROVE VILLAGE BY ADDING SECTION 14.202

BE IT ORDAINED by the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Elk Grove Village, Cook County, Illinois:

Section 1. That in pursuance to the authority of Section 14.201 of the Municipal Code of Elk Grove Village, the Municipal Code of Elk Grove Village is hereby amended by the following:

"14.202. DESIGNATED THROUGH STREETS. The following streets, roads and highways or portions thereof are hereby designated and declared to be through streets:

"1. Higgins Road east of its intersection with Arlington Heights Road and west of its intersection with Scott Street.

"2. Laurel Street east of its intersection with Charing Cross Road and west of its intersection with Tonne Road.

"3. Tonne Road south of its intersection with Landmeier Road and north of its intersection with Devon Avenue, except such paved portions of Tonne Road which lie within the median strip and which are opposite Laurel Street, East Elk Grove Boulevard, Clearmount Drive and Walnut Lane.

"4. Devon Avenue at its intersection with Tonne Road.

"5. Arlington Heights Road south of its intersection with Higgins Road for a distance of 300 feet and east of the center line thereof.

6. Forest Lane, and Wildwood Road south of their intersection with Higgins Road and north of their intersection with Oakton Road.

"7. Oakton Road west of its intersection with Arlington Heights Road and east to a point including its intersection with Wildwood Road.

"8. Landmeier Road at its intersection with Tonne Road.

"9. Briarwood Lane between Wildwood Road and Forest Lane.

"Every driver of a vehicle traversing any street intersection with any through street shall stop such vehicle before entering upon the through street within ten (10) feet of such intersection, unless a go signal is given at such intersection by a traffic officer or traffic signal."

Section 2. That this ordinance shall be in full force and effect upon its passage, approval and publication according to law.

PASSED this 25th day of September, 1961.

APPROVED this 26th day of September, 1961.

Announce Plan to Save Resources

Honorable Marguerite Stitt Church, member of the U. S. House of Representatives from the 13th District, and all other Republican members of Congress from Illinois will be honored by the United Republican Fund of Illinois at its annual dinner.

The $100 a plate event will be held in Chicago's McCormick Place at 6:30 p.m. on November 2.

Representative William E. Miller (R, N. Y.) Chairman of the Republican National committee and Congressman from New York, will be the principal speaker.

IN ANNOUNCING the Fund's decision to honor Illinois' National lawmakers, Fred M. Gillies, president said, "The genius of the American system of government is in its division of authority—in its checks and balances between executive, legislative and judicial branches.

"In these days, the renewed threat of government by executive decree makes it more urgent that we recognize the importance of our legislative branch of government. The work of our lawmakers has become increasingly complex and arduous.

"Unlike the executive, legislators often work obscurely and they too devote their full time and energy for the work they are elected to do. It is appropriate that they be singled out and saluted and we hope encouraged to continue to give their very best to the task at hand." (B8

High Scores Earn Praise for Coeds

High scores on the initial test of the seventh annual National Merit Scholarship competition have brought letters of commendation to three local high school girls.

The young women, all senior students of St. Patrick academy in Des Plaines, achieved the high test scores in competition with students throughout the United States with tests given in more than 15,000 high schools.

THE GIRLS are Diane Geraghty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Geraghty, 153 N. Bissel, Palatine, Mary Jane Nichols, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Jedd Nichols, 3707 W. Emerson, Meadow Grove Estates; and Bernadette Tucker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Tucker, 36 S. Salem, Arlington Heights.

Winner of a semifinalist rank at St. Patrick academy was Jeanne Rank of Park Ridge. Semifinalists will be given a second test in December as another step toward winning a merit scholarship. Merit scholarships provide four-year financial aid to winners at the colleges of their choice. (B8

OFTEN MISPRONOUNCED

Alimentary. Pronounce in FIVE syllables, and not "al-i-men-tri."

Frequented. Accent second syllable, not the first.

Sagacious. Pronounce sah-gay-shuss, accent second syllable.

Mayoralty. Accent first syllable, not the third.

Area Masons Set Service In Palatine

The 27th annual memorial service of the 30th Masonic district will be held at Palatine Masonic lodge 314 in Palatine Masonic Temple, Palatine, Wednesday, Oct. 11, at 8 p.m.

The 30th Masonic district comprises 10 Masonic lodges located in the northwest section of Chicago and Cook county.

Its purpose is to remember and honor those who have died during the past year. This service was instituted and for many years conducted by Brother Harry H. Talcott, a past district deputy grand master.

THE SERVICE is held under the auspices of the 30th district school of Masonic instruction. It will be conducted by Brother Hans Almgren, the present D.D.G.M. The speaker will be the Rev. Brother Timothy B. Reeves of the Brookfield Methodist church, Brookfield.

All Master Masons are cordially invited to join in paying respect to deceased brethren. (B8

The Way We See It

Survival Mania Is Threat to Humanity

The man holding the rifle is smiling, like a hunter content with the day's results. But no game lie at his feet; instead, it is the opening of a door on a hillside at Caledonia, N.Y.

Dr. Hugo M. Kellner, a father of nine, is showing the photographer how he will keep intruders out of the family fallout shelter.

The scene has been duplicated elsewhere, in Chicago and suburbs as well as California and Texas and wherever else men are concentrating on survival.

A United Press International dispatch from Las Vegas reveals that such thinking has been included in official planning. "Plans for a 5000-man militia to repulse an estimated million Southern Californians whom officials think might plunder Nevada in the event of a nuclear war were unveiled yesterday (July 28)."

A retired brigadier general, in advising Las Vegas residents to build backyard bomb shelters, also suggests the owner take a shotgun to the shelter with him. ". . . the head of the family must be prepared to repel invaders — even those who come from across the street."

Obviously, to the general the enemy has many faces, including the neighbors across the street.

This, then, is one of the by-products of the Civil Defense survival mania. We have come full circle from "love thy neighbor" to "shoot thy neighbor."

The cultural heritage of Athens and Jerusalem, the Renaissance and the Age of Reason is to be dismissed. The advocates of a return to the Neanderthal age are among us.

Of course, a maximum effort nuclear war might move the calendar back to an existence as base as the Paleolithic period; it conceivably could convert this planet to its origins: nothing more than a molten ball of matter circling a sun that would no longer be a source of energy and comfort for life as we know it.

The horrors of such a holocaust cannot be treated lightly. But to become so consumed with fear that we will kill even our neighbors in defense of our animal burrows is cause for alarm — and reflection.

A man does have an obligation to his family, and many men have died in defense of their homeland and a way of life. But what of his obligations to his fellow man? All the higher instincts — despite the powerful instinct for self-preservation — cry out for the termination of man's inhumanity to man.

We speak of survival, a bestial sort of "survival" somewhat akin to that enjoyed by the mole. But those who might survive if the worst is to come, and it is not complete incineration, will need a reserve of moral courage and compassion to continue. Those who take the life of a friend and neighbor in order to perpetuate their own will learn the full meaning of the word "contempt," in self-evaluation and from others.

The simple lesson in logic this all conveys is that the one way we will not return man to the stone age or beyond is to persevere in the belief that man can survive his baser instincts by repudiating war as an instrument of national policy.

Young Candidate Deserves Opportunity to Be Heard

Any political matchmaker could tell you that it would prove disastrous at the polls to run a youthful and youthful-appearing candidate against an old campaigner who not only is a Senator but looks like a Senator.

These are the elements which would be present if 32-year-old Paul Simon, state representative from Troy, receives his party's blessing to oppose Republican Sen. Everett M. Dirksen.

The party professionals wouldn't hear of such a juxtaposition of youth and zeal versus age and experience. While this is not entirely the case, the professionals have been proved wrong so often that their counsel is beginning to become suspect.

Harry Truman showed, in his stunning defeat of Dewey, how perseverance can make the prophets appear puerile. Truman himself was later to fall victim to the view shared by party pros that John F. Kennedy had about as much chance of being elected President as there was of the Pope converting to Judaism.

Kennedy's answer to Truman's suggestion that he wait is worth remembering. He noted that if Thomas Jefferson had waited, we would not have that remarkable document, the Declaration of Independence, with us today; and many of the other founding fathers, had they waited, would have been consigned to obscurity.

Rep. Simon's experience (four terms in the Illinois legislature) and grasp of issues, however, belie his boyish looks. Furthermore, he has a faculty for both articulation and honesty, a combination becoming increasingly rare in the political arena.

There will probably be other qualified candidates who will wish to carry the Democratic party's banner against Dirksen in 1962. But if the Democrats hope to achieve any degree of success, they should make sure that their primary election is an open one. Nothing could destroy their chances more than to present a candidate who bore the stigma of the stamp of "boss approval."

Simon appears to be the only Democratic candidate among several mentioned whose base of appeal is broad enough to secure state-wide support. Paul Powell, Speaker of the Illinois House, might be a sure thing downstate, but he would probably be unacceptable to suburban voters who would react negatively to the thought that he had completed an arrangement with the Cook county policy makers.

Simon also has a substantial downstate following and thus far is the only Democratic answer to the Republican party's growing list of bright young men.

He should have the opportunity to present himself to the Democratic party's rank and file in a free primary. It is up to the party as a whole to determine his merits; this determination should not be left to the decision of one man.

Bernstein Is Rare Artist

Composer-Conductor Both Versatile and Excellent

by MARTIN E. MARTY

Our gang, at parties, used to change the subject by playing a game we called 'Reincarnations.'

Actually, instead of a game it is a conversation-piece way of undertaking amateur psychololgy. We would ask, "In some future incarnation, who would you like to resemble?" The pretentious ones would say Albert Schweitzer or Winston Churchill, or someone on the grand scale. Others would pick a fun-loving, capricious type.

To confuse the psychologizers, I would choose Leonard Bernstein, whose career can be examined in John Briggs' Leonard Bernstein (World, $4.50), a non-technical book that will be appreciated by the musical layman.

What do you do with people who admire Bernstein? is a question somewhat similar to that posed to the biographer, What do you do with Leonard Bernstein?

IT IS IMMEDIATELY apparent that there is a widespread "I hate Bernstein" school among professional musicians. In Bernstein we can see all the motives for sour-graping on the part of those who have followed more disciplined and quieter careers. There is something disturbing about his restlessness, his inability to excel in one field beyond all others, to produce by mid-career a really outstanding serious work. His flirtations with Broadway disturb others; a symphony conductor should be as remote as a Supreme Court Justice.

Nor am I equipped to take on on their own terms the professional critics; I only know that there are musical circles where you hazard your reputation if you admire Bernstein.

ONLY THE PEOPLE like him, one might say. But this does not mean that critical standards need be dismissed ("I ran all the way to the bank.") For Bernstein does represent some needed qualities on the American landscape. He is, for one thing, intensely interested in bridging the chasm between the fine arts and popular culture. I believe this can be done and has been done by Bernstein without degrading the art. There is in him enough of the genius, enough of the ham, of the globe-trotter, the rehearser, the craftsman, the experimentalist, the self-humorist to have a broad appeal. Yes, it wouldn't be bad to resemble at least some of the things Bernstein represents.

Here is where I find an interest: people today, despite the manifold opportunities in a mass culture, too easily become grooved. They are good at putting on the bolt that affixes to a part that is attached to a machine they will never see. They can make one kind of sale; they can rehearse one form of speech.

BUT TO BE both versatile and excellent—this is a rarity. Briggs points out that Bernstein is not a "Renaissance" man; he is not merely curious, not productive for production's sake. He is too practical for that. But he cannot resist expressing himself in many forms. He does very well at some of them.

One day, he may produce the enduring work some of us look for to confound his critics. Bernstein has a problem, and here, too, we can empathize: he says, "Time is the enemy."

Point of View

Rise of Military Influence Is Threat to Free Society

by DICK HOFFMANN

Some of the alliances arising out of the mire of name-calling in vogue these days demonstrate succinctly that what a man says and what he means are not necessarily one and the same.

An example is the manner in which some Congressional conservatives rallied to the defense of the military when Sen. J. William Fulbright (D., Ark.) recommended Defense Department curbing of military participation in extremist meetings.

The conservatives, alleged defenders against the encroachment on individual liberties by big government, big labor unions (big business? Well, loyalties to principle do have their limits), are in this instance siding with an "ism" hardly noted for its patience with the individualist.

MILITARISM is comparable to other systems hostile to the individual. The soldier is undistinguished from his fellow in uniform, which is of the same cut, although rank and insignia have "their privilege." Deviation from the established norm is not permitted, and those who cannot "shape up" are restrained. Official thinking is pyramided; its formulation at the top which filters down the chain of command is unquestioned (or if it is, only under one's breath).

All who went through basic training probably still remember the shock they received after a new crop of inductees or enlistees had their heads sheared by military barbers; it was difficult recognizing previously identifiable individuals.

Initiative in the military is seldom rewarded. Instead, an atmosphere exists where the obsequious, the fawning and the lover of security or regimentation thrives.

SOME YEARS BACK, a national magazine of somewhat conservative sentiment, in describing our European military installations, commented on the "womb to the tomb" security afforded service careerists and their dependents.

The United States has a traditional and justifiable fear of military usurpation of civilian authority, and this was the underlying concern of former President Truman when he fired Gen. MacArthur. I think history will exonerate Truman's decision as it will Fulbright's memorandum.

Sen. J. Strom Thurmond (D., S.C.) called the memorandum an attack "upon military leaders trying to show Americans the danger of internal communism, and not a matter of civilian control of the military."

FULBRIGHT'S answer was that "Military officers are not elected by the people and they have no responsibility for the formulation of policies other than those of a military nature."

One of the incidents which triggered the controversy was the report that Maj. Gen. Edwin Walker was indoctrinating his troops with John Birch Society - styled propaganda. But nearby Glenview Naval Air station had been presenting "Malice in Wonderland" programs warning of a communist in every pot for some time previous to the Walker incident.

Robert Welch, Birch Society founder, devoted six-and-a-half pages of his September bulletin to the matter, most of it an exhortation to the membership to deluge Congress with telegrams in support of Sen. Thurmond.

WELCH, A retired Massachusetts candymaker, did, however, venture into the arena of analysis to arrive at some questionable conclusions. Among them, he noted: "One of the most vital and necessary steps to the Communists in their take-over of any country is the suppression or elimination of patriotic officers, with a resulting demoralization of the total armed forces of that country. In Hungary, in Indonesia, in many other nations which are now Soviet satellites, this program helped to make them so. The same program has now already been carried a long way in Venezuela, in France, and in many other countries which are still listed as a part of the 'free world.'"

I'm sure our State Department would be interested to know that Indonesia is a "Soviet satellite." While the Founder probably views deGaulle as a dangerous leftist or worse, he should remember that the army officers who were later to rebel in Algeria led the movement which brought deGaulle to power.

My concern, though, is not with the lunatic fringe. It is with the conservative element which has presented itself as the guardian of the individual. One suspects that when they voice alarm over the growth of government, they are not so much worried over thought control and Big Brother as they are over taxation of prosperous business associates. Their admiration of the military reinforces the view that they long for the man on horseback — whether he commands financial legions or a battle battalion.

I WONDER IF they are dedicated to liberty for all or license for an elite few. In their displeasure over taxation, it would be well for them to note that the majority of our tax dollars go for maintaining a military establishment and launching rockets into space.

Anyone who has served in the armed forces knows that it is bloated by waste, inefficiency, duplication, and incompetence on a scale of impressive magnitude.

Another curious alliance is forming between conservative Republicans and southern Democrats, and the appeal for such a union is state's rights. The conservative sees it as a scalpel to sever the tenacles of the central government, but the southerner is employing it to strangle the progress of civil rights. To the South, state's rights and civil rights are the same thing.

BY THE SAME application of substituting words to obscure meaning, the military Mad Hatters who have assumed responsibility for the civilian population's "education" have converted indoctrination programs into an attack on administration policies and cast doubt on the loyalty of men in high office. The programs have dealt primarily with the "internal" rather than "external" threat of communism, and did little to inform the public of Soviet tactics or Marxian dialectics.

Perhaps "Mad Hatter" is an unfair metaphor. The wild and blanket accusations which have marked such "educational seminars" remind one instead of the Queen of Hearts who reduced reason to a single declarative sentence: "Off with their heads."

The military pamphleteers and some of their supporters seem to be afflicted by the same indiscrimination.

The Late Prof. Jacob Scher

A Dedicated Journalist

by CHARLES HAYES

The newspaper profession and journalism education lost a vigorous voice last week with the death of Jacob Scher, professor of journalism at Northwestern university.

He died September 29 at the age of 52, a victim of lymphatic cancer.

A graduate of the University of Illinois law school, Prof. Scher was Chicago director of the Illinois Writers Project during the 1930s. His newspaper career included work as reporter, rewriteman, copyreader, and assistant city editor for the Chicago City News Bureau, Oakland (Calif.) Tribune, old Chicago Herald-American, old Chicago Times, Chicago Tribune, and Chicago Sun-Times.

He joined the journalism faculty at Northwestern university in 1947 and was named head of the news-editorial sequence in 1950. He taught press law, reporting, and other subjects. Recently, he completed a term as chairman of the university's general faculty committee. He was co-author of a textbook in news editing and copy reading.

As a lawyer and expert on press law, Prof. Scher served as legal counsel to the American Society of Newspaper Editors. He was chief counsel for the House subcommittee on government information and had worked with it since 1955 on problems of freedom of information. He fought against secrecy in government and contended that the executive privilege to withhold information applied only to the President and not to executive departments and agencies.

Prof. Scher was also editor of the freedom of information news digest of the National Editorial Association and formerly moderated Frankly Speaking, a radio and TV discussion program centered on the arts, professions, and business.

Despite the inevitable direction of his illness, Prof. Scher remained buoyant and optimistic, holding firm his will to live.

Always generous in offering his time and talent to further the professional standard of newspaper journalism, he had planned to conduct a workshop on press law for Paddock Publications' editors as part of our in-service training program. He had hoped to be well enough to give his lecture-discussion this month.

In recent years, our editorial staff has included a number of his former students.

We remember Jake Scher as a sympathetic human being deeply concerned with the welfare of mankind.

Although practical in matters of everyday living, he was committed to broad spiritual values which convinced him every man needs a sense of purpose in his life work. For him, this made journalism more than a craft or livelihood; it became dedication, a way of life.

Quick-tempered with stupidity or prejudice, he was a tough teacher who seldom spared himself. Each day and each lecture was a banner day and a banner lecture.

Although he disliked dull newspapers, he always stood for responsible journalism. He was zealous in defending the role of a free, vigorous press as an essential bulwark of the democratic system.

Perhaps the best description of Jake Scher was the comment of a former student, who explained: "He was rough and tumble, not the polished, sophisticated type of newsman. He was more of the 'rumpled sofa' variety."

That 'rumpled sofa' won't be easily replaced. The void it leaves won't ever be completely filled.

THE FENCE POST

Letters to the Editor

Suburbanites 'Sold Short'?

Those of us who are concerned with fair and equitable Congressional re-districting for the suburban areas were very much disheartened during the past session of the State Legislature.

Two suburban legislators, Sen. John Graham (R. Barrington) and Rep. Arthur Simmons (R. Skokie), sponsored and introduced legislation in this matter unfair and inequitable to the suburban areas. Sen. Graham and Rep. Simmons proposed that Congressional districts in the suburban areas average 505,000 in population. The average for Congressional districts in the state of Illinois should be 420,000.

IT IS TO be hoped that Sen. Graham and Rep. Simmons listened to their constituents and will now, at the special session, support fair and equitable congressional re-districting.

If they do not reconsider and if they do not change their views on this matter we suburbanites will have to find new representation for the state legislature at the next election.

Open Occupancy Idea Is Upheld

It is heartening to read comments from fellow citizens such as have appeared in the last two issues, supporting the idea of open occupancy.

If two articulate persons have taken the trouble to write their views, it may be assumed there are others who agree but who have chosen to remain silent. Hopefully one of these days we may all have to stand up and be counted—who knows, maybe most of us really believe in "freedom and justice for all" and are willing to bear witness to this belief by welcoming to our community all who wish to live here.

Mrs. Grace Smedstad

Redistricting Need Is Cited

The showdown on congressional reapportionment is only a few days away. Failure will severely jolt Illinois politics — for the electorate and elected.

The state is losing one congressional seat, and the General Assembly must devise a new distracting scheme. If it doesn't, the twenty-four Representatives will be elected at large.

To date, the Democrats and Republicans have not arrived at a mutually acceptable plan. Since the Better Government Association presented its proposal, however, the parties have demonstrated an ability to negotiate.

WITHOUT regard to political considerations, BGA recommended:

—Cook county should have 12 districts of the total of 24 districts in the State.

—Chicago should dominate 8 districts, and suburban Cook county should dominate 4.

—Each district should average 427,500.

—Natural and man - made barriers should be reflected in district lines.

—Ward lines should be followed wherever feasible.

—Insofar as possible, incumbent congressmen should not be thrown together.

The only excuse for no reapportionment can be citizen apathy. If enough of us do not demand equal representation, we won't get it. And we'll be deserving of no representation.

Lions Club Has Helped Youth

Thank you, Wood Dale Lions, for making our community a better and more desirable place in which to live.

Through your untiring efforts, you have created wonderful programs for the youth of our village—Little League baseball, swimming, and many more activities I don't have space to mention.

THANK YOU for Lionwood Park, where our 'tigers" can play ball and take part in the many programs you have planned.

It has never been clear to me whether the Lion is truly King of the jungle, but in Wood Dale the Lions are the Kings.

Congratulations, Gentlemen, on your accomplishments and may you never tire of your tasks.

Church Men Cite Publicity

The Men of the Yoke of the Community Church of Rolling Meadows thank you for your fine cooperation on advance publicity for our Corn Fest held on August 12.

The success of this venture was certainly in part due to your fine cooperation in making its approach known.

Thank you very much.

B. F. Brace, President

Notes Touch Of Crusader

You have presented recently (Fence Post) in your paper a provocative idea, namely the sponsoring of a negro family in this community by some group that realizes the advantages and justice of having an integrated community.

I wish to take my stand as being heartily in favor of this idea and sincerely hope that such a group can be found. I urge you to print more on this subject in the hope that the power of the press might provide the necessary stimulation to such action.

Over the years I have noticed a touch of the crusader to your paper and am convinced that you are just the one to give this problem a push toward solution.

Mrs. N. E. Gresey

Police Thanked For Good Deed

I would like to publicly thank the staff of the Elk Grove police force on duty the night of September 28, 1961, about 8 p.m. for their cooperation and consideration.

Car trouble at Tonne and Landmeier roads posed a slight problem until an officer (sorry I did not get his name) in a patrol car pulled up. Realizing the situation, he called headquarters to report a distressed motorist. Within a matter of minutes, a tow car arrived to render assistance.

The residents of Elk Grove Village can be proud of their police department.

Arlington Hts. Should Have Museum to House Local Lore

The question lingers — how many people care about the history of Arlington Heights?

Certainly there is a hard core — those who have lived in the village for many years, those whose ancestors were among the early settlers, those who tasted the flavor of the past in preparing articles for last week's anniversary section and those of historical-bent who are active in the village's historical society.

To many, the history of Arlington Heights is the history of more than a village. It is an accounting of how the entire area was dramatically settled.

THE DUNTONS pioneered a town; people moved to that town from sparsely settled rural areas; church worshippers flocked to town to participate in organized church worship; cattle growers shipped their stock from Dunton; others shopped and brought their farm products to town to be ground into flour or shipped to market.

True, there were communities developing nearby but Arlington Heights (nee Dunton) was the center of area growth and activity.

Thus, our roots are not only deep; they have breadth.

In Arlington store windows are many relics of the past — copies of old newspapers, pictures of old families, items used in the old households, and other rare documents and keepsakes.

THESE MEMOIRS came from the Arlington Heights Historical Society and from private owners.

They are of extreme interest to adults and children alike.

"What's that thing?" one boy asked his daddy.

"That's an old plane — a carpenter's tool that now is much smaller and made of metal," his father answered.

"Why is everyone wearing beards?" another boy inquired.

THOSE BEARDS, the boy was told, were glimpses of the past when beards and mustaches were in style. The clean-shaven face is a modern way of dress, the father added.

"Aren't those old dresses silly?" one girl asked her mother.

"No," the mother explained, "that was the style of the day."

Yes, the youngsters are curious and they can be added to the hard core of people who care about the past. Theirs is a natural reaction.

A HISTORY teacher once remarked:

"If one digs deep enough into the past, catches its personality and meaning, they become deeply interested. On the other hand, if one just brushes or skims over the surface of the facts, history can be decidedly boring."

That, no doubt, is how we are divided on the history of Arlington Heights.

However, if the anniversary edition remains no more than a collection of articles and pictures, it has pointed up the need for a village museum.

Our past was fascinating. The only dissenters will be those who don't care or haven't had the time to absorb the information in the 125th anniversary edition.

One wonders:

Why not restore one of the earliest houses in town, move it to a central location in a park, vote it a permanent appropriation from village funds, and let members of the Historical Society go about organizing what immediately would become a point of high interest.

THIS WOULD BE a museum where private owners could donate their keepsakes, the many volumes of information already collected by the society could be kept there and an almost endless endeavor could begin in assembling the missing facts from the bygone days.

Arlington Heights was a leader when it was born, why not now?

Sale Success Earns Thanks

The Wood Dale Junior Women's club has successfully completed its first project for this club year, which was their rummage sale of Saturday, Sept. 23.

We would like to express our appreciation to Paddock Publications, to Mr. Rosenwinkel for the use of his property, and to the Wood Dale police department and fire department.

We are particularly grateful to those who were kind enough to donate their rummage to us and to those who patronized the sale. Thank you all!

Mrs. Robert Cesar,
Publicity Chairman

ILLINOIS MOTORISTS:

How many of these money-saving features do you get in your present auto insurance?

☐ Good Driver Plan

Allstate offers lower rates to drivers with accident-free records.

☐ Special Rates for Young Married Couples

Allstate takes the young married man (age 21 to 25) out of the high-priced "teen-age" rating class.

☐ Compact Car Discount

Allstate was first to offer substantially lower auto insurance premiums for most of today's smaller cars.

☐ Multiple Car Discount

Allstate's 20% discount on liability and 10% discount on collision insurance applies to every car owned by most families with 2 or more cars.

☐ "Tailor-Made" Rates

Allstate rates take into consideration individual differences in driving habits. The less likely you are to have an accident, the less you have to pay. Allstate rates are "tailor-made" to fit the individual and many people save real money as a result.

☐ Auto Finance Plan

Allstate helps you to arrange low-interest financing through cooperating banks—a real saving for policyholders.

☐ No Membership Fees

With Allstate, all you pay for is insurance. You pay no membership fees or special assessments of any kind.

☐ Auto Liability Insurance that Can't Be Cancelled Just Because of Accidents

Allstate now guarantees in writing that, after 90 days, your auto liability insurance can't be cancelled just because of accidents. If you qualify, this protection is yours for five years from the date of your policy. Other companies can cancel you with as little as ten days' notice.

Why not find out why more than 5 million policyholders rely on Allstate Insurance? See an Allstate Agent now—at Sears or the Allstate Office listed below, or just phone and an Agent will gladly visit your home or office. Allstate Insurance Companies. Home Offices: Skokie, Illinois.

May we help you?

No wonder Allstate writes more auto liability insurance than any other company in the world.

Arlington Heights 125th Anniversary

123 years after Arlington Heights was founded, this home was built, and it's as modern and up-to-date as today. An ideal family home featuring 3 bedrooms, 2 baths, kitchen built-ins, full basement, and a first-floor family room; plus att. garage. All this on a beautiful 66 ft. lot in fine residential area for $28,500. Immediate possession.

Be proud of your home and your neighborhood; enjoy the benefits of good location, where the kiddies can walk to school, whether elementary or parochial; know the convenience that an extra full bath can bring. This 3 bedroom brick ranch also has a fireplace, finished room in basement, and att. garage. Mighty nice at this price. $24,800

Here's a 4 bedroom brick home with a bomb-proof basement. No fooling, the floors on the first level are made of pre-cast concrete, and there aren't very many like it, especially in this price range. Closets in abundance and lots of storage space; garage. We invite your inspection of this bargain priced home. Only $19,300

Look at the outstanding features of this inexpensive home. Ranch style, knotty pine family room 12x14 ft., mud room, washer & dryer in the spacious kitchen, water softener, gas heat, 2 good size bedrooms, 2 car garage, paved driveway, and beautiful lot with mature shade trees. Down payment can be only $700. Full price $17,500

by THOMAS COLLINS

Whatever your station in life — banker, lawyer or shipping clerk — you had better take a closer look at the new Social Security proposition that will allow a man to retire at age 62 and get reduced benefits.

This is not the same thing as the law passed earlier by Congress that allowed women to get benefits at age 62. It's more profound than that; partly because men are not like women; mainly because men have different kinds of jobs to retire from.

Following here is a summary of what may happen to the American way of life because of this proposition:

1. Once a man can start collecting his Social Security benefits at 62, even though at a reduced size, the business practice of kissing off the 60-plus man will start dying away. Otherwise he'll quit. Women had the lesser jobs. They weren't being kissed off. Two weeks notice was about all that was needed to hire a cutie who would tend the counter or type.

But men must be "decompressed" from their more important jobs, and the aggressive youngsters must keep their hope. So the man who will have to go anyway at 65 often starts getting the "furnace-room" treatment at 61 or so . . . and there's nothing he has been able to do about it until now. Where could he go? He can now go to the Social Security office.

2. The reduced benefits a man can get at 62 aren't enough. But they would be if more company pension plans provided a uniform increase in pension benefits through the years, instead of offering stamp money for the first 30 years of pension participation, and then paying like mad for the last three years before age 65. There is likely to be renewed agitation for pension reform.

3. The normal, happy man of 62 — if nobody is trying to discount him at the company — will never read the new Social Security proposition. And he wishes it would go away. He doesn't want to retire at 62, 65 or 70 — or ever . . . and "let's don't talk about it."

4. A man at 62, so far as his wife is concerned, can be a particular sort of nuisance at 62 that he couldn't be at 65. Wives are going to have a far greater say on the matter of their husbands' retirement at 62 than husbands ever had on this proposition for their wives.

5. Most wives, if they are under 62, won't want their husbands to retire at 62 . . . "What, for heaven's sake, will you do?" Most wives who are 62 or over, and who also would already be eligible for Social Security on their own, may encourage their husbands to quit.

6. Men in vast numbers "break" between 62 and 65. Old age sets in with wrinkles. The hunch comes to the shoulders. The arteries begin to complain. Because of the mysteries of medicine no man ever knows at 62 whether he's been tabbed or not. The worriers will suspect they have. They will be inclined to turn in their chips and quit the game. 3 Flower Girls in Bridal Party of Margaret Shawley

Not one little flower girl, but three of them preceded Margaret Kay Shawley's maid of honor and bridesmaid down the aisle of Our Lady of the Wayside church September 16 for her marriage to Thomas A. Williams III. The little girls, Teri, Debbie and Cindy Stratman, were all nieces of the bride, daughters of the Frank Stratmans, with whom the bride makes her home at 830 S. Burton, Arlington Heights.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Williams, 824 S. Dunton, Arlington Heights.

The double ring service was held at 2 p.m. with Rev. Fr. Harold O'Hara officiating against a background of white glads and mums. After the ceremony, a reception for 100 guests was held at Campbell's Hearthstone in Palatine. She was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Frank H. Stratman.

Bak Studio

THE BRIDE'S gown was of bouquet taffeta fashioned princess style with fleur de lis bow and streamers. Pearl clusters were scattered on the bodice and the full skirt extended to form a chapel train. Her veil was held by a lace and pearl tiara with iridescent sequins and she carried a prayer book with white orchids and stephanotis.

Miss Bonnie Haiduke of Arlington Heights was the maid of honor to the bride and Miss Nancy Williamson of Oakton was bridesmaid. They wore gowns of white silk organza edged in pearls, and shirred, ballerina skirts. Shocking pink hats and shoes, and shocking pink bouquets of pompon mums completed their ensembles.

THE LITTLE flower girls, aged 9, 8 and 4, were in white taffeta with shocking pink sashes and carried baskets of shocking pink pompon mums.

Mrs. Stratman chose an emerald green brocade with matching accessories while the groom's mother chose a taupe chiffon, also with matching accessories. Both had corsages of catalie orchids.

Bert Goldthwaite of Park Ridge was best man and ushers were the groom's brothers, David and Frank Williams of Arlington Heights.

Mr. Williams and his bride honeymooned enroute to their new home at 291 Newport ave., Wallaston, Mass., where the groom is stationed with the navy. He has completed nuclear power school at the Merchant Marine academy in Idaho and previously attended Columbia Preparatory school and Arlington high school.

The new Mrs. Williams studied at Ridgewood, N. J. high school and Patterson, N. J. business college. She was a 1956 debutante, bowing in Ridgewood. (Bak Studio

Quite Contrary by Mary

A Lady Game Hunter

Just call me Mem Sahib, the great white female game hunter. I don't mean that I just hunt female game. Actually, the kind of game I have been hunting lately can be either sex or no sex at all, for all I care. I fail to understand why they were invented at all. Like a certain cat on TV, I hate meeces to peeces.

I have a friend who becomes a shrieking maniac if you just spell m-o-u-s-e in her presence. Wouldn't you know that of all the houses in the neighborhood, hers is the one the m-i-c-e love best. So, because the mere mention or sight of these furry beasts does not send me into the screaming meemies, it has been my dubious pleasure to relieve her traps of their dead bodies.

Somewhere along the line, she got the idea that as long as I could perform this task without coming apart at the seams, I liked it. Consequently, I was on call day and night. Finally I told her, as she caught animal after animal, that there were one or two things in life that I liked to do better.

The other day, as I sat in my favorite position in the kitchen with the telephone tucked up to my ear, out of the corner of my eye I detected a moving object that was not one of the children. It was too low down, even for one of my children. And none of the young look well in gray fur coats. Or have long skinny tails. My comment to my telephone partner was, to my mind, succinct. I said, calmly, "What do you know, there's a mouse in the house."

My partner, the shrieker, shrieked. What she didn't know was instinct caused me to draw my feet up onto the chair as my hairy intruder slipped behind the refrigerator. Until Father came home with the traps, I rattled things pretty good before I did anything. I'm not exactly afraid of the little monsters, it's just that they are so sudden. We startle one another.

The rest of the day was spent baiting and stuffing holes with steel wool. Which, I understand, upsets their digestive tracts. Never having encountered a colicky mouse, I must take such opinion at face value. Anyway, that was one stupid rodent. Who is now deceased. Services were private and brief. A word of warning to any of his enterprising relatives: don't mess with me.

Notre Dame Moms Plan 'Shower'

The Mothers club of Notre Dame High School for Boys, Niles, will hold its annual "harvest pantry shower" at 8 p.m. October 16 in the school cafeteria. Serving on the committee is Mrs. Joseph Gorski of Mt. Prospect.

Highlight of the evening will be faculty speeches.

Richard Koopman Claims Mattoon Bride Sept. 9

The historic Ulysses S. Grant hotel in Mattoon was the scene of the reception which followed the September 9 wedding of Judith Ann Mangold, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mangold of Mattoon, and Richard Arnold Koopman, son of the Arnold Koopmans of Mt. Prospect.

The wedding took place in Mattoon's First Methodist church and was performed by Rev. A. M. Willey. Soloist for the three o'clock service was Miss Jane Crusius of El Paso, whose selections were "Because," "God Remembers Everything" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Candelabra, white glads, spider mums and evergreens decorated the church for the double ring service and spider mums and white bows marked the center aisle pews.

THE BRIDE'S floor-length gown was of skinner satin fashioned with a long basque bodice, bateau neckline and long, tapered sleeves. Seed pearl lily of the valley appliques trimmed the full skirt which ended in a chapel train. Her silk illusion veil was held with a satin wedding ring crown outlined with seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of gardenias and stephanotis.

Mr. Mangold gave his daughter in marriage.

Miss Susie Weiss of Mattoon was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Mrs. Sal Nuzzo of Gary, Miss Linda Mangold of Harvey and Miss Carol Feirich of Carbondale. All wore identical sheath dresses of antique gold silktura with pouffed bubble peplums, sleeveless fitted bodices and bateau necklines. They wore matching headpieces, shoes and mitts and carried bronze and gold mums.

THE BRIDAL party included Sally Metzger of Mattoon, 4, who was flowergirl and the bride's 5-year-old brother, Douglas, ring bearer. Sally's dress was also of gold silktura and she carried bronze and gold mum petals in a tulle basket.

William Koopman of Mt. Prospect was his brother's best man and groomsmen were Jim Mott and Ray Horcher of Mt. Prospect and Don Field of Ashland, Ill. Serving as ushers were Ken Reichel of Centralia, Gerry Howe of Carbondale and the groom's brothers, Bob and Scott Koopman.

The reception, at which 250 guests greeted the bridal couple, was followed by an open house in the home of the bride's parents. Mrs. Mangold chose a beige [illegible] with beige and green accessories and a [illegible] mon glamellias. Mrs. Koopman was in a cocoa brown chiffon with magenta accessories and a corsage of white carnations with brown and white mums.

AFTER A week's wedding trip to Michigan, the newlyweds are residing in Carbondale where both are attending Southern Illinois university. The new Mrs. Koopman attended Eastern university this past summer and is now a junior at Southern. Her bridegroom, a graduate of Arlington high school, is a senior at Southern Illnois.

Curtiss Eden Is Married September 16

Mr. and Mrs. Rupert D. Eden of Utila, Rep. of Honduras, C. A. and Buffalo Grove, announce the marriage of their daughter, Curtiss Dall, to A2/c Larry L. Halligan of Greensburg, Ind., September 16 at chapel one, Travis air force base, California.

The bride, given in marriage by Capt. Richard Brannen, wore a street-length sheath dress of white brocaded satin with full overskirt of chantilly lace. Her veil draped from a tiara of pearls and she carried a bouquet of white carnations.

The bridesmaid, Mrs. Judy Bates of Youngstown, Pa., wore a blue chiffon dress with matching headdress. Her bouquet was of blue and white carnations.

RICHARD BATES, a friend of the groom, was best man. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Capt. and Mrs. Brannen.

The couple left on a trip to Sacramento and upon their return they will reside at 706(3A) Travis blvd., Fairfield, Cal.

Lussow-Bray Rites Unite Two Arlington Families

Jenart Photo

Spring blue and white formed the background of the August 26 wedding in which an Arlington Heights couple became man and wife. The bride is the former Jane Elizabeth Bray, daughter of the Arthur R. Brays of 718 N. Highland, and the bridegroom is William Johnston Lussow, son of the Harold L. Lussows of 402 S. Gibbons. The ceremony took place in the First Methodist church of Arlington Heights.

All of the bride's attendants were gowned alike in street length spring blue chiffon over taffeta dresses with white lace cummerbunds. Each dress was sleeveless, had a full skirt and scooped neckline. Matching bow hats with circle veils were worn by the attendants, and they carried crescents of white shasta daisies and spring blue daisies.

MATRON OF honor was Mrs. Victor Carlino of Arlington Heights, for whom the bride was maid of honor in May of this year. One of the bridesmaids, Mrs. Frank Mabley of Athens, Ga., also had the bride as her attendant in a June wedding this year.

The other two bridesmaids were Mrs. Ronald Haas of Mount Prospect and Miss Barbara Bergmann of Arlington Heights.

The bridegroom's brother, John Lussow, was his best man, and among the ushers was his other brother, Fred Lussow. Also ushering were Thomas Bray, the bride's brother; Al Rose of Arlington Heights and Carl Coffman of Chicago, Sigma Chi fraternity brothers of the bridegroom, and Fred Steingraber of Arlington Heights.

COMING DOWN the aisle on the arm of her father, the bride wore a peau d'ange lace and silk organza gown ending in a chapel train. The lace bodice was scattered with small pearls and had a sabrina neckline and long tapered sleeves. The same lace was repeated in a diagonal panel from the waistline to the train.

A fingertip veil fell from a peau d'ange lace cap trimmed in pearls, and stephanotis, mums and ivy formed the cascade bridal bouquet.

DR. HUGHES B. Morris performed the double ring ceremony by candlelight in a setting of white mums and pastel gladioli. Charles Jenks was organist as Gerald Broderick sang "O Perfect Love" and "Ich Liebe Dich."

For the ceremony and reception the bride's mother wore a blue lace and nylon sheath dress with matching jacket and accessories. Mrs. Lussow chose a pale blue and beige sheath dress with matching accessories, and both mothers had white cymbidium corsages.

The evening reception took place at the Pantry in Park Ridge for 200 guests. Among them were the bridegroom's uncle and aunt, the John W. Phillips of Rocky River, Ohio, who were here for the weekend.

THE BRIDAL pair, both graduates of Arlington high school, went on to college, the bride at the University of Wisconsin and the bridegroom at Colorado State university.

Both are working in Arlington Heights. The new Mrs. Lussow is a supervisor at the local business office of Illinois Bell Telephone company, and Mr. Lussow is president of Arlington Oil company. They are residing at 525 W. Euclid ave., Arlington Heights, following a 2-week honeymoon at Isle Royal, Mich. (Jenart

Sorority Activities

PANHELLENIC

Plans for their second annual benefit card party were announced this week by members of Northwest Suburban Panhellenic association. Co-chairman for the affair, to be held Wednesday, Oct. 25 at 8 p.m. in West Park field house, Des Plaines, are Mrs. Thomas Wade and Mrs. James Bowden.

In order that members of the benefit committee may devote more time to plans for this fund - raising project, the association will not hold a regular luncheon or dessert meeting in October. Instead, all sorority women in the Northwest suburban area are urged to attend the card party with neighbors and friends.

PROCEEDS from the benefit will be added to the growing Panhellenic scholarship fund, and may also be used to help finance the annual Panhellenic information parties given for high school senior girls in the area each spring.

Tickets for the benefit card party may be obtained from Mrs. Richard C. Cooper, 221 S. George, Mt. Prospect, CL 5-1465. The donation is $1.25 per person, or $5 per table. Mrs. Jack Sneeden of 302 E. Berkshire, Mt. Prospect, is also serving on the committee for the benefit.

ALPHA OMICRON ALPHA

Mrs. Carl Hammerl, Mrs. Allyn Jefferson, Mrs. Raymond Thurow and Mrs. Neil Riggs of Mt. Prospect and Mrs. A. G. Hengl and Mrs. Carl Bick of Arlington Heights will be among the area Alpha Omicron Alpha alumnae who will be attending the sorority's 41st annual convention this weekend at the Edgewater Beach hotel. Mrs. Riggs is co-chairman of the convention.

National projects of the groups are to provide nurses scholarships and to contribute to Needlework Guild of America. As of this year, 136 nurses have been given scholarships for a total of $40,604. At present, the sorority has 35 nurses in training, five of whom are training in Chicago hospitals.

ALPHA GAMMA DELTA

Mrs. R. D. Evans, 18 N. Albert, Mt. Prospect, will hostess for the first fall meeting of Alpha Gamma Delta alumnae in the area.

Any alumnae living in the Paddock area may call Mrs. Evans at CLearbrook 9-0829, or Ms. T. D. McCormick, CLearbrook 5-1244, for further information. The meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, Oct. 10, at 7:45 p.m.

ALPHA OMICRON PI

Members of Northwest Suburban Alumnae of A O Pi will make puzzle favors for the Illinois Children's hospital school at 2551 N. Clark, Chicago, at their meeting Wednesday, Oct. 11, at 8 p.m. in the Park Ridge home of Mrs. Robert Juckett. Co-hostess will be Mrs. Lee Anderson.

All A O Pi's are welcome and anyone wishing further information or transportation may call Mrs. Roger Hauser, CL 5-2868.

ASKING GUESTS TO leave their six-shooters at the door the night of the "Gunsmoke Gaieties" dance Friday, Oct. 13, in Elmhurst country club, are Mrs. Robert McCullagh and Mrs. William Eilbracht of Mt. Prospect center of the Infant Welfare Society of Chicago, sponsors of the affair. Infant Welfare Society of Chicago, sponsors of the affair. A chuck wagon supper will be served from 11 p.m. to 1 a.m. Mrs. McCullagh, CLearbrook 5-1726, may be called for ticket information.

DELIVERING MAIL to "model patient" Mrs. A. W. Swanson of Mt. Prospect, is Mrs. Jack B. Brouwer of Arlington Heights, left, both members of Lutheran General hospital's service league. The women were looking over a portable oxygen tent like those their October 10 benefit luncheon and fashion show proceeds will buy for the hospital. The affair will be held in Elmhurst country club with league members and doctors' wives as models. Both Mrs. Brouwer and Mrs. Swanson may be called for tickets.

Berg-Connolly Nuptials Are First in New Church

Jenart Photo

The first wedding in the new St. Raymond Catholic church, Mt. Prospect, took place September 9 and united Miss Kathleen E. Berg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Berg, 122 S. Wille ,Mt. Prospect, and Vincent R. Connolly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Connolly of Ottawa, Ill. Fr. Daniel Coughlin officiated at the double ring ceremony amid a setting of white glads and mums.

The 10 a.m. double ring service was followed by a wedding breakfast in the Mt. Prospect VFW club and open house followed in the Berg home during the afternoon and evening.

The bride's complete ensemble was designed by the bride and made by her mother. The gown, princess style, was of ivory satin with scoop neckline and three-quarter sleeves, highlighted with pearl beaded appliques of alencon lace. Back detail of the gown featured a large satin rose and pleats at the waist extending into a chapel train. A circlet of flowers held her silk illusion veil and she carried a cascade of white roses with ivy. Her jewelry was a string of pearls, a gift from her bridegroon.

She was given in marriage by her father.

THE BRIDE was attended by Karen Prahl of Mt. Prospect as maid of honor and two college friends, Suzanne Duffy of Oak Park and Carole Morgucz of Chicago, and the groom's sister, Kay Connolly of Ottawa, as bridesmaids. Miss Prahl's gown was of forest green silk organza over taffeta fashioned in shirtwaist style, while the bridesmaids were in gold. All wore matching shoes and flat bow hats and carried cascades of gold shaded mums.

Thomas Connolly of Ottawa was his brother's best man and ushers were Paul Heath and Lyle Weber of Aurora.

TO GREET the 150 guests, Mrs. Berg chose an embroidered sheath of beige silk organza with brown hat and cymbidium corsage. Mrs. Connolly chose a blue lace over taffeta with darker blue feather hat and corsage of pink cymbidiums.

The couple honeymooned for a week in northern Wisconsin and are now at home at 148 Harrison, DeKalb, where the groom is in his senior year as a business major at Northern Illinois university. Mr. Connolly also studied at Marquette and his bride, who completed two years at Northern, is employed by Ogle Phone Co., DeKalb. She is a graduate of Arlington high school. (Jenart photo (S

Carol Baumrucker Is Bride of Fredric Lowe

First Methodist Church of Palatine was the scene September 16 of a 7 o'clock candlelight double ring service in which Miss Carol Baumrucker, daughter of Frank W. Baumrucker, 539 W. Wilson, Palatine, became the bride of Fredric W. Lowe, who is stationed at the Arlington Heights Nike base. Mr. Lowe's parents are the Fred Lowes of Phoenix.

Against a background of white mums, Rev. W. M. Childress officiated at the ceremony during which Miss Mercie Heise was organist and Carol Willie, soloist. Miss Willie's selections were "O Promise Me" and "The Lord's Prayer." White bows marked the pews.

The bride, escorted by her father, wore a white peau de soie taffeta gown with chapel train. Her gown was fashioned with demure neckline, long, tapered sleeves, fitted bodice, waistline bow, lace front panel and full skirt. Her silk illusion fingertip veil fell from an imported swiss braid crown highlighted with seed pearls. Her flowers were a white orchid with stephanotis.

MRS. MARY Goodburne of East Lansing, Mich., was matron of honor and Miss Judy Sebald, Mrs. Sandra Johnson and Miss Janet Haemker of Palatine were bridesmaids. Junior bridesmaid was the groom's sister, Miss Linda Lowe of Phoenix.

All wore identical gowns of mauve peau de soie taffeta fashioned with fitted bodices, apron effects on the skirt fronts and bows at the waistline. They wore matching crowns with mauve circular veils and carried crescents of white carnations.

Attending the groom were Leland Johnson of Grandview, Wash. as best man and Gayle Sanders of Silverbell, Ariz., John Smith of Dalton, Ga., Richard Schuettner of Palatine and William Baumrucker of Palatine as ushers.

FOLLOWING the service, a reception for 200 guests was held in Palatine fireman's hall. Since the bride's mother is deceased, a close friend and neighbor, Mrs. Randall Highbarger, received in her place. Both Mrs. Highbarger and the groom's mother received in beige silk sheath dresses with matching beige accessories.

The newlyweds honeymooned for four days in Chicago and are now living in the bride's home. The new Mrs. Lowe was graduated from Palatine high school and attended William Woods college and Northern Illinois university. She is employed by Pure Oil Co. Mr. Lowe was graduated from Phoenix Tech.(Jenart Studio (S

Elk Grove Juniors Announce Plans for 1961-62 Club Year

Elk Grove Village Junior Woman's club set plans for the coming year at its first meeting held September 13 at Rupley school. The philanthropy committee presented its recommendations to the members for their vote and adopted for 1961-62 were the following philanthropies:

A donation of $100 to the mental health clinic through the Elk Grove village chapter; Sixty-five per cent of the remaining monies raised will be given to the park commission for the purchase of permanent athletic equipment; Another 25 per cent will be given to Clearbrook School for Retarded Children in Rolling Meadows; the remaining 15 per cent will be given to the village public library.

The Woman's club will raise the money through their two annual benefits, a fashion show, "A Day in Venice" to be held October 14 at the Villa Venice and a dance to be held January 13 in Elmhurst country club.

MRS. HAROLD Thompson, president of the club, announced the 5-point project of the General Federation of Womens clubs, in which the local club will take part. The first point is money for CARE; second, Stamps for Wounded Veterans for which members save cancelled stamps to be sent to various veteran's hospitals for stamp collections and therapeutic purposes; third, youth fitness in which the club takes part through the youth committee and for the younger children through providing funds for athletic equipment; fourth, "A Day in Court," to fulfill a request from the General Federation of Womens Clubs that club members spend one day in a juvenile court, fifth, to encourage all members to have Polio inoculation.

IFWC ALSO has two projects for junior clubs in which the Elk Grove club will participate. The first is scholarships for teachers of exceptional children, whereby the club will send funds through proceeds from the sale of candles. The second project is the Brain Research Foundation. Funds obtained from the sale of Halloween candy will be used for the establishment of a brain research center to be located in Chicago.

Elk Grove Juniors is a member of the seventh district of IFWC and is one of eight junior clubs from the surrounding area to make up Seventh District Juniors. District junior projects for the coming year are Clearbrook School for Retarded Children and the Wheeling School for the Blind.

THE ELK GROVE club will also participate with the General Federation and the American Cancer society in their campaign to encourage all women to have a yearly physical checkup and a uterine cancer test. The club has also assisted the Salvation Army on their Do Nut tag day held in June.

In August many of the club's members also helped man the TB unit stationed at the shopping center. The public relations committee of the club will aid the local chapter of the mental health clinic in their October canvassing. In March they will also conduct the WT-TW fund drive. (S

Two Long Island Families United In Autumn Wedding

In a noon-time mass September 16 in St. Colette Catholic church, Rolling Meadows, Miss Victoria Marie Herro, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Herro, 4003 Raven lane, same town, married a former neighbor, Dr. John Richard Pitrelli, son of Dr. and Mrs. Ferdinand R. Pitrelli of Islip, Long Island, N. Y.

They first met while working at the Central Islip State hospital when the Herros resided in Oakdale, another Long Island community. The rites, officiated at by Rev. Richard Feller, culminated an extended courtship of the pair who chose the Pocono mountains in Pennsylvania for their honeymoon trip.

MRS. GEORGE HERRO, the bride's aunt from Oconomowoc, Wis., sang three hymns before the service and later provided several selections before an audience of 80 guests who feted the newlyweds at a breakfast in the Villa Moderne, Highland Park.

Baskets of mums, carnations and gladioli were used for church decorations. Given in marriage by her father, Miss Herro wore a waltz-length gown of peau de soie, trimmed with alencon lace, again used to style her mantilla. White roses, lilies of the valley and ivy formed the long-line bridal bouquet.

FLOWERS OF THE maid of honor, Miss Nancy O'Neill of Central Islip, were red sweetheart roses in colonial design. Matching was her berry red sheath with overskirt, bow band and veil.

Mrs. Herro was attired in aqua chiffon, brown accessories and had a bokara rose corsage. Outfit of the groom's mother, a beige and brown, was accented with tea roses.

Mr. Pitrelli served his son as best man; ushers were Philip J. Herro of Oconomowoc, uncle of the bride; and her cousin, Edward A. Karsa, Berwyn.

THE NEW MRS. Pitrelli was educated at Seton Hall high school, Patchogue, Long Island, and the College of Liberal Arts, Marquette university, Milwaukee, where she earned a BA major in sociology this year.

She is a member of Psi Chi, national honorary psychology society; Sigma Delta Pi, national Spanish honorary; and a Alpha Kappa Delta, national sociological honor group.

Dr. Pitrelli was graduated from Manhatten college, New York City, the medical school of the University of Rome, Italy, and has an MD from the University of Bologna in Italy, '61.

New home for the couple is located in Hempstead, Long Island. (S

Clubwomen Begin Bridge Tournament

HAZEL PECK, leading lady in the Des Plaines Theatre guild's production of "Marriage-Go-Round," backstage, puts finishing touches on her make up. A special benefit performance is being sponsored by Mt. Prospect Women's club Friday evening, Oct. 13. Reservations can be made with Mrs. R. F. Piehl, CL 9-4739 or Mrs. Marvin Hall, CL 5-3268.

Mt. Prospect Woman's club will be holding its annual bridge tournament the second Tuesday of each month at the Northwest Suburban YMCA. Deadline for joining the group will be October 10 when the group meets at 12:45 p.m.

Players may enroll in couples and need not be members of the club. Fee is $5 per player, plus 25 cents for coffee for the year. Each player will be asked to help serve once during the season, according to the co-chairmen, Mrs. H. G. Gemmill and Mrs. P. M. Tsolinas, CLearbrook 3-1038.

The veterans service department of the club has set 1 p.m. October 9 for its monthly meeting and anyone who likes to sew is welcome. Those planning to attend are asked to call Mrs. W. J. Mann, 409 Candota, hostess.

THE WAYS AND means chairman, Mrs. M. L. Hall, has tickets for the October 13 theater party, when members and friends are invited to see the Des Plaines Theater guild in "Marriage-Go-Round."

Mrs. H. G. Gemmill will be hostess to the October 19 meeting of the American citizenship department when members meet at 9 a.m. in her home at 313 WaPella to hear H. G. Appleby, Mt. Prospect village manager, speak on local civil defense. Those bringing guests are asked to advise the hostess.

ANTIQUE, HOBBY SHOW

October 6, 7 and 8 have been set for the 11th annual antique and hobby show sponsored by the Oregon Woman's club. Twenty dealer sales booths will be a feature of the show as well as entertainment and a snack bar.

Friday and Saturday hours are 1 to 10 p.m. and Sunday, 1 to 8 p.m. (S

Mount Prospect Dramatic Soprano Is Area's 'Home Grown' Celebrity

Mt. Prospect Dramatic Shopp?? 5 48 Bold

Northwest suburbs have a "home grown" celebrity to their credit. She is a young dramatic soprano whose recent successes in Europe are fullfilling the prophecy of music critics who hailed her as "one of the greatest voices of her generation."

Barbara Leichsenring of Mt. Prospect temporarily interrupted a European career this summer to return to the United States for her American operatic debut in Cincinnati, to discuss plans for an American concert tour, and to visit family and friends in the northwest area.

BARBARA LEICHSENRING

For the past month she has been visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Leichsenring, 600 Albion, Mt. Prospect, and a sister, Mrs. Robert Heitbrink, 2204 Eastman, Rolling Meadows.

SOON SHE will return to Europe for concert and opera appearances during the 1961-62 season in Italy and Germany.

Miss Leichsenring's American operatic debut in July was widely-acclaimed. She sang the role in "Aida" for the Cincinnati Summer Opera, the nation's only and oldest full-fledged summer grand opera company.

After her Cincinnati engagement, she was in New York City to make arrangements for professional management of her first American tour, tentatively planned for 1962-63 if European commitments do not conflict.

The talented diva is a genuine product of northwest suburbs.

A 1949 graduate of Maine Township high school, she lived in Des Plaines before moving with her family to Mt. Prospect in 1950.

A turning point in her career was 1956, when she was judged best woman singer in the Chicagoland Music Festival. She subsequently won first prize in the Metropolitan Opera association's "Auditions of the Air" as well as a special scholarship grant from the American Opera Society of Chicago.

Her Italian operatic debut in 1959 at Il Teatro Nuovo was lavishly praised by Milan's exacting opera critics, whose enthusiastic reception was virtually unprecedented for a relatively unknown American soprano.

Following her triumph in Milan, Miss Leichsenring scored another victory. In competition with performers from 80 nations, she competed in the Vioti International Concorso of voice, instrument, composition, and dance at Vercelli, Italy. Her first place award above all other categories was only the second time in the history of the competition that the international award was made to a singer.

THE SUBURBAN soprano made concert and opera appearances throughout Italy last season, including Florence, Milan, Rome, Novaro, Trieste and Turino.

She has made several European radio broadcasts, including a concert over radio Munich, Germany, and with the Swiss Symphony of Radio at Lugano. Switzerland.

Earlier this summer, she was awarded a contract by Rome Radio and recorded a concert of arias and duets under the direction of Maestro Gardini. The program was scheduled for national broadcast last month.

Miss Leichsenring accepted an invitation to enter the La Scala study center in Milan, where she spent six months in training. She has also studied opera with the renowned coach-conductor, Maestro Narducci, as well as drama with Julia Tess. In Europe she has been under the professional guidance of John Gianandre Gavazzeni, noted conductor at La Scala Opera and Chicago's Lyric Opera. (S

Hospital College Elevates Campbell

Northwest Community hospital, Arlington Heights, can now list its administrator, Alan B. Campbell, as a full member of the American College of Hospital Administrators.

Campbell was advanced to

the status of full membership in the college, a professional society, at its twenty-seventh annual convocation held late in September in Atlantic City.

THE COLLEGE was founded 28 years ago for the purpose of providing recognition to men and women doing outstanding work in professional careers as hospital administrators.

At the convocation the college conferred its highest commendation, Honorary Fellowship, upon three leaders in the field. They are Robinson E. Adkins, executive officer, Department of Medicine and Surgery, Veterans Administration; Mrs. Lillian Moller Gilbreth, educator and author in the field of management; and Major General Oliver K. Niess, Surgeon General, U. S. Air Force.

Modern Etiquette

Q. My son has become engaged to a girl who lives in a distant city, and it is impossible for me to observe the usual custom of calling on her parents. What can I do?

A. It is your obligation to write to the girl's mother telling her how happy you are over the prospect of the girl's becoming your daughter-in-law. Mention, too, that you hope to meet the girl's mother soon.

Q. I've noticed some persons using their fingers as "pushers" to help them get food onto their forks. Is this excusable?

A. No, it isn't. If a person absolutely needs a "pusher," he may use a piece of bread or the blade of his knife. But certainly, you must keep your fingers out of the food!

Does this make sense?

If we make wills and plan for retirement years ahead, why not also plan funeral arrangements in advance of need?

More families are using our Pre-Arrangemnt Plan than ever before in our thirty-six years of service.

Three R's are NOT ENOUGH

A justice of the Supreme Court of New York once said: "The statistics of the courts over which I have presided establish that an overwhelming majority of boys convicted of crime never had any religious instruction."

If that is true, then God have pity on a nation where almost half the citizens claim no church affiliation and where many million children are receiving no formal religious instruction.

We are not discharging our duty to our children by feeding them, clothing them and sending them to school. Our children have been given to us by God in trust.

If you are a parent, you have no higher purpose in life than that you first of all become a Christian yourself, and that you do all in your power to permit God to have His way with your children. "Ye fathers, bring up your children in the nurture and admonition of the Lord."

We invite you to bring your child to our educational agencies and to our church services. We encourage you to lead your children in their prayers and to surround them with a wholesome Christian amosphere.

More than anything else, your child needs the fourth R—Religion. He needs to trade in the old heart which you have given him for the new heart which God alone can give. That transforation comes in no other way than through faith in Jesus Christ, the Savior

MR. QUAKER

Business Women's Club Slates Talk

The Mount Prospect Business and Professional Women's club will have their second meeting of the year on October 12, at Gunnell's Rathskeller at 6:30 p.m. Reservations will be open to the public because of the program being presented that evening by the National Security Committee of MPBPWC.

Barbara Johnson, chairman, announces the appearance of "Mr. Quaker" who will speak on Americanism. Mr. Quaker is really Val Gould of Rolling Meadows, well known dramatic actor. For seven years Gould has been touring the United States, bringing his message to high school groups and civic organizations.

GOULD dresses in Quaker costume to accentuate the theme of his program and incidentally to publicize the company which presents him as a public service, the Quaker Oats company.

For reservations phone Mary Adams, HE 7-1177 before Monday, Oct. 9.

Following the program, several local women will be inducted as new members of the club. They are: Helen Atmore, Ann Baynas, Virginia Henry, Adeline Lindskoog, Ethel Lytle, Luella Volz, Pearl Lindstrom and Joanne Busse. (ACM

Q. When applesauce is served with pork, should it be eaten with a spoon or fork?

A. It is better to use the fork.

Q. Is it the accepted form for a woman to use her maiden name as her middle name after she has married?

A. This is the established custom. In other words, after Mary Miller marries John Williams, she then becomes Mary Miller Williams.

Q. My feelings were hurt when one of my dinner guests ate only the filling of one of my pies, and left the crust uneaten. Wasn't she guilty of bad manners?

A. No. Many people do not eat pie crust, either for dietary reasons or as a manner of taste. You should not have been miffed about this.

Q. If a girl is being married in a simple, informal ceremony, and she is wearing her going-away dress, does she have a number of bridesmaids?

A. In a ceremony such as this, the bride usually has only one attendant, her maid or matron of honor.

Q. When eating a baked potato at the dinner table, is it correct to extract the potato from its skin and mash it on the plate?

A. No; it still is considered most proper to split the potato, and then eat it directly from the skin.

New Movie Opening at Cascade

Romance, adventure and excitement are combined on the bill starting Friday, Oct. 6, at the Cascade Outdoor Theatre, on North ave., one mile east of route 59.

The romance is supplied by Fredric March and Ben Gazzara in "Young Doctors," with the scene set in a modern big city hospital.

THE ADVENTURE comes in large doses in "Bridge in Toki-Ri," starring William Holden and Grace Kelly in technicolor, while the excitement rolls across the screen with the showing of a special midnight shock show, "The House on Haunted Hill."

The complete program is rounded out with the usual cartoons for the children at the start. (Bill

THE GENERAL'S estranged wife, Margaret (Dana Wynter), returns home unexpectedly and sees through the disguise. However, she is attracted to him and agrees to help him and Intelligence. They throw a dance for the General's Highland Regiment, designed to uncover the spies. To convince the guests that Ernie is really the General, they stage a fake family fight, but afterward the spies capture Ernie and spirit him into Berlin. "On the Double" opens at the Prospect Theatre Oct. 6.

Community Concert

Todd Duncan Is First '61 Series Performer

Todd Duncan, the popular baritone, will appear here Sunday, Oct. 8, at Arlington Heights high school gymnasium, the first presentation of the season by the Arlington Heights Community Concert series.

The singer's abilities were first brought to light by no less a person than George Gershwin, who selected the artist to create Porgy in the original production of "Porgy and Bess" — finest of all American folk operas.

"Porgy and Bess," starring Duncan, made musical history. Fifteen years later, for the first big revival of the classic, Duncan repeated his role and had, if possible, an even greater triumph.

Most artists would, and could, have rested on such laurels as these, but nothing in the great baritone's career has commanded more respect than his steadfast refusal to allow himself to become "typed."

NOT LONG after his original

TODD DUNCAN

sensational success in "Porgy" Duncan branched out into opera, singing such works as "Pagliacci" and "Carmen" with the New York City Opera Company.

In the past several seasons he has sung in recital and with orchestra in every state of the Union except one, and with fantastic success in Scandinavia, Australia and New Zealand, in Israel and in Europe for repeated triumphs in England, Scotland, Holland, Belgium, France and Italy.

His European tour of 1956, included appearances in Spain and Portugal, and an almost unprecendented number of engagements in the Scandinavian countries, where he sang over thirty concerts in less than six weeks.

LATELY, Duncan has focused his attention on concertizing, playing to sold-out recital halls, and thrilling music lovers coast-to-coast by his penetrating artistry and superb musicianship.

In past summers he has been a featured guest artist at three major outdoor concert series: New York's Lewisohn Stadium, Chicago's Grant Park, and with Milwaukee's summer symphony, and looks forward to another solidly booked season.

Born in Danville, Ky. and brought up in Indianapolis, Duncan holds a B.A. from Butler college, a master's degree from Columbia university, and the honorary degree of Doctor of Humane Letters from Valparaiso University in Indiana. His home is in Washington D.C.; his son, a Dartmouth and Harvard graduate, is a prominent Washington lawyer.

DOORS OPEN at 7:30 p.m. at the high school gymnasium, and concert time is 8:15 p.m. Admission is by membership card only.

Tennessee's Play Has Top Director

Tennessee Williams' Summer and Smoke, to be presented Oct. 13, 14, and 15 by the Arlington Heights Village Theatre, Inc. in Prospect high school, is being directed by Miss Anna H. Reuter.

Contrasting forcibly with the hard-bitten director customarily portrayed in movies, petite Miss Reuter's stature as a director is enhanced by her qualifications.

Director of the Roosevelt University Metropolitan Players, drama teacher at Immaculata high school, and Chicago unit chairman of the National Catholic Theatre Conference, Miss Reuter was educated at Northwestern university, The Pasadena Playhouse, and Fordham university.

NATIONAL Catholic Theatre Awards this year were awarded to the producers of Broadway's Sound of Music, and to Miss Reuter for outstanding work in directing for educational theater.

"I am enthusiastic about community theaters and the wonderful outlets they provide; I hope there will be more and more of them in the future as people begin to have more leisure. Working with the Village Theatre group has been an enjoyable experience for me."

Miss Reuter recently conducted a panel on acting for the National Catholic Theatre Conference, and has directed a television series. (Bill

Northwest Art News

Art Center Presents 2 Films on Artists

By LUCILE ERNST

The Countryside Art Center will present on October 5, two films concerning art and artists. The first of these is a black and white entitled, "From Renoir to Picasso." The second is "El Greco: The Secret of Toledo."

The films will be shown after the regular business meeting at 8 o'clock in Pioneer Park in Arlington Heights. The public is invited.

This month's Arts Magazine loftily states that they will no longer review all the art shows in New York because so many of the shows are amateurish and not worthy of critical evaluation, that they should not be honored with even disapproval.

AL I CAN say is, "Hurrah!" This has bothered me for a long time. I am sickened every time I read a review of the Art Institute student exhibit. I just plain suffer when I read a review in Arts magazine in which some new and young artist presents his efforts to the world and a critic happily crushes him beneath his all mighty heel.

This is not because I am so sweet and nice and love all artists, good and bad. This is because I feel that art is no different than any other form of knowledge. Artists must be bad before they are good. They need to make mistakes and have room to grow and learn. Any art is tremendously difficult.

It takes years to accumulate the knowledge of thousands of years and an intuitive wisdom to express one's reaction to the world around him. This is what we expect of an artist and well we might. My objection is that we should not expect this of a student or fledgeling artist.

IF ANYONE saw the very wonderful exhibit of Picasso's work held at the Art Institute several years ago they would have seen his first paintings, as paintings, were very bad. Even Picasso had to learn to handle paint to express the genius apparent in his later paintings.

If he had been judged as a student, he too would have been crushed beneath a critical heel. His paintings gave no hint to the artist that was to be. How much genius and talent have we lost by judging too soon?

This is the first time in history that we have expected no mistakes in young people. I wonder why. One learns by his mistakes. It is only recently that we refuse to let the young make mistakes. I suspect it is the scientific era we live in where there is no room for mistakes. This is a nice neat way of doing things but it has nothing to do with people.

A PERSON becomes an artist when he is so intent in expressing what he knows and feels that he will spend all of his time finding ways to tell you about his feelings and thoughts, often taking the wrong methods.

It is not whether he is right or wrong that makes him an artist, it is the intensity of his desire to communicate.

Recently I saw a picture that was really bad. The young artist did not know the first thing about handling paint. Everything in the painting was wrong except that the young artist was speaking in paint in a compelling and dramatic way about his own times and about the fear of death, a real and eternal value.

HIS PAINTING was awful but I have a hunch that this artist if not crushed will learn to subdue his expression without subduing his emotion. He will learn the power in understatement if we give him time.

It is true that we have somehow given the impression that art is a sedative to a frustrated housewife and therapy to a disturbed mind. It is neither. Art is about as soothing as rearing children, a constant challenge, a constant re-evaluation.

A disturbed mind will find only deeper disturbance in art for the artist presents all his ideas and ideals in a concrete form in an intensely dramatic way. No man who is afraid of his own feelings or ideas should dare such an adventure.

THE TRUEST evaluation of art is that it is an exciting adventure, one which should have some sense of fulfillment before it is judged. If we don't give an artist prestige or money, let us give them this, a chance to finish his speech before we lynch him. (Bill

SO SAID THE MAN who accidentally shot a six-foot-five companion on a hunting trip last year. Most hunting accidents—and there are between 600 and 800 fatalities each year—can be avoided if the men with the guns know how to use them. Here, by Jhan and June Robbins, is the story of what some states are doing to protect hunters themselves, and the innocent bystanders.

Carl Sandburg—Family Man . . . page 12

In December, 1907, a young man escorted Miss Paula Steichen, whom he had just met, to a streetcar. In June, 1908, she became Mrs. Carl Sandburg, a status she has now enjoyed for 53 years. This month we are proud to tell you something about the life of the great poet and his family, as seen through the eyes of an admiring and devoted friend, Harry Golden.

You Don't Ever Cook Pancakes . . . page 15

You make them, says Evan Hunter, famous author of "The Blackboard Jungle," and "Mothers and Daughters." He has been making them every Sunday morning since he was first married. It has become a ritual that never varies in his house—it means sleepy eyes and Sunday voices and love and warmth and security—and a steady procession of good, hot pancakes smothered in butter and sirup.

If You Can't Lick 'Em, Join 'Em . . . page 28

Here's a story that should put the bloom back in the cheeks of all bumper-to-bumper commuters, told by the chief driver of "Readi-Riders, Inc." It's all about how 28 people pooled their fares and bought a bus and now slip comfortably through the Detroit traffic blockade twice a day, playing cards, catching up on their reading, chatting cosily, or just plain napping—and they're showing a profit on the books, too.

Oak and ash, maple and elm and tulip—who ever saw the leaves fall this way? And who, on a spicy, sunny autumn day, hasn't basked in the very same glow that Mr. Pucci produces, with his wonderful magenta-orange palette, for our October cover.

GETTING AROUND

. . . to Our Pleasant Places and People

WHEN FRANK J. INDOVINA, fishing near Crestline, California, ran out of worms, he tried green trading stamps and caught a trout, seven bass, and two bluegills.

It's almost fun to take out a mortgage with a University Heights, Ohio, bank which presents each prospective householding family with a flowering cherry tree to be planted on the grounds of its new home.

A new idea that should do its share to improve international relations is now underway in Peters Township, Pennsylvania. It involves helping exchange students from other lands find adequate housing facilities while they are studying here. Local residents have been asked to donate furnishings such as rugs, stoves, kitchen tables, refrigerators, chairs, sofas, and lamps to be used to outfit a dormitory for the foreign students. All the donations, according to Mrs. W. S. Slack (the lady to contact, incidentally, if you have things in good condition that you'd like to contribute), will be used to make up a "Room Scholarship" to be awarded to some deserving foreign student in the names of the donors.

Eighteen-year-old Donald Weigel, of Mineola, New York, has confounded physicists by single-handedly building a cyclotron that can produce proton beams with energy levels of 0.8 million electron volts. Though scientists claim the building of a cyclotron is beyond the intellectual capacity of a high-school student, the result of young Donald's labors will be used, in the future, for research in atomic science at Mineola High School. Good work!

Mrs. Gwen Simonarson, of Blaine, Washington, thought you'd all like to know an unusual effect of dieting. It seems that a Miss Sylvia Sannar, while doing a stretch in the state prison, slimmed down from 100 to 85 pounds, then squeezed through the bars on the window of her cell and escaped.

Whatever happened to these quaint old phrases, wonders Martin Tonn of Moorhead, Minnesota. His favorite four, which he so seldom hears any more, are: "Now, we have a rule here—no using silverware on the fried chicken. We always use our fingers"; "Don't be silly, I'll take the check. You're my guest tonight"; "I prescribe more rest for you. Cut down on the odd jobs around the house. Relax and enjoy a good cigar instead"; and "Sorry, but I couldn't find a single cavity in any of your children's teeth. See you next year."

The two justices of the peace in Walters, Oklahoma, have started a new organization that, we hope, will catch on in one form or another all over the country. It's called the "100 Club." You are automatically made a member if you are caught driving 100 miles an hour or more. Dues are a fine of $100.00 or more. Now, what we'd like to see are some "Your Fine Is Double Your M.P.H." Clubs, to discourage anyone who goes way over the speed limit anywhere. How about it?

"No more people. Only freight."

Brides-To-Be in Plymouth, Massachusetts, get more than a certificate from clerk M. Herbert Craig when they come to get their marriage licenses. Mr. Craig gives each of the prospective homemakers a box that he calls a "bridal pax." In it are 15 items, including soap powder, soap, ammonia, dessert topping, sauces, instant coffee, and aspirin. Reminders of things to come—presented with the license, and "Compliments of Town Clerk M. Herbert Craig."

Thanks for the tip, Helene Fran Holmberg, of Lenexa, Kansas. Mrs. Holmberg and her family never argue or get into hassles about who does what, or who hasn't done what he was supposed to do. They use a Family Note Box made from an old oatmeal carton covered with a piece of wallpaper, which is left on a low shelf in the kitchen. Beside it are a pen, paper, and a roll of cellophane tape for sealing, to be sure no one peeks at someone else's notes. The Holmbergs have found the Family Note Box brings wonderful results, especially for the children, who respond more to these written suggestions than to scolding or orders for work to be done. The young Holmbergs particularly like the occasional "Thank-You" notes for jobs well done.

A sign by a used typewriter in a San Fernando, California, shop, reads "Used Only By An Elderly Pasadena Woman Who Never Went More Than 20 Words A Minute."

A supermarket in Dedham, Massachusetts, says Mrs. Anne Maida, has solved the problem of what to do with the children during a long shopping spree. The store has installed a miniature theatre near the entrance that features a continuous program of colorful animated cartoons. It keeps the kids happy, lets the mother shop in peace, and saves the market quite a lot of breakage from well-meaning, busy little hands.

It's a tough job for any smallish group of people to patrol a large area—for any worthwhile reason—but the Garden Club Council of Grosse Pointe, Michigan, got around this problem by putting a large clip-out coupon in the local paper. It was headed "Sore Spots for Clean-Up," and asked friends and neighbors to help by filling in the locations of vacant lots, alleys, and other areas that were in need of attention. Then they got right down to the job of cleaning up instead of wasting time hunting around for sore spots on their own.

WE CAN STOP HUNTING ACCIDENTS

Hunter training could protect the principal victims—young beginners and innocent bystanders

BY JHAN AND JUNE ROBBINS

ON A BRISK NOVEMBER DAY last year the Edward Wilson family moved from their Philadelphia apartment to Bucks County, thirty miles away. Like thousands of others, they believed that the best way to bring up healthy children was in an environment of green trees and open fields. The mother, busy unpacking, smilingly told her six-year-old daughter, "You're a country girl now! Run along and explore the woods."

A few minutes later she heard a noise like a distant backfire. Her little girl fled into the house, sobbing, "There's a lot of holes in my dress!" The child's wide, red skirt, blowing before her in the wind, had been shredded by a shotgun blast.

On that same day, in Wyoming, an eighteen-year-old boy on his third hunting trip was stopped in mid-field by a reproachful deputy sheriff. "Quit dragging your gun by the barrel!" the deputy snapped. "You'll get hurt." An hour later the youth's body was found hanging over a wire fence, shot through the stomach by his own rifle. His father had shown him how to load, aim, shoot, and clean his weapon, but no one had ever taught him how to get under a fence with it.

Today no one can hope to ignore the hunting-casualty problem. Rapid transportation takes hunters to areas they have never invaded before. At the same time the rush to the suburbs has brought hunters into everyone's dooryard. Within the perimeters of our cities there is a tempting surplus of rabbit, woodchuck, and even deer.

One out of every ten American males over the age of fifteen owns a shotgun, rifle, or both. Fifteen million take out hunting licenses each year. During the usual ten-week season, they spend 169 million man-days hunting. Most use their weapons skillfully and responsibly. A lethal minority, however, each year kills 600 to 800 persons in hunting accidents and injures about 3500 persons more.

Some argue that, considering the large number of people engaged in the sport, this casualty rate is not high. Yet, if as many as 800 deaths occurred each fall on our high-school and college gridirons, there is no doubt that the sport would long ago have been abruptly halted or radically changed by outraged public protest.

A large number of hunting accidents involve the very young. Youths 16 to 19 years old are the group most likely to be shot down—or to shoot someone. They account for 46% of all accidents and supply 39% of the victims! No other sport is so dangerous for innocent bystanders.

HERE IS THE KIND of crass stupidity that causes hunting accidents: In Texas, a hunter used his gun to beat back brush in a deep thicket. A twig twitched the trigger. The man's closest friend, walking just behind him, was instantly killed. In Gasconade County, Missouri, an excited teen-age boy fired too fast and too low as his dog flushed a covey of quail. He shot his sister who was standing on the other side of the field. In a suburb near Des Moines, a young mother was killed when a car driven by her husband struck a bump and jolted the loaded gun lying on the back seat. In Vermont, a boy climbing a hill turned and extended his rifle, butt end first, to help his father ascend the steep trail. The father slipped, made a grab at the gunstock, yanked the trigger, and shot his son through the neck.

Protected by the Constitutional guarantee, "The right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed," some hunters travel on public buses or even demand service in restaurants with guns clutched legally between their knees!

Says Bryan Burgin, head of New York State's Hunter Training Program, "The dangers of hunting cannot sensibly be compared to those of other sports. The only useful analogy is to automobile driving. No one gets a driver's license until he has proved that he can drive safely. We know that innocent people's lives are in jeopardy when an ignorant and incompetent driver takes the wheel. We probably can't run all of those people out of the woods any more than we can get all of them off the road—but it's time for every state in the nation to try."

Eleven states now have laws compelling at least a part of its young hunting population to study and pass a hunter-safety course. They are New York, California, New Jersey, Rhode Island, Montana, Massachusetts, Connecticut, South Dakota, Minnesota, Washington, and Utah. All of them found out—the hard way—that a compulsory hunter safety-education program is easy to talk about but extremely difficult to get started. New York State's law, the first to be passed, originally ordered state game protectors to conduct all the training classes for youngsters under sixteen. Thousands of boys appeared. Game protectors were completely swamped.

OTHER STATES that followed New York's example recruited instructors by newspaper advertisement and word of mouth. Their skill with guns was vouched for but, unfortunately, many early safety instructors proved to be too negligent or too softhearted to weed out the very applicants the states were most anxious to bar from the woods.

In 1950, the National Rifle Association entered the state training picture. The organization, with a membership of 435,000 and 10,200 chartered local gun clubs, has been teaching young people since 1926. Under their sponsorship three and a half million youngsters have earned marksmanship ratings with a safety record of less than half a dozen minor accidents. While opposed to some gun-regulating legislation, the National Rifle Association came generously to the aid of state safety-training programs. They supplied equipment, instructors, and know-how. In the past ten years in New York and elsewhere, they have trained and certified 35,000 additional instructors, who in turn have trained 1,500,000 young people.

The course of instruction costs the state about fifty cents per pupil. It consists of four hour-long lessons, ten rounds of ammunition, a supervised field trip, and a written examination. At its conclusion students know—and can demonstrate—the answers to such questions as:

"When should the safety on a gun be in the off position?"

(Only when it's about to be fired.)

"How should a gun be handled when crossing a fence?"

(Unload, open action, place gun under fence. Climb fence, reload.)

"If three hunters are walking single file down a path, in what position should each carry his gun?"

(First man, muzzle pointing to the front or side. Second man, muzzle to the side. Third man, muzzle to the side or over shoulder.)

"How is a gun carried in an automobile?"

(Unloaded, with action open or gun in case.)

"If three hunters are advancing abreast down a field and a pheasant flushes to the right and flies off in that direction, which one takes the shot?"

(Man on the right.)

"If three hunters are advancing abreast down a field and a rabbit breaks between the man in the middle and the one to the left, who takes the shot?"

New KELVINATOR with special Wrinkle-Free Drying

Dryer Model DE-700

Here's why Kelvinator brings you so much value!

Kelvinator doesn't waste money making costly annual model changes—mere "change for change's sake." Instead, Kelvinator concentrates on making appliances more useful, more dependable and more economical to operate. Just as soon as improvements are tested and approved, they are introduced. Because of this policy of Constant Basic Improvement, you are always sure of the newest with Kelvinator.

Super-Speed, Triple-Safe Drying, Too!

You iron far less when this new Kelvinator dries your clothes! It smooths and fluffs away wrinkles with a special cool tumble at the end of each drying cycle. Many things need only "touch-up" ironing or none at all.

And for wash-wear fabrics, Kelvinator provides a special cycle with a special heat that sheds wrinkles, but keeps in pre-set creases!

There's no overheating on any cycle . . . temperatures are safe for all washables. In addition, there's a safe, smooth porcelain cylinder that doesn't snag and a safety door that shuts off the dryer when it's opened.

Kelvinator is fast and efficient, too . . . you can dry clothes as fast as you wash them. Available for 115 or 230 volt current. Save time and work with this new Kelvinator dryer!

HUNTING ACCIDENTS

Under practical conditions in the field, young hunters are taught target identification. They hear the story of the man who shot a six-foot five-inch companion weighing 240 pounds and said, "I was sure he was a woodchuck." They learn to hold their fire until they answer the six basic questions of game recognition: Color? Size? Movement? Location? Behavior? And, finally, Where is everybody?

They are told it's dangerous to use Grandfather's antique shotgun. Old guns are usually made of twisted Damascus-process steel and won't hold together under the pounding of today's high-power ammunition.

They are warned against hair triggers, blind firing, arrogance, and alcohol. Basic physical examinations eliminate would-be hunters with defective coordination or dangerously poor eyesight. "Show-offs," along with the lazy, the undisciplined, and the defiant, are promptly kicked out of the course.

In 1955, South Dakota reported that 49% of its accidents were caused by boys of twenty or under. That year, the state passed a hunter-training law concentrated on young people, and only three years later recorded a 53% decrease in juvenile hunting accidents. In New York, after ten years of hunter training, accidents have been cut in half. This year, applicants, regardless of age, who apply for a first-time license must take the hunter-safety course. There is no doubt that mandatory hunter training works.

Seven Lifesaving Tips

With the 1961 season upon us, and more than fifteen million hunters preparing to go out, here are seven tips that may save your life—or someone else's—this fall:

Keep calm. Tense, overanxious hunters are often trigger-happy and fire when they least mean to do so.

Don't count on red to save your life. Eight percent of all hunters (along with the entire U.S. population) are color-blind and see red as muddy brown—the exact shade of a plump deer. Safest color bet: Bright chrome yellow, the color used for most school buses, or a blaze orange.

Respect the .22 rifle. It isn't a child's toy, although many adults think it is. A .22 can kill at half a mile.

Take a coffee break in mid-morning. And quit early in the afternoon. Research shows there's a fatigue factor that seems to make hunting accidents rise at 11 a.m. and 4 p.m.

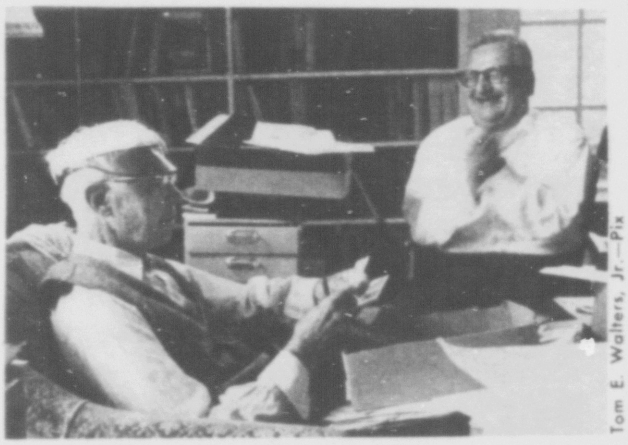
Store guns and ammunition separately. Be sure the wrong person can't get hold of both at the same time.

Be particularly careful during the early days of the season. The first few days usually see 27% of the accidents, the first two weeks, 69%!

Treat every gun as though it were loaded even if you have just unloaded it yourself. Two-thirds of all hunting accidents occur for a single, simple reason. A gun was loaded when it should not have been. Live to enjoy the lovely autumn foliage—and let others enjoy it with you.

William A. Smith

The poet with his grandchildren, Karen Paula and John Carl, who are named for their grandparents.



Tom E. Walters, Jr.—Pix

Found "Only in America," Sandburg and Golden, whose "Carl Sandburg" will appear next month.

John Mills, Jr.—Pix

The Sandburgs — she was Paula Steichen — who were married 53 years ago, on June 15, 1908.

but there were misgivings among other members of the family. Victor Berger did some whispering, and to Paula, too: "Do you know he's a poet?"

Paula said she knew he was a poet, and twenty years before Carl became famous she repeated to Berger the lines from Robert Browning:

> Ah, did you once see Shelley plain,
> And did he stop and speak to you,
> And did you speak to him again?
> How strange it seems and new!

They were married in June, 1908, six months after their first meeting. There was no ring ceremony, the word "obey" was eliminated with a solemn agreement that one of the parties could call it quits any time he or she decided.

A few years later, after a half-serious argument, Paula wondered whether they should invoke the agreement and Carl said, "I'll be damned if I'll go through all that courtin' again."

Carl and Paula set up housekeeping in Appleton where they paid four dollars a month rent for three rooms upstairs in a one-and-a-half-story house. They bought a bed, a mattress, and some bedding; Paula made muslin curtains, and several store cartons served as dresser and shelves. In 1909, they moved to Milwaukee.

The first child, Margaret, was born in 1911 in Milwaukee about the time Carl became secretary to Emil Seidel, the mayor of that city.

At the age of nine, totally without warning, Margaret had an epileptic spasm accompanied by convulsions. The Sandburgs had no money and were not to have any until years later, but they strained their financial resources as well as their thoughts and energies for Margaret. Nerve specialists diagnosed her case as nocturnal epilepsy, as her seizures occurred only during sleep. They advised diet and drugs to relieve the number and severity of attacks.

YEARS LATER, after the Sandburgs had moved from Chicago to Michigan, Janet, the second daughter, was hit by a car while crossing the street in front of the Three Oaks High School in Harbert. She was unconscious for a week and lingered many weeks thereafter between life and death. X rays revealed innumerable fine fractures at the base of the skull. When she returned home, a many-windowed upper porch was set aside for her recuperation. After two years, she recovered enough to return to school but has been afflicted ever since with severe recurrent headaches. Despite this handicap, Janet is an active farmer and a fervent fan of both baseball and politics.

The girls were the Spink and Skabootch to whom "Rootabaga Stories" were dedicated.

The youngest daughter, Helga, Carl calls Swipes. Helga writes poetry and won a short story prize in 1958. She has also published two novels.

When "The Prairie Years" was sold for $30,000, the world did not know the tears Carl and Paula Sandburg shed that evening because of their concern about the future of Margaret and Janet. They felt that both girls, who would never really be able to earn their own livelihoods, were at last assured a fair chance of happiness. This is what has concerned Carl through all his productive years and explains his great care in handling of money.

Under the most rigid rules, daughter Margaret may be called an expert bibliophile. Newly developed medication and drugs have overcome her disability. She has inherited from both her parents a love of books and a mind capable of absorbing and analyzing great literature. Those who have worked around Carl have come to value Margaret's exceptional abilities.

Sandburg refuses to have his library catalogued, which numbers 15,000 volumes (this after the sale of a huge library, along with manuscripts of his Lincoln biography, to the University of Illinois).

"I know where everything is," he says, "and I don't want it touched."

I've discovered, however, that his confidence is based on Margaret, who can unerringly walk to a shelf or a sealed box and pull out the book or document he is looking for.

Carl Sandburg rarely spends money on himself and at the height of his career looks as unpressed as he did when he was a $27.50 newspaperman.

When he goes out to make a speech, he'll put on a white shirt and his usual bow tie and Sunday suit, but when he is home he wears old pants and a lumberjack shirt, his favorite costume. He cannot get himself to throw anything away, including several pairs of shoes ranging in age from ten to thirty years.

He calls his throat the voice box and has all sorts of mufflers that he wraps around his neck when he goes out of the house to take his evening walks. Of recent years he has grown accustomed to having a blanket over his knees as he sits and writes or reads. At eighty-three, if he has such a thing as an ailment of any kind, perhaps his eyes are not as good as they were twenty years ago, but he watches them carefully and rests them as often as possible. He has thirty or forty walking sticks, but for his long walks along the mountain trails of Connemara he carries an axe and chops away at branches and dead wood along the way.

The friends and tourists keep winding up that long trail from the highway to the Connemara house. Sometimes he "can't see anyone today." On occasion, Carl will sit and talk for an hour or two with these strangers.

About a year or so ago a couple from Pennsylvania "dropped in" on the way home from Florida. They talked, got their autographs, and as they were leaving the porch the woman impulsively walked over to Carl and kissed him. The woman immediately stepped back embarrassed and started to apologize to Paula, who laughed and said: "That's all right, he belongs to the world."

I have seen Carl go into a towering Viking rage if a letter or book has been misplaced. When Mrs. Sandburg or Margaret hands it to him, along with the evidence that it was exactly where he had hidden it himself, Carl always buries his face in his hands, and they laugh with him as he says, "Please forgive me, please forgive me."

UNLESS there's a heavy rain or snow, Carl, Paula, and Margaret take an evening walk. When I visit Connemara I join them. Janet, who helps her mother with the goat herd, keeps the regular hours of a farmer; she is at the barns at sunrise and usually says "good-night" after supper. The three Sandburgs walk a measured mile along the dark path, each one armed with a flashlight. The return is slower because it is uphill, and they stop every few yards to look at the stars and talk. To avoid using the flashlight unless it is absolutely necessary, they always walk holding hands, "a good habit to get into," says Carl.

When Sandburg is home his laughter rings through the entire house; and when he is off on a trip, Mrs. Sandburg and the girls laugh at every letter he writes. Since they have three telephone extensions, all join in laughing during his daily telephone call.

"I'll be home in February," he wrote from Hollywood to Paula, "we'll take our walks again, holding hands."

CARL SANDBURG AT HOME

The great poet and his family, seen through the eyes of an admiring and devoted friend

BY HARRY GOLDEN
author of "Only In America," "For 2c Plain," "Enjoy! Enjoy!"

Carl Sandburg at 83 — poet, historian, folk singer, journalist, and old-fashioned family man.

William A. Smith

THE IMPRESSION you get from Carl Sandburg's home is one of laughter and happiness; and the laughter and the happiness are even more pronounced when no company is present.

Carl has been married to Paula for 53 years, and he has not made a single major decision without careful consideration and thorough discussion with his wife. Through all these years, Mrs. Sandburg has pointedly avoided the limelight. She has shared her husband's greatness, but only within the confines of their home; a dedication which began the moment she met Carl.

Mrs. Sandburg received a Phi Beta Kappa key from the University of Chicago, and she was busy writing and teaching when she met Sandburg. "You are the Peoples' Poet," was her appraisal in 1908, and she stopped teaching and writing to devote herself to the fulfillment of his career.

She has rarely been photographed with him and, except for Carl's 75th anniversary celebration in Chicago in 1953, she has not attended the dozens of banquets, functions, public appearances, and dinners honoring him—all of this upon her insistence. Even now I will not intrude upon her except to state a few bare facts.

The only way to describe Paula Sandburg is to say she is beautiful in a Grecian sense. Her clothes, her hair, everything about her is both graceful and simple. She has small, broad, capable hands and an enormous energy.

She is not only a trained mathematician and classicist but a good architect. She designed and supervised the building of their Harbert, Michigan, house, most of which was constructed by one local carpenter who carried the heavy beams singly upon his shoulder. As the Sandburg goat herd increased, she also designed the alterations for the barn to accommodate them. When erosion threatened the foundation of their home in Harbert, Paula Sandburg planted grapevines and arranged the snow fences which helped hold the sands away.

SHE WAS BORN Lilian Steichen, her parents immigrants from Luxemburg. Her mother called her Paus'l, a Luxemburg endearment meaning "pussy-cat." Some of the children of the family could not pronounce this name and called her Paula, a soubriquet Carl liked so much she has been Paula ever since.

Carl and Paula met in Milwaukee in 1907 during Paula's Christmas holiday visit to her parents. Carl was still Charles A. Sandburg. He legitimized "Paula" for Lilian Steichen, and it was Paula who insisted on "Carl" for Charles.

Victor Berger, the panjandrum of Wisconsin Socialism and member of Congress, had asked Paula Steichen to translate some of his German editorials into English. Carl, who was stationed in Appleton, was in Berger's office and made it his business to escort Paula to the streetcar. She left the next day for her teaching job at Princeton, Illinois. By the time the streetcar pulled away, he had fallen in love with Paula.

A letter awaited her at Princeton. Paula says that even though Carl's letters usually began, "Dear Miss Steichen," there was an understanding from the beginning that they would become husband and wife.

Her artist brother Ed liked him immediately,

YOU DON'T COOK PANCAKES

BY EVAN HUNTER

The author of "The Blackboard Jungle" and "Mothers And Daughters" happens to be an authority—as he's more than willing to prove

YOU HAVE TO UNDERSTAND PANCAKES. If you call them griddlecakes or flapjacks, you don't understand them and you might just as well forget ever trying to make them. Griddlecakes are made in restaurants that have shiny steel stoves and chefs in big white pastry hats; they have nothing to do with pancakes which are made in people's kitchens. Flapjacks are made by gold prospectors in little wooden shacks in Grade-B movies; they also have nothing at all to do with pancakes. If you don't understand the distinction, then you won't understand pancakes, either. All is lost, and you should buy yourself a waffle iron.

You don't cook pancakes. You make them.

You don't say, "I think I'll cook some pancakes this morning." You always say, "I think I'll make some pancakes this morning." In fact, you never say that, either, because there's only one time to make pancakes, and that's on Sunday morning, and you don't have to think you'll make them, you know you'll make them. That is, if you understand them, you instinctively know they are irrevocably linked to sleeping late and people in robes with sleep around the edges of their eyes and dopey sleep-smiles on their mouths as they suggest, "Why don't you make some pancakes?"

YOU'D make them anyway. This is Sunday morning.

My own understanding of pancakes goes back a long way. It goes back to a city, and to the not unfriendly angling of asphalt street against brick building, the noise and sparks of the Second Avenue El. We would cross under the elevated structure and keep walking west toward Third Avenue. There was a candy store on the corner, and my father would stop to buy the Sunday News and the Sunday Mirror. Those were the days when Terry and the Pirates was still in the hands of Milton Caniff, who skillfully caused the Dragon Lady to reappear at intervals designed to delight the most avid reader of cyclical novels. I always knew when she was about to arrive again. I could sense it weeks before. And then, suddenly, there she was in all her mysterious Oriental beauty, and Pat Ryan would fall in love with her all over again in a nice, clean comic strip way, and then one Sunday she'd be gone. It would be a great many more Sundays before she, or Burma—whose top two blouse buttons were always unbuttoned—appeared once more. We would go up to Third Avenue where all the furniture stores were, and squeezed in between them was a bakery-restaurant where men sat around tables drinking early-morning coffee. The moment we stepped into the place, I could smell all the things baking. There were big polished coffee urns, and counter girls and waitresses in stiff white dresses, and my father would buy six jelly donuts and six crullers, and they would pack them in a white paper bag, and then we'd walk home and up the steps to the fourth floor. My mother would have coffee and cocoa on the stove, and the radiators would be banging all over the apartment. When we sat down to breakfast, we didn't think about pancakes. They were there, though. They were right there in that railroad flat, even though we ate jelly donuts and crullers every Sunday morning.

Then once, in 6B, my teacher whose name was Mrs. Manelli read to us from a book by Hamlin Garland called A Son Of The Middle Border, read only one chapter of it, but oh the things in that chapter! I sat there enthralled while Mrs. Manelli's voice conjured that prairie kitchen with its cooking smells. It was very cold outside that day, and the big windows on the left-hand side of the classroom were rimmed with frost. There was a lethargic feeling to the room, the kids leaning forward with their chins cupped in their hands, and Mrs. Manelli's low voice reconstructing a warm and wonderful past. She thought she was teaching us about the prairie—but she was really teaching us all about pancakes.

I learned a lot about them long before I first poured batter into a frying pan.

ONCE, after I had moved to the Bronx, some friends and I went fishing. City boys don't often go fishing. We got up at four o'clock in the morning, and my mother came into the bedroom while I was dressing and asked, "Are you really going?" and I said, "Sure we are!" We met in front of Artie's house. We were each carrying lunch in brown paper bags. We tied them to the racks of our bicycles and started off for City Island. Our first stop was an all-night hamburger stand where we ordered coffee and scrambled eggs like truck drivers, though we were only fourteen. We cracked a lot of corny jokes and laughed a lot, and the guy behind the counter said we should be on the radio with Jack Benny. We were learning about pancakes.

In the navy once, our squadron got caught in a hurricane going from Pearl to Japan shortly after the war ended. On the second day of the storm, I went up as bridge talker, standing the mid watch with a bunch of other guys who were wearing foul weather gear and wishing MGM were there to film all these wet heroics. The communications officer in the radar shack had arranged for the talker to be relieved every hour. At two o'clock, a talker in dry gear came up to relieve me. I went down the ladder to the radar shack, took off the foul weather gear, and hung it up to dry as well as it could before the next man put it on. I sat down with the other radarmen, and we drank coffee, and I told them how terrible it was up there on the open bridge with waves crashing in over the bow of the ship. The radar shack always had a hushed feel to it. The Sugar George gear cast a green and orange glow into the room. A man wearing sound-powered phones softly relayed ranges and bearings to the pivot ship, conversing with the talker on the bridge. It was early morning, and everyone was a little sleepy. We sat drinking coffee and listening to the storm outside. This was a part of understanding pancakes.

I DIDN'T MAKE my first batch until I was twenty-three years old and married and living in a two-room apartment in what is now Riverside Hospital for drug addicts in New York. At that time, the buildings on North Brother Island had been converted into apartments for married veterans who were attending a school of higher education. Our apartment was in a building which, during its earlier hospital history, had housed Typhoid Mary. There were windows on three sides of the apartment, looking out over the East River and Hell's Gate in the distance, and the prison on Riker's Island very close by. There was a lot of river traffic—ferryboats and tugs and barges carrying railroad cars. The pancakes were terrible. We sat in our kitchen-dining room-living room, near the light-streaming windows, and we talked softly and leisurely, the way newly married people can talk. We watched the boats on the river, and we ate the terrible pancakes I had made, and we drank the good coffee my wife had made, and we smoked and we talked. The New York Times,

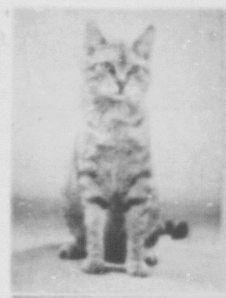
Puss 'n Boots "match the eyes contest"

It's easy! It's fun! Just look closely at the eyes in pictures A, B, C, and D and "match the eyes" with the cats you think they belong to in pictures 1, 2, 3, and 4. Then complete the sentence in the entry blank. (For example, if the eyes in picture A belong to Tabby, in picture 1, mark it in the designated place in the entry form. A hint though—maybe they don't). Remember, eye coloring varies with breeds. Join the fun with everyone. Any Puss 'n Boots label gets you into the game.



(1) The TABBY has a short, fine coat. The amino acid balance in Puss 'n Boots' high quality protein maintains the strength and vitality for which the Tabby is noted.

(2) The SIAMESE has a long, graceful body. The thiamine in a daily Puss 'n Boots diet makes for calm, steady nerves, and sharpens the appetite.

(3) The MANX (completely tailless) has soft, heavy fur. The riboflavin in Puss 'n Boots cat food helps keep its fur fluffy and full, and improves muscle tone.

(4) The PERSIAN has longer, silkier hair. Puss 'n Boots' Vitamin A keeps sparkle in its eyes — calcium and Vitamin D assure strong bones and teeth.

RULES: To be eligible, contestants must match the eyes correctly and complete the statement in the entry blank. Accompany each entry with a Puss 'n Boots label. Entries will be judged on the basis of clarity, creativeness and aptness of thought, weighted equally. ■ All entries become the property of the Quaker Oats Company. Entries must be postmarked by midnight Dec. 8, 1961 and received by Dec. 22, 1961. Contest is subject to federal, state and local regulations and is void where regulated, prohibited or taxed.

enough. Stick your forefinger under the kitchen faucet, wet it, and then shake the drops onto the griddle. If it's hot enough, the drops of water will bounce around crazily before they sizzle away into nothingness. Grease your pan lightly.

All right, you're now ready to put in the batter. Do it with a tablespoon. Keep a spoon rest or a dish handy because if you leave the spoon in the mixing bowl, you'll lose it and have to go fishing into the batter for it, and this doesn't add anything to the taste. Make the pancakes any size you like them. The average griddle will take eight medium-sized pancakes. By adroit maneuvering, you can get three into a single large frying pan. When they begin to bubble on top and the edges look browned, it's time to turn them.

IF YOU'VE DONE everything right so far, and if you understand pancakes, they won't stick when you turn them. If you do have a little trouble turning them, ease your spatula under one edge, inch it slowly toward the opposite edge, gently, gently, until the pancake is free. Then turn it. It's not necessary to flip a pancake up toward the ceiling. That's for the Grade-B movie about the prospector in the mining shack. If you do it in your kitchen, hardly anybody will applaud, and it will show that you don't understand pancakes at all. Just turn the pancakes gently and easily, and then allow them to brown on the second side. For some fantastic reason, one side will always be a little browner than the other. Don't ask me why. It's a phenomenon. When you take off your first batch of pancakes, put your second batch on before serving what you already have. By the time you get back to the stove again, the new batch may be ready for turning.

Don't serve pancakes in any fancy way, like putting ice cream on them or fruit or brandy or whipped cream. Just put a generous lump of butter on top of each pancake in the stack, and then liberally pour either sirup or molasses over them. It isn't advisable to put more than four pancakes in a stack. Excessive depth makes them difficult to cut and difficult to handle on the fork. If you put four in a stack, you can serve two people while your next batch is on the griddle. Pancakes don't encourage simultaneous serving, but there's a lively overlap and, as a result, a built-in anticipation, especially when children are sitting at the table waiting to be served. The cook always gets served last or, when the pancakes are especially successful, not at all. That doesn't matter.

With luck, there may be a few left for the cook.

How to work magic with wood finishes

by* Minwax

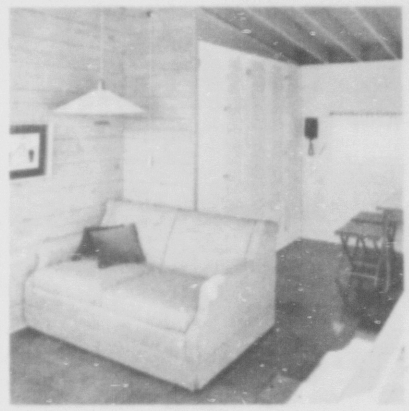
NATURAL WOOD FLOORS—Sand and prepare floor surface. Apply 2 coats of Minwax Wood Finish. Wax and polish. Dark effects easily obtained. Minwax floors are scratch proof, never need rescraping, are easy to maintain.

PANELING—For authentic Colonial effects, apply Minwax in Puritan Pine or Ipswich Pine. For modern interiors, try Driftwood, Straw or Spruce Gray. Finish with light coat of Minwax Paste Wax. Polish with soft cloth.

UNFINISHED FURNITURE—Sand silk smooth, apply your choice of 14 Minwax quick-drying colors. Finish with Minwax Paste Wax. Do same for new shelves, cabinets, wood trim. Be your own decorator and save money, too.

ANTIQUES—Even antiques with humble origins have a bright future in your home. Remove old finish and sand lightly to give smooth surface. Apply desired shade of Minwax. Fill nicks and nail holes with Blend-Fil, wax and polish.



VACATION HOMES—To glamourize that "second home" in the country . . . on the beach . . . or in the mountains, beautify floors and all natural wood surfaces with Minwax Wood Finishes and polish with Minwax Finishing Wax.

For 50 years Minwax Wood Finishes have been the standard of quality with architects, custom builders and antique dealers from coast to coast. That's because Minwax penetrates the surface and brings out the true beauty of natural wood. Economical? Minwax costs no more than ordinary stains. Available at better hardware and paint stores. You are your baby's safeguard bringing up baby®

Hints collected by Mrs. Dan Gerber, Mother of 5

All of us know the basic protective measures for guarding baby but sometimes things just plain slip our minds. A few "I-just-didn't think-of-its":

For the active wee one. Crib sides should always be up when baby's in bed. Can't tell when that live wire will roll over. At bath-time, it's a good idea to turn a deaf ear to the phone. When diapering, powder can should be kept out of reach so baby won't inhale powder.

For the experienced creeper. A baby on all fours will make a bee line for any bright object so eagle-eye the floor for pins, bits of cellophane, etc. Iron and toaster cords or floor-drooping plants should not be left a-dangle when baby's on the prowl. Floor fans and heaters are a hazard.

For the into-everything toddler. Beware the burning cigarette and table lighter. A toddler's hand is quicker than your eye. Floor spills are an invitation to tumbles . . . should be wiped up immediately. Pills in your purse are easy to find—and take none in sight of your copycat one.

Free safety poster, prepared by Pediatric Herald in cooperation with the Accident Prevention Committee of the American Academy of Pediatrics, Inc., is yours for the asking. Just write: Gerber Baby Foods, Dept. 6410-1, Fremont, Michigan.

You are baby's nutrition guardian when it comes to planning his meals. Flavorful ways to provide meat protein and other nutrients: Gerber Dinners—garden-good vegetables blended with meat; Gerber High Meat Dinners—with 3 times as much meat as the Dinners. (Vegetables are added for flavor interest.) And for protein galore—Gerber Meats for Babies—100% Armour* meat with just enough broth to give a smooth, moist texture. ARMOUR AMP®

Armour Meat Protein is complete protein supplying all the essential amino acids that build and re-build vital body tissues.

Now . . . container convenience par excellence. All Gerber Baby Foods come in Wide-Top® jars with Quick-Twist* caps and Shop-Easy labels. A ¼ turn opens the jar and baby's food is ready to spoon out. The labels speed shopping time because variety names are at the top. *T M . GPC which we'd bought the night before on our way home, was spread on the table. My pancakes had made a lot of smoke in the apartment, but we didn't open too many windows because it was cold on that corner of the island, in that particular apartment exposed to the river on three sides.

I've been making pancakes every Sunday morning since. I guess I make pretty good ones now. At least, everybody tells me how lousy they are, so I guess they're pretty good or they wouldn't bother to say anything.

Here's how you make them.

You buy yourself any one of the commercial mixes. Don't bother trying to concoct your own batter with flour and all that jazz because the commercial mixes are fine, and if you understand pancakes you'll recognize there's only false pride in preparing your own batter. On the back of each mix box, there are very clear and explicit directions about how to proceed. Get yourself a big mixing bowl, a tablespoon, and a cup, and spread these out on the table. Now put the box where you can read the recipe. It will almost always read something like this:

7 to 8 pancakes
1 cup milk
1 egg
1 tablespoon melted or liquid shortening
1 cup pancake mix

14 to 16 pancakes
2 cups milk
2 eggs
2 tablespoons melted or liquid shortening
2 cups pancake mix

The only change I make in the prepared-mix recipe is to pour in about half a cup of heavy cream which, I find, gives the pancakes a richer taste and texture. Aside from that, pancakes shouldn't be tampered with. Don't go dropping diced apples into the batter, or blueberries, because then you're not making pancakes anymore. You're baking muffins or cakes, but you're not making pancakes.

Now, before you start putting all these things together into the mixing bowl, get your griddle going. If you haven't got a griddle, use a large frying pan. Don't let it get too hot or your pancakes will brown instantly on the outside and be pasty and gooey on the inside. It's a good idea to watch the temperature of your griddle all the while you're making pancakes. You'll find it does need constant attention. While your griddle is heating, do this: throw all of the above-listed ingredients into the mixing bowl in any order whatever, and stir the mixture with a large spoon. The batter doesn't have to be very smooth. In fact, a few lumps here and there will help the pancakes. By the time you've smoothed out most of the lumps, your griddle should be hot

A Short Time In Portugal

Here is a glimpse of the celebrated traveller's forthcoming book

BY EMILY KIMBROUGH

AUTHOR OF "OUR HEARTS WERE YOUNG AND GAY"

I have never been in a country in which the landscape changed so frequently and so abruptly from plains to mountains with barren, rocky sides to vine covered hills to lush pastures, to stark, ominous cliffs, to softly rounded coves, and sandy beaches... There were waterfalls of purple bougainvillea, carpets of geraniums, splatters of blue plumbago through dark ferns, mimosa like shimmering sunlight... I had tasted port before. I think my impression of the drink, as much from English novels as from my own experience, was that it is a heavy wine. It is nothing of the kind in Portugal. As a matter of fact, it is very nearly everything in texture, bouquet, taste, and color. Each place we visited had its own favorites and served them exclusively. We never found a port we did not like... There is no library in the world so beautiful as the library at Coimbra. It holds only three rooms. They are large and high, separated by a high and wide marble arch. Slender pillars along the side, patterned and embossed in gold, support stacks in a gallery above. As we came from the building and stood on the steps a moment, Sophy said, "After what we've seen, the sun looks vulgar."

In addition to the swimming room, the house has other unusual features. There is a huge family room, for instance, with a built-in playpen and a hi-fi and TV and various game tables which are stored behind sliding teak panels when they are not being used. This room serves as a library, too, and reading lights concealed in the ceiling shine directly down on the comfortable, big leather chairs where the Stones retire with their books, sure of privacy when they need it in that 21′ x 30′ open space.

The color scheme here is amber and aquamarine against a light Italian marble floor.

Next to the family room, and a contrast in every way, is the small, brilliant breakfast room upholstered in white and gold, and decorated all around the walls with a conventionalized mural of Siam painted in the clear emeralds and sapphires and crimsons of Siamese silks.

There is not a single fireplace in the whole big house, a fact which seems surprising till you consider that a snapping open fire is hardly to be expected in a house where, winter or summer, people spend a great deal of their time in bathing suits!

One last note on a special piece of equipment in the family room—the Stones have installed a "real" soda fountain here for the benefit of the young, complete with ice-cream wells, siphons, and pumps that squirt out strawberry, chocolate, or vanilla, for the asking.

A pool to splash in, a rubber swan to ride on, and when you finally climb out a little breathless and waterlogged, a delicious homemade soda at hand—here, for once, is a house after a child's own heart.

"It's not that you are wrong—
it's just that I'm so right."

Table Scraps Can Short-Change Your Dog

Do right by the dog you love...balance each meal with GRO-PUP Ribbon

When you feed your dog table scraps, you can never be sure he's getting all the nutrients he needs. And yet, to stay fit and strong, he should have a well-balanced diet every day.

That's why thoughtful families are adding Gro-Pup Ribbon to every scrap meal they feed. Gro-Pup is an unusual kind of dog food. It contains an extra bonus of vital protein, important vitamins and minerals—far in excess of the minimum levels set by the National Research Council.

Even when fed with large amounts of "unbalanced" leftovers, the high nutrient level of Gro-Pup can safeguard against improper diet. When you feed Gro-Pup every day, you can enjoy the confidence that your dog is getting an abundance of the essentials he needs for a long and healthy life.

Why don't you start tomorrow?

The pool—ventilators and heating system are hidden by plants and coping.

Eight Rooms And Swimming Room

The Irving Stones of Shaker Heights, Ohio, swim in this house all year round

"WE HAVE only four months of summer in our region," says Mr. Irving Stone of Shaker Heights, Ohio, and he adds with indisputable logic, "The indoor heated swimming pool is the answer."

The pool in his house is free-form, nine feet deep, the central feature of a big, handsome room approximately 30 feet square. The ceiling goes up two stories to a height of twenty-four feet, and the walls are of narrow wood panels, stained a pale blue-green, alternating with side panels of a marble pebbled surface which matches the marble pebbled floor.

In addition to the pool, furnishings of the swimming room include all kinds of exercise apparatus, a small bar, and a wrought-iron bridge table and chairs upholstered in the same pale blue-green as the panels on the wall. Masses of tropical plants—palms and philodendrons and shiny-leaved ficus—flourish in the pleasant, moist atmosphere and make a living screen for a useful but unglamorous hot-air heating system.

A blower, built into the ceiling, helps remove excess moisture and keeps the room comfortable at all times.

The Stones' own bedroom adjoins the pool, and by an inspiration a blue wrought-iron stairway leads directly from the pool to the other bedrooms on the second story, making it possible for a happy child or guest to hurry through his white-shuttered door and down to the water the minute he is waked up in the morning. Showers and two blue-tiled dressing rooms open directly off the pool.

New ideas for Old Fashion French Dressings no one can buy

. . . recipes with this favorite GOOD SEASONS MIX

Good Seasons Old Fashion French Dressing. Subtly flavored with herbs and spices, this is the kind of oil-and-vinegar dressing mixed by master chefs. Light, fresh—truly continental. Takes just seconds to mix. Easy directions are on the Good Seasons envelope. You combine your favorite oil, vinegar and a little water with the Mix. The water, or a substitute liquid, makes the blend smoother. You can use many substitutes—see recipes below for suggestions.

French Cottage Cheese Dressing. Prepare the Good Seasons Dressing but substitute two tablespoons of cottage cheese for the water. This makes the herb-spice flavor a little brighter. And the flecks of cottage cheese add a creamy contrast—nice touch in tossed salads.

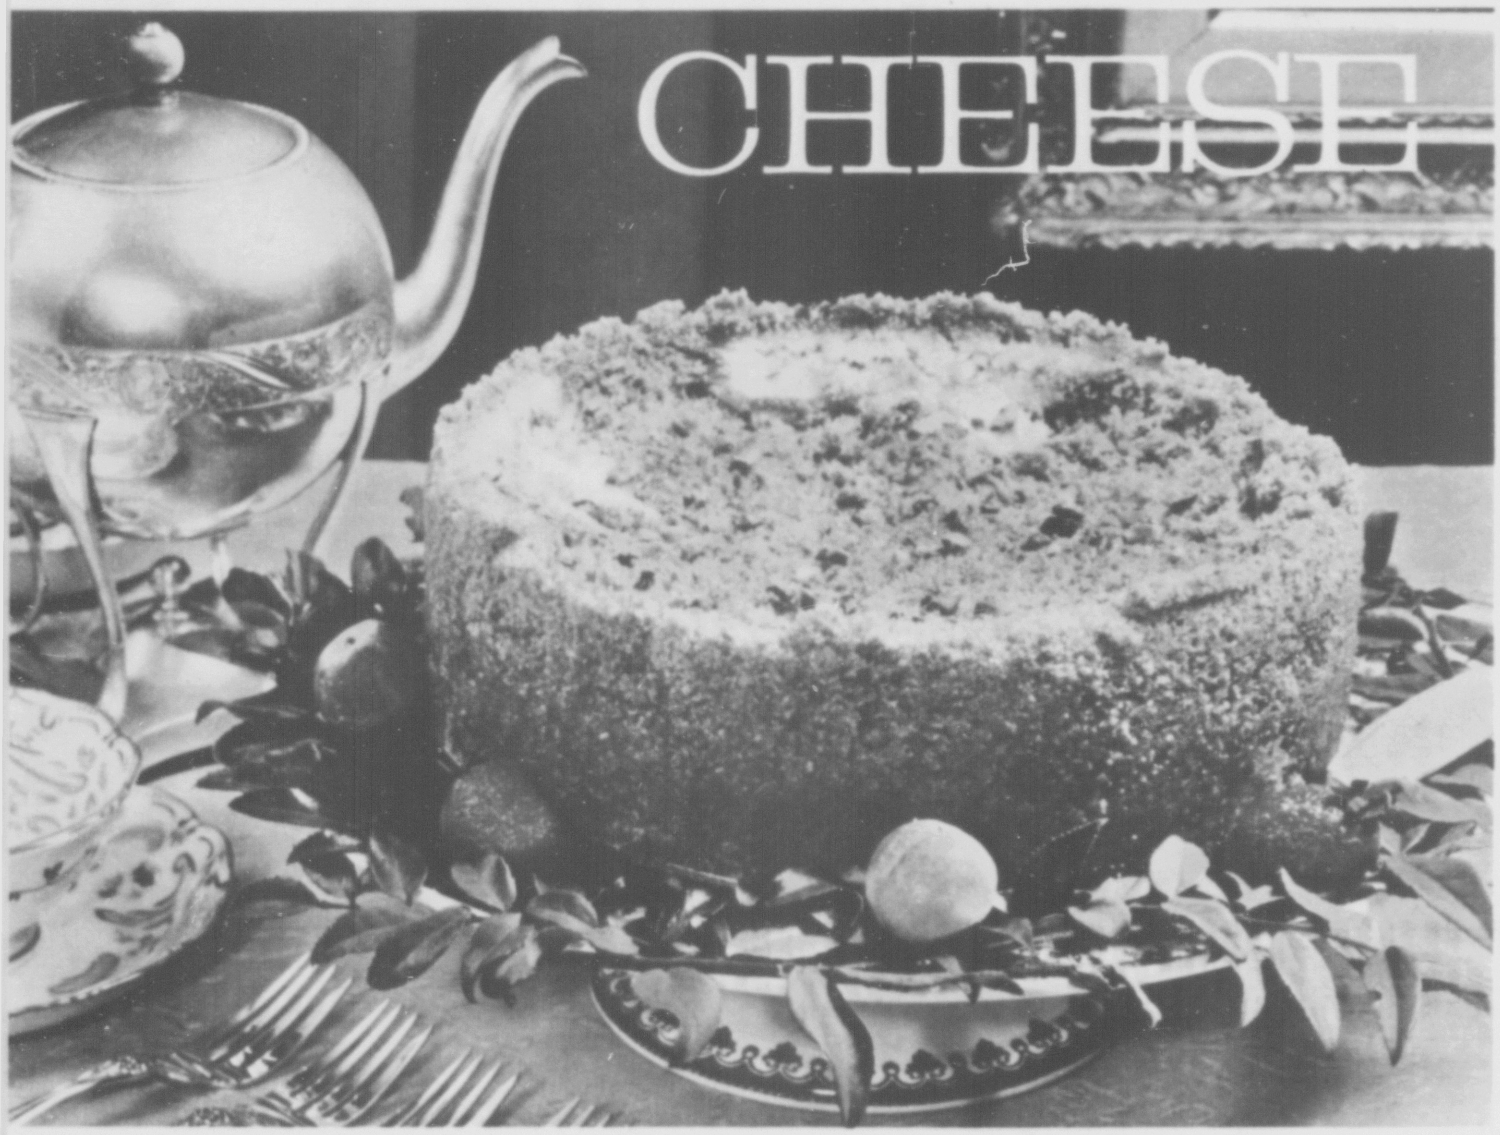
Rum-Nut French Dressing. Just use light rum instead of the water in the dressing. Final touch: 2 tablespoons of chopped nuts. Delightful on all fruit salads. Or in one of mixed greens, slices of avocado and apple. This is one salad with fruit that men really like.

Sesame Seed French Dressing. Add two tablespoons of toasted sesame seeds to your Old Fashion French Dressing. Adds a crisp and nut-like taste to perk up all green salads. Especially fine in spinach salads.

Get the new Good Seasons cruet, with measurements marked, where you buy the 8 Mixes: Italian, Classic, Cheese-Garlic, Onion, Bleu Cheese, Exotic Herbs, Garlic, Old Fashion French.

Good all winter too!

CHEERS FOR CHEESE



Cheese Cake Magnifique is a worthy addition to the finest collection of cheese cake recipes.

GREEN OLIVE PASTRIES

TO PREPARE: 30 MIN.

TO BAKE: 15 MIN.

2 cups finely shredded Cheddar cheese
½ cup softened butter
1 cup flour
1 teaspoon paprika
48 large pimiento-stuffed olives

1. Blend cheese with butter. Blend flour and paprika together. Stir into butter mixture until well mixed.

2. Shape 1 teaspoon of the mixture around each olive, covering it completely. Put onto baking sheet; bake at 400°F 15 min., or until golden. Serve warm. 4 doz. appetizers

Note: If desired, unbaked appetizers may be placed on baking sheets and frozen. When firm they may be transferred to freezer containers and stored until ready to use. To bake, place unthawed appetizers on baking sheets and bake 17 to 18 min.

PIZZA STICKS

Cheese with built-in pizza flavors is the secret of these nippy appetizer morsels.

TO PREPARE: 30 MIN.

TO BAKE: 15 MIN.

1 cup flour
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon monosodium glutamate
1/16 teaspoon garlic powder
1 teaspoon oregano
¼ cup butter
8 oz. sausage pizza-flavored cheese, shredded (2 cups)

1. Mix first five ingredients together in a bowl. Cut in butter and cheese with a pastry blender or two knives. In the bowl knead mixture with finger tips to form a ball.

2. Break off bits of dough, about one teaspoonful each, and roll to form sticks, about 2½ in. long. Put onto an ungreased baking sheet.

3. Bake at 350°F about 15 min., or until slightly browned on top. Serve warm. About 3 doz. sticks

PARTY CRAB MEAT DIP

TO PREPARE: 15 MIN.

2 8-oz. pkgs. cream cheese, softened
⅓ cup mayonnaise
1½ teaspoons prepared mustard
3 tablespoons sauterne
4 teaspoons confectioners' sugar
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon garlic salt
½ teaspoon onion juice
2 6½-oz. cans crab meat, flaked

1. Combine all ingredients except crab meat, in top of a double boiler. Heat over simmering water, stirring occasionally, until well blended. Mix in crab meat; heat thoroughly.

2. Serve dip hot with small thin slices of garlic-buttered rye toast.

About 3 cups dip

BACON-BLUE CHEESE SALAD

Toss generous amounts of crisp bacon and crumbled Blue cheese with assorted greens. Top with ripe olive rings and serve with a piquant French dressing.

CHEESE CAKE MAGNIFIQUE

TO PREPARE: ABOUT 1 HR.

TO BAKE: 1 HR.

(allow time to cool and chill cake)

6 oz. zwieback, finely crushed (2 cups crumbs)
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
½ cup butter, melted
¼ cup chopped salted pistachio nuts
4 cups cream-style cottage cheese
6 eggs (about 1½ cups)
1½ cups sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons grated lemon peel
3 tablespoons lemon juice
1 cup whipping cream
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
½ cup flour

1. Prepare crust by mixing zwieback crumbs thoroughly with the 1 cup sugar, cinnamon, and butter. Stir ¾ cup of the mixture and the nuts together for topping; set aside.

2. Press crumb mixture onto sides and bottom of a buttered 9-in. spring-form pan; chill.

3. For filling, drain and sieve cottage cheese and set aside.

4. Beat eggs and 1½ cups sugar until eggs are very thick and piled softly. Combine the final six ingredients and the sieved cottage cheese; blend mixture until smooth.

5. Pour filling into the crumb-lined pan; top evenly with reserved nut-crumb mixture.

6. Bake at 350°F 1 hr., then turn off heat and cool cake in oven. Refrigerate when cool and serve well chilled. Surround the cake with a garnish of assorted marzipan. 12 to 14 servings

PARMESAN-NUT STICKS

Try these as a crunchy complement to your favorite salad.

TO PREPARE: 25 MIN.

TO BAKE: 10-12 MIN.

2 cups biscuit mix
⅔ cup milk
2 tablespoons salad oil
½ cup shredded Parmesan cheese
¼ cup chopped salted almonds
1 teaspoon garlic salt

1. Add milk and oil to biscuit mix. Stir with a fork until dry ingredients are moistened and a soft dough is formed.

2. On a floured surface, roll dough into an 8-in. square. Cut into 16 4x1-in. strips. Roll strips in a mixture of the cheese and nuts to form sticks. Place on greased baking sheets. Sprinkle with garlic salt.

3. Bake at 425°F 10 to 12 min., or until golden. Serve warm.

Which word is older, Gin or Gordon's?

"Gin" came into the language around 1700 by way of the French "genièvre," meaning juniper. "Gordon's" comes from Alexander Gordon, the genius whose secret gin formula set Londoners agog in 1769. The Gordon's you drink today harks back to this self-same formula. It's still secret, and as far as the people at Gordon's are concerned, that is as it should be, for in nearly two centuries no other gin has duplicated Gordon's distinctive dryness and flavour. Are you wondering if it's the world's biggest seller? It is. Indeed, to most people the words "gin" and "Gordon's" are by now synonymous.

FROZEN CHEDDAR CHEESE SALAD SENSATION

TO PREPARE: 20 MIN. TO FREEZE: 3-4 HRS.

1 1-lb., 13-oz. can green-gage plums, drained
¼ cup lemon juice
2 tablespoons sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
4 oz. Cheddar cheese, shredded (about 1 cup)
1 cup chilled whipping cream
1 or 2 drops green food coloring

1. Cut plums into halves; remove pits; cut into small pieces. Mix in the lemon juice, sugar, salt, and Cheddar cheese.

2. Using a chilled bowl and beater, beat whipping cream until it is of medium consistency (piles softly). Fold whipped cream into plum mixture. Blend in food coloring. Turn mixture into a refrigerator tray. Freeze until firm, 3 to 4 hrs.

3. Thaw slightly and cut into squares or wedges; serve on crisp salad greens.

About 8 servings

Note: If desired, freeze mixture in a fancy mold and unmold onto a chilled serving plate; garnish with fresh mint, green-gage plums, and fresh fruits harmonious in flavor and color.

HI-BOY LIVER SAUSAGE SANDWICH

For each sandwich, spread 2 slices rye bread generously with Horse-Radish Butter. Top, in order, with the following: red onion, liver sausage, Bibb lettuce (spread with mayonnaise, if desired), Brick cheese, crisp bacon, tomato, and a buttered bread slice.

HORSE-RADISH BUTTER

Cream ½ cup butter until softened. Blend in 1 tablespoon lemon juice, a small amount at a time. Mix in 2 teaspoons prepared horse-radish, ¾ teaspoon prepared mustard, and ¼ teaspoon salt. About ½ cup butter

SWISS-CAPPED GLAZED CHICKEN

TO PREPARE: 15 MIN. TO COOK: ABOUT 1 HR.

2 2½- to 3-lb. broiler-fryer chickens, cut in serving-sized pieces
½ cup flour
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon black pepper
¼ to ½ cup butter
1½ cups currant jelly
⅔ cup orange juice
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 cup finely shredded Swiss cheese
½ cup toasted slivered blanched almonds
½ teaspoon paprika

1. Rinse chicken pieces and pat dry with absorbent paper. Coat with a mixture of the flour, salt, and pepper.

2. Heat butter in a large, heavy skillet over medium heat. Add chicken pieces, skin side down, and brown well on all sides.

3. Meanwhile, beat together the jelly, orange juice, and lemon juice.

4. Pour jelly mixture over browned chicken pieces. Cover skillet and simmer about 45 min., or until chicken is tender. Spoon glaze over chicken occasionally during cooking.

5. Top evenly with cheese, almonds, and paprika. Place under broiler 4 in. from source of heat until cheese is melted, about 1 min. Serve immediately. About 8 servings

SUBURBIA TODAY

"Jane?"

for $15 a month

urer, I pay our expenses by collecting $15 a month dues from each member.

This is cheaper than taking a bus or train. Public transportation would cost a minimum of .90 cents a day. Figuring 21 working days a month, that's $3.90 more than our dues.

We have one other advantage. We make better time than the public busses because we don't have to stop for as many passengers. I make only six stops after we leave the north Royal Oak service station where the bus is gassed, serviced, and parked at night. Most of our passengers climb aboard there.

We start at 7:55 a.m. In winter, a station attendant warms up the motor for us, so the heaters are going full blast before we get going.

ALL I HAVE TO DO each morning is set my brief case alongside the driver's seat, flick on my portable radio, and turn the big steering wheel toward downtown Detroit, straight down Woodward Avenue and 14 miles away.

I would rather drive The Rocket in traffic than my own car. Even a woman could drive this bus, if she wasn't wearing spike heels.

I drop the last passenger at the Penobscot Building in the heart of downtown Detroit by 8:40 a.m. Then I drive to an out-of-the-way parking lot where it costs only $12.50 a month for each of the two spaces the bus fills. That's about half what we would pay for a closer lot.

Before I go to my office, I still have time to walk back every morning and join seven other Readi-Riders for a fast cup of coffee.

We start back home at 5:10 p.m. sharp, and by 5:15 I've picked up all the riders. We're back at the service station by 5:55.

I stay downtown to bowl once a week. Credit man Bill Wagner takes the wheel for me that night, or when I'm on vacation.

In the last three years, we've been late for work only twice. Both times, it was because we were slowed to a crawl by severe snowstorms.

Commenting on our service, one of our riders, John Cole, says he has three reasons for preferring our setup—convenience, economy, and companionship. He likes being sure of a seat each morning, and as a former car pooler he likes having "someone else" (namely, me) bucking traffic for him.

It's the bee's knees!

Back in the 20's, that remark was a laudatory expression that might be paraphrased in the vernacular of the 60's as —the most! These two modes of expression have nothing in common. But—20's or 60's—there's one cocktail that's common to the cognoscenti and connoisseurs of both eras. Today—as in bygone days—everybody's buzzing about that bonanza of the bar: The Stinger.

The Stinger

1½ oz. brandy, 1⅓ oz. Cointreau White Creme de Menthe. Shake vigorously with cracked ice and strain into cocktail glass.

WE BOUGHT OUR OWN BUS TO COMMUTE

BY LOU ZIMELOW

En route—commuters play bridge, also sing, chat, and read.

Now they ride in style

WE CALL OURSELVES Readi-Riders, Inc. (Our motto is "Either you're ready—or you get left.") I'm the chief driver of the do-it-yourself commuter bus that now slips twenty-eight of us through the Detroit traffic blockade twice a day.

We started, of course, as a routine car pool of five businessmen, living outside the city in Birmingham and Royal Oak, and one night at an investment club we all belong to we got to talking about the home-to-job transportation problems.

"It seems as if every time it's my turn to drive," said the president of the club, "that's just the day my wife needs the car."

"The same thing happens at our house," one of the group, Jack Keenan agreed. "Man, there's hardly a day that my wife doesn't need the car. If she doesn't have to take one of the kids to the doctor, she has to pick up something at the store."

Ted Sura, who is a lawyer (with a lawyer's imagination) said, "I know how we could leave all the cars home—all we have to do is buy a bus!"

That got a laugh—but then I began to wonder.

"It might not be as crazy as it sounds," I said. "What if we all chipped in and got a nine-passenger station wagon? Then we could take more fellows into the car pool to help pay for the wagon."

"Yes," said our friend, Pat Walsh, "and besides that, we'd be taking extra cars off the crowded streets that way. And all nine of the wives would have a car at home for errands, and if it's a spare, all the better."

Before the evening was over we had got to the point where Ted was volunteering to bird-dog the legal angles.

He learned that we could own and operate our own vehicle by organizing a nonprofit corporation. And we wouldn't need the expensive commercial licenses because this would be a private bus.

This gave us the green light to get one of those foreign station-wagon type busses, pick a name, and apply for incorporation.

THAT WAS IN 1956. Two years later, we traded the foreign job for a used 25-passenger commercial coach of American vintage, almost tripling our capacity. It was at this time that we started accepting members of the fair sex.

Then last May we acquired our pride and joy—a shiny new aqua-and-ivory dream seating 27 passengers. We call her "The Rocket" because she has so much more get-up-and-go than our other vehicles had.

From The Rocket's windows our shuttling gang can look smugly at the cars alongside, behind, and ahead of us. And they can rejoice because they're not out there squeezing cars through that paved bottleneck of squealing rubber and jumpy nerves.

Inside our bus, they're playing bridge or pinochle, reading their newspapers, or just talking. Sometimes they get going with a songfest or a round of jokes. Whatever it is, it's fun. We have a constant turnover in membership with people changing jobs, getting married, or moving. But still, Readi-Riders is a convivial bunch.

In fact, some of the Readi-Riders think the chief advantage of our system is riding back and forth to work with congenial people.

On top of that, Readi-Riders is a good deal financially. We meet monthly installments of $200 on our bus, pay for licenses, gas, parking, insurance, and upkeep. As treas-

Take Three Balls of Yarn

And knit a star-yoked dress for a small party

HERE IS one of those fashionable knits — not from Italy this time, but better still, from your own loving hands. An openwork stitch is used like lace for the star yoke and border—the rest is a straight six-inch sweep of knitting and purling. The softness of handwork is most becoming to the very young, as you see above, and the effect is dressy, but achieved with simple lines to permit unlimited freedom of movement on two feet or all fours.

For specifications and full knitting directions for the Star-Yoke Dress, write Department H, SUBURBIA TODAY, 60 East 56th St., New York 22, New York.

MOTHER AND I SEE EYE TO EYE

"We think alike about so many things. Take Tampax, for instance. Mother's the one who told me about it. She's such an active person, and she knows I like to be active, too. She explained how Tampax absorbs internally. How it's unfelt and invisible when it's in place. And that means you can tub or shower and be just as active as you like every single day all year 'round. It's wonderful when your mother understands so much about what's important to you."

Many mothers tell their daughters about Tampax because they want to spare their girls the discomfort and embarrassment of "the other way." Tampax® internal sanitary protection is so much nicer, more convenient. There's no odor, no chafing, and no disposal problem. Tampax users number among the millions—both married and single women. They say Tampax is a better way. Why not ask your mother, or some older woman you can confide in? Our good reputation is your reassurance. Tampax Incorporated, Palmer, Mass.

COMMUTE

I guess that about sums up everybody's feelings, whether they're secretaries or managers. And we have some of each in Readi-Riders, along with advertising men and insurance agents. I'm a technical writer for an advertising agency. One of our members admits to being chief rate clerk for a railroad!

We get along so well that we all get together twice a year with our spouses—once at Christmas time and again for a summer outing.

An organization like ours isn't hard to get started. All it takes is a group of people with common working hours, plus a guy or girl with a driver's license, who's reliable and can stick to a schedule that suits the majority.

Once you get a driver, you need an insurance policy for liability and collision-damage protection. And, of course, you need a vehicle.

WE PAID $8,000 for The Rocket. Our other bus was cheaper. Being an older girl and secondhand, she only cost $800 plus the investment of about $1200 to reupholster the seats and put in a new motor. When we get The Rocket paid for, we'll invest the monthly payments in a fund to replace her when she is old and feeble.

For me, driving a bus is fun. And I get a big whiz out of my 27 back-seat drivers. Take a typical morning: Fran Magill climbs up the steps to board the bus, and I hear Ron Mansell say, "Gee, you sound peppy this morning, Fran. Clump. Clump. Clump." Then one of the girls sits down and gets kidded while the girl behind her remedies something—the zipper in back of her dress. It wasn't zipped the last two inches. From one of the rolling bridge games, I hear everybody yell when a player makes a slam.

By 8:40 a.m. the Rocket has deposited all the passengers in downtown Detroit.

You see why we call it "Fun Bus." We have other names on the special destination sign up front that helps to show that ours is a private coach. In addition to the usual "Private Coach" sign, we can display "Readi-Riders Special," "Readi-Riders Rocket Express," or "Readi-Riders Only!"

In spite of these signs, strangers try to get on when we stop to pick up a member. Then I have to tell the would-be passenger that it's a private bus and I can't pick him up.

Sometimes, though, if there's a vacancy in the organization, I tell the stranger, "You can come along as our guest and try us out for a day."

Many a new Readi-Rider has been born that way, after a card-playing, songfesting, convenient, economical ride downtown.

"I think they ought to tell you when you're ordering too much."

Reader's Digest MUSIC, INC and RCA VICTOR invite you to choose from this exciting new list of nationwide hits!

ANY 5 RCA VICTOR Records for only 37½¢ each

Stereo or Regular L. P.

plus a small charge for handling and postage

if you join the new RCA Victor Record Club now and agree to purchase only 5 records during the year ahead

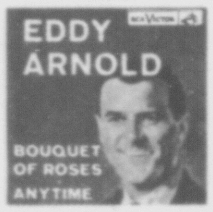
272. Also: It's Magic, Baia, etc. – 12 glorious choral triumphs.

301. Oriental orchestral feast, sumptuous sound. A hi-fi and stereo "must."

282. Haunting themes from the current international film hit.



254. Arnold sings his all-time hits again in new hi-fi sound.

221. Plus: Peg O' My Heart, etc. New versions, 12 instrumentals.

315. Electronic stereo reprocessing of one of his finest performances.

297. Includes The Thunderer, etc. 18 Sousa strutters in walloping sound!

298. My Prayer, East of the Sun, Vanessa, etc. Mellow instrumentals.

THIS EXCITING new plan offers you the finest stereo or hi-fi music being recorded today–for far less money than you would normally pay. It helps you build your record library carefully, completely.

For your introductory offer you pay only a fraction of the prices found in many stores. After your trial membership, if you continue, you will receive additional benefits through the Club's Dividend Record Plan. This plan lets you choose a free regular L. P. or stereo record with every two you buy from the Club. And practically all records purchased count toward dividends!

Now that Reader's Digest Music, Inc. has become exclusive agent for the new RCA Victor Record Club, we invite you to enjoy these seven advantages of membership:

1. A brand-new magazine, Reader's Digest Music Guide, sent FREE each month to help you build–easily and economically –a record collection to suit your every musical taste and interest.

2. Upon joining, you may have any 5 records for only 37½¢ each (44¢ each including handling and postage). After fulfilling your introductory agreement, you have your choice of one record free for every two you buy.

3. The widest possible choice in selections – several hundred each year from the world-famous RCA Victor catalog – symphonies, opera, dance, show, and mood music.

4. A brand-new feature–specially recorded albums available to Club members only–at amazingly low prices. These superb recordings of the great symphonies, waltzes, concertos, the music of Gershwin, Sousa, Broadway add lustre to any library.

5. Records offered to members are selected by Digest and RCA Victor music experts, then pre-tested with panels of Club members. All selections offered are ones Club members have said they most want to own.

6. You buy on open credit, paying for your records after receiving and while enjoying them. You buy with the advantage of relaxed "armchair shopping"–no waiting in line, no wasted time, no expensive mistakes.

7. Your satisfaction is doubly assured by both Reader's Digest and RCA Victor.

How The Club Operates To Bring You The World's Best Music

Each month you will be offered a Featured Selection, the record chosen by Digest music experts, then tested with panel members. You are always offered the most wanted record in the Division you choose when you join–either Popular or Classical. If you want this record, do nothing. It will come to you automatically, billed at the Manufacturer's Nationally Advertised Prices (usually $3.98 for Popular and $4.98 for Classical; stereo an additional $1.00), plus a small charge for handling and postage. Or, you may choose any other record you wish from either Division, or take none at all that particular month.

Then, by continuing your membership after purchasing only 5 additional records (and you may take up to a year to do so), you receive a dividend record of your choice–FREE–for every two records you buy. Only in the new RCA Victor Record Club do you have such a wide choice of free dividends–selected by the editors of the Music Guide from more than 1,100 RCA Victor Records.

Shown on this page are records typical of the high quality and unusual variety available through the new RCA Victor Record Club. Get the five you want most for only 37½¢ each. To begin enjoying the many benefits of membership, fill in the coupon today.

226. Cannons, gong roars, massed strings and bands. Dynamic best-seller!

204. Authentic Island moods. Sweet Leilani, Aloha Oe, 10 others.
